Paris, July 22.—Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, had addressed a letter to Loubet, protesting against the closing of 2,5000 Catholic schools. The Cardinal reminds the President of the latter's exhortations of pacification urging that this implies respect for civil and religious liberties. The cardinal says the bishops do not ask for privileges. They ask that the Catholics shall not be deprived of the rights appertaining to all Frenchmen. Seven other prelates have also issued protests. Le Temps acknowledges that 7,000 children will next October be shut out of Catholic schools without finding accomodation in secular establishments.

London, June 22.—Lord Landsdowne's speech on British foreign policy in the House of Lords last Friday, says the Rome correspondent of the Times "does not please the Italian official world. The friendly sentiments expressed by the British Foreign Secretary are appreciated, but his policy is marked by a reserve disquieting to Italian expansionists.

Paris, July 21.—Duchess D'Orleans yesterday attended mass at Cathedral Sacred Heart at Montmartre. She was greeted by the crowd outside the church with cries of "Long Live the Queen."

THINKS ITS COALITION

Prof. Goldwin Smith Says Things are Looking This Way

Toronto, July 21.—Prof. Goldwin Smith, in the Farmer's Sun says—

The proposal of a coalition as an escape from the deadlock of the party system in Ontario seem at least to be taking a definite form."

BRITISH COMBINE TO GET IT

Royal Mail Line will Enter the Anti-Morgan Company

London, July 21.—At a meeting of the shareholders of the Royal Mail Steamship Company today the Chairman announced that the protest alleging mismanagement which was made some time ago had been withdrawn and that negotiations for combination with a British firm were progressing satisfactorily. It is understood that this refers to Sir Christopher Furness's firm. Sir Christopher is the head of the proposed British shipping "combine" which is to fight the Morgan syndicate

REBEL FORCE SURRENDERS

Colombian General and 800 Men Yield to the Government

Colon, Colombia, July 21.—Gen. Velez, the Governor of the Department of Bolivar has resigned. He will be replaced by Gen. Tovar.

A train at Cartagena has been entered by guerillas and two persons removed.

Gen. Marin, one of the insurgent commanders, has surrendered at Honda with 800 men.

The warship Bashir, which the Colombian Government purchased from Morocco, is coming at Cartagena.

CAPE-TO-CAIRO RAILROAD MAY YET BE BUILT

The Dream of Cecil Rhodes for Development of Trade in Africa to be Realized

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 21.—The State Department made public today a statement on railway development in Africa from the United States Consul Ravndal at Beirut, bearing date of May 10. The Consul says that by an agreement signed at Brussels the previous month by Robert Williams with the King of the Belgians the German route was abandoned and the railway from Cairo to the Cape is to be carried through the Congo Free State to the upper waters of the Nile. From Stanley Falls, on the Upper Congo, a railway is to be built to Lake Mahagi, on Lake Albert Nyanza, and this connection will supply the missing link between the Cape and Egyptian railways.

The Consul reports that the new railway project does not necessarily replace the original central line through German territory as planned by Mr. Cecil Rhodes and the German Government. In fact, he says that it is quite likely, if the proposed railway be built from the coast of Dar-Es-Salaam, the capital of German East Africa, that the original Cape-to-Cairo scheme, by way of Tabora, will be realized. "Both lines," says the Consul, "may astonish the world before many years as full-fledged realities."

The Consul says that the United States is not playing an important part in the developments of Africa, and that "Stanley's momentous work in the seventies has not been followed up by his countrymen." Only with Cape Colony is our commerce of any material importance.

Winnipeg's Industrial Show

Special to The Times.

Winnipeg, Man., July 21.—This is the Industrial Exposition and the city is rapidly filling with visitors. The exhibits this year are more varied and numerous than heretofore and especially notable is the great cattle display, adjudged by experts to be the best ever seen in the Dominion. The attendance promises to be large and many visitors are expected from the Dakotas, Minnesota and other [illegible] during the week.

LIVE LAKEFIELD LOCALS

What is Going on in the Village to the North

—Mr. and Mrs. Dela Fosse have opened their summer cottage at Stony Lake.

—The Craig House has a number of summer boarders as has also the Midland.

—Miss Fitzgerald, of Peterborough is visiting in the village, the guest of Miss Joe Mason.

—Many of the villagers are away at the lakes just now, and things are quiet in the village.

—Rev. J. R. Fraser, and Rev. T. W. Gegott, returned from Windsor, where they went to attend the Grand Masonic Lodge which met in that city last week.

—It will be good news to the many friends of Mrs. Peter Preston to learn that she is doing well, after her serious accident.

—The death of Miss Hendren has cast a pall over the village and expressions of regret are heard on every side.

—Miss McElwen left last week for Hawkesborough, Que., where she intends paying a short visit, after which she will go on New York.

—The cement works are running to their full capacity these days.

—The excursion traffic this year is a disappointment, largely due to wet weather.

A Time of Anxiety and Fear for Thousands around Us

Paine's Celery Compound

Will Banish the Summer Blues and Other Distresses That Make Life Miserable and Unhappy

This is the season when we hear men and women complaining about their unhappy and half-dead condition. They find that physical and mental energy has deserted them, and they are sinking deeply in the pit of despondency.

The hot summer weather always produces thousands of miserable, feeling mortals. They lack nerve force, strength and true vitality. They cannot rest day or night, and life becomes a burden.

The great recuperator, builder and strength-giver for all weary, worn-out and suffering people is Paine's Celery Compound, now so universally prescribed by medical men. When the great medicine is used at this season, languor, despondency, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, dyspepsia and digestive troubles are permanently banished, and men and women go about their duties and work with a vim, will and energy that indicate health and physical strength. Mrs. Anna Dawson, Wilbesport, Ont., says:

"I consider it a pleasure to put on record what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I have been afflicted with nervousness and sleeplessness. All ordinary medicines failed, and nothing met my case until I used Paine's Celery Compound. Now I never miss a night's sleep. I strongly recommend your medicine to all nervous sufferers."

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs.: Fair and warm.

Conditions are now favorable for an improvement, in [illegible]

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Roszel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Cramsley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill, Garvin, R. A. Peck, Warde, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal... ...	5.10 p.m.	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.32 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	5.10 a.m.	11.35 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto & intermediate...	7.32 p.m.	7.12 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	6.35 p.m.	11.46 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.30 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	8.35 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
Lakefield local	6.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.30 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 22, 1902.

THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST AS A WHEAT PRODUCER

We printed a few days ago a telegram which, if it prove to be well founded, will furnish the advocates of a preference for colonial grain in the British market with the most specious argument yet forthcoming. We are told on the authority of Mr. Greenway, ex-Premier of Manitoba, that, owing to the recent influx of American farmers, the Canadian Northwest is now experiencing the beginning of a great development, and that the wheat of that region this year will be between seventy and one hundred million bushels.

The objection hitherto urged to a preferential tariff is this: As things now are, the British Empire is incapable of feeding itself, and, although, under a preferential tariff for the colonies, it might in time be able to do so, the workingmen of Great Britain would be subjected to intolerable hardships in the interval, if not also afterward. It is, however, generally acknowledged that the registration duty just imposed by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach will not permanently cause an appreciable addition to the price of a loaf of bread. Suppose now, that colonial grain were relieved from the registration duty, would the colonies be able to produce grain enough to supply the needs of the mother country before the expiration of the present Parliament, which still has more than four years to live? That is the crucial question upon which our telegram on Manitoba may be thought to throw some light.

By several students of this subject, including Sir Vincent Caillard, it is pronounced a moderate estimate that Canada should produce ten times the normal crops she does today. A still more conservative statistician computes that Canada, with very little encouragement, could, in a short time, treble her present wheat produce for export. But Canada is not the only possible colonial purveyor of wheat. It has been calculated that in Australia, New South Wales, Queensland and Victoria have available sufficient acres which, if put under the plow, could, even on a low average yield, meet the whole of Great Britain's annual demand for wheat and other cereals. In South Africa also there are sections which only need due stimulus to become what might amount to a third imperial granary. There is, in short, no doubt that, given adequate encouragement in the shape of a preference in the British market, all of the grain now imported by the United Kingdom might be furnished by her colonies. It is not, obviously, a question of pecuniary incentive. Would the mere relief from the present registration duty suffice to induce the Canadian Northwest, Australia and South Africa to put vast additional areas under wheat? Would not the difference in the freight charges payable by wheat brought from the Canadian Northwest, to say nothing of South Africa and Australia—as compared with the freight charges payable by wheat coming from the United States—more than counterbalance the exemption from the present registration duty? It would require a considerable, and no an infinitesimal, superiority of profits to impel colonial farmers to place a greatly increased acreage under wheat. To assure a decided superiority of profits to colonial wheat producers over their rivals in the United States, it would be necessary for the United Kingdom to impose on foreign grain a tax materially heavier than the present registration duty. It is admitted on all hands, however, than any increase in the actual tax on grain would be instantly reflected in the price of bread; and this increased price would have to be maintained. Otherwise the encouragement to the augmented production of wheat in the colonies would collapse.

We arrive, therefore, by this new road at the identical conclusion which we have repeatedly expressed, to wit: that the United Kingdom cannot draw its needed supply of grain from the colonies without exasperating by a rise in the price of bread, the toiling millions of the British population engaged in manufacturing, mining, railroads, and shopkeeping.

The early completion of the Trent Valley Canal would go a long way to even this matter up.

BATTLE NEAR AT BARCELONA

President Castro There at the Head of the Venezuelan Army

Washington, July 19.—Herbert W. Bowen, United States Minister to Venezuela, has cabled the State Department that it is absolutely impossible to obtain accurate information in Caracas as to what is going on at the places where the revolutionists are most active. He has accordingly directed W. W. Russell, the secretary of his legation, to go to Barcelona for the purpose of observing conditions and making reports.

President Castro is at Barcelona in command of his troops, and it is expected that a decisive battle will occur there. The gunboat Marietta will take Mr. Russell from La Guayra to Barcelona.

Bob's Many Advantages

Bob. Ind.: A gentleman in Pittsburg wishes to inquire about the lakes and asks what there is to be caught. The gentleman is requested to pack his grip and come right along, for there is more catching to be done here than he has ever dreamed of. Why in the canal alone, only a short stretch that runs in front of the office of this great journal, there is all the catching any man can wish for. To commence with, and it commences at 6.15 a.m., there are three boats to catch, and the efforts made by fully twenty per cent. of the catchers would make a horse laugh. A Washington lady the other day caught seven perch, thirteen sunfish and two mudpouts, and little Tommy Schemer got into the river to his neck and caught the ternationist old larroping of his life. He has been laying on his little tummy ever since, and it happened three days ago. A gentleman from Buffalo caught four fine bass in less than ten minutes on Monday last, and the lockmaster caught a cord and a half of prime drift wood. Last season a young lady, none too young either, caught a husband while sitting on the wharf, waiting for the Saturday night boat. She would be glad to trade him off for a second hand carpet sweeper, or mostly any old thing now, but she caught him all the same, and you wouldn't have classed her as much of a catcher. Then a gentleman from Syracuse got into a boat the other morning on his first fishing xpedition. He was real pretty to ook at. Costume was the very thing, and brand new. He was a daisy, and said he didn't see any reason why he couldn't row. He caught a crab on the second stroke, and when he came up from under the boat, he wanted to know if a water spout had struck them, or what was it, any how. It is all right, dear boy, if catching is what you are after. Go to your nearest railway station and ask for a Kawartha Lake Tourist ticket, to Bobcaygeon, and you can rely on a round of catching that will keep you wondering for a year or more.

Where They Flourish.

Crawford—If you're not going out to buy a new hat, but merely to look at them, what do you want with a dollar? Mrs. Crawford—Why, you can't get a decent seat at the matinee for less than a dollar.

Husband's Face.

Benedicts who are in the habit of trying to palm themselves off as spring hatched roosters will learn, not without alarm, that the physiognomist is on their track. He has, in fact, evolved a new terror called the "husband's face." Every married man is said to possess it, and it marks him out a Benedict just as surely as if he had a label to that effect hung round his neck. Don't imagine, says "Pick-Me-Up," that we are going to give the secret away—the ladies know too much already—but any duly certified married man who sends along sufficient cheques and stamps to cover the postage, cost of packing, and registration, can have it by return, or later. It is just as well to be on your guard, boys. There is small comfort in being told by a casual confection that you are not what you pretend to be, even supposing you aren't, and if a little wrinkle from "one who knows" can avert trouble, I'm sure you're heartily welcome.

Mistress—Now, Jane, there is no use of further argument as to how this dish should be prepared, but our ideas on the subject are so different that it is evident one or the other of us is crazy.

Jane—True for you, ma'am; an' it's not the likes of me as would be after sayin' the likes of you would have no more since than to keep a crazy cook—Chicago News.

Mainly About People.

Dr. Parr, on meeting Lord Chancellor Erskine, with whom he was friendly, once said: "Erskine, I mean to write your epitaph when you die." "Doctor," answered the great lawyer, "it is almost a temptation to commit suicide."

At a ball in the country a gentleman undertook to introduce a companion to a young but somewhat stout lady, who seemed to be pining for a dance. "No, thanks, old fellow; I don't care to waltz with a cart." A few evenings later the same young lady, who had overheard the conversation, beheld the young man seeking an introduction and asking if he might have the honor, etc. "No, thank you," she replied; "I may be a cart, but I am not a donkey cart."

A rich Irish-American, who frequently visits England and dearly loves a lord, loses no opportunity of talking of his great acquaintances. At a recent dinner party in New York, where there were several Roman Catholics, during a conversation on the subject of fasting, this gentleman said: "It is very strange how little Catholics in the higher ranks mind the fast days. I was dining at the Duke of Norfolk's on a fast day, three weeks ago, and there wasn't a bit of fish at dinner." "I suppose," said another Irishman, "they had eaten it all in the dining-room."

John D. Rockefeller recently told the following story: "I don't question the veracity of that story, but I am going to tell you one that I know to be true. It happened down in Washington. A negro was driving a wagon and in going through a street ran against a funeral. With the superstition of his race he thought it would be bad luck to cross behind the funeral, so he tried to cross ahead of it, but the driver of the hearse whipped up his horse, and the two went neck and neck for a time until finally the darkey sang out: 'Say, dah, pull up youah hoss! Mah boss is in a hurry an' yuah's isn't!'"

Judge Pennypacker of Philadelphia tells a story which shows the readiness of the Pennsylvania Dutchman to obey those in authority: In 1864 Sheridan, under orders, burned every barn from a valley above Staunton to a certain point below Winchester. A band of angry rebels followed this raid, watching for a chance to pick up any stragglers. Among others who fell into their hands was a little Pennsylvania Dutchman, who quietly turned to his captors and enquired: "Vat you fellows going to do mit me?" The reply came short and sharp: "Hang you." "Vell," he said, meekly, "vatever is de rule." His good-natured reply threw the Confederates into a roar of laughter and saved his life.

One day last autumn Bennet Burleigh, the noted English special war correspondent, was encountered a few miles outside Pretoria by that volcanic rhetorician, General Tucker. "What the —— —— are you doing out here with that —— thing?" asked the general, pointing to a kodak which was slung round his shoulders. "Well, sir," promptly replied Mr. Burleigh, "I was intending to take some photographs; but had I known that I was to have the pleasure of meeting you I should have brought out a phonograph." At this audacity, it is said that even General Tucker's stock of sulphurous adjectives ran low.

Gilbert Parker, to illustrate the gullibility of some Englishmen in the colonies, recently told the following story: "Once in Australia on my way through the bush, with my friend Cabbage Tree Bill, we were accompanied by a burly and intelligent young gentleman from Devonshire, and as we came along we saw along the road, if it might be called a road, a young kangaroo. Bill said: 'Now wait a minute; you will see him take the letters.' The kangaroo was sitting up as if waiting for something, and Bill said, 'He has his pouch and everything ready to carry them,' but as we came along Bill snapped his whip and said, 'Nothing to-day,' and the kangaroo trotted off, the young gentleman believing for a great part of the rest of the journey that the object of the kangaroo's presence was as Bill had said."

John Philip Sousa, the bandmaster, usually wears his uniform at all times and seasons, and prefers that his men do the same. The practice has led to some very amusing experiences. For example, one night Mr. Sousa was standing in a railway station, on the platform, waiting for a train. A belated traveler ran up to him and asked, excitedly, "Has the nine-three train pulled out?" "I really don't know," responded Mr. Sousa. "Well, why don't you know?" shouted the traveler. "What are you standing here for like a stick of wood? Aren't you a conductor?" "Yes," said Mr. Sousa, pleasantly, "I am a conductor." "A nice sort of conductor, indeed!" exclaimed the man. "Well, you see," smilingly responded the musician, "I am not the conductor of a train, but of a brass band."

The Retort Cordial.

Counsel for the defendant (sarcastically)—You're a nice fellow, aren't you? Witness for the plaintiff (cordially)—I am, sir, and if I were not on my oath I'd say the same of you.—"Tit-Bits."

Beggars Can't Be Choosers.

Aunt Amandy—Hain't yew ashamed ter hum around here beggin'? Onnie Way—Well, die ain't a werry 'ristokratic neighborhood, fer a fact, but we mustn't be too perticklier, mum.—Chicago "News."

The Inferior Sex.

First Small Scholar—Please, miss, we've got such a beautiful cat, and she's just had some kittens.

Second ditto—Please, miss, our cat's a beauty, too; but (regretfully) he doesn't lay.—"Punch."

A woman's broken heart mends beautifully if it is attended to at once.—Ex.

"How is this? You have charged me twice the usual price for shaving." "My razor was dull, and it took me twice as long."—New York "Weekly."

Barber—That's strange. You say you have been here before. I don't seem to remember your face. Victim—Probably not. You see, it has all healed up now.—Glasgow "Evening Times."

Electric Lamps
25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL
CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING
and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00..............................$1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average....Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 21 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANG is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000
The American Cotton Co.
3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905
Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.
INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST
IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.
Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.
No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:
JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C. CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Vice Pres
RAMPDEN E TENER, Jr. Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS
Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P. COOPER, Boston.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bonds without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
34 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON
Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND
George A. Treadwell Mining Company
27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.
Capital - - - - $3,000,000.
PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

SHARP COMPETITION IN SOUTH AFRICAN TRADE

Johannesburg, Transvaal, July 19.—At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce today, called to receive the British Trade Commissioners, a member read a cable despatch which he had received, offering freights from New York to[illegible] at 18 shillings per ton. Other members of the Chamber said they had received similar offers. This rate is not remunerative, but in the outcome of competition, it is 5s. 3d. below the lowest freight rate from England. The merchants do not see how the Americans are able to offer such low rates. Nevertheless, they are overhauling their stocks to see what they can order in the United States.

A majority of the members of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Mines are advocating a coast duty of 1s. to 1s. 6d. per case of dynamite in order to protect the local factory. The proposal is strongly opposed as tending to create a worse monopoly than existed during the Kruger regime and to establish a precedent in the direction of protection.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers. LEITH. Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

THE
ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.
MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST.
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each. I have analysed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 88/100 to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out
Of Furnishings.
TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE. ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS. 363 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year
Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE
ALES AND PORTER
—OF—
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED
They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealers

VARICOCELE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you, you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor, Can. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX ST. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165 000

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2, or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough, March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms

Interest Allowed on Deposits.

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.
GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co.
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.
OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and [illegible].

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 204 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 40 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co. Milwaukee, Wis.

Help Wanted.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $20 to $30 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co. Room 711 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $[illegible] to $[illegible]. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to WM. W [illegible], Sec.-Treas.

Items of News

St. Petersburg, July 17WM de Witte, the Minister of Finance, in an interview yesterday, declared that the Czar with a view of affording the people of the provinces still further freedom of expression regarding the condition of the peasantry, had directed the local committees od the commission appointed for the purpose of probing social problems to raise any questions they pleased in addition to those provided for in the programme of enquiry.

London, Thursday, July 17.—A despatch to the morning Post from Brussels says that the King of the Belgians has obtained several important railway concessions in China. It is added that he has acquired a majority of the Canton-Hankow Railway from the American syndicate which obtained hte concession for the line.

London, July 155.—King Edward left Victoria station at 11.35 o'clock this morning for Portsmouth, where he will board the Royal yacht Victoria and Albert. The King was conveyed from Buckingham Palace to the railway station in an ambulance drawn by two horses.

The only other occupant of the ambulance was Queen Alexandra. The vehicle was driven at a walking pace. Although there was a small crowd at the station there was no demonstration in compliance with the express wish of the King. The doctors and nurses awaited the arrival of the ambulance and a party of bluejackets removed His Majesty from the vehicle to a royal saloon car, formerly used by the late Queen Victoria. Absolute privacy was secured by a lofty screen of red plush which surrounded the platform.

Portsmouth, Eng. July 15.—King Edward arrived here from London before 2 p.m.

The removal of His Majesty from the train to the royal yacht was safely accomplished by blue jackets and the King's couch was placed in a reception room which had been especially constructed on the uppper deck.

The warships in the harbor fired a royal salute as the King embarked, and all the vessels dressed ship and manned yards or decks. The royal yacht steamed off almost immediately after the transfer was completed.

It was said that the King bore the journey exceedingly well.

Providence, July -18.—Annie Graham, seventeen years old, an operative in a stocking mill at P[illegible] disappeared last Friday from her home at Central Falls. Saturday her mother told the police the girl was missing, and Mrs. Daniel D. Bourne, wife of an expressman, reported at the same time that her husband had disappeared.

Today the girl was found near her home, suffering from laudanum poisoning. She said she remembered little after leaving home, but declared she had left Bourne dead in the woods at Attleboro. His body has not been found, although search has been made for it.

The Methodists of Hastings excurted to Healey's Falls yesterday on the steamer Rainbow and barge. Just before passing through the Trent bridge where the water is exceptionally high owing to the recent heavy rains, Capt. Barnett disembarked most of the passengers before attempting to go through leaving about 25 on the boat and 4 on the scow, one of the later being Miss Short, of Hastings, who was in charge of the refreshment booth on the scow. The other three were watching the baskets, etc.

The steamer passed through all right at highest speed, but when the scow was about one half way through it struck one of the piers and was quickly swerved to the other side. It came in contact with the other pier and with the swing bridge which was open and therefore lying lengthwise with the stream.

The result was awful; the cover on he scow was completely wrenched from its fastenings. In its flight it swept everything before it, and one of the beams struck Miss Short on the head and held her fast, in the booth. The heavy two inch tow rope snapped like a string and the scow went on towards Healy's Falls, beyond the control of anyone. Those who were on the scow providentially were in the rear, and htey escaped death. Miss Short was released from her perilous position and was unconscious for about 15 minutes. Baskets, parasols, coats, benches, and all the contents of the booth were swept into the water. The greater portion of which were afterwards recovered by parties on canoes.

Soon about twenty-five persons were in pursuit of the scow in canoes, and picking up all they could find. When quiet was restored the scow was captured about a mile down the river and towed back to the bridge, where many willing hands made temporary repairs sufficient to enable the excursionists to return to Hastings. The trip to the Falls had to be abandoned, and the party returned to Hastings at 9 o'clock at night.

Miss Short was sufficiently recovered to walk to her home when the boat reached Hastings, but she had a miraculous escape. Had it not been for Capt. Barnett's thoughtfulness in landing the passengers above the bridge, there would undoubtedly have been a heavy death list. There was quite a panic when the crash came, and some of the women on shore fainted. An organ on the scow was almost swept overboard. When the scow reached Hastings, it was in a very dilapidated condition, but all were truly happy that they escaped as well as they did. The bridge was also damaged, but it can be used. There was a heavy load of passengers on board.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers
Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody,
Her Royal Highness, Lady
Mary of the Dark
House, etc.

artificial color. "Older than you!" she repeated, intolerantly. "Three or four years, perhaps. But after this thing that you have done you can no longer pose as a guileless child."

"I have done nothing," I answered her, hotly. "Nothing, except to lose all my friends and all my money, and be obliged to work for my bread."

"You look like a hard-working breadwinner, in that Liberty tea-gown!" she sneered.

Before any answer had come to me, she went on. "At least, I see by your face that you have the grace to be ashamed of yourself. Then there may be some hope yet."

"I have nothing to be ashamed of," I did find voice to say at last. "I think that you and I, Lady Feo Ringwood, must be playing at cross purposes. Did you come here to insult me?"

"I came to save John Bourke—if I could."

"To save him—from what?"

"To speak frankly, from great danger of losing all the fruit of his ambition. His seat in Parliament; his chance of rising higher still, should the Liberal party come into power."

For a moment, in the shock of hearing that the man I loved was in peril of such a disaster, I forgot myself and the part allotted to me in this strange scene.

"Oh, he must not lose it!" I cried.

Lady Feo looked at me with a curious expression. "It rests with you," she said.

"With me? Impossible!"

"But it is true. Listen, and I will tell you how. Mr. Bourke has enemies, as all strong men must have. It has got about that—that—well, that a mysterious lady is living in his house. All sorts of stories are being told——"

"They are lies!" I broke in, furiously, understanding her at last.

"Wait—if you really care for him. Hear me to the end. I am his friend. I believe in him as I have never believed in any other man. I would do anything to save him from the storm that is gathering. If you have any real love for him in your heart, any womanly unselfishness born of love, you will do the only thing left for you to do for John Bourke. You will leave his house."

"It is not his house!" I cried, desperately, scarcely able to speak for the sobbing breath that came pantingly with the wild beating of my heart. "It is Mrs. Jennett's house. He is not living here. He has been at an hotel ever since I came——"

"Oh, what sophistry! Even if I believed it, what good would such a story do him, when he came to defend himself from the accusations which will be brought against him? Sheila Cope, tell me, as woman to woman, do you love him?"

"He is my employer, my friend," I stammered, "not my lover. Never has one word of——"

"Answer my question!"

"I will not answer. You have no right to ask."

"You have answered. But I say to you you do not love him or you would leave this house now—this hour."

"I was going away in a day or two," I said. "It is all arranged. My rooms are engaged. I have been ill, and——"

"I don't mean that sort of going away. You might as well stay here, for all the good you will do to Mr. Bourke my moving to rooms which he has taken for you——"

"Mrs. Jennett took them," I cut her short, obstinately, tears of shame and anger brimming over in my eyes.

"Oh, nonsense! It's all one. Don't play the child with me."

I adjured her with passion, "I swear to you by all I hold most sacred that you cruelly wrong both me and the man you love!"

She quivered, and stared at me sidewise, her eyes flashing.

"How dare you say I love him!"

"You have dared to say things to me such as no one else on earth would have uttered. Why should I not dare? And I do say it—though it is nothing to me."

For a moment she looked at me in silence, her bosom rising and falling under its soft summer laces and the bunch of purple orchids pinned in her dress. "Well," she spoke at last, more softly, "you are right. I confess it. For it may prove the touch of nature that will make us two kin for this one hour I plead to you—I don't command. Save him—as I would save him, were I in your place—no matter how costly the sacrifice. You tell me I do you an injustice. Suppose I do. Yet would men of the world believe it—the men he has to deal with? Why, I came here in fear and trembling, praying I might do something. But I should have feared far more—always for John Bourke's future—if I'd dreamt that the girl I had heard of in this house was Sheila Cope."

"Again I don't understand," I said, miserably, my heart so cold that it seemed to freeze all flexibility from my voice. It sounded in my own ears like that of a very, very old woman.

"Now that you are quieter and gentler, I'll explain. Only, this time, you must promise to hear me through to the end without interruption. Will you do that?"

I nodded—for it was hard to speak.

CHAPTER XVI.

A Letter on the Typewriter.

"Everybody has been talking about Sheila Cope and her affairs," Lady Feo went on, carefully, as if she were piling up her indictment, word by word, choosing each as a builder might choose a stone. "You have made conversation at teas and dinners, and doubtless in club rooms; you have made paragraphs for papers. You began by being a popular debutante; you became a mystery; it remains to be seen how you will end. But don't speak yet.

"It was known that, by Lady Cope's failure to make a will, or something of that sort—such stories are always vague—you were no longer an heiress. Roger Cope came into everything. He was in love with you, of course. We all thought that, those who knew him and those who didn't; and he did not take the trouble to contradict it. He, or someone—it doesn't signify—gave out that you had gone to France to live with relations. But you disappeared such a short time ago that people haven't yet lost interest. They are on the qui vive to hear the next development. What will be said of John Bourke when it comes out that instead of being in France you are in his house, calling yourself Miss Harland, and wearing lovely white satin tea-gowns?"

"I shall cause the truth to be said!" I pleaded rather than protested. "I would rather die than harm should come to him through my fault, after all his goodness to me. I was penniless

(To be continued.)

Testing It For Herself.

He watched her arranging the violets in the big Kakiri bowl.

She looked so very pretty, and yet she must be told.

Lighting a cigarette, he braced himself for the telling. As he tossed the match in the direction of the blazing fire, she came toward him, holding in her hand a few of the purple flowers.

"For you," she said, simply, and pressed close to his side as she put them in his buttonhole.

After that she bent and kissed him, slowly and deliberately. He sat transfixed. In all their platonics her lips had never before touched his.

Ere he could recover himself she kissed him again.

Not a word nor a caress accompanied either kiss. They stood out against a background of utter incomprehensibility.

Then she walked over by the fire. He looked anxiously after her.

She faced about, and he saw that her lips were moving slightly, while her eyes had a far-off gaze.

At last she spoke.

"You can marry her!"

There was a pause—she seemed to be indulging in further meditation — and then—

"Yes, you can marry her. I don't care at all. You see, I kissed you on purpose. I did it twice to make sure, and I didn't feel even the faintest quiver either time. I was very careful, and tasted each kiss thoroughly, and I know now that—that you can marry her."

He rose, his form and his rage towering together. What man could be calm on learning that his lips possess no power to thrill?

"Good-bye," he said, putting out his hand.

"Good-bye," she answered, smiling.

He went out, and the door closed behind him.

She stood where he left her, banding her clasped fingers across her eyes. The sunlight streamed in between the window arches and shot a ray of glory over the violets, the woman and the woman's yellow hair. It caused the diamonds on her hand to sparkle brilliantly, and something on her cheek shone too.

"Dear heaven!" she murmured, softly, "what must it be to have him do the kissing!"

A Delicate Position.

Wedding presents are frequently distinguished for their uselessness, and gift-making at any time is always attended with some danger, but there is a contractor in Toronto who realises that the most generous intentions are likely to turn out disastrously. This is how it came about:

A faithful Irish employee announced his desire to take a month's vacation in order to visit his brother in the West. He had worked so well and steadily that his employer not only granted the request, but made him a present of a new valise. The night before Tim was to leave he received the gift, accompanied by a few appreciative words.

Tim stared at the valise for a moment and then asked: "What am I to do with thot?"

"Why, put your clothes in it when you go away, of course," answered the contractor.

"Put me clothes in it, is it?" said Tim. "An' phwat will Oi wear if Oi put me clothes in thot?"

"A farmer ought to read a great deal, just the same as any other business man."

"Yes," answered Farmer Corntossel. "It keeps me so busy posting up on railroad rates and the tariff that I'm sometimes afraid I won't have time to raise the stuff to send to market. —Washington Star.

Lee Low's Misapprehension.

Lee Low Wung, secretary of the Chinese consulate in New York, in the course of a conversation recently, spoke of some of the ideas prevalent in his country, as follows:

"In China it is generally supposed that a man's brains are located in his stomach, and the fatter he is the more his wisdom is deemed assured. Of course, there are many people in China who know that a man's brains are in his head, but they cheerfully assist in maintaining the jolly fiction of corpulent greatness.

"I began to learn English in China when I was 15 years old, under the instruction of Dr. Malcolm of Shanghai. I had begun to study it in secret by myself a year before, but it was too much for my unaided efforts.

"The word wind, being used in two senses, gave me as much trouble as anything else. For a long time I was under the impression that in England and America clocks and watches were filled with air to keep them going. I was curious to see this operation of winding the clock, and my disappointment when Dr. Malcolm explained the mystery was very acute."

The Switzerland of America.

The above caption is particularly appropriate to the region in the "Highlands of Ontario" known as "The Lake of Bays" district. It is replete with natural beauty and loveliness, and comprises some of the most beautiful water stretches and picturesque landscapes for which the locality is becoming so famous with the ever increasing army of tourists. The scenic grandeur of hill and mountain, the placid beauty of the lakes, the lovely rivers, are not surpassed in any country. One thousand feet above sea level. No Hay Fever, absence of flies, splendid speckled trout fishing, and good bathing and boating assured. Handsome illustrated descriptive matter giving full particulars can be had for the asking by applying to M. C. Dickson, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

In Desperation.

The European king sighed and stirred uneasily. "My subjects," he exclaimed, "are getting so enlightened, so imbued with the ideas of democracy, that they no longer fawn upon me, toady to me. There's only one thing for me to do to relieve this monotony. I must visit America."—"Town Topics."

A Phenomenon of Sleep.

He had come on her dozing in a hammock, and when she woke up she accused him of stealing a kiss. "Well," he said, "I will admit that the temptation was too strong to be resisted. I did steal one little kiss." "One!" she exclaimed, indignantly; "I counted eight before I woke up."—"Household Words."

Keble's Mistake.

Apropos of the rather slighting remark in Cecil Rhodes's will, with reference to the college authorities of Oriel, that they "are like children as to commercial matters," someone recalls the story once current of John Keble, who in his time was bursar of Oriel. The worthy poet was thrown into a panic by the discovery that the college accounts came out about two thousand pounds on the wrong side. The learned and pious men of Oriel tried in vain to find out where the error was, and it was not until an expert was called in that it was discovered that Keble, in casting up a column, had inadvertently added the date of the year to Oriel's debts.

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, tne remainder of the work is done in theT imes Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of paprrs.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE
GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 180 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 337 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Tunisian	July 19 5 a m	July 19 3 p m
Pretorian	July 26 5 a m	July 26 3 p m
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m

First cabin, $65 upwards; second cabin, $37.50 to $42.50; London, $1.50 extra; third class, $25 and $26—Liverpool, Derry, Belfast, Glasgow, London.

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.

Laurentian	July 16, 1 p m
Carthaginian	July 30 12 noon

S. S. Sicilian new, from Montreal to Glasgow direct, Wednesday 30th July, at daylight, carrying 2nd cabin passengers only. $35.00 single; $66.50 return.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S. S Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leav Toronto and Montreal daily excep Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav.; Peterborough, Ontario, or to

THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY
(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.35 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveand and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, Ont

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 6 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.30; Jubilee Point at 11 55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS,
Master

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. STOLLARD, Master.

Time table for week ending July 19th

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the lakes.

On Monday, Wednesday and Saturday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8 30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1 00.
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peter borough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5 00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer
Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8 40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11 00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p m.	"	7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Satu days boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por. Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER. N. Y.
STEAMERS
'NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN'
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... 2.[illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... 2.50 p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... 6.41 p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets...... 8.[illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets ...... 8.[illegible] a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester... ...... 9.[illegible] a.m
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... ......1.[illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario...... ...2.50 p.m

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which ticket reads. For further information apply to,

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James Swain Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth on route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, [illegible]

TO-DAY

Ask your druggist for

FOOT ELM

This great remedy, for all foot troubles.

We will pay back your money if the remedy is not satisfactory.

If your Druggist offers you a substitute, try some honorable druggist, there are lots of them and it's not necessary to deal with a man who offers you an inferior article for the sake of making a few extra cents profit.

STOTT & JURY.
Bowmanville, Ont.

THE
PORT HOPE BREWING AND MALTING CO., Ltd

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight or your appetite and digestion need stimulating or are convalesing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'
Celebrated Malt Extract

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, JULY 22, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

—A good ad in The Times is a stepping stone to success.

—George street league moonlight excursion went down the river last night.

—Chief Rennel took in the lawyer's excursion yesterday, and, strange as it may appear, was not once called upon to read the riot act.

—Joe Curtain, who was up before the Magistrate yesterday morning, charged with indecent assault, was discharged.

—When Nora Ryan
Wed Patrick Rand.
She said: "I'm holding.
A good 'Pat' hand."

The funds of that worthy institution, St. Joseph's Hospital, were increased by $1,650, the proceeds of the collection at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday.

—The first annual excursion under the auspices of the local Bartender's Union will take place on Thursday next, to Jubilee Point, per steamer City of Peterborough.

—The steamer City of Peterborough will carry an excursion party from Millbrook, to Jubilee and return today. The picnic is under the auspices of the Presbyterian and English church Sunday schools of the village.

—Twenty-four men enrolled themselves as members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society on Sunday, and fifty women joined the League of the Cross after vespers in St. Peter's cathedral.

—The Peterborough Typographical Union have completed arrangements for their second annual excursion to Jubilee Point, on Saturday afternoon August 2nd, per steamer City of Peterborough. Don't miss it, for it will be the best outing of the season.

—Mr. Wm. Croft yesterday showed The Times a tomato of prodigious proportions for this season of the year. The vegetable weighed 13 1-2 ounces, and measured 13 3-4 inches in circumference. It was grown by Mr. Croft, and is one of the variety known as Ponda Rosa.

—The C.P.R. propose to increase their facilities in order to be in a position to handle the Cereal Company's business when the works are in operation. New sheds are to be erected and more yard room obtained.

—Mr. J. W. Grieves, a brakeman on the Grand Trunk Railway, met with an accident at Lindsay on Saturday, and was brought to the Nicholls Hospital here on Saturday nigth. While engaged in shunting cars Grieves had his hand badly crushed. He was brought to town Saturday night by special train.

The Campbellford lacrosse team will cross sticks with St. Peter's T. A. S. second team this evening on the Separate school grounds, Murray street. These two teams played a tie game in Campbellford recently, and a good game may be expected this evening.

WANTED

Good General Servant—apply to Mrs. C. Stanley, No. 360 Hunter street.

Nervous and Sleepless

There is just one cure and that is plenty of food for the blood and nerves, which is best supplied in Ferrozone, than which no blood builder, nerve tonic or strength producer is better. Ferrozone promotes healthy digestion, which results in improved nutrition. The blood grows rich and red, furnishes stability to the entire system, and the store of nerve force and energy increases daily. A rebuilding of the constitution, new spirits, health and strength, all come from the use of Ferrozone. This marvelous remedy is sold by Druggists for 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. J. B. McWilliams left yesterday on a trip through the North Shore lumber camps.

—Mr. Orlando Mowry has returned to town after an absence of about a year on the Pacific Coast.

—Mr. Robert Stewart, Brockville, and his son, Bert, spent Sunday with friends in this neighborhood. Master Bert has accepted a position in Higgins' hardware store.

—The many friends of Mrs. Richard Hall will be pleased to learn that she is rapidly recovering after her recent indisposition. Miss Marley Hall, her little daughter, has also been quite ill, and is also convalescing.

—Belleville Intelligencer: "Mr. Jas. A. Fife, Science Master, Collegiate Institute, Peterborough, Mrs. Fife, and son Jack, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Baker, Forin street. Mr. Fife has an appointment for the summer months in the Provincial Assay office here, as assistant to Mr. Wells."

—Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Jas. Dunnett, who was called home by the illness and death of her father, Mr. Wm. Macklin, of Haldimand township. Mr. Macklin, who was a magistrate and the reeve of that township for many years, was widely known and highly respected. His many friends mourn the loss of a noble friend and a Christian brother.

—The Misses Carroll, who have been visiting Miss Gertie McFadden, Elm street, for the past two weeks, have returned to their home, Arthur street, Toronto. During the young ladies' stay in town they took in all the most interesting sights, and from each carried off a few souvenirs, chiefest among which were a few specimens of foundation material of the American Cereal Works.

Toothache Cured in One Minute

Saturate some batting with Polson's Nerviline and place it in the cavity of the tooth. Rub the painful part of the face with Nerviline, bind in hot flannel and and the toothache will disappear immediately. Nerviline is a splendid household remedy for Cramps, Indigestion, Summer Complaint, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Toothache. Powerful, penetrating, safe and pleasant for internal and external use. Price 25c. Try Nerviline.

Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for Biliousness.

A Record Week

The City of Peterborough broke the record last week, when she ran seven excursion parties in the six days, besides passing inspection. This speaks well for the management, and shows that there is a good business to be done if properly looked after. The inspection of the steamer took place on Friday morning at seven o'clock, and was completed at 7.30. The steamer was found to be in first-class shape.

Death of Mrs. Strickland

There passed away at "Lake Cottage," Ashburnham, yesterday, Annie M. Morgan, beloved wife of H. T. Strickland, Esq. The deceased lady had not been in good health for some time, and her demise was, therefore, not unexpected. The funeral will take place from the family residence, Lake street, Ashburnham, to-morrow (Wednesday), July 23rd, at 2.30 p.m., and will proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

Barbers Want New Laws

Special to The Times.

Springfield, Ill., July 21.—Representative barbers from all parts of Illinois are in session at the St. Nicholas today to perfect a permanent state organization. The principal purpose of the movement is to formulate the wants of barbers into a code which will be put before the next general assembly. One of the changes in the laws which will be requested in the abolishment of the barber schools, which are considered frauds and detrimental to the craft, and compelling the licensing of barbers.

The Times Letter Box

Letters from the People on Interesting and Timely Topics.

A TRUE FISH STORY

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—You talk about fish stories, here is a cracker-jack the truth of which can be vouched for.

A party of Rochester gentlemen are at Buckhorn Lake. Two of the party are very fond of fishing, and each had a guide. Their custom was to part immediately upon starting out in the morning and to meet by appointment at one of the innumerable islands for luncheon. One of the two owned a fly which he prized very highly. It differed from all others which they had ever seen, and because of its peculiarity and the success it had brought, it was well known to both fishermen. While at luncheon one day, after fishing all morning, the owner of the fly told a hard luck story to his companion. He said that, shortly after starting out that morning he had a strike and after working hard for some time a big fellow—he put it at at least twenty or thirty pounds"— was brought to the side of the boat. The guide missed him with the net and the "twenty or thirty pounder" got away. The unfortunate man said he didn't mind that so much —there were more as large and larger— but the fish got away with his pet fly, and of those there were no more. His companion consoled him as much as possible, and they parted for the afternoon.

Upon reaching the hotel late that afternoon the man who had listened to the story, presented to his friend a two-pound bass, with the wonderful fly hooked securely in its upper jaw, saying: "I would have thrown it in again but thought you might like to show the big one, which got away to your friends. I worked so hard getting him in, I'm exhausted. I guess I'll let you buy me a drink.

This is a true story; if you doubt it just ask Mr. Hone "Smooth" Forsythe or Tom Eastwood.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

OUR STREETS

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I notice a letter in one of your local contemporaries regarding the steam roller. I am of the opinion that what our streets need is not so much a steam roller, as a practical roadmaker at the head of the department. We will never have good roads under the present system. Let us place a first class practical man in charge, do away with a permanent engineer, and then and only then need we expect results.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am, &c

COMMON SENSE.

THE M'NAUGHTON INQUEST

ENQUIRY INTO THE CAUSE OF THE DEATH OF JOSEPH M'NAUGHTON

He Belonged to Peterborough—Parents Go To Port Hope and Give Evidence

Port Hope Guide: The inquest on he body of the late Joseph W. McNaughton, who died on Wednesday, was held at the residence of Mr. Henry Goheen, Friday, Coroner Corbett presiding.

The first witness called was Mr. D. N. McNaughton, father of the deceased, who said—I live in Peterborough, and deceased is about seven years of age. He took the measles in January last, and has not appeared well since, but nothing wrong as far as I could tell, except a little dry hacking cough. I did not call any doctor in to see him. The deceased resided in Peterborough until three weeks ago last Saturday, June 28th, when he was removed to Port Hope. When he left home he was in his usual health. He had failed away quite a lot from the time he had the measles, and had lost considerable flesh. My wife brought him to Port Hope, and I thought the change would do him good. I did not see deceased again until Tuesday, July 15th, but as far as looks is concerned, he looked fleshier than when he left home. I came to Port Hope to get work and then to take my wife and deceased home. I had four letters from my wife, and the report was that the deceased was better and doing well. I was with them from Tuesday night until Wednesday morning. Deceased got up on Wednesday morning; helped to dress himself, had breakfast and walked out to the buggy and I lifted him in. Mrs. Goheen was going to drive my wife and deceased to Port Hope, to take the train to Peterborough. They started for Port Hope and I began to get ready to drive to Peterborough. My wife had a return ticket to Peterborough, and I thought it would be easier in hte train for deceased, than in a buggy. Mrs. Goheen left the horse and buggy at the gate, and came back and told me my son was dead. I went down and led the horse and buggy back. I have had bad luck with medicinal doctors in former cases, but I did not send him out for treatment. My wife is a Christian Scientist, and she has always done the best she could for him. The four letters I received are at Peterborough. I did not approve of deceased being treated by Christian Science. I have often argued against it, and tried to persuade her against it. I know it was my duty to do all that lay in my power to restore the child to health, but I did not see that he needed any medical assistance. My wife said that Joseph Brundrett was treating the deceased, I do not know how often Mr. Brundrett came out, and could not say whether he came to see my son or not. Drs. Parker and Hamilton, of Stirling, attended one of my children once, and they gave the case up. They said it was lung and throat trouble, but I did not feel satisfied in either cases.

Mrs. McNaughton, sworn, said, — I reside in Peterborough; the deceased was my son, and would be seven years of age on Sept. 12th, 1902. I was away at Campbellford when deceased was sick, but my husband said he had the measles. Deceased had a dry, hacking cough. I gave him every comfort I could, kept him warm and left him in God's hands and gave him Christian Science treatment. Deceased had failed from January up to the time he came to see Mr. Goheen. I had no medical assistance in the case, but left the child in God's hands, thinking He was Almighty. My husband asked me if I thought we had better get a doctor for deceased; I said that he could do as he wished, but I would not order it. I never gave him any medicine, but continued to treat him by Christian Science. I clothed and fed him, prayed for him, and explained the Scripture, telling him that God was his help. I left Peterborough on the 23rd of June, and brought deceased to Port Hope, thinking the change would do him good. We did not stay in Port Hope, but came on here to Mr. Goheen's. We have been in Port Hope seven or eight times on business. Mr. Joseph Brundrett, of Port Hope, treated the deceased by Christian Science. I wrote to my husband four or five times in regard to the deceased, and told him that he was improving, and enjoying himself. Myself and deceased started for town on Tuesday morning, July 15th, after breakfast. He walked to the buggy, and his father lifted him in on his lap and we started for Port Hope. We got as far as the gate, which is about 40 yards from the house. I went to draw the rug up, when I noticed that his chin had dropped, and he was dead. I believe the body is dead, not the spirit. This child was under Christian Science treatment until he died. He gained about five pounds since he came down here. My husband is not a Christian Scientist. I was in attendance on my son in the house until he died. Mr. Brundrett was out twice, but I did not send for him. He was invited out one Sunday, and I had no objection to his coming. Mr. Brundrett and many others thought he was improving, but at last his feet began to swell. With me it was a question of religion, and I have taken the Scripture as my guide.

Dr. L B. Powers—I examined the body of deceased. From appearances he must have been in a very weak condition at death. I have no doubt tha consumption followed the measles. The immediate cause of death was the exertion of getting into the buggy, syncope of the heart. I think it is the duty of everybody to do all they can for consumption, because all people who have consumption do not die.

P. P. Home

The Committee of Management of the P. P. Home gratefully acknowledge the following donations for the month of June: Mr. Salisbury, reading matter; Mr. O. B. Routley, window shade; Mrs. D. W. Dumble, reading matter; Mrs. Burnham, Toronto papers; a friend, reading matter; George street church, flowers.

BIG G

CURE YOURSELF!

[illegible]

THE LAWYERS' EXCURSION

A Very Successful Outing Yesterday to Idyl-Wild

The writ of habeas corpus which was served on the members of the legal profession yesterday by those in charge of the first annual excursion of the fraternity, resulted in a large attendance. Mr. Stone, during the absence of several of the defendants, moved a stay of proceedings for ten minutes before the steamer set sail, but was overruled. He renewed his motion at the locks, but was politely told that he was "out of court," and the boat accordingly proceeded on her journey.

In due course Idyl-Wild was reached, where a sumptuous dinner was served, and where the party spent a couple of hours very pleasantly.

The return home was attended without incident, the steamer arriving about eleven o'clock, all well pleased with their outing.

MOTHER AND BABY

When it is found impossible for the mother to nurse her baby in the hot summer weather, it is well to know that Lactated Food is a perfect substitute for the mother's milk. This life saving food is relished by the babies when milk and other dangerous foods cannot be tolerated by the weak stomach. Lactated Food should be used by every mother who would have her baby strong and happy.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rennel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal... ...	5.10 p.m.	11.55 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.22 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	5.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5 10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...	7.22 p.m.	7 12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9 00 p.m.	6.20 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	8.25 p.m.	11.41 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	8.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.00 p.m.	5.00 p.m.

IF YOUR DEALER IN PHOTO SUPPLIES IS

UNDER THE THUMB OF THE TRUST

And cannot sell honest Canadian Goods, write to us direct for catalogue, etc., etc.

CANADA CAMERA CO.
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.
Only Canadian Manufacturers.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1898. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m. 1 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 321 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office.

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Situations Wanted.

LIGHT employment by young lady either at home or in an office. Best of references. Apply at Times Bookstore for address.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W Smith, Sec.-Treas.

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Roe St., Binghamton, N. Y.

Too Busy to Write Ads., Because:

The bargains we are giving in Houses and Lots, Garden Lots and Farms, of all sizes and prices, and the easy terms our long experience enables us to arrange for our buyers, keeps our entire staff hustling from early morning until late at night and still our work is only well begun, as new properties are being listed daily. All are invited to our New Ground Floor Office, so convenient to call when you go to the Post Office, or call up phone 376 for any information desired regarding REAL ESTATE.

T. HURLEY & CO.

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of -health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

TENDERS

For Re-Flooring Otonabee Bridge, Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received up to noon, Thursday, July 24th, 1902.

For re-joisting and re-planking Otonabee Bridge.

Separate tenders will be received for material and labor.

A deposit of 10 per cent. (ten per cent) of amount of tender must accompany each tender. Specifications may be seen at the offices of the Town and County Engineers.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

(Sd.) M. A. MORRISON.
Joint Committee Town & County Peterborough.

Tenders for Coal.

BOARD OF EDUCATION, Peterborough

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to 12 o'clock noon on FRIDAY, JULY 25th, 1902, for the supply of the following quantities of coal for use at the school buildings of the town:

400 TONS SOFT COAL, (about)
20 TONS HARD COAL, (about)

Tenders must specify quality of coal and mine. All coal will be weighed on the town scales and must be delivered in such quantity and at such times as will suit the convenience of the different schools.

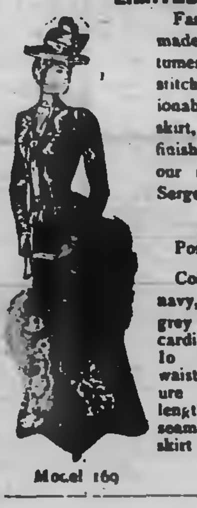
The lowest nor any tender necessarily accepted.

Address tenders

ROBERT FAIR.
Chairman Property Com. B. of E.

Everybody reads The Times.

$3.10 THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO. $3.10
LIMITED.



Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

BOOTS & SHOES
-FOR-
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALENDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

LEAD

We carry in stock for immediate shipment:—

PIG LEAD (Any Size Pig) LEAD WIRE
BLOCK LEAD LEAD PIPE
BAR LEAD RIBBON LEAD

It will pay you to get our quotations before purchasing.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, Victoria, B. C. Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Robson, Trail, Sandon and Kaslo, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 16th to 29th, inclusive, valid for return until September 15th, 1902.

Passengers leaving Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays have option of travelling via Lake Route from Owen Sound to Sault or Port Arthur on payment of meal and berth arbitrary additional.

Tickets and full particulars from your nearest Canadian Pacific Agent or

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt
1 King St. East, Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 16th to 29th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC

NEW BRUNSWICK

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)

NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY,
WM. ROBINSON,
10 King St West

William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice our goods for one month We have the latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsteds to choose from.

Working Shirts at 0c
Suspenders . ... .15c
Overalls, with bib, at 48c
Smocks, at...... ....90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

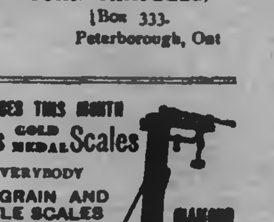
JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333.
Peterborough, Ont

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL: GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES



C. WILSON & SON
61 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY MORNING DAILY BETWEEN TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 28 NO 168 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO WEDNESDAY JULY 23 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

GREAT BRITAIN MISLED BY INTRIGUES.

The German Press Raises a Bogey Danger will Result if Britain Abandons Free Trade

London Times Attacks The German Press.

Times Attacks German Press—Turkey Should Recall Troops Belgian Troops Surprised.

Special to The Times.

Brussels, July 23.—A telegram from Achin states that while bivouacing, a column under Col. Mathes was surprised by the enemy, who made front and rear attacks with drawn swords. Lieut. Bruyn and eleven soldiers were killed, and two officers wounded. The enemy lost twenty-four.

Special to The Times.

Vienna, July 23.—For a considerable time the German press, whose influence extends to the German portions of Austria, Switzerland, Holland and Scandinavia, and even to Hungary and the Balkan States, has engaged in exciting fears in regard to the imminence of the impending renunciation by Great Britain of her free trade policy. This is represented as a serious danger for countries which depend largely upon the open door markets of the British Empire. The idea has been so effectively worked as to convince many foreigners that the battle for free trade has been practically lost in England. It is evident that this specre, which is probably considered a more effective bogy than the "American peril," is intended to give additional force to the simultaneous advocacy of closer commercial relations between the threatened States and Germany.

Special to The Times.

London, July 23.—The correspondent of the Times says that the Japanese press is sympathetic and eulogistic in discussing Lord Salisbury's resignation. It regards the retired Premier as the model of a great statesman who leaves office when his fame is at its zenith, and his vital task has been achieved. The papers point out that Lord Salisbury was the first European statesman who appreciated Japan and who was ultimately willing to accept her co-operation as an ally.

Special to The Times.

London, July 23.—In an editorial on the recent German newspaper attacks on Great Britain, the Times says:—"We have but little to complain of in the public acts of the German ment, but we cannot be expected to shut our eyes to the relations which notoriously exist between the German Administration and the German press. We have no real security that the steam which is now apparently thought desirable to shut off may not, upon occasion, be again turned on."

Special to The Times.

Vienna, July 23.—The leading Rhenish newspapers, referring to the distrust of German intentions shown in England, makes the extraordinary discovery that British public opinion is misled by "Polish intriguers in Vienna," who have succeeded in getting their views published in British papers.

Special to The Times.

London, July 22.—Referring to incidents on the Turkish-Montenegrin frontier. The St. Petersburg Exchange Gazette, in an article quoted by the correspondent of the Times in the Russian capital, urges that the representations of the Montenegrin Government should be supported by a collective note of the powers. "Turkey," says the Exchange Gazette, "should be forced to recall her troops from the frontier before it is too late to avoid a collision."

LAURIER ON THE BRITISH EMPIRE

The Premier's Speech at the Empire Coronation Banquet

IMPERIAL FEDERATION IDEAS

A Parliament for the Whole Empire in London is not an Impossibity

The London Times gives the following report of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech at the Empire Coronation banquet in London on July 11.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was received with prolonged cheers, replied on behalf of the self-governing colonies. It was, he said, five years ago his privelege to represent his country, Canada, at the celebration held in this ancient city in commemoration of the Jubilee year of a reign forever made famous by the personality of the Sovereign, by the remarkable advance which took place under it of all the arts and sciences which contributed to the happiness of mankind, but whose characteristic for them would be the still more remarkable development of the British Empire as it existed today. (Cheers)

THE EMPIRE.

The British Empire, as all other creations of human effort, had been the cause of many conflicting sentiments. It had inspired, and perhaps more than ever would inspire, in the breasts of millions of men a deep sense of enthusiastic attachment. (Cheers) British subjects could call the world to witness that the British Empire, wherever it held sway, especially within the last sixty years, has carried with it everywhere an instrument of good government. In all his Majesty's possessions there was at this moment a remarkable and in some instances an almost phenomenal degree of prosperity, and among all these peoples, to whatever race they belonged, there was a universal sense of satisfaction and pride in British institutions. (Cheers. At all events such was the case in the self-governing colonies.

CANADA'S CONDITION.

Canadians present could bear testimony to the truth of his assertion that today Canada was a free, prosperous and happy country (Cheers.) It was not always so but the granting of representative institutions had worked that miracle. Prosperity and contentment had followed in the path opened by freedom. What was true for Canada was equally true for New Zealand and Australia—indeed there was only one shadow to that picture—one exception, which was South Africa. Until a few weeks ago South Africa was scourged by war, which would not have broken out if free civil rights under the law of full citizenship to all had been given there without any discrimination. He was convinced, however, that what had taken place elsewhere would now be seen in South Africa under British rule.

THE GENIUS OF BRITISH HISTORY.

It was not in the genius of British history to make political changes simply for the gratification of a theory, or to round off sharp angles, but it was in the genius of British history to proceed slowly and cautiously and never to change the condition of things until there was a grievance, and then to remove the grievance and to go no further. Historic experience taught with almost unvarying certainty that political changes brought about simply in the hope of carrying an object not immediately prompted by practical necessity generally failed. He afterwards referred to the steadfast allegiance of Canada to this country. There was no finality in human affairs. He did not say that the time might not come when they might have a Parliament assembling in London from all parts of the globe. That would be a great spectacle, no doubt, but not greater than the spectacle presented at this moment of a galaxy of free nations bound together by a sole allegiance to the same Sovereign. (Cheers)

THE TIMES COMMENT.

Commenting on Sir. Wilfrid Laurier's remarks, the Times editorially says:

It was not in the genius of the British nation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said, to make political changes simply for the gratification of a theory. Large Constitutional changes come into operation to remove a grievance or to satisfy a need. We do not dispute the soundness of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's argument that it would be unwise for Imperial statesmanship to try to "force events," and thus, perhaps, to create new difficulties more formidable than those we have to deal with. What may be hoped for is that in the conference free discussion and friendly intercourse may define and sift the questions at issue, whether they are concerned with needs or grievances, and may gradually create elements of opinion and conviction, which, as well as the fervour of loyal sentiment, are required to build up the fabric of Imperial unity on wider and deeper foundations.

BRITISH PREMIERS

Names of Those Who Have Occupied the High Office

The following is a list of the British premiers for the last century:

Pitt (C)	December 23rd, 1783
Addington (C)	March 17th
Pitt (C)	March 15th, 1804
Grenville (L)	February 11th, 1806
Portland (C)	March 31st, 1807
Parcival (C)	December 2d, 1809
Liverpool (C)	June 9th, 1812
Canning (L)	April 24th, 1827
Goderich (L)	September 5th, 1827
Wellington (C)	January 25th, 1828
Grey (L)	November 22d, 1830
Melbourne (L)	July 13th, 1834
Peel (C)	December 26th, 1834
Melbourne (L)	April 18th, 1835
Peel (C)	September 6th, 1841
Russell (L)	July 6th, 1846
Derby (C)	February 27th, 1852
Aberdeen (L. & C.)	Dec. 28th, 1852
Portland (C)	March 21st, 1807
Derby (C)	Feb. 25th, 1858
Palmerston (L)	Feb. 10th, 1855
Palmerston (L)	June 18th, 1859
Russell (L)	Nov. 6th, 1865
Derby (C)	July 6th, 1866
Disraeli (C)	Feb. 27th, 1868
Gladstone (L)	Dec. 9th, 1868
Beaconsfield (C)	Feb. 21st, 1874
Gladstone (L)	April 28th, 1880
Salisbury (C)	June 24th, 1885
Gladstone (L)	Feb. 6th, 1886
Salisbury (C)	Aug. 3rd, 1886
Gladstone (L)	Aug. 10th, 1892
Rosebery (L)	March 3rd, 1894
Salisbury (C. & L. U.)	June 29th, 1895
Salisbury (C)	October, 1900
A. J. Balfour	July 12th, 1902

British Reserve in South Africa

London, July 22.—A despatch from Pretoria says the area of country between the Sabi and the Krocodile rivers in the eastern Transvaal has been proclaimed as a Government reserve. This will stop the large shooting expeditions which were being organized and which were composed of former army officers and professionals.

INDIAN RIVER.

—Mr. Maurice O'Brien, wife and family, who has been visiting friends in this locality, left for their home in North Dakota on Thursday last.

Mr. P. McNulty, of Asphodel, visited friends here on Sunday last.

—Mr. P. Torpey shipped a car load of hogs from here on Thursday last.

—Mr. V. McFadden, of Peterborough, and W. McCarthy, of Rochester, were visiting Michael O'Leary for a few days. They say they learned a great deal about fishing and farming. On Sunday evening they went fishing, but their luck was bad. They caught two suckers, and kept them alive in boiling water till midnight. On Monday Mr. McFadden cut ten acres hay.

BIG INTERLAKE REGATTA.

Toledo, O., July 21.—All that yachtsmen at Put-in-Bay want now is weather—not soft zephyrs or squalling squalls, but winds that are just right. Boats are there that can make good races. Not in many years has there been as many yachts in the snug harbor back of Jay Cooke's famous Gibraltar as are gathered there today to take part in the annual regatta of the Interlake Yachting association. There are numbers of new boats there, and it is the new yachts that add interest and enthusiasm to interlake races. The first race is scheduled for tomorrow morning. The contest will be over a fifteen mile triangular course with a nine mile triangle for the sixteen foot [illegible]

SENSATIONS ON THE BATTLEFIEND

Civilian Is Under Heavy Boer Fire And Does Not Know of His Danger

AMID SHOWERS OF BULLETS

Julian Ralph, War Correspondent, Tells of Incidents in South African war—Interesting Information

At Kimberly they tell a story of a soldier and a civilian who were walking beyond the houses of the town towards some hills where the Boers were picketed. It was raining very hard, and the pelting of the drops upon the umbrella which sheltered both drowned the lesser noises. The men and umbrella made a conspicuous target, and the Boers began shooting before the two men got within range, writes Julian Ralph, in the London Express.

The soldier saw where the Mauser balls struck the earth and each sent up its little fountain-like jet of the red dust of the veldt. He quickened his pace, in order to reach the place of shelter to which they were both bound and presently the little jets of sand began to spout up in front of his and his companion's feet. In another two minutes bullets were flying over their heads and striking the ground before them. The civilian was unaware of this. He heard only the rain, and the sand jets escaped his observation.

"You don't seem to be very much afraid of bullets," the soldier remarked.

"I shouldn't like to be hit by one," said the civilian.

"'Were you ever under fire before?"

"I never was under fire," the civilian replied; "but what do you mean by 'before'? Are we in any danger of being shot at?"

"Are we?" the soldier exclaimed; "why, man alive, don't you know that you are under fire now? Don't you see the bullets kicking up the dirt all around us? Don't you hear them singing?"

The civilian stopped, looked at his companion, watched the ground, saw a bullet bed itself at his feet—and then turned and ran back to Kimberley with the speed of a deer, though he was middle aged and portly.

I can appreciate that story, because the first time I was under fire in the Boer war, I did not find it out until afterward. It was at Lord Methuen's first battle—Belmont. The British had cleared one kopje, and then gone around it to dislodge the Boers from another position. My son, Lester, and I climbed to the top of a kopje which faced one on which the Boers had a field gun. We were silhouetted black and white against the sky, but our position seemed secure, as the two forces were engaged in a fierce fight far below and before us.

We did not then know that it was the custom of the Boers to detail "crack" shots to work as sharpshooters, and to pick out individuals as their targets, while their comrades were engaging the British with volleys. As we looked on we heard occasional faint sounds in the air, just before us, and each of us saw little spurts of earth rise and disappear—as one sees the mist of a whale's spout a great distance at sea.

DOWN THE KOPJE.

The Boers retreated, the British swept ahead, and we ran down the kopje to catch up to the troops. It was not until we were in the next battle, and had a closer acquaintance with the sounds and habits of flying Mauser bullets that we realized to a certainty that at Belmont we had been potted for ten or fifteen minutes, but had been, happily, just out of the danger zone.

At the battle of Driefontein, just before Bloemfontein, another case in point was the experience of my son and H. A. Gwynne, of Reuter's—in many important respects the greatest of living war correspondents. These two advanced toward the invisible enemy, hidden among bushes and rocks on a kopje, until there came upon them such a cloudburst of bullets that it did not seem as if a miller moth could have flown over the veldt without being hit. Both men fell on their faces, and out of dare deviltry, Mr. Gwynne lifted one hand above his head to see if it would be hit. He pulled it back before it had been raised six inches, for a bullet grazed along the back of it even as he began to raise it.

It is these experiences, common as rain to all who were in that war, which inure men to danger, cause them to belittle it, and utterly destroy that sort of romance of war which we imbibe from the books of men who imagine what war must be without having experienced its various phases.

When Captain Lowther, of the Scots Guards, and three or four of his men were being sniped at while on outpost duty, the dreamers about war would have had the captain's cheek blanch, while through his brain would roll a panorama of the scenes of his past life and of the faces of those he loved at home. He would try to steel his nerves, he would set of "lock" his jaw, he would turn to his men and say either, "Men, I fear few of us will come out of this alive," or "Take cover quick, and shoot whenever you see a head." Nothing of this accords with the facts.

The bullets whistled around the men and spattered the earth at their feet, while they strode ahead to the outposts to which they were ordered. At last—possibly when the captain became impressed by the impudence of the enemy he said to his men, "We will stop those fellows. They are too cheeky. Forward, men, and roll them out of their holes." The Guardsmen dashed ahead and the Boers jumped up, and retired—as was the almost invariable custom.

PEPPERING THE BOER.

It was so with Captain Bowen, of the Kimberley volunteer force, in a lively skirmish fight. A Boer picked him out from among his men, and shot and shot at him until it seemed to the captain like a persecution. He became vexed—not angry—because that implies losing self-control,—but annoyed. He said to himself, "That fellow is shooting at no one but me. Does he think I am like a wooden target, with no self-respect or ability to answer back?" He lay down on the veldt and devoted his most careful and ardent efforts to ridding the world of that impudent Boer. He made the Boers hiding place so hot that the man could not move without exposing himself and therefore stopped shooting.

Captain Bowen saw he had not hit the man, and was obliged, reluctantly to get up and mount and ride after his men. An hour later, when he was returning and had forgotten the incident the Boer again opened fire on him, and this time shot the captain in the mouth.

Brave men were plenty in the army. So generally of their way to put themselves in danger, or who, being in great danger, despised it—refusing to take cover, and even rushed upon the enemy. Cowards were so few, very few, that one came to think before the war closed, that perhaps courage is one of the commonest virtues.

The truth is, of course, that men settled with themselves whether they were or were not cowards before they entered either the army or the war. There were a few correspondents—and especially men of leisure, pretending to be journalists—who roused doubts as to their courage by disappearing when a battle was on and reappearing after it was over. But today we are reconsidering our first judgement, because several of these very men were either wounded or taken prisoner, or joined forces and fought with the best before the war was ended.

We had an artist with us who talked very like a timid man, and continually vowed that he would never go under fire again; yet in every battle he was sure to be caught in some highly dangerous corner or plight, and it became impossible to think him a coward. One day another artist, who had been almost foolhardy with his bravery up to that time, was suddenly seized with what the English call "funk"—or fright. This was at Driefontein—a terrible battle, whose fierceness has not yet had the celebrity it deserves.

The artist was standing beside his horse, holding the reins and sketching. Suddenly the Boers opened every sort of fire upon a bunch of horses just behind him. Shells screamed and burst above and behind him. Bullets sang their high-keyed insistent notes beside his ears and pom-pom shells screamed and burst closer than anyone would care to have them all without a moment's warning, when he had fancied himself quite apart from the battle that had been raging in another part of the field.

IN A RAIN OF LEAD.

Then there came to him such a rush of impulses that he was staggered. First he was frightened, and next he had to put away his pencil, close and strap his notebook, climb his horse, get its bridle over its head, mount it, and be off. For fifteen seconds he could do nothing, but the spasm of alarm and confusion passed and presently he was dashing away with lead and steel dropping and screeching all around him.

Would you imagine that if you were thus surprised, you could leap up and with a peal of laughter, precisely as you would do at home if someone suddenly turned a hose or flower spray upon you? I have seen it done and have done it—been surprised by a downpour of bullets from behind, when the Boers were unexpectedly making a charge, and have leaped up and run for all I was worth, laughing aloud at the ridiculousness of my own undignified haste, I may say that without appearing to boast for I am no more fond of danger than any other ordinary man.

So various and peculiar are men's emotions on the field of battle that it would not seem possible that men like Zola, Hugo, Dumas and Stephen Crane—in the book he wrote before he had seen real war—could have hit upon any phase of them that would be untrue Yet what these writers dwell most upon is the thing I never saw or heard of in actual war—the one thing that all with whom I have talked agreed in saying was far, far from realism and the truth. That thing is the consciousness of danger and the mental preparation for death.

The men whom I have known in war go into battle, believing, as a rule, that they will come out of it all right. They advance or lie down and direct an attack, saying to themselves or their neighbors, "There's Billy down. He's hit, I think. Our fellows on the right are falling like leaves. By Jove! this is a hot fight. I would not mind sharing that heap of rocks with Charlie Calvert. If we get a chance we will run over there were he is." Sometimes men get excited, and throw away all concern whether they are hit or not. Then, again, you can always get volunteers to make a dash into what seems to you certain death; but it does not seem so to them, for they believe in what they call their "lucky stars" and the more often they risk death and escape it the more they believe themselves what George Washington was said to be—the bearer of a charmed life.

In the first war I reported I said to myself; "Courage is not at all an extraordinary thing. Nine fellows in every ten have got it. But I think it must all come out of a man after he is hit. The men who have been often wounded, like Lord Roberts, and who stick to the profession, must be made of uncommon clay." I know better than that now.

MORE BOXER RISINGS FEARED

St. Petersburg, July 22.—A renewal of the Boxer movement in China is feared by the Svjet, which is in receipt of private information that Boxer agents are swarming over Mongolia. The mass of the population is in sympathy with the Boxers, while the Lamaists are in sympathy with Russia. Mongolia remained quiet throughout the recent Boxer insurrection in China.

Newspapers here report that an English member of Parliament and the Moscow capitalist, Mamantoff, have secured a concession to build a railway from Tashent to Tomsk. This line, which will be about 1,300 miles in length, has long been projected as a connecting link between the Central Asian and Siberian railways. It would divert West Siberian grain from European Russia to the cotton growing district in Turkestan.

NEW HAMPSHIRE EARTHQUAKE

Buildings Rocked and Dishes Rattled on Tables and Shelves

Franklin, N.H., July 22. — At 5.50 o'clock yesterday afternoon this city and vicinity were visited by one of the worst earthquakes they have ever experienced.

It was especially noticeable on account of the loud noises which accompanied it. These noises were disconnected sounds lasting one quarter of a minute each. Accompanying the rounds was a severe shock lasting from a half to a full minute.

Buildings rocked, and dishes rattled on the tables and shelves. At Andover, twelve miles north, the earthquake is reported to have been more severe then here. Goods were shaken from shelves, and the hanging lamps wayed to and fro.

KILLED BY A TRAIN

Mother and Daughter Meet a Terrible Fate Near Joplin

Joplin, Mo., July 22. — Mrs Daniel Morrow, 55 years old, and her daughter, 20, were run down yesterday afternoon by a southbound Kansas City Southern train about 60 miles north of this city and instantly killed. It was raining, and they were riding along in a buggy with the side curtains drawn, when the train crashed into them. They were torn and lacerated beyond recognition.

The train crew backed the train to the scene of the accident, and assisted by several passengers, placed the mangled bodies aboard the passenger car and proceeded with them to Amoret. When physicians were summoned the mother was dead and the girl died in a few minutes after they arrived. Joplin passengers on the train first brought the news of the disaster. Mrs. Morrow and her daughter belonged to one of the most prominent and wealthiest families in that district.

Little Boy Shot Dead By Comrade

Trenton, N.J., July 22.—Joseph Seiler, 8 years old, was accidentally shot and killed this afternoon by Charles Bliss, a boy about the same age. They were members of a picnic party, and during the afternoon amused themselves by shooting at appples set on a fence. The sport had been going on some time when Seiler went to the fence to place more apples in position. While he was thus engaged a small rifle in the hands of Bliss, who was at the firing line, was discharged.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

Special to The Times.

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50; N.C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Try Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake Pills.

NEW RULER ON ZANZIBAR

Seyid Ali Educated in England, but Was at the Foot of His Class

London, July 21.—By the death of the Sultan of Zanzibar his son, Seyid Ali, becomes the successor to the throne. This young man spent two years at Harrow and left a year ago to return to Zanzibar in order to be prepared for the role of Sultan. He did not shine as a scholar at Harrow, being, when he left, in the same position as when he joined—that is, at the bottom of the class, but universally popular.

The head master, Dr. Wood, speaks of him as a frank, honest boy, who displayed great enthusiasm for the cadet corps. At games he was rather more active than skilful, his football being of a ferocious character.

A MOSQUITO PLAGUE

In Texas Cause Horses to Walk Themselves to Death

Houston, Tex., July 22.—The plague of mosquitoes which has visited portions of the Texas and Louisiana coast country during the past ten days has been the cause of heavy loss in chickens and cattle. In some portions of the district affected, outside labor has been almost impossible, except where laborers have used heavy netting about their heads and shoulders. The chickens were stung about the head and died in a short time. The cattle and horses were attacked by the insects in great clouds, and, as they could get no rest, they literally walked themselves to death. The streets in some of the smaller towns were made unsafe at night by the cattle, which came in from the prairies and laid around in an effort ot get away from the mosquitoes.

These mosquitoes are not of the kind that infest the effete east. They are what are known as gallinippers, half an inch in length, with an appetite that renders them most tormenting, and persistent when they attack anything that has blood in it. They are the product of unusual conditions, and do not come often but dead cattle lying over the prairies always follow their visits.

Shocking Murder by Woman

Special to The Times.

Vienna, July 22.—A shocking murder by a woman is reported from Buda-Pesth A jeweler named Erdeyi, 50 years of age, called upon Esther Petroff to demand payment of an instalment due on the goods she purchased. The woman, who is 24 years old and of powerful physique, threw herself upon the jeweller, and after a desperate struggle threw him on a bed, where sh'e strangled him with her hands. Not content with this she literally hacked him to pieces with a large knife, and then wrapping the remains in a shawl, placed them in her child's perambulator, and conveyed them outside the town, finally depositing them in a deserted building, after which she returned home. The murderess was arrested through the instrumentality of a child three years of age who had witnessed the crime from an opposite window.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probs.: Fair and warm.

CRIMES WERE INVENTED BY AN IRISH POLICEMAN

Intense Bitterness Developed in France by the Latest Phase of the Church and State Controversy

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 22. — The question of Church and State is being agitated with exceptional bitterness. The Government had ordered the dispersal of 2,500 congregational schools, containing 150,000 children, who are being taught by 6,000 masters.

Even quiet Republican journals, such as the Figaro, are displaying uneasiness in regard to the results of such extreme measures. Many of these schools stand in the same relation to the people as municipal schools, because they are in districts where there are no lay schools, and thus the only available educational establisments are closed.

The Government has also fallen foul of the Church party on another question. Under Napoleon's concordat, the State pays the salaries of ministers of all the recognized religions, and the Government, for certain reasons, has now refused to give some cures their stipends. These priests are now being supported by their own congregations.

BREAK THE SEALS.

In reference to the school question, Count d'Haussonville has written a letter to Count de Mun, suggesting that the proprietors of the premises on which there are schools should break the seals placed on the doors in order to test the validity of Prime Minister Combe's order. Count de Mun proposes that processions be organized for the purpose of escorting the sisters in charge of the schools when their expulsion occurs.

The Bishop of Angers has issued a declaration in which he says that all religious schools will be closed in his diocese, because he has not received the authorization necessary to reopen them for the next term. He says:

"According to the answer to this it will be known whether the authorities simply seek to see that the laws are respected or to pursue to the death religious instruction."

The Bishop of Nancy has written a letter of protest against the action of the Premier. Placards denouncing the action of M. Combes, which had been posted in various towns, were torn down by the police.

When the sisters were leaving the schools at Moravillais, near Belfort, they were accompanied to the railway station by a majority of the inhabitants, and the uniformed customs officials were stoned.

The Echo de Paris says that the Pope is preparing a strong remonstrance which will be sent to the French Government.

The Temps to-day prints a severe article attacking the Government on its course in the school question. It says:

"When the decree of June 27 was issued ordering the closing of establishments opened since the promulgation of the law of July 1, 1901, the congregations were able to quote the opinion of former Prime Minister Waldeck-Rousseau in their favor. But the Government replied to this: "M. Waldeck-Rousseau did not consider his opinion decisive. We consulted the Council of State, which approved the course we have pursued.'"

Arguing this point, the Temps says: "Now it is not a question of the law nor even of the opinion of the Council of State, but merely of an administrative circular. We are on the down grade. We are sinking below the standard of legislation and even below the definition of the law by the great Council of State and arriving at a point purely and simply of the Government's opinion, otherwise arbitrary action. There were establishments founded before and after the law of 1901. The question arose whether the latter required authorization. Even M. Waldeck-Rousseau doubted this and the Council of State affirmed it by a majority of only two votes. Since a doubt existed in the case of the new establishments there was a fortior one in the case of the old ones, yet M. Combes by a simple circular gives retroactive force both to the law and to the opinion of the Council of State."

The Temps proceeds in a similar strain. This attitude of this semi-official organ of the Government is one of the many indications of the popular indignation in France at the ejection into the streets of harmless members of religious associations, many of whom are old and who have spent their lives in the education of youth. Cardinal Perraud, Archbishop of Autun, has written a letter to President Loubet in which he says the decree is a flagrant violation of acts of Parliament which have not been abrogated.

London, July 22.—On supply Day in the House of Commons, Irish affairs monopolised the sitting. On the vote for the Irish Constabulary Mr. Dillon raised the notorious case of Sergeant Sheridan. Mr. Dillon is a master of detail, but he suffers from a lack of conciseness. A speech lasting for one hour and forty minutes, as this did, is a serious tax on one's patience. The story Mr. Dillon had to tell—which he told in part on the last day of last session—sounds more like a piece of melo-drama than a part of ordinary life. Sergeant Sheridan was a trusted member of the Royal Irish Constabulary, and enjoyed a high reputation owing to his skill in tracing crime. But a case in which he was involved excited the suspicions of the castle authorities, and though they could prove nothing against him they entertained such doubts of his honesty that the Lord Lieutenant dismissed him from the force. Later the suspicions deepened, and it was proved that he had been guilty of the most abominable crimes.

THREE CRIMES INVENTED.

In three cases he had invented a crime, and charged it against other people. This phase "invented a crime" was used by the Chief Secretary last year. It really means that he perpetrated the crimes himself. On one occasion he fired a hay rick, on another he stabbed an ass, and yet another occasion he perpetrated a cruel outrage upon a cow. In the first case a man, called Dan McGoohan, was arrested and tried. At first he was acquitted, but another jury was formed, and the case re-opened, when the prisoner was sentenced to three years' imprisonment, every day of which he served. The other cases revealed circumstances of a still more lurid kind. One of the accused who would not plead guilty, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and he afterwards died. Another was advised to plead guilty. Though he he was innocent he did so, and he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Sheridan was guilty of all these crimes, yet no charge was settled peacefully in America, and brought against him and to-day he poses as a patriot persecuted by the English Government.

MR. WYNDHAM'S REPLY.

This in brief was Mr. Dillon's story. Mr. Wyndham accepted it practically in its entirety as a faithful and accurate narrative. Sheridan, he explained, was concerned in a charge against a tramp called Ryan. The depositions which he and another constable made were unsatisfactory. They were on the face of them either pure fabrications or colored statements The charge was not proceeded with, and the two policemen were dismissed. They might have been placed on their trial, but it was believed that they would not be convicted owing to the scantiness of evidence, and the result of the trial would have been that men of deeply suspected character would have been placed on a pedestal of virtue as martyrs to his zeal. Mr. Wyndham defended his course of procedure. He choose a secret inquiry in preference to a public one, because he believed that the truth would not be elicited by means of the latter, and in order to procure evidence he was compelled to promise a complete indemnity to the officers who could unravel the story. At the close of the inquiry he was confronted with this unpleasant situation.

POLICEMEN ADMIT IT.

Several policemen had admitted that they were acquainted with the villainy some of them, it was clear, were deeply involved in it. They were criminals, but he had promised to indemnify them, and that promise prevented him from even dismissing them from the force. He did the only thing which he could do consistent with honor. He warned them that while he could not dismiss them they would never be employed in a responsible position, and he advised them, instead of languishing in disgrace at the depot, to quit the force and to redeem their characters in civil life. Two of them accepted that advice. Mr. Wyndham's statement revealed candour and courage of a high kind.

THINKS AMERICANS ARE GOING TO FAST

Views of the Minister of Finance of Japan

Deeply Impressed with our Energy and Commercial Development, but is Apprehensive of a Setback in the Near Future

Special to The Times.

Vienna, July 22.—Count Matsukata, the Foreign Minister of Finance of Japan who recently returned from a month's visit to the United States, said to the correspondent of the Associated Press:

"While I was deeply impressed with the tremendous energy of the Americans and their wonderful commercial development, I fear that the too rapid progress of the United States is likely to experience a serious setback in the near future.

"The commercial energy of the Americans," he continued, "incomparably surpasses anything in Europe. This is undoubtedly one of the principal causes of the economic progress of the United States.

"I perceive in many directions where European countries are already affected by American expansion, and I think it likely that they will be still more affected in the future; but America's progress has been so exceedingly rapid that I fear some sudden disaster. In my opinion, too much business has been done on borrowed capital. This, coupled with the magnitude of the commercial operations common in the United States, will probably lead to a panic at the first untoward circumstances such as a bad harvest or similar misfortune. While there are many strong banks in the United States, there are also many weak ones, whose failure will render a crash inevitable. I fear that some of these banks are lending too much money to aid business enterprises.

"Another danger lies in the bank's note issues. While this is perfectly safe in the ordinary, because they are protected by a deposit of Government bonds, yet in time of panic there is considerable difference between negotiable paper and cash. Some of the most prominent financiers in America share these apprehensions, which leads me to hope that they, foreseeing the danger, will find means of averting it. If so, America's commercial progress will be even more remarkable than at present."

Count Matsukata has already visited London, Brussels, Paris, Berlin and Rome, and is now studying the financial and economic conditions of Austria-Hungary. He goes to St. Petersburg July 23, and expects to return to Japan via the Siberian Railroad.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than ordinary remedies, Nerviline's power over pain is simply beyond belief. It cures also Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia and all pain, whether internal or external. Large bottles 25c.

MODERATE INVESTMENTS

judiciously made in stocks, grain, and cotton, yield larger profits than can be derived from utilizing the same amount in any other manner. Many people secure their maintenance solely in this manner. To do so successfully, one needs full information, a thorough understanding of the methods of trading, and complete knowledge of the security or commodity in which they are dealing. To supply these essentials, we have issued for free distribution a 400 page, cloth bound, illustrated

"Guide to Investors"

also mail gratis, each afternoon, our

"Daily Market Letter

Careful perusal of both, will enable anyone to invest money, keep the principal intact, and make it pay an income.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

Peterborough, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

COMMISSION ONE EIGHTH—The only licensed M. S. Stock Brokerage Corporation in business by permission of the Royal Government of the Province of Ontario

W. F. NELSON, Peterborough.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal... ...	6.10 p.m.	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.23 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.35 a.m.	6.10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...	7.23 p.m.	1.12 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	6.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.35 a.m.	6.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9 00 p.m.	6.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.25 p.m.	11.45 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	6.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, [illegible]	8.10 a.m.	8.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.30 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25c per month, and to outside points at $5 per year strictly in advance

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 23, 1902.

BUTCHERY, NOT WAR

One part of Admiral Dewey's testimony before the senate commission on the Philippines about two weeks ago was enough to bring the world up with a moral start and shudder. He admitted that the land battle which resulted in the surrender of Manila was conducted merely to "save the face" of the Spanish Governor-General. In this fight five Americans were killed and forty-five wounded, and the number of Spaniards killed and wounded was larger. Indeed, the Spaniards agreed not to do much fighting because they were warned that it would be disastrous to the city if they did. Admiral Dewey said that the Filipinos wanted to enter the city as soon as the Spanish fleet had been sunk, but, as his evidence continues: "The Spaniards were very fearful of the result of such a course, and therefore they surrendered to me in advance. That was all arranged, and there was no need for the loss of a man in the capture of the city. It was to be done at a signal, and no gun need have been fired by us, but for the desire of the governor-general, who said his honor demanded that a few shots be fired, so that I had to fire and kill a few people but the Spaniards did not fire because of my warning that it would be disastrous to the city for them to do so. They had in their city 15,000 troops and forty-seven rifled guns."

To deliberately proceed to "kill a few people" simply because of the ridiculous notion of honor entertained by one man, can not surely be reconciled with any acceptable standard of conduct. In more barbarous ages men were often sacrificed to the whims of individuals, but the world should long ago have outgrown butchery of this kind. War is awful enough when the opposing parties honestly believe that they are fighting for principles and when they would sooner die than sacrifice those principles but when two leaders come to an understanding that they will "kill a few people" just because one of them thinks his friends at home will not say such hard things about him if a little shooting takes place, then war takes the aspect of murder. The frank [illegible] with which Admiral Dewey admits the needlessness of sacrifice of life and the nature of the understanding between the leaders is astonishing.

EVERYBODY SHOULD SWIM

This summer has been marked by a number of drownings, a larger number than usual. Young men and maidens have ventured into positions upon or near the water and have not been cautious seeing that they are not able to float.

And this suggests the enquiry, why are not all our boys and girls taught to swim? It does not necessarily lead to [illegible] in water occupations. It ought to, then it would, [illegible] a spirit of [illegible] while this is most required.

The New York board of education has put swimming upon its summer program and insists that all scholars above a certain age shall take the exercise daily. It is to be regretted that the facilities for bathing are not to be had in Peterborough, for if they were available the [illegible], and perhaps the girls, would patronize them freely and without compulsion.

Some one has invented a device very similar to a merry-go-round, by which the children of the day may become experts in swimming. These are buoyed up by appliances from the long arms which project from a central upright beam, and as they swim, a dozen or more of them at a time, they move in a circle and with musical accompaniments. Herein is amusement and education, at the same time, and under circumstances which make them safe. Swimming is the only safeguard against drowning accidents and it should be resorted to by young and old. It is as easy to swim as to walk—with the confidence which the practice affords.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Mail and Empire has "information" from Montreal that the Dominion Parliament will be dissolved, and a general election held, shortly after the return of the Premier and his colleagues from Europe. The alleged issue to be presented to the people is the refusal of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to contribute anything to Imperial defence, and it is added that times may not be so good three years hence as at present. It sounds like a silly season story.

New York has a squad of police whose special duty is to suppress professional beggars. In the first week, from June 14th to June 21st, there were 21 arrests of professional beggars, 16 of whom were convicted. In the following week there were 24 arrests, all but three of whom were sentenced. One beggar was found to have $2,400 in the bank, and many others had considerable sums, while fake cripples were numerous.

The society column in a Kansas paper announces the wedding of John Plum and Ellen Peach. May heaven preserve them from family jars.

◆

Testing It For Herself.

He watched her arranging the violets in the big Kakiri bowl.

She looked so very pretty, and yet she must be told.

Lighting a cigarette, he braced himself for the telling. As he tossed the match in the direction of the blazing fire, she came toward him, holding in her hand a few of the purple flowers.

"For you," she said, simply, and pressed close to his side as she put them in his buttonhole.

After that she bent and kissed him, slowly and deliberately. He sat transfixed. In all their platonics her lips had never before touched his.

Ere he could recover himself she kissed him again.

Not a word nor a caress accompanied either kiss. They stood out against a background of utter incomprehensibility.

Then she walked over by the fire. He looked anxiously after her.

She faced about, and he saw that her lips were moving slightly, while her eyes had a far-off gaze.

At last she spoke.

"You can marry her!"

There was a pause—she seemed to be indulging in further meditation—and then—

"Yes, you can marry her. I don't care at all. You see, I kissed you on purpose. I did it twice to make sure, and I didn't feel even the faintest quiver either time. I was very careful, and tasted each kiss thoroughly, and I know now that—that you can marry her."

He rose, his form and his rage towering together. What man could be calm on learning that his lips possess no power to thrill?

"Good-bye," he said, putting out his hand.

"Good-bye," she answered, smiling.

He went out, and the door closed behind him.

She stood where he left her, banding her clasped fingers across her eyes. The sunlight streamed in between the window arches and shot a ray of glory over the violets, the woman and the woman's yellow hair. It caused the diamonds on her hand to sparkle brilliantly, and something on her cheek shone too.

"Dear heaven!" she murmured, softly, "what must it be to have him do the kissing!"

Lee Low's Misapprehension.

Lee Low Wung, secretary of the Chinese consulate in New York, in the course of a conversation recently, spoke of some of the ideas prevalent in his country, as follows:

"In China it is generally supposed that a man's brains are located in his stomach, and the fatter he is the more his wisdom is deemed assured. Of course, there are many people in China who know that a man's brains are in his head, but they cheerfully assist in maintaining the jolly fiction of corpulent greatness.

"I began to learn English in China when I was 15 years old, under the instruction of Dr. Malcolm of Shanghai. I had begun to study it in secret by myself a year before, but it was too much for my unaided efforts.

"The word wind, being used in two senses, gave me as much trouble as anything else. For a long time I was under the impression that in England and America clocks and watches were filled with air to keep them going. I was curious to see this operation of winding the clock, and my disappointment when Dr. Malcolm explained the mystery was very acute."

Husband's Face.

Benedicts who are in the habit of trying to palm themselves off as spring hatched roosters will learn, not without alarm, that the physiognomist is on their track. He has, in fact, evolved a new terror called the "husband's face." Every married man is said to possess it, and it marks him out a Benedict just as surely as if he had a label to that effect hung round his neck. Don't imagine, says "Pick-Me-Up," that we are going to give the secret away—the ladies know too much already—but any duly certified married man who sends along sufficient cheques and stamps to cover the postage, cost of packing, and registration, can have it by return, or later. It is just as well to be on your guard, boys. There is small comfort in being told by a casual confection that you are not what you pretend to be, even supposing you aren't, and if a little wrinkle from "one who knows" can avert trouble, I'm sure you're heartily welcome.

Mistress—Now, Jane, there is no use of further argument as to how this dish should be prepared, but our ideas on the subject are so different that it is evident one or the other of us is crazy.

Jane—True for you, ma'am; an' it's not the likes of me as would be after sayin' the likes of you would have no more sinse than to keep a crazy cook.—Chicago News.

The Poultry Yard.

An English poultry expert says—Both in the States and in France the system of feeding poultry generally followed is the exact opposite to our own, the fowls getting soft food at night and corn in the morning. The poultry-keeper may well ask which is right, and the answer apparently is that there is very little difference in the result. An experiment recently tried in America, two lots of fowls getting just the same treatment, but one having soft food in the morning and corn at night, and the other the opposite, resulted in the fowls getting soft food in the morning laying slightly better than the others in winter. This is what one might expect. To set against this, however, was the fact that the fowls getting soft food at night voided double the amount of manure. The reason of this, of course, is that soft food is more quickly digested, but in those poultry houses where the droppings from the fowl-houses are systematically collected and utilized, there is a distinct value in feeding soft food at night, in preference to the morning. There is far less trouble to the feeder when corn is given in the morning, and it really seems as though the value of soft food for breakfast has been over-estimated.

Sulphur for Fowls and Swine.

When fowls are attacked with cholera I find that a little sulphur given in the food will check it. One tablespoonful mixed with the morning's food for thirty fowls and given once a month is sufficient when they are in health. When much sulphur is fed, with exposure to a cold and damp atmosphere, it will cause stiffness in the joints. Sulphur put in the dust bath with ashes is a preventive against lice. A little sprinkled in the nests and under setting hens routs these pests.

It is also good to give swine in case of cholera or sickness followed with vomiting caused from overfeeding. It regulates the stomach and liver without further trouble. I have given two teaspoonfuls twice a day in severe cases in sweet milk or sprinkled on some sliced vegetables.—Emma L. Hill, Damascus, N.Y.

To Make Hens Lay.

Many people complain that they cannot get their hens to lay in winter. One very strong complaint comes to us from one of our subscribers. To aid such we give the experience of one who resides in the cold climate of South Dakota.

Many farmers fail to get any eggs during the winter months, and, from the experience of others more successful, it must be concluded that they either do not care about winter eggs, or that they neglect to so manage and feeds the fowls as to induce them to lay. An interesting experiment was made with two lots of pullets, showing influence of feed and care on the production of eggs in winter, by Rose Seelye-Miller, in the cold climate of South Dakota. The trial was reported in a western journal as follows:—

Two pens of pullets were placed in conditions as nearly equal as possible. One pen was designed for breeding, and it was desired that they should not lay until toward spring. The other pen, containing 18 hens, was designed to produce eggs during the winter, and the eggs were not intended at all for hatching.

The experiment began in December. Let it be remembered that the care, temperature and all other things were equal, save the food, and that the pen designed for late laying contained two less fowls.

During December the early layers produced five and a quarter dozen eggs, and the other pen not an egg. In January, the early layers produced ten dozen and three eggs; the late layers seven eggs. In February the early layers produced nine dozen eggs, and the other pen one dozen. In March the early layers produced fifteen dozen eggs, and the late layers three and a half dozen. In April came the change; the early layers laid ten dozen and nine eggs, and the late layers fifteen dozen and four eggs. From this time the breeders were kept laying, and produced in May 28 eggs, the early layers 142 eggs. This shows conclusively that egg-producing may be governed in a great measure. The feeding was very simple, and the early-laying fowls were fed as follows:—In the morning, boiled lean meat, chopped, with scraps from the table, and during the day all the wheat screenings they would eat, with corn twice a week. They were, of course, watered twice daily, and had some milk to drink.

The pen not intended for laying were fed on poor wheat screenings, with corn. These fowls grew and waxed fat, until they seemed too fat, and no doubt were, for laying. As spring came on the food was changed, and as it was the natural time for laying, too, they produced eggs in abundance.

The ordinary poultry raiser feeds too much corn and wheat. Hens are fed liberally twice a day and are fed on a steady diet of one or two things, either corn or wheat, and both fattening. Hence our hens do not pay, and poultry raising is a snare and a delusion to the one who is not wideawake and up to date in caring for the fowls.

Meat is known to be a great egg-producer, and there is now upon the market a feed prepared from refuse which makes an ideal food for fowls. Bones ground and plenty of milk are also very good in egg production.

Cleanliness and warmth are absolutely essential. A hen with a frozen comb might about as well be killed, unless she is a valuable one, whose eggs will make good hatching in the spring.

We feed our cattle for beef, and our hogs for lean or fat; we feed cows for milk or butter. Then why not discriminate in feeding our poultry too?

If thought were used more we should find our purses growing fat. Lean hens and hogs may be desirable, but a fat pocketbook never fails of appreciation, and the need of strenuous labor is decreasing.—The Country Gentleman.

Electric Lamps 25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co LIMITED

OZONE

A BLOOD FOOD. A BRAIN BUILDER

Refreshes Your Stomach,
Removes Weariness of Body
Takes Fullness from Your Brain
Makes Life Worth Living

PREVENTION.

There's really no excuse for getting disease, just as well stave it off. When you feel a little indisposed just take POWLEY'S LIQUIFIED OZONE freely. It will increase the oxygen carrying power of the blood, then disease can get no foothold.

NOTHING SO GOOD FOR Diarrhoea, Stomach Disorder,
Dysentria, Kidney Trouble.
Catarrah and Female Troubles.

Write for our book on your disease. If you don't receive the most satisfactory results from the use of OZONE write us.

THE OZONE Company,
TORONTO.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer

TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY. 350 DAYS

This is over 24 per cent. on the capital $[illegible] at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having same to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANG is a going concern, the properties having produced $[illegible] in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses, doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky

Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

THE

ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.

MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each, I have analysed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{90}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE. ALL FURNISHINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 383 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year
Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealer

VARICOCELE AND STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the front-ment par excellence. So positive am I that my Latest Method Treatment will cure you that you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each time you call you see me Personally,

or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country.

The Latest Method Treatment Guaranteed to Cure

Varicocele and Stricture without cutting, stretching or loss of time; also Blood Poison, Chronic, Private, Nervous, Impotency, Kidney, Liver, Bladder, Stomach, Female and Rectal Troubles. CONSULTATION FREE. Call; if you cannot call write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor. All duty and express charges prepaid.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 Woodward Ave., Cor. Wilcox St. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets

JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165,856

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO

SAVINGS & LOAN COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 1 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager

Peterborough, March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN

ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

Office—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

HENRY S. MARA   ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS, 5 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold

ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES

Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms

Interest Allowed on Deposits.

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd

78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO

MONEY TO LOAN

At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 375 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries, Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 214 Park, Piano-Polishing into Line. Polishing, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 214 Park street

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 40 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL CO. Milwaukee, Wis.

Help Wanted.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $20 to $30 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Magee & Co., Room 711 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $8 to $15. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt Peterborough.

FEDERATION MAY AID MINERS

American Federation of Labour Likely to Assist the Strikers

Special to The Times.

San Francisco, Cal., July 21.—The proposition to indorse the miner's strike and lend financial aid to the strikers is the most important matter to receive attention at the meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor which began here today. President Mitchell of the miners was unable to come to San Francisco and delegated Henry White of the garment workers to act as his representative. Mr. White will explain the origin and nature of the miners' grievances and review the history of the strike, emphasizing the claims of the strikers for aid from their fellow labor union and praying that the needed assistance be not withheld. What action the council will take is problematical. In the past the American Federation of Labor has been extremely diffident about endorsing outside strikes, but it is said that in the present instance a number of influential members are in favor of lending the coal miners monetary aid. The council will be in session a week or ten days. Besides the miner's strike there are several other important matters requiring attention. The Western Labor Federation has of late displayed such vigor of growth and widewake enterprise as to cause an uneasy feeling among the leaders of the older organization and it is not improbable that steps will be taken looking to an affiliation of the two bodies, or, if this course fails, to squelch the western organization.

MRS. MARY BAKER DEAD

Christian Science Treatment in Her Case Was Not Efficacious

Boston, July 21.—The death of Mrs. Mary Baker a sister-in-law of Mrs Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science occurred June 24 in Dorchester, but the fact that she was treated by Christian Scientists has just become known.

Mrs. Baker, who was the widow of Samuel Baker, Mrs. Eddy's brother, had been a sufferer for years. At the solicitation of Mrs. Eddy about a year ago she submitted to Christian Science Treatment. The healer was selected by Mrs. Eddy. Mrs. Baker expended a considerable sum of money for treatment. Finding it inefficacious, she refused to continue except under guarantee of cure, for which even she agreed to pay a very large sum. Further treatment was refused on those terms by the Christian Scientists.

While Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Eddy were on friendly terms, Mrs. Baker never became a Christian Scientist nor believed in her sister-in-law's mission.

THE FRENCH SHORE ISSUE

A New Development in This Very Serious Question

Special to The Times.

St. John's, N. F., July 19.—Riballier des Isles, who for seventeen years has acted as French agent at St. John's, ranking in the French service as Consul General, but who was refused official recognition by the British and Newfoundland Governments because France refused to permit a British Consul at St. Pierre, has been promoted to the rank of Minister Plenipotentiary and recalled to France with a decoration for conspicuous services while here. This action, it is presumed here, indicates a new development in the French Shore question.

THINKS ITS COALITION

Prof. Goldwin Smith Says Things are Looking This Way

Toronto, July 21.—Prof. Goldwin Smith, in the Farmer's Sun says—

The proposal of a coalition as an escape from the deadlock of the party system in Ontario seems at least to be taking a definite form."

Why Snuffle and Sneeze?

Don't suffer any more with a cold in the head, just carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in your vest pocket, use it now and again, and you won't have colds. Catarrhozone knocks out a cold in ten minutes, and hard racking coughs in half an hour. Inhale the pleasant Catarrhozone vapor five minutes four times daily and it will cure bronchitis, lung trouble, deafness, asthma and catarrh in any part of the system. Catarrhozone is the most direct, modern and scientific method, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction Complete two months' treatment costs $1; trial size, 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

Winnipeg's Industrial Show

Special to The Times.

Winnipeg, Man., July 21.—This is the Industrial Exposition and the city is rapidly filling with visitors. The exhibits this year are more varied and numerous than heretofore and especially notable is the great cattle display, adjudged by experts to be the best ever seen in the Dominion. The attendance promises to be large and many visitors are expected from the Dakotas, Minnesota and other states during the week.

REBEL FORCE SURRENDERS

Colombian General and 800 Men Yield to the Government

Colon, Colombia, July 21.—Gen. Velez, the Governor of the Department of Bolivar, has resigned. He will be replaced by Gen. Tovar.

A train at Cartagena has been entered by guerillas and two persons removed.

Gen. Marin, one of the insurgent commanders, has surrendered at Honda, with 800 men.

The warship Bashir, which the Colombian Government purchased from Morocco, is coaling at Cartagena.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers, Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness, Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

and almost starving, Lady Feo—so desperate that I was going to throw myself into the river, when he found me and brought me here, because I had nowhere else to go."

"All the worse for him, when the story is known. He will be called a scoundrel for taking advantage of your youth and helplessness."

"For giving me work—for leaving his home that it might be a refuge for me when I was too ill to be moved?"

"That won't be what his enemies will say."

"But if I tell all—all, myself?"

"Nobody would believe you. Naturally a girl, caught in such a web, would make things look as well for herself as she could. It wouldn't help him—or you. Believe me, for I know the world."

"What would you have me do?" I demanded, brokenly.

"I have told you. Go away."

"And I have said that I am going."

"To rooms of his taking. Oh, Sheila, I beg of you, for his sake, go far away from him, and leave no trace."

Now, indeed, I could control my tears no longer. They fell from my eyes like rain, and sobs choked my voice.

"Oh, I can't— I can't do that!" I cried. "Go without letting him know why or where? He would believe me ungrateful—he would believe horrible things that are not true."

"If he did, you should be unselfish enough to be glad. For it would spare him pain. And it would keep him from searching for you, which he might do otherwise, out of a conviction that it was his duty to see that you were safe."

"Perhaps you are lying to me!" I flung at her. "Perhaps you only want to get me out of the way."

Lady Feo Ringwood smiled. "You don't really think that. I am not afraid of you with John Bourke, my poor child."

I looked at her, and as my pain and jealousy accentuated her beauty, I told myself bitterly that she had no need to be afraid. She was like a young queen, in her exquisite dress and the black picture hat that contrasted with her auburn hair; "daughter of the gods, divinely tall, and most divinely fair." I was a little insignificance, my poor claims to prettiness paling beside her classic perfection.

"I saw," she continued, "from that old woman's reluctance to let me into the study that the Secret was there, and so I was determined to enter, for I had come to the house with a purpose. I expected to see some ordinary girl of no importance. I found you. I said to myself: 'Sir Roger Cope will kill John Bourke for this, or John will kill him!'"

"Roger Cope!" I ejaculated. "Always Roger Cope!"

"Yes, Roger Cope. But if he were the only one with whom Mr. Bourke will have to reckon it would not be so bad. I am so far from having lied to you that certain political opponents, who would give ten years of their lives to have him under their feet, have arranged to set spies upon him. Anyone who rings at the door-bell may be a spy. Or the servants will be questioned. Proof is what they want. It is easy to get. Unless you go and hide yourself before it has been actually got. Are you brave enough? Do you love him enough for this?"

"I am grateful enough," I answered, haughtily.

"Then do it—quickly, before you change your mind and weaken; quickly, before it is too late. If you do this I shall believe in you and speak well of you always. Some day Jack himself shall know."

I shrank away from the gloved hand she laid on mine and shivered. I guessed the meaning cloaked by her words. She wished me to understand that some time in the future, when she was John Bourke's wife, and he was safe from all harm which I could do him, he should hear the truth about my going. Till then I must content myself to remain under a cloud—a cloud blacker and colder to my soul than the river from which I had been saved by him. And she called him "Jack."

"I will tell Mrs. Jennett that you have brought me news which makes it necessary for me to go away," I said, as firmly as I could. "And—I will leave no message for—Mr. Bourke."

"Ah, but that would be to defeat the end you seek to gain," Lady Feo answered me, hastily. "Mr. Bourke must not know that I have had anything to do with your going—for his own sake he must not. If he took the idea into his head that you had been coerced in any way, he would certainly not stop to think of his own advantage, but would move heaven and earth till he had found you again, giving you back your position as his secretary—which perhaps you can ill afford to lose?"

"I shall contrive to get on without it," I replied.

"You will let me help you, of course! It would be only fair, since by my advice you are giving up—your situation."

"I shall not need your help, thank you," I said. For I would not have taken anything from her to save myself from starving.

"I didn't mean you to go away without leaving word for Mr. Bourke," she went on, catching up the dropped thread with animation; for her offer of assistance had been but perfunctory and absent-minded. "It would be best to satisfy his mind that you had gone because it was your own wish, because you thought that you could better yourself. Then, you see, his conscience would be at rest; he would be contented to let you alone; and the flame of scandal would presently die, let us hope, for lack of fuel."

"Very well, I dareay you are right," I rejoined, hopelessly. "I will write such a letter."

Lady Feo's hand rose nervously to her breast, toying with the orchids pinned among her laces. "Sheila," she said, betraying slight confusion, "would you—you would not, I suppose, let me see the letter when it is written, and—and advise you about it?"

I saw that she meant to persist if I showed signs of refusing her request, and I did not care to hold out against the suggestion. Since I was an obstacle in John Bourke's path up the hill of fame, I wished to remove myself in the way that would be best for him. I was ready to believe that Lady Feo Ringwood knew what the best way was, not so much because I considered her a wise and conscientious adviser, as because her revelations had forced me to certain deductions of my own.

John Bourke's words, which had made me so happy and hopeful only an hour or two ago, came back to me now, lurid in the light of a new meaning.

I sat down at the table from which I had risen at the sound of Lady Feo's voice in the passage and deliberately placed a fresh sheet of paper in the

(To be continued.)

KEEP UP WITH THE PROCESSION

By using ST. JACOBS OIL for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Lameness, Stiffness of the Muscles, Soreness, and all aches and pains.

ST. JACOBS OIL

Has cured hundreds, its effect is instantaneous and marvellous, it penetrates to the very foundation of pain and removes the cause. Price 25c. and 50c.

ACTS LIKE MAGIC!

CONQUERS PAIN!

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP WORKS OF Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 326 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE

An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 367 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE

GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

CAPE-TO-CAIRO RAILROAD MAY YET BE BUILT

The Dream of Cecil Rhodes for Development of Trade in Africa to be Realized

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 21.—The State Department made public today a statement on railway development in Africa from the United States Consul Ravndale at Beirut, bearing date of May 19. The Consul says that by an agreement signed at Brussels the previous month by Robert Williams with the King of the Belgians the German route was abandoned and the railway from Cairo to the Cape is to be carried through the Congo Free State to the upper waters of the Nile. From Stanley Falls, on the Upper Congo, a railway is to be built to Lake Mahagi, on Lake Albert Nyanza, and this connection will supply the missing link between the Cape and Egyptian railways.

The Consul reports that the new railway project does not necessarily replace the original central line through German territory as planned by Mr. Cecil Rhodes and the German Government. In fact, he says that it is quite likely, if the proposed railway be built from the coast of Dar-Es-Salaam, the capital of German East Africa, that the original Cape-to-Cairo scheme, by way of Tabora, will be realized. "Both lines," says the Consul, "may astonish the world before many years as full-fledged realities."

The Consul says that the United States is not playing an important part in the developments of Africa, and that "Stanley's momentous work in the seventies has not been followed up by his quondam countrymen." Only with Cape Colony is our commerce of any material importance.

BRITISH COMBINE TO GET IT

Royal Mail Line will Enter the Anti-Morgan Company

London, July 21.—At a meeting of the shareholders of the Royal Mail Steamship Company today the Chairman announced that the [illegible] alleged mismanagement which was made some time ago had been withdrawn, and that negotiations for combination with a British firm were progressing satisfactorily. It is understood that this refers to Sir Christopher Furness's firm, Sir Christopher is the head of the proposed British shipping "combine" which is to fight the Morgan syndicate.

LAKE MICHIGAN TIDAL WAVE

Special to The Times.

Chicago, July 21—There was something closely resembling a tidal wave or "seiche" on Lake Michigan yesterday. It did considerable damage to boats along the shore. At the Weather Bureau it was said that the barometer had indicated a sudden high pressure, followed by an equally sudden drop. A wave of heavy atmospheric pressure passed over the city and as it struck the lake, moving from west to east, the water was pushed back. With the pressure released the wave came rushing back and dashed up over the land. As the high pressure drove the water out there was a recession of three feet below the normal. As the return wave came back the water went four feet above the normal, making a total rise of seven feet.

BIG INTERLAKE REGATTA.

Toledo, O., July 21.—All that yachtsmen at Put-in-Bay want now is weather—not soft zephyrs or squalling squalls, but winds that are just right. Boats are there that can make good races. Not in many years has there been as many yachts in the snug harbor back of Jay Cooke's famous Gibraltar as are gathered there today to take part in the annual regatta of the Interlake Yachting association. There are numbers of new boats there, and it is the new yachts that add interest and enthusiasm to interlake races. The first race is scheduled for tomorrow morning. The contest will be over a fifteen mile triangular course with a nine-mile triangle for the sixteen and twenty footers.

Asthma Can Be Cured

Thousands of testimonials conclusively prove that Asthma can be permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys at once the germs causing the disease. Catarrhozone gives immediate relief to the distressing cough and suffocating sensations, makes breathing easy and regular and insures undisturbed sleep. Catarrhozone cures Asthma that doctors are unable to relieve and can cure you. The Catarrhozone Inhaler is made of hard rubber, fits into the vest pocket, can be used at work, in church, in the street, in bed—any place—at any time. Two months treatment guaranteed, price $1; trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Try Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake Pills.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE

LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE

ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Tunisian	July 19 5 a m	July 19 3 p m
Pretorian	July 26 5 a m	July 26 3 p m
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m

First cabin, $65 upwards; second cabin, $7.50 to $42.50; London, $1.50 extra; third class, $25 and $26—Liverpool, Derry, Belfast, Glasgow, London.

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Laurentian .... July 16, 1 p m
Carthaginian .... July 30 12 noon

S. S. Sicilian new, from Montreal to Glasgow direct, Wednesday 30th July, at daylight, carrying 2nd cabin passengers only. $35.00 single; $66.50 return.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.   T E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S. S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent. Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte, and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to

THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m. daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 8.30 p. m., returning leave at 4.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. For Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY, General Manager, Toronto, Ont

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 6 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.30; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2.30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

STEAMER "MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. [illegible], Master.

Time table for week ending July 26th

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902

THE STEAMER

CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8 30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00. CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT, Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay

ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8 40 a.m.	"	5.30 p.m.
"	Lv 11 00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	"	7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Satu days boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.

MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por. Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.

"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON, Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER. N. Y.

STEAMERS
'NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN'

Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario .... 1.45 p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario .... 2.50 p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) .... 6.45 p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets .... 7.45 p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets .... 8.00 a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester .... 9.00 a.m
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario .... [illegible]
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario .... [illegible]

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which ticket reads. For further information apply to

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston   James Swain Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth on route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

TO-DAY

Ask your druggist for

FOOT ELM

The great remedy, for all foot troubles.

We will pay back your money if the remedy is not satisfactory.

If your Druggist offers you a substitute, try some honorable druggist, there are lots of them and it's not necessary to deal with a man who offers you an inferior article for the sake of making a few extra cents profit.

STOTT & JURY.
Bowmanville, Ont.

THE

PORT HOPE BREWING AND MALTING CO., Ltd

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight or your appetite and digestion need stimulating or are convalesing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 23, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

—Yes, this is the growing time.

—We'll probably now have summer.

—A little sunshine now and then is relished by the wisest men.

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Bookstore.

—A good ad in The Times is a stepping stone to success.

—Now the harvesters will be thankful if Jupiter Pluvius will drive in the bung.

—Owing to the excessive rains the potato crop may be short, rot having attacked many of the tubers.

—Brakeman Graves, who was injured in Lindsay on Saturday last, and who was brought to the hospital by special train, is doing nicely, and is now out of danger.

—Ann Smith, an inmate of the Protestant Home, died on Monday in that institution, aged 83 years. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery.

—Mr. Louis Craig, who was struck in the eye with a blank cartridge a week ago, is confined to Nicholls' Hospital with lockjaw, which developed on Monday. He is said to be in a critical condition.

—The moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Mission Band, of St. Andrew's church, took place last night, and was a decided success. The affair was thoroughly enjoyable, and reflected great credit on those who had charge of the details.

—Masters Douglas Hammond and Gerald Hall paddled up the canal to Lakefield on Monday. They found the current in some places very stiff, but made the journey without much trouble.

—The Corry & Laverdure contract on the canal is nearly completed. It will take about four months to instal the steel portion of the work, after which the lift lock will be ready for business.

—The Peterborough Typographical Union have completed arrangements for their second annual excursion to Jubilee Point, on Saturday afternoon August 2nd, per steamer City of Peterborough. Don't miss it, for it will be the best outing of the season.

—Farm help is again reported as being very scarce and it is more than likely that the farmers in the north west will have all kinds of trouble in getting men, after the experience of last year. Higher wages are now being offered to laborers, and it is said that places for 1,000 men could be found in 24 hours.

—Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Flavelle were the only buyers at Monday's meeting of the Victoria Cheese Board, in Lindsay. Fifteen factories boarded 1814 cheese, and the lot sold at 9 7-16c., Mr. Flavelle securing 918 boxes and Mr. Fitzgerald 896. A full report will appear in tomorrow's issue.

Where Is It Bought?

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—For the benefit of the suffering public—and especially as a warning to [illegible] dealers who ignore the liquor license act—please state in The Times the penalty of this offence, which so frequently occurs in our town. Boys of not more than sixteen may be occasionally seen staggering through our streets but more especially driving up and down George street at so furious a speed that it seems miraculous that persons crossing the street are not trampled over. George street is so monopolized by these "man-her" drivers that they appear to use the main street for a racing ground. In nearly every case those engaged in that kind of sport are more or less under the influence of liquor.

Ans. — A violation of the liquor license act may be punished, (1) by a fine, (2) by imprisonment and cancellation of license.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. Robert Long is visiting friends at Squaw Point, Minden.

—Miss Madge Davidson, is visiting friends in Baldwinsville, N.Y.

—Mrs. Donald Edwards, Toronto, is visiting Mrs. James Wood, town.

—Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, of Ennismore, was in town yesterday.

—Miss McEwen, of Lakefield, is visiting Miss Caldwell, Brock street.

—Mrs. C. B. McAllister was down from Stony Lake yesterday.

—Mrs. James Bogue and family are spending the summer months at Chemong.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Kerr, are spending a few weeks at Drumbo, Oxford County.

—Miss T. Connor, of Rochester, has returned to Peterborough, after a short visit to Otonabee.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hogg and family are holidaying at Little Matinet, on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

—The many friends of Mrs. Thos. Bradburn will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from a rather serious illness.

—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall and family will open their handsome Stony Lake cottage today for the season.

—Mr. D. A. Leary, of Panhandle, Texas, is visiting his brother, Mr. R. H. Leary. It is eleven years since he was last in Peterborough. Mrs. Leary is also here.

—Among the names of those passing examinations for kindergarten directors at Ottawa Normal, we find that of Miss Lily Rush, town. Congratulations.

—Mrs. Chas. McGill, with Miss McGill and Master Stanley McGill, who have been in Europe for several years, sailed on Saturday from Liverpool for home. They will take up their residence in Peterborough, occupying their handsome residence on Brock street.

Witnesses Heavily Fined

Three witnesses who failed to appear at the police court yesterday morning, were each fined $20 and costs. County Crown Attorney Wood asked for an enlargement of the case, which was denied, and he left the court. Mr. L. M. Hayes was sent for and conducted the prosecution. The case was one of keeping a house of ill-fame, and occupied the entire day. Judgment was reserved until Friday.

Death of Mrs. Rountree

There passed away yesterday morning an old and esteemed resident, in the person of Mrs. Thomas Rountree, in the 75th year of her age. The deceased's maiden name was Eliza Lipsett, and came from Ireland when but five years of age. The deceased leaves to mourn her demise a husband and one son, Mr. Arthur Rountree, of the Little Windsor Hotel. Mr. George Lipsett of Ashburnham, is a brother of the deceased. The funeral will take place to-morrow at two o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery.

With the Lawyers

A good story was told by one of the legal fraternity on their excursion down the river. It was given as his own experience:

"Are you the defendant?" asked the magistrate, speaking to a hobo, who was sitting in the prisoner's box.

"No, boss," was the reply, "I ain't done nothing to be called names like that. I've got Mr. Stone there who does the defending."

"Then who are you?"

"I'm the gentleman what stole the chickens."

To Be Double Tracked

The Hamilton Times says: The Grand Trunk intends to double-track its Midland branch with a view to the establishment of a great grain route via Peterborough, Port Hope and Belleville, to Montreal. Large orders have been placed for new locomotives and box cars, and the company will have a 1,500,000 bushel elevator at Montreal. It is suggested that the Grand Trunk may in the near future have a line of its own from Lake Superior to Winnipeg.

Storekeepers, Attention

HOME AND STORE

is a weekly journal very much opposed to departmental stores, a paper in favor of the single-liner and advocating the advantages which come to a community patronizing its own retailers,—home folks, who help pay the expenses of the city or town in which they reside.

The first yearly subscriber to HOME AND STORE received from each post office direct, and not through an agent, at the regular rate of $2 a year, will receive a two-inch advertisement in HOME AND STORE free of charge, together with information showing how to double the profits of your business during the year. Send along the copy for your advertisement with $2, and address:

HOME AND STORE
15 Rutland Square, Boston, Mass.

A PRIVATE STILL

How a Local Knight of the Grip won Wager Easily

It was at the Snowden House. The genial conductor of the Lakefield lightning express had just entered and taken his seat, when some one began to talk about the prohibition movement.

"I remember the time," quoth the genial proprietor, "when there were dozens of private stills in this vicinity, and I'll bet a five you couldn't find one now with a warrant."

"Is that up to any one?" edged in a new comer.

"Why, sure."

"Well, I don't want your money, Mr. Snowden," said the wise guy; "just make it the drinks."

"Very well; you're on."

The "Thirsty One" disappeared, to return in a few minutes, accompanied by a young man in uniform.

"Gentlemen, this is my brother; he joined the militia four years ago; he's a private still."

The laugh was on the genial proprietor, who settled bravely, though protesting, of course.

TO WELCOME THE HEROES

The Soldiers Who Took Part in the Hart's River Fight Coming Home

The Peterborough boys who took part in the Hart's River fight are expected to arrive here on Friday, on the 5.10 C.P.R. train. A rousing reception should be accorded them. We hope that steps will at once be taken to this end.

The troopship Winnifredian with the Canadian contingent on board, entered the harbor yesterday morning. Telegrams were received from Troopers Turner, Trotter, McDonnell, Cranfield and Anderson, who belong to Peterborough, and with the exception of Anderson, who enlisted in Toronto, joined the contingent here. In all probability there are many others from town upon the returned troopship. Those who enlisted here were: Sergt. Michael Murphy, Leo O'Connor, Alex. Trotter, W. H. Blanchard, V.S. W. T. Bradburn, Geo. Might. The above men left Peterborough on Dec. 26, and the following twelve on Dec. 12: Lieut. Gerald Haywood, Capt. W. P. K. Milligan (killed at Hart's River), Lieut. Percy B. Price, Corp. R. Turner, Corp. Daniels, Sergt. Trussler, Sergt. Boyle, Privates Craig and McDonnell, Trumpeter Hubbs and Gunner Dundas.

Down the River

Mr. Douglas Simpson, of Burnett's Landing, Rice Lake, and his trim little yacht, Vivid, with Jack Burnett, of Cobourg, at the wheel, pulled into Jubilee Point yesterday.

The excursion under the auspices of the Presbyterian church and English church, of Millbrook, was a grand success. Capt. Lane and his efficient crew, and also Mr. James Drain, the popular secretary of the Peterborough Navigation Company, looked after the interests of the excursionists.

Dr Turner, of Millbrook, with his yacht the Merimade, was certainly popular among the excursionists yesterday.

Mr. Geo. Paxman and family, together with Mrs. Chas. Wesley, are in camp at Campbelltown for a week or two.

The Millbrook Band under the leadership of Mr. Geo. Duncan, certainly deserve credit for their playing at the excursion yesterday. They numbered twelve men.

Mr. H. L. Burnham and Mr. Leach, two of our returned heroes from South Africa, were very popular among the many visitors at Rice Lake yesterday.

Mr. W. S. Given, the popular proprietor of the Millbrook Reporter, was on deck yesterday.

General - Sports

GOLF.

Mr. R. M. Hamilton is the winner of the handicap tournament which has been in progress for the last couple of months for the Captain's Prize. He played Mr. Sam Ray in the finals and won by four up and two to play. Mr. Hamilton made a record for the first four holes, getting them for seventeen.

The seniors go to Port Hope today, but will unfortunately be without the services of several of the best players.

The white clover, which has been such a nuisance during the summer, is dying out as the season advances. Complaints concerning the clover are heard from all the links in the country.

The Captain's Handicap Tournament of the Golf Club is now completed, with the result that Mr. Miles Hamilton won the first prize of one dozen golf balls, and Mr. Sam Ray won second prize of a two dollar club, to be selected by winner.

LACROSSE.

The T.A.S. juniors defeated the Campbellford lacrosse team last night by a score of 2 to 0.

The Port Hope Guide has the following to say of Saturday's match, when the Ontario's were defeated in Oshawa by the score of 9 to 2: "The Ontarios of Port Hope journeyed to Oshawa on Saturday afternoon to play their scheduled game with the team representing that town. A win was placed to the Oshawa team, but it was a victory bringing little honour to them, and no disgrace to the Ontarios. Glover was laid up with a sore shoulder, Gibson was taken sick at the last moment, and Ellwood had not recovered from the bruises received at the previous game with Oshawa. With these three people off the people of Port Hope did not look for a victory, but wish to congratulate the Ontarios on the splendid showing they made. Lipsett, Martin and Carruth filled the vacancies and did some good work, but McCabe and Burt were put on the defence, and with a team disorganised in this way, it is impossible to win."

AN OLD MAN JUMPS INTO NIAGARA RIVER

At the Age of 75, George Timmerman Gives a Floating Exhibition, But He May Die

Niagara Falls, July 22.—Geo. Timmerman, father-in-law of T. H. Wallis, druggist at 361 Third street, leaped into the Niagara river from the American deck of the Maid-of-the Mist yesterday morning at 9.30, while temporarily deranged. He was 75 years old, and had been ill with head trouble for a month or more. He left the house at 8 o'clock and a servant girl said he acted queerly when he departed. Mr. Wallis tried to find him, but failed.

At 9 o'clock the old man went down the stairs of the inclined railway and stood watching the water from the deck. Suddenly he took off his coat, vest and hat, and, taking a run, dived far out into the stream. He was, in his youth, an expert swimmer, and the moment he appeared on the surface he turned over on his back and floated. Two men, Charles Kugel and Edward Pratt, employed at the incline, saw him dive, and put out in a small boat to rescue him. After he had floated some 800 feet down the river in the swift current they managed to get him and bring him back to shore.

He was taken home and a physician summoned. He does not yet realize what he did, and an attack of brain fever is feared.

WANTED

Good General Servant—apply to Mrs. Stanley, No. 389 Hunter street.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayer.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. L. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsell Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1895. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m. 4 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 334 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office.

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Situations Wanted.

LIGHT employment by young lady either at home or in an office. Best of references. Apply at Times Bookstore for address.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No 3 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W. Smith Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies.

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHA

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 215 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 20c cash. 25c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 215 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

IF YOUR DEALER IN PHOTO SUPPLIES IS

UNDER THE THUMB OF THE TRUST

And cannot sell honest Canadian Goods, write to us direct for catalogue, etc., etc.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.
Only Canadian Manufacturers.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $10 to $12. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal ...	5.10 p.m	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.13 a.m.	7.20 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	5.10 a.m.	11.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.[illegible] a.m.	5 10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate...	7.[illegible] p.m.	1 12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.25 a.m.	5 10 p.m

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9 00 p.m.	8.35 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.35 p.m.	11.41 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	8.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	8.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	8.25 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	8.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	8.00 p.m.	12.35 p.m.
Lakefield local	8.50 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS
in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

TENDERS

For Re-Flooring Otonabee Bridge, Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received up to noon, Thursday, July 24th, 1902.

For re-joisting and re-planking Otonabee Bridge.

Separate tenders will be received for material and labor.

A deposit of 10 per cent. (ten per cent) of amount of tender must accompany each tender. Specifications may be seen at the offices of the Town and County Engineers.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

(Sd.) M. A. MORRISON.
Joint Committee Town & County Peterborough.

Tenders for Coal.

BOARD OF EDUCATION, Peterborough

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to 12 o'clock noon on FRIDAY, JULY 25th, 1902, for the supply of the following quantities of coal for use at the school buildings of the town:

400 TONS SOFT COAL, (about)
30 TONS HARD COAL, (about)

Tenders must specify quality of coal and mine. All coal will be weighed on the town scales and must be delivered in such quantity and at such times as will suit the convenience of the different schools.

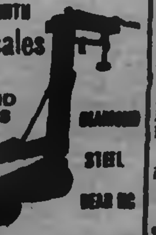
The lowest nor any tender necessarily accepted.

Address tenders

ROBERT FAIR.
Chairman Property Com. B. of E.

ARE YOU STOUT.

Edith Borden, M. D., Has the best treatment [illegible]



SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL, GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

GET OUR PRICES

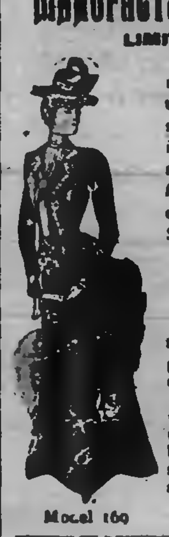
DIAMOND STEEL BEARING

C. WILSON & SON
51 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.

LIMITED.



Model 160

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO HON. G. A. COX PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

LEAD

We carry in stock for immediate shipment: —

PIG LEAD (Any Size Pig)	LEAD WIRE
BLOCK LEAD	LEAD PIPE
BAR LEAD	RIBBON LEAD

It will pay you to get our quotations before purchasing.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

Too Busy to Write Ads., Because:

The bargains we are giving in Houses and Lots, Garden Lots and Farms, of all sizes and prices, and the easy terms our long experience enables us to arrange for our buyers, keeps our entire staff bustling from early morning until late at night and still our work is only well begun, as new properties are being listed daily. Al are invited to our New Ground Floor Office, so convenient to call when you go to the Post Office, or call up phone 376 for any information desired regarding REAL ESTATE.

T. HURLEY & CO.

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 5 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, Victoria, B. C. Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Robson, Trail, Sandon and Kaslo, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 16th to 29th, inclusive, valid for return until September 15th, 1902.

Passengers leaving Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays have option of travelling via Lake Route from Owen Sound to Fort or Port Arthur on payment of meal and berth arbitrary additional.

Tickets and full particulars from your nearest Canadian Pacific Agent or

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt
1 King St. East, Toront

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 16th to 29th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC

NEW BRUNSWICK

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)

NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY,
WM. ROBINSON,
10 King St West
William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month We have e latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at	0c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	48c
Smocks, at......	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailo
One door south of Montreal Bank

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont.

BIG G

CURE YOURSELF ! [illegible]

Red Rose Green Ceylon Tea Is the highest type of uncolored green Tea It is fast displacing Japans.

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 28 NO 160 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO THURSDAY JULY 24 1902 PRICE TWO CENT

UNCLE SAM NOW WANTS TO ANNEX GREENLAND

With the Object of Hemming in Canada from the Rest of the World

SAID TO BE RICH IN MINERAL DEPOSITS

The Island a Heavy Drain on Denmark, Who Would Be Willing to Sell out at a Good Round Figure

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 24.—A report is current that the United States has in view the acquisition of Greenland. According to a despatch from St. John's, N.F., the Government has had this purpose in view for the last ten years, and is employing Lieut. Peary as an emissary to gather data and ascertain the value and possibilities of the huge arctic territory discovered by Eric the Red a thousand years ago. Similar stories have before this been given circulation, and then shown to be without foundation, and this is not likely to prove an exception. Indeed it would be scarcely worth attention, except for the fact that it is ingeniously constructed, and contains many instructive items of information concerning a country that the world at large has little knowledge of.

According to the despatch, one purpose of the United States in desiring to acquire Greenland, is the same as that which led it to purchase Alaska, namely, to hem in Canada from the rest of the world. Perhaps no one except a Canadian of the alarmist type will give much consideration to this unique suggestion, or lose any sleep over the thought that the United States is anxious to bind with territorial thongs a dependency as insignificant to it as the Dominion of Canada. It is pleasant to note, however, that the alleged prime object in desiring the country is the commercial value it possesses. It is pointed out that in Greenland there are valuable minerals, and in its waters extensive fisheries, all of which are developed by American energy and capital almost exclusively.

In the southern part there are cryolite mines, the entire output of which is conveyed to the United States. Near Disco Island are large deposits of coal which American explorers and fishermen use. There are vast whale and halibut fisheries conducted entirely by Massachusetts fishermen. Iron and copper abound, and it is believed other mineral wealth of Greenland is large.

Denmark, although she governs the country south of Melville Bay, and has colonized it and played the paternal role honestly for a couple of centuries, is confronted with a heavy financial loss annually, and, therefore, according to the despatch, is anxious to unload the property on the Unietd States. There is doubtless a vestige of truth in this assertion, and the correspondent is a faithful, though doubtless unauthorized, agent of Denmark, for the strategic value of the country in time of war is not overlooked. It is pointed out that with Greenland the property of the United States, the alternative Hudson Bay route for the grain trade between Canada and Europe would be dominated, and that by the aid of a few cruisers stationed at Disco Island the mercantile ship trade of England would be destroyed.

All the foregoing statement of the resources and natural advantages of Greenland are undoubtedly correct. Indeed, other and valuable products might have been truthfully mentioned. Cryolite, iron, copper, coal abound and the halibut and whale fisheries are large and profitable. Walrus and hair seals are also abundant. It is further true that the development of all this wealth and resources, except that from walrus and seals, is in the hands of Americans. Nevertheless, it is very unlikely that the United States is casting covetous eyes on the country. Although both are Arctic lands, the conditions which prevail in Alaska are radically different from those in Greenland. In the former there is a considerable area of interior territory available for settlement and other use, while in the latter the sea coast, the shores of the bays and some of the valleys leading from the plateau to the water's edge are all that are either habitable or can be made available. As long as American interests in Greenland are guarded by Denmark, there is no reason why the United States should take possession of the land, by purchase or other means.

THE SERIOUS CLOUD ON POLITICAL HORIZON.

The Growing Hostility Between England and Germany--England Prepared

Special to The Times.

London, July 24.—A serious cloud spot on the horizon is our relations with Germany. I have had some special opportunities of ascertaining the facts about Anglophobia in Germany and Teutophobia in England. The settled policy of the German Foreign Office is apparently one of hostility to Great Britain. The Anglophobia of German newspapers in America begins to attract much attention over here in literary and political circles. I have heard it stated by one accustomed to weigh his words that the anti-British attitude of Baron von Holleben, the German Ambassador in America, causes much remark, and that even in his official capacity hostility towards England is dragged in without rhyme or reason. Filthy caricatures of the King continue to be published in the German comic papers. Only yesterday I learnt a fact which throws a flood of light on the organized and sustained Anglophobia cultivated officially in Germany. The servants of the late Empress Frederick regularly received the filthy caricatures and lampoons of the late Queen Victoria published in certain comic journals. These journals were posted to the servants of her late Majesty, and bore the official German stamp; that is to say, they were posted as though they were official documents. On this side of the water Teutophobia is growing stronger every day. John Bull is painfully slow in grasping an idea, but when he once has got it into his brain all the powers of light and darkness cannot remove it. John Bull is waking up to the fact that during the war Germany has been his enemy; that the late Queen Victoria and King Edward have been habitually insulted by the journals, and that Germany is only awaiting her opportunity to stab England from behind.

Emperor William's Friendliness.

The Emperor, as is well known, does not share the Anglophobia of his people. The proof of His Majesty's friendliness to this country rests on foundations too solid to question. Still his Majesty is not omnipotent, nor can it be said that the German people are without some excuse for jealousy, which is the real origin of their hostility towards this country. Looking ahead, it is clear that Anglo-German relations cannot remain in their present anomalous condition. They will either grow worse or better, and this depends mainly on the attitude of Ministers. The editors of several London journals of repute are known to entertain the strongest convictions on the subject of German enmity. The proprietors of The Times with as much wisdom as patriotism, have [illegible] [illegible] in Berlin a correspondent, whose services to the cause of truth and justice cannot be overrated. This gentleman, I happen to know, is regarded in Berlin as a firebrand, and his departure is urgently desired by the authorities. It would not be surprising if inside of the next few months the Times correspondent in Berlin were required to leave Germany. The influence of the Berlin correspondent of the Times today is certainly greater than that of an average Ambassador, and it speaks volumes for the manner in which the great traditions of the Times have been maintained that they should retain at their own charges a sentinel of empire whose warnings to the British public on the subject of German intentions are probably destined to occupy a place in history.

A Settlement Should be Hastened.

The opinion of those Englishmen whose views are represented by Sir Rowland Blennerhassett and Mr. J. L. Maxse, the editor of the National Review, is that an explanation should be required from Germany as to the meaning of the German navy, the creation of the vast quay space for the embarkation of troops at Emden and the reason for the constant expressions of hostility which permeate German diplomacy no less than the German press. The argument is that if we are going to quarrel with Germany, the lessons of the Boer war teach us that we should do so before the German navy has reached an unmanageable size. In the case of that war we waited until the boy had become a man, and even a giant, before the inevitable conflict took place. If a conflict is to take place with Germany the question is whether France and Russia would hold aloof. The conviction is that Russia's interests are inseparable from peace reigning during the next twenty years, and that France is gradually relinquishing the idea of military glory which for centuries has been her own pride and the bane of Europe. A struggle between England and Germany would be crime against civilization, but everything points to a collision between the two nations, unless the matter is taken in hand and straightened out by men on both sides who are sincerely desirous of establishing good relations on a firm basis.

WANTED

Good General Servant—apply to Mrs. Stanley, No. 380 Hunter street.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER IS TEN MILES WIDE

Vast Areas Submerged in Missouri and Illinois

LOSSES AMOUNT TO MILLIONS

The Strongest Levees Unable to Stem the Rush of Waters that Sweep Across the Prairies, Carrying Destruction to Farmers

Keokuk, Ia., July 23. The flood conditions of yesterday are much worse, and the Mississippi river is from three to ten miles wide for twenty-seven miles below the Iowa line, and is rising rapidly. The flood is reaching far out, devasting farms and farmers in the lowland on the Missouri side have lost everything but their citadels on high knolls and a few fields behind the highest levees. Damage is also occurring on the Illinois side, between here and Quincy, where there are many thousand acres of the river side levees and where the levees themselves are not entirely efficient the water is working through at the site of the flood gates. The Lima and Hunt Levees, opposite Canton, Mo. the most dangerous places, and which protect many square miles of corn in Illinois are constantly patrolled and hopes are entertained that they may possibly hold.

The greatest damage is on the Missouri side of the Mississippi rever, between Keokuk and Hannibal territory covering 200 square miles, and on which the corn was calculated at 60 bushels to the acre a few days ago. Hundreds of farmers are tenants, who lost crops by last year's drought in the uplands and moved to the lowlands this year. They are now penniless, and are hunting work in towns and cities. Reports today are that in the territory indicated the loss will be over $4,000,000 chiefly to corn land.

The situation tonight is growing worse, and a great conflagration would not be more rapidly destructive. There is not the slightest chance of stopping this most costly flood in the history of the great river.

A correspondent went all over the worst damaged area today in a steamer, and found everywhere the greatest crops ever known under water deep enough to float a steam boat.

People at the river cities give accounts of losses aggregating millions of dollars. Hundreds of farmers, rich ten days ago, are penniless and homeless.

Careful estimates gathered from the statements of best informed people indicate the loss up to tonight is about $6,000,000, with every prospect of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 additional by the rise above not yet reaching the lower stretches of the river. Most of this loss is on the Missouri side of the river between Keokuk and Hannibal.

Passing the water lapped lumber yards of Keokuk, the mouth of the Des Moines river is nearly two miles wide. Normally there are two mouths and an island delta, covered with farms, which are now under raging torrents.

A NAVAL BASE FOR THE CANAL

The United States May Seek to Buy an Island in Panama Harbor

Washington, July 23.—The complications surrounding the acquisition of the route over which the Panama Canal is to be constructed have revived interest in the matter of acquiring a naval base in the vicinity of Panama. In that connection Commander Potter, of the Ranger, has been instructed to make elaborate surveys of a number of islands, and especially of two in Panama Harbor. It is expected that either one of these two islands will be regarded as suitable sites for a naval station, and that negotiations for their purchase will follow. This course of action is interesting for the reason that there is doubt whether the United States will acquire sovereignty over the route of the Panama Canal and be able to protect its property by fortifications and garrisons. In the event that such a concession could not be secured from Colombia, the purchase of an island within convenient distance for a fortified naval station would be the next best substitute. This view of the exigency has revived the suggestion that the United States could purchase the Galapagos Islands. Senator Lodge introduced in the last Congress a bill for this purpose, but it received no consideration, because it was regarded that there was no necessity for acquiring these islands. Now, with the acquisition of the Panama Canal property, a new importance is added to the suggestion, and negotiations will be opened with Ecuador looking to the purchase of the Galapagos Islands as a naval base on the Pacific side from which to protect the canal.

IDEAS OF REVOLT CAUSED TROUBLE

The Mail Correspondent Explains the Recent Agrarian Troubles

FORCED UKASES OF CZAR

The Local Police Were Low in the Scale of Intelligence, and Did Not Understand the Situation

London, July 23.—The Mail correspondent at St. Petersburg, Russia, says: An opportunity was offered to me a few days ago of discussing the peasant troubles in South Russia with an official of the Ministry of the Interior, and I was able to secure a certain amount of authentic information on the subject.

It seems that these troubles cannot be put down to the poverty of the land or other agricultural causes, or to the hard lot of the peasants, and they have even less connection with the prevalent tightness of money in Russia. They are the direct result of the propaganda of a social revolutionary party which has taken as its task the stirring up of revolutionary ideas among the Russian peasantry.

Any one who knows Russia thoroughly will admit that there is no country in which the State is so closely interested in the land, and the peasant troubles therefore arise from no agrarian source, particularly as the districts in which they have arisen are among the richest in Russia, where the agricultural banks sell land to the peasants against gradual payments, a system which works excellently.

The real origin of the trouble is as follows: A considerable number of dismissed students, male and female, were employed by the local authorities, unknown to the Governor, to collect statistics among the peasant population. These students spread their revolutionary ideas far and wide.

They knew that the greatest virtue of the Russian people was its obedience to the Throne, and that everything emanating direct from the Czar was treated with extraordinary deference.

It will not be surprising, therefore, to learn that the people gave the greatest credence to the propaganda, which was supported by forged ukases of the Czar.

THE COMMENCEMENT.

The robbing and plundering of the farm-houses thereupon began. I have already reported to you that when the peasants, egged on to revolution, were confronted by the police and the military, they offered no opposition, and the troubles quieted down at once, the peasants admitting their misdeeds and expressing their repentance.

The disturbance came to an end with the appointment of M. von Plehve as Minister of the Interior. He was called to his high position by the Czar, and looked upon it as his first duty to go to South Russia in order to inquire into the matter on the spot. This was the first time that a Russian Minister of the Interior had taken the trouble personally to look into a matter of this sort.

Both the St. Petersburg and foreign newspapers had therefore come to the conclusion that the troubles were of a serious character, but the appearance of the Minister in South Russia had a remarkably pacifying effect; those who were found guilty were promptly sentenced, and the police force was augmented.

The reason that the agitation was so quickly successful was owing to the low scale of intelligence of the local police, who did not know that the distribution of the Czar's ukases would not be left in the hands of subordinate officials.

New Flying Machine

Special to The Times.

Brussels, July 23.—A Belgian inventor M. Villers, has constructed a new flying machine and will probably enter it for the contests at the St. Louis world's fair. The apparatus is light and very simple in design. The motor is fitted with a vertical shaft, constructed in such a way as to support a horizontal shaft provided with a gearing of toothed and cogged wheels, and working two large screws, which act vertically and impart the force necessary. The vertical shaft supports also, a little below the main shaft, another small horizontal shaft, which it puts into movement in the same manner, and which, by means of two small screws, controls the horizontal movement of the apparatus.

PROFIT FOR BRITONS IN MORGAN COMBINE

Liverpoolers Argue that Shipping Trust Will Bring Them Prosperity, as Steel Trust Has British Manufacturers

Special to The Times.

London, July 23.—While there is a general expectation in Liverpool shipping circles that the Cunard line will be drawn into the Morgan combination there is less excitement over it there than in London newspaper offices. This is because the wideawake merchants have watched the effect of the formation of the United States Steel Corporation and observed that the exports of iron and steel from Germany and England to America has been increased.

They assert that the results of combination in that trade are a reduction of American production by the closing of many unprofitable works, a rise in prices through scarcity of the supply of metal for the home market, the reduction of American exports for foreign trade and increased exports from England and Germany to fill the vacuum.

Analogy is drawn between iron and steel and ocean traffic, and a forecast is made that a rise in freights through American combinations will involve increased prosperity for British shipping outside the central pool.

Stomach and Bowel Troubles

A promptly satisfactory cure for cramps, colic, indigestion, heartburn, billiousness, sick stomach and summer complaint, is a few drops of Nerviline in sweetened water. Nerviline at once relieves pain and suffering, eradicates the cause of the trouble and cures permanently. Polson's Nerviline is the best general purpose remedy for internal pains known; it acts so quickly that no household should be without it. Buy a 25 cent bottle of Nerviline to-day; it's all right.

Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

BAD MAN TRACY'S WONDERFUL RECORD

Record of a Convict Which Eclipses That of All Former Outlaws

HE BEARS A CHARMED LIFE

Is Now One of the Most Famous Bandits of Modern Times—Chances of His Capture Growing Beautifully Less

Seattle, July 23.—Convict Harry Tracy is still at large and every day increases his chances of escaping.

Harry Tracy began his career of crime in Colorado in 1897 by killing Deputy Sheriff Valentine Hoy. In 1899, after he had been sentenced to the Oregon penitentiary, he attempted to escape by seizing a railroad locomotive, but the engineer outwitted him and he was captured. In the scrimmage he wounded Detective Raisor of Portland.

"On June 9, 1902, with David Merrill Tracy escaped from the penitentiary at Salem. His record from that date till July 2 follows:

June 9, Escaped with Merrill, at 7 a.m., killing Guard Jones, Ferrell and Tiffany, and wounding Guard Ingram.

June 10,—Returned in the darkness of the early morning to Salem, where the men held up J. W. Roberts, whom they stripped of clothing, and then stole a team of horses and made their way to Portland. Near Gervais they held up two members of the posse in pursuit and took a horse and buggy.

June 11,—Fired on pursuers from ambush near Gervais.

June 13,—Broke through cordon of 250 militia and made their escape.

June 14,—Stole two horses and rode through Portland suburbs.

June 15,—Forced two men to ferry them across Columbia River.

June 17,—At Salmon Creek exchanged shots with a posse and Tracy wounded Deputy Sheriff Bleucher. At Ridgefield the men stole horses and continued their flight.

June 23,—Robbed the house of Patrick McGuire at Alacenter.

June 26—Stole breakfast near Kelso Mont.

June 26,—Stole two horses, but gave them back.

June 29—Slipped through a strong posse guarding the road.

July 1,—Seen forty miles from Tacoma Tracy left Merrill, saying later that he had killed him in a duel. Tracy rode through Olympia.

June 2—Tracy held up six men at South Bay, near Olympia and forced four to embark with him on Puget Sound. Landed at night at Seattle and started north.

July 3, —In an encounter with a Seattle posse near Bothell, Tracy shot and instantly killed Charles Raymond, a deputy sheriff, and dangerously wounded John Williams, another deputy sheriff. Carl Anderson and Louis Seefrit, newspaper men, were both wounded.

July 4,— Tracy was located in a house in the city limits of Seattle. Surrounded by a cordon, he deliberately fought his way through the guards, killing Policeman Breese and mortally wounding Guard Rawley.

July 6,— Tracy entered the home of Rancher Johnston, near Madison Point, and forced the family to give him bundles of blankets, clothing and hats, and six days' supply of food. Before leaving he bound and gagged the whole family. He then made their hired man, Anderson, carry the bundles to Johnson's rowboat, put Anderson in the boat at the oars, and started down the sound. Fifteen hours elapsed before the sheriff's posse was able to start in pursuit.

July 8,—Tracy next appeared in a private house near Renton. While the house was being surrounded, the convict quietly slipped away through the woods, binding Anderson in the back yard before leaving.

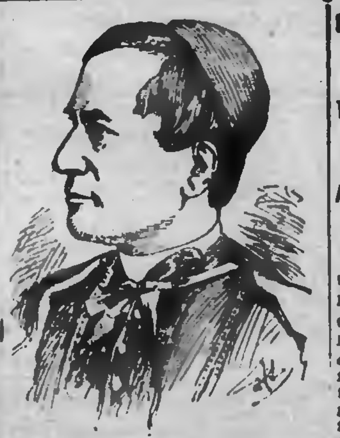
July 9,—Bloodhounds were set on Tracy's track but were disabled by cayenne pepper sprinkled in the outlaw's retreating footsteps.

July 10,—Tracy broke into the home of E M. Johnson, near Kent. He sent Johnson to Tacoma to purchase a revolver and ammunition for his use, threatening to kill the man's family if he gave the alarm. Johnson made the long journey to Tacoma and returned with the revolver. Before leaving the house Tracy obtained enough provisions to last for a week.

July 11,—Tracy was penned at the mouth of Sluice Creek, and guards were stationed every fifty feet; but he escaped into the woods in the darkness.

Since then very little has been heard of the famous outlaw and to date has completely outwitted the police and military forces.

Cardinal Gibbons' Birthday



CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Born on July 23rd, 1834, He is Now 68 Years of Age

The Great Prelate May Be the Next Pope of Rome

A Man of Wonderful Resources And Untiring Energy

Baltimore, Md., July 23.—Cardinal Gibbons, who, during the past few weeks has been called upon to mourn the death of two members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in America, reached his sixty-eighth birthday today. There was no formal celebration of the event, but during the day messages of congratulation poured in at the archiepiscopal residence from archbishops, bishops, and prominent members of the clergy in all parts of Cardinal Gibbons was born in this city July 23, 1834, of Irish parents. During his boyhood he was taken to Ireland and he received the elements of a liberal education. On returning to the United States it was determined by his parents to consecrate him to the service of God, and he entered St. Charles' College, Maryland where he graduated with distinction in 1857. Thence he went to St. Mary's Seminary, where, after taking the usual courses of theology and philosophy, he was ordained a priest, June 6, 1861, by Archbishop Patrick Kenrick. Father Gibbons was at once assigned to duty, and hard duty at that time, in the city of Baltimore, serving first as an assistant priest at St. Patrick's church. Afterward he was sent as pastor to the then humble and struggling parish of St. Bridget's Canton, where he had also to serve old St. Lawrence's church, at Locust Point, and to cross the Patapsco River to do so in a ferry boat, oftentimes in the stormiest weather. On March 17, 1887, he received the red hat of the cardinalite from Pope Leo XIII.

The cardinal showed few signs of his increasing years. His eye is as bright and his step as quick and elastic as twenty years ago. Every day when the weather permits he walks from five to ten miles, and takes delight in tiring out members of the clergy, one of whom always accompanies him on his long tramps through the city and country. Next year the cardinal is to celebrate his silver jubilee and arrangements are already being made to make it the most elaborate event of the kind that has ever been celebrated in this country.

IT'S DIFFERENT NOW

The Palate is Tickled and Appetite Encouraged by the Deliciousness and Flavor of

Malt Breakfast Food

The Oldfashioned Oatmeal and Other Grain Porridges Were Flat and Insipid.

It's different now. The morning meal with Malt Breakfast Food as the first dish is now thoroughly enjoyed. The deliciousness and exquisite flavor of Malt Breakfast Food have made it so popular that the oldfashioned, insipid and flat oatmeal porridge is almost a thing of the past. Malt Breakfast Food in addition to its palate-tickling qualities is vastly more healthful than any other known grain food. Children thrive fast on it, and men and women are made stronger and kept in perfect health by its use. Your Grocer recommends it.

Items of News

Washington, July 23.—It is apparent that the international movement inaugurated against Anarchists immediately following the assassination of President McKinley will be attended with good results. No treaties have been negotiated on this point, but the correspondence that has taken place has brought about a tacit understanding that until something shall be perfected in the way of treaties each Government will voluntarily take the initiative in frustrating the plans and purposes of Anarchists regardless of what ruler or nation may be the object of their murderous schemes.

The first practical outcome of this international movement between the United States and European nations was the receipt at the State Department yesterday of photographs of three Italian Anarchists who were expelled from Constantinople. The photographs were forwarded from Turkey by Chekib Bey, the Minister from Turkey at Washington. Copies of these photographs will be sent to the principal Bureau for the identification of Criminals, which was recently established in this city, and in which the police forces of the principal cities of the United States and Canada are represented. It is not known that these Anarchists will attempt to enter the United States, but their photographs will assist in their detection if they should come here. Their names are given as Dignati Gemiton Guiseppe, Chagia Caramto and Pasquale.

It is said that the apprehension of Tomati, at Bra, Italy, who is supposed to have gone from Paterson, N.J., for the purpose of assassinating the King of Italy, was brought about through the State Department. Several years ago the secret service men, who are keeping a sharp watch on Anarchists in this country, learned that an emissary had been sent to Italy to attempt the life of the King. This information was immediately transmitted to the Italian Government by Secretary Hay, with the result that the fanatic was promptly arrested. This Government will, of course, take no action on behalf of the man arrested.

MANY ARE SKEPTICAL REGARDING CORONATION

Betting in London at Odds of Five to Four Against Coronation on August the 9th

FOREIGN GOODS ANNEXED BY THE TURKS.

An Order which It is Impossible to Comply with Causes Many Confiscations—French School Question

Special to The Times.

London, July 24.—The Times says: 'While most favorable reports regarding King Edward's health are received from Cowes daily, many Londoners remain skeptical about the coronation taking place as early as August 9. The announcement that the authorities of Westminster borough have decided not to spend more money on street decorations is regarded as an indication that a further postponement is possible. In the city yesterday betting was going on at odds of five to four against the coronation taking place on the day specified.

Special to The Times.

Constantinople, July 24.—The Imperial School of Medicine has instructed the Custom House officials to require of importers detailed specifications of the composition of all articles containing chemical elements. These include patent medicines, colors, dyes, perfumery, colored toys, fancy articles and stationery. Compliance with the order is impossible in a great majority of cases, so that large quantities of goods are being confiscated.

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 23.—The Archbishop of Reims and the Bishop of Grenoble have joined in protests against the closing of the Catholic schools in France by the Government under the associations bill. The Premier boasted on Sunday that the nuns were scarcely likely to offer resistance to the authorities, but the demonstrations increase, and a lay agitator is perceptible in the demonstrations. The mothers who tried to interview Mme. Loubet were evidently prompted by persons in a higher position.

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 24.—There is every prospect of fresh disturbances today, as a sequel to yesterday's clericals outbreaks as protests against the Government's enforcement of the law against unauthorized congregations. It now appears that three hundred persons were arrested, and numerous prosecutions are pending, though the majority of the prisoners were released. Fresh meetings to protest in favor of the religious orders are expected to be held today, while the radical and socialist papers are urging the Republicans to meet at the Pantheon as a counter demonstration.

PETERBORO' CHEESE BOARD

OVER 1000 BOXES BOARDED AT YESTERDAY'S MEETING

9 5-8 was the Highest Price Paid—List of Factories That Sold

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held in the town council chamber Wednesday morning. The following buyers were in attendance: Messrs. Bailey, Wrighton, Rollins, Fitzgerald, Cook, Kerr and Whitton. There were 6001 boxes boarded, and the highest price paid was 9 5-8c.

The factories boarded as follows:

Keene	200
Warminster	130
Shearer	120
Central Smith	130
North Smith	156
Villiers	175
Warsaw	145
Westwood	150
Oakdale	200
Missing Link	100
Daisy D.	110
Melrose Abbey	100
Lakefield	200
Pine Grove	130
Peterborough	100
Otonabee Union	161
Maple Leaf	165
Myrtle	136
Ormonde	100
Young's Point	165
Lang	210
Fraserville	160
Indian River	150
North Dummer	84
Ballyduff	47
East Emily	132
Trewern	140
Bensfort	164
Cedardale	95
Stony Lake	60
Cavanville	200
Mount Pleasant	168
Fleetwood	220
Oak Leaf	54
Model	115
Darlington Union	125
Buckhorn	140
South Burleigh	55
Norwood	140
Percy	150
Brickley	90
Shamrock	130
Dartford	120
Apsley	80
	6001

The bidding was opened at 9 1-4 by Mr. Fitzgerald. Mr. Whitton went 9 5-16c., Mr. Rollins 9 3-8c. Mr. Fitzgerald 9 1-2c. Mr. Wrighton 9 9-16c. and Mr. Whitton 9 5-8c.

Mr. Whitton called Ormonde, Westwood, Villiers, Melrose Abbey, Norwood and Shearer. They all accepted. Mr. Fitzgerald then bid 9 5-8c, carrying off Fraserville, Myrtle, Keene, Fleetwood, Cavanville, Lakefield and Trewern. Mr. Kerr, at the same price, called Central Smith, Missing Link, East Emily, North Smith, Mount Pleasant, all of which accepted. Mr. Rollins then bid 9 5-8c, and picked up Warminster, Oakdale, Daisy D., Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, Young's Point, North Dummer, Cedardale, Stony Lake, South Burleigh and Burleigh. At the same figure Mr. Bailey called Model, Percy, Dunsford, Shamrock, Indian River, Brickley. They all accepted. at 9 9-16c. Mr. Bailey added to his selections Otonabee Union, Bensfort, Lang, Darlington Union and Peterborough.

At 9 9-16 Mr. Kerr took Ballyduff (Montreal inspection).

Mr. Wrighton cleared the board with the exception of Oak Leaf, by giving 9 5-8c for Warsaw and Bensfort. Oak Leaf sold to Mr. Whitton at 9 5-8c.

Before adjourning Mr. Riddell, the Secretary of the Board, read a communication from the Department of Agriculture, stating that they had made arrangements with the C.P.R. and Intercolonial for hte use of refrigerator cars, and the Government would pay the cost for icing same. The cars can be had for the shipment of cheese by applying to the railway companies.

The Board adjourned for two weeks.

Lost Hearing Quickly Restored

No matter whether of long standing or not, deafness can be permanently cured by Catarrhozone, which never fails, even in the worst cases. The pleasant scented vapor of Catarrhozone allays inflammation, prevents and cures the catarrhal condition that causes deafness, and relieves right away. Thousands have proved the efficiency of Catarrhozone, and with such a valuable remedy within easy reach there is no longer any reason for people to remain deaf. Catarrhozone is recommended also [illegible] coughs, catarrh and bronchitis [illegible] plete outfit, [illegible] Druggists, [illegible]

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific	Arrive	Depart
East
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	5.10 p.m.	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.23 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston	5.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5 10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate	7.23 p.m.	5 12 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West	11.25 a.m.	5 10 p.m.
Grand Trunk
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	3.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9 00 p.m.	5.30 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.25 p.m.	11.4[illegible] a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	2.20 a.m.	9.15 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	3.25 a.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.05 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	8.50 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayer.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. E. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wardens Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. A. Sandford.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at [illegible] per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 24, 1902.

SUGAR BEET ACREAGE IN UNITED STATES

The last issue of the Crop Reporter published by the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington, gives the acreage sown to sugar beets for that country for the current year. According to this report eleven states are interested in this industry, there being in the eleven about 240,000 acres sown to sugar beets. The size of this industry may be judged by the statement that it is about the same acreage as is devoted to corn in the single state of New Jersey. According to this table, Michigan has the largest acreage, with California second and Colorado third. These three states represent over 200,000 acres of the total acreage of less than 240,000. The figures run as follows—Michigan, 96,000; California, 71,234; Colorado, 39,440. The fourth state is Utah, with 12,000; the fifth Nebraska, with 9,000 and the sixth New York, with 6,500; no other state has an acreage of over 5,000. Eleven States are now growing beets for sugar and in only two of these is the acreage sown to sugar beets equal to the acreage sown for corn in Massachusetts, and yet Massachusetts would hardly be called a great corn growing state.

SALISBURY'S PEACE

Mr. Balfour gives Lord Salisbury full credit for having passed on the Empire to him at peace with the world, and at peace with honour and security and power.

It would not be so difficult to secure peace by a policy of poltroonery. A man who runs away fast enough can keep out of fights. But this has not been Lord Salisbury's achievement. He has conquered peace, and left the Empire far more secure than he found it.

Two overhanging menaces, threatening the borders of the Empire, he has removed in the last few years. The Dervish power in the Soudan was always a threat against the safety and liberty of Egypt. Impudently aggressive on the border, it perpetually snapped the whip of slavery over the "fellaheen," and after Britain's failure to avenge the death of Gordon, it felt the security of unchained savagery. But Lord Salisbury sent Kitchener to demolish that despotism and render secure the boundaries of Egypt, and the task was completed with [illegible] in the Foreign Office to discourage dreams of European intervention.

But there was the Boer problem at the other end of Africa. Here were people magnificent soldiers and natural campaigners, cherishing an ambition to drive the British power from the Cape. The Dutch had the franchise in British territory; the British were denied it in Dutch territory. A giant like Rhodes might fence with the Dopper conspiracy with some hopes of success; but then came the Jameson raid blunder, and Rhodes was virtually put hors de combat.

Again Lord Salisbury sought permanent peace through the risk of war. He would demand the right of the British majority in the Transvaal to get their votes counted; and he would press the demand with the full force of British power. The result is history. The Boer oligarchy determined to fight for racial supremacy and the decision of battle is now known. Lord Salisbury won another peace with security to pass on to his successor. He leaves a stronger, safer Empire than he found, and what better encomium can a Foreign Minister seek?

Canada is to be represented by 13 soldiers at the coronation, and they are to sail on July 26, which is twice thirteen. This is terrible.

Making Poultry Pay.

Poultry-keeping will pay the man who has poultry at heart, just the same as farming pays the man who has farming at heart, only a much larger profit for the money invested.

Farming never paid the man who had a desire to drive a huckster waggon for the village merchant, or for the man who had some other pursuit at heart more than farming. The man who expects to make poultry-keeping pay must have a desire for that particular work. Of course he can be engaged in some other pursuits and make a success at poultry-keeping, but he must have a love for the business or he can never claim a grand success. There are thousands of men who are making fortunes at raising poultry, who are largely engaged in banking, railroading or some other profession as well, but they have a fancy for fowls or they would never have admitted them in their lines.

In former years I was engaged as a representative of a well-known commercial establishment, which required me to travel largely over the rural districts of our country, and where I noticed a farmer who kept all buildings in a high state of preservation, with well-painted doors on hinges, well shingled, all fences up to standard, all corners free from obnoxious weeds, no harvesting machines or waggons standing under shade trees, no farming implements of any kind standing or strewn where they were last used, I decided that sort of man would make poultry-keeping pay, and pay handsomely.

Speaking from a life spent on a farm, I will say one cannot possibly keep up all ends on a farm. But one can keep it neat and attractive and in a profitable condition. And this question is forced on the poultry-keeper. He cannot keep up all ends, but he can keep them clean, neat and attractive, and this is the secret of poultry-raising. If houses and yards are not kept clean and free from vermin great losses are sure to follow. A few years ago a neighbor requested me to send and get him a setting of White Wyandotte eggs. Knowing the disposition of the man—although he was a good-natured fellow, as all lovers of poultry generally are—I knew it would be money sunk for him, but I complied with his request, and ordered a setting from a well-known White Wyandotte breeder, a breeder I knew would send out nothing but choice eggs for hatching. The eggs came in fine condition, were put under the natural hen, and out of thirteen eggs seven chicks were hatched. A splendid hatch it was! A great many would suppose this a poor hatch, but if we can get seven chicks out of every thirteen eggs throughout the season we will have no "kick" coming. In about two weeks I called on my neighbor, and not a single chick did he have. All the blame was laid on the breeder, as usual. But I insisted on helping the breeder out and to look for the cause nearer home. On catching the mother hen and turning down a few fluff feathers I discovered a very good crop of lice. Lice and chicks cannot be raised togethere by any mans. This was not a surprise to me, but it seemed to be new to my neighbor. However, it lightened the load on the breeder, and if a number of poultry-raisers would look well to the cleaning of poultry houses, ridding the place of lice and disease, there would be more satisfied customers and less abused breeders.

I do not believe there is any royal road to wealth in the poultry business. Yet I am certain there is an independent living in it if properly managed. I know a breeder in Indiana who received $600 for a pen of Plymouth Rocks. Of course they had a great show record behind them, but they never could have been brought to this high state of perfection had they not been bred judiciously and by practical methods. But as we farmers are not breeding a specialty of show fowls, but utility fowls, yet keeping up to the standard requirements, we do not expect to get such fancy prices; but the aim of every up-to-date farmer should be to obtain strictly standard bred fowls, fowls that are positively from laying strain ancestors, as the egg production is the farmer's profit. A good egg yield can never be obtained from fowls roosting in tree-tops and on fences. But there has been a vast improvement in this respect in the last ten years, as farmers are fast learning that poultry comfortably housed during the winter season, and properly fed, will return a larger income than most any other stock fed and cared for on the farm; but the farmer that manages his poultry on the "Peter Tumble-down" plan will find poultry-keeping a total loss.

A few days ago I heard a man of this class running the poultry business down at a terrible rate. His argument was: Chickens eat their heads off three or four times each year, as his chickens had eaten with the fattening hogs all the fall and winter, and had not laid a single egg. He had been trying to get his wife to sell them, and not leave one on the farm. I was forced to say that a man who has no more sense than to expect eggs under such management should be sent to the insane asylum, as any sane person knows hens would get too fat to lay under such treatment. I believe in the corn ration, but it should be alternately fed with other grains, vegetables and animal foods. I have been a breeder of poultry for the last fifteen years, and I have never seen the time that our hens were not paying a handsome profit. I would rather have one hundred well-bred hens on a small piece of land and out of debt than to have two hundred acres and be financially embarrassed, as some farmers are. I would enjoy life better, have more money that I could call my own, and be free from the clutch of money sharks. To those who wish to enter into the poultry business for either profit or pleasure, let me say let the old mongrels of our forefathers softly down into oblivion and bury them, as I know from long years of practical experience that pure bred poultry pays a much larger profit than scrubs. They lay more eggs and mature quicker and it costs no more to feed blooded stock than it does to feed scrubs.—J. C. Clipp, Saltello, Ind., in N. Y. Tribune-Farmer.

"Is there really any danger
In a kiss?" he softly sighed,
Little planning any plot.
"Wait—I'll to the stairs and listen,
And find out," she quick replied,
"Whether papa sleeps or not."
—Smart Set.

Seventy-Five St. Louisan Eats Dirt.

Newest and most singular of St. Louis sects are the dirt-eaters, a community of seventy-five men and women whose Moses is William Windsor. The dirt-eaters take every day a spoonful of dirt. Their leader believes that grit is necessary to every animal, and that because mankind will have no dirt in his food he is subject to many stomach troubles that no other animal has. So the dirt-eater goes every day to his little sack of soil. He plunges a teaspoon in and brings it forth heaped with good old earth. He washes it down with a glass of water, smacking his lips and blinking his eyes as though no morsel e'er tickled the palate of man so deliciously as dirt.

Dirt-eating is easy—when one is a child or an experienced dirt-eater. At all other times it is hard, and it must be learned. It is not easy to forget that it is dirt. It is not reassuring to think that the particles of dirt in the stomach might cause a thousand diseases now unknown because dirt has been kept out of the stomach for hundreds and hundreds of years. But after a while the dirt-eater develops his appetite. He comes to relish his dirt as a girl loves her fudge. He carries a sack of it with him, and whenever he is seized by a feeling that he is getting away from the animal plan upon which he was created, he steps into a corner and regales himself with a loam lunch. The dirt-eater is particular, though, what sort of dirt he eats. He would be so true epicurean if he were not. This article of his singular diet is technically a sand. It comes from the river bottoms, and is made up of many little particles of granite, marble, quartz, and flint well rounded with age. The chief dirt-eater has the sand collected and sterilized, and he distributes it among his followers at 25 cents a sack. The sack is small, but it holds a good deal of sand. So that daily dirt-eating after the St. Louis fashion costs about 10 cents a week.

Dirt-eating in St. Louis is six months old, and flourishes like a green bay tree. The chief dirt-eater looks happy and prosperous. The lesser dirt-eaters have every day a keen hunger for their dirt, and they bring in their friends. The dirt-eaters have pretentious quarters. They are up at Eighteenth and Olive streets, in what was until recently the home of the Merchants' League Club. Here the chief apostle of dirt-eating, Mr. Windsor, has offices and a lecture-hall. He receives visitors during the day, and every night he lectures to his class. He has now seventy-five men and women who attend his lectures and eat dirt.

This is an amusing sect, and amuses no one more than its founder. Kris Kringle himself is not a more rotund nor more rollicking character than Dirt-Eater Windsor. He is fifty. He is bald. He has the Senator Bill Mason build. He can sit in a chair and tweedle his thumbs on his stomach, which they say is the piece de resistance in happiness.

"Are you the chief dirt-eater?"

"Yes, sir, I'm the chap. I've eaten my peck a hundred times over. Dirt is good."

Then he laughs as fat men can laugh, and brings out a sack of the sacred soil.

"Have a dirt sandwich with me?"

"No, thanks."

"What are you afraid of—sandbar in the stomach?"

Then he takes a heaping spoonful and swallows it with that sly wink with which a Kentucky colonel takes his whiskey. He sends a glass of water to chase it, and heaves a huge sigh of content.

The Courtship of the Future.

He—Do you love me as much as ever?

She—Oh, more. Since I received your thought registering machine I have been so close to you!

"And I to you. By the way, where are you?"

"I'm in Naples. And you?"

"In Harlem. I came here from London. Did you hear me call you up at midnight last night?"

"Yes, dear; but I could not answer. I had just eaten a broiled lobster, and the psychic current wouldn't respond."

"Sometimes I wish I could see you—hold you in my arms."

"What nonsense! That's so unnecessary."

"But an actual kiss!"

"There! Feel that? Wasn't that nice?"

"For a vibration, yes. But I can't help feeling——"

"Nonsense! You're such an old fogy. By the way, when shall we be married?"

"The sooner the better."

"Well, I will arrange it all. We can have the ceremony performed, if you like, by the Grabeni system."

"All right. And the wedding trip?"

"Oh, we can take every morning, say from eight to ten—that is, if you can get away from business."

"But wouldn't it be nice to take it together? I should like—say, I long, actually to hold you in my arms."

"Why, you goose, don't you see that would spoil the whole romance?"—N. Y. "Life."

Why Jason Was Late For School.

Schoolteachers get some curious written excuses for absence. Here is one: "Mister sir, my Jason had to be late to-day. It is his bizness to milk our cow. She kicked Jane in the back to-day when he wasn't looking or thinking of her actin' so; he thot his back was broke, but it ain't. But it is black and blue, and the pane kept him late. We would get rid of that cow if we could. This is the fourth time she kicked Jane, but never kicked him late before. So excuse him for me."

A Georgia man, who has gone to Washington in search of a Government job, gives as his qualifications: "I can not only write poetry and novels, but there ain't a Government mule that can throw me!"—Atlanta "Constitution."

In describing a certain variety of kiss, Mark Twain said it reminded him of the sound made by a cow in dragging her hind feet out of a swamp.

Mrs. Teeuyce (as Willie backs away from the dinner table)—Now, what do you say, dear? Willie (after a hard think)—My! It's so long since we had company before, I've clean forget.

Electric
Lamps
25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK: JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL
CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING
and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00..........$1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average....Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. No assessment to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

Testing It For Herself.

He watched her arranging the violets in the big Kakiri bowl.

She looked so very pretty, and yet she must be told.

Lighting a cigarette, he braced himself for the telling. As he tossed the match in the direction of the blazing fire, she came toward him, holding in her hand a few of the purple flowers.

"For you," she said, simply, and pressed close to his side as she put them in his buttonhole.

After that she bent and kissed him, slowly and deliberately. He sat transfixed. In all their platonics her lips had never before touched his.

Ere he could recover himself she kissed him again.

Not a word nor a caress accompanied either kiss. They stood out against a background of utter incomprehensibility.

Then she walked over by the fire. He looked anxiously after her.

She faced about, and he saw that her lips were moving slightly, while her eyes had a far-off gaze.

At last she spoke.

"You can marry her!"

There was a pause—she seemed to be indulging in further meditation—and then—

"Yes, you can marry her. I don't care at all. You see, I kissed you on purpose. I did it twice to make sure, and I didn't feel even the faintest quiver either time. I was very careful, and tasted each kiss thoroughly, and I know now that—that you can marry her."

He rose, his form and his rage towering together. What man could be calm on learning that his lips possess no power to thrill?

"Good-bye," he said, putting out his hand.

"Good-bye," she answered, smiling.

He went out, and the door closed behind him.

She stood where he left her, banding her clasped fingers across her eyes. The sunlight streamed in between the window arches and shot a ray of glory over the violets, the woman and the woman's yellow hair. It caused the diamonds on her hand to sparkle brilliantly, and something on her cheek shone too.

"Dear heaven!" she murmured, softly, "what must it be to have him do the kissing!"

"A farmer ought to read a great deal, just the same as any other business man."

"Yes," answered Farmer Corntossel. "It keeps me so busy posting up on railroad rates and the tariff that I'm sometimes afraid I won't have time to raise the stuff to send to market."—Washington Star.

Lee Low's Misapprehension.

Lee Low Wung, secretary of the Chinese consulate in New York, in the course of a conversation recently, spoke of some of the ideas prevalent in his country, as follows:

"In China it is generally supposed that a man's brains are located in his stomach, and the fatter he is the more his wisdom is deemed assured. Of course, there are many people in China who know that a man's brains are in his head, but they cheerfully assist in maintaining the jolly fiction of corpulent greatness.

"I began to learn English in China when I was 15 years old, under the instruction of Dr. Malcolm of Shanghai. I had begun to study it in secret by myself a year before, but it was too much for my unaided efforts.

"The word wind, being used in two senses, gave me as much trouble as anything else. For a long time I was under the impression that in England and America clocks and watches were filled with air to keep them going. I was curious to see this operation of winding the clock, and my disappointment when Dr. Malcolm explained the mystery was very acute."

Husband's Face.

Benedicts who are in the habit of trying to palm themselves off as spring hatched roosters will learn, not without alarm, that the physiognomist is on their track. He has, in fact, evolved a new terror called the "husband's face." Every married man is said to possess it, and it marks him out a Benedict just as surely as if he had a label to that effect hung round his neck. Don't imagine, says "Pick-Me-Up," that we are going to give the secret away—the ladies know too much already—but any duly certified married man who sends along sufficient cheques and stamps to cover the postage, cost of packing, and registration, can have it by return, or later. It is just as well to be on your guard, boys. There is small comfort in being told by a casual confection that you are not what you pretend to be, even supposing you aren't, and if a little wrinkle from "one who knows" can avert trouble, I'm sure you're heartily welcome.

[illegible] ...ed me how [illegible]

"Well I [illegible] tell the class what your information is on that point."

"I heard pa say yesterday that they smelt it."—London Spare Moments.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

THE
ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.
MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each, I have analysed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{99}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out
Of Furnishings.
TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make.
SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE
ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 363 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican . . Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York, World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year
Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE
ALES AND PORTER
—OF—
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealer

STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you, you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor, Can. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX ST.
DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	163 856

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough, March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN

ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

Office—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

---

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits.

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold properties on the Pacific coast. Stock now [illegible] cash, [illegible] installment. Write for prospectus. JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 315 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade } Est. 1886

BANKERS AND BROKERS
34 New St. & 39 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 360 Broad)

LIST OF DESIRABLE STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 10c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 315 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. R. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. M. Bradburn, B.A.

WANTED

Good General Servant—apply to Mrs. Stanley, No. 289 Hunter street.

NEW RULER ON ZANZIBAR

Seyid Ali Educated in England, but Was at the Foot of His Class

London, July 21.—By the death of the Sultan of Zanibar his son, Seyid Ali, becomes the successor to the throne. This young man spent two years at Harrow and left a year ago to return to Zanibar in order to be prepared for the role of Sultan. He did not shine as a scholar at Harrow, being, when he left, in the same position as when he joined—that is, at the bottom of the class, but universally popular.

The head master, Dr. Wood, speaks of him as a frank, honest boy, who displayed great enthusiasm for the cadet corps. At games he was rather more active than skilful, his football being of a ferocious character.

A MOSQUITO PLAGUE

In Texas Cause Horses to Walk Themselves to Death

Houston, Tex., July 22.—The plague of mosquitoes which has visited portions of the Texas and Louisiana coast country during the past ten days has been the cause of heavy loss in chickens and cattle. In some portions of the district affected, outside labor has been almost impossible, except where laborers have used heavy netting about their heads and shoulders. The chickens were stung about the head and died in a short time. The cattle and horses were attacked by the insects in great clouds, and, as they could get no rest, they literally walked themselves to death. The streets in some of the smaller towns were made unsafe at night by the cattle, which came in from the prairies and laid around in an effort ot get away from the mosquitoes.

These mosquitoes are not of the kind that infest the effete east. They are what are known as gallinippers, half an inch in length, with an appetite that renders them most tormenting, and persistent when they attack anything that has blood in it. They are the product of unusual conditions, and do not come often but dead cattle lying over the prairies always follow their visits.

Shocking Murder by Woman

Special to The Times.

Vienna, July 22.—A shocking murder by a woman is reported from Buda-Pesth. A jeweler named Erdryi, 60 years of age, called upon Esther Petroff to demand payment of an instalment due on the goods she purchased. The woman, who is 36 years old and of powerful physique, threw herself upon the jeweller, and after a desperate struggle threw him on a bed, where she strangled him with her hands. Not content with this she literally hacked him to pieces with a large knife, and then wrapping the remains in a shawl, placed them in her child's perambulator, and conveyed them outside the town, finally depositing them in a deserted building, after which she returned home. The murderess was arrested through the instrumentality of a child three years of age who had witnessed the crime from an opposite window.

NEW HAMPSHIRE EARTHQUAKE

Buildings Rocked and Dishes Rattled on Tables and Shelves

Franklin, N.H., July 22. — At 5.50 o'clock yesterday afternoon this city and vicinity were visited by one of the worst earthquakes they have ever experienced.

It was especially noticeable on account of the loud noises which accompanied it. These noises were disconnected sounds lasting one quarter of a minute each. Accompanying the rounds was a severe shock lasting from a half to a full minute.

Buildings rocked, and dishes rattled on the tables and shelves. At Andover, twelve miles north, the earthquake is reported to have been more severe than here. Goods were shaken from shelves, and the hanging lamps swayed to and fro.

KILLED BY A TRAIN

Mother and Daughter Meet a Terrible Fate Near Joplin

Joplin, Mo., July 22. — Mrs Daniel Morrow, 50 years old, and her daughter, 20, were run down yesterday afternoon by a southbound Kansas City Southern train about 60 miles north of this city and instantly killed. It was raining, and they were riding along in a buggy with the side curtains drawn, when the train crashed into them. They were torn and lacerated beyond recognition.

The train crew backed the train to the scene of the accident, and assisted by several passengers, placed the mangled bodies aboard the passenger car and proceeded with them to Amoret. When physicians were summoned the mother was dead and the girl died in a few minutes after they arrived. Joplin passengers on the train first brought the news of the disaster. Mrs. Morrow and her daughter belonged to one of the most prominent and wealthiest families in that district.

Little Boy Shot Dead By Comrade

Trenton, N.J., July 22.—Joseph Seiler, 8 years old, was accidentally shot and killed this afternoon by Charles Bliss, a boy about the same age. They were members of a picnic party, and during the afternoon amused themselves by shooting at apples set on fence. The sport had been going on some time when Seiler went to the fence to place more apples in position. While he was thus engaged a small rifle in the hands of Bliss, who was at the firing line, was discharged.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness, Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

typewriting machine. Then I began to tap out, letter by letter, my farewell to the man I loved.

"Dear Mr. Bourke," I wrote. "It is easier to write some things than to speak them. After all, I don't think that the life of a typewriter would suit me. I have grown restless and want a change." (How my heart smote me as my fingers told the falsehood!) "Perhaps I was foolish to choose poverty when I might have had all I could possibly wish for. So now I have changed my mind. Lest you should not approve, and I should be forced to argue my point (I'm not good at argument), I will not wait to hear what you think of this step I am taking, but will say farewell now. Thank you again for all your kindness, which I shall never cease to appreciate. But I shall be happier in a life more like that to which I was brought up. In that life we may not meet again; and so this is good-bye."

Lady Feo's eyes followed each line as I typed it. "Well?" I said at last, when I took the paper from the machine to sign.

"It is very well indeed," she pronounced. "You have given exactly the impression that it is best to convey. You couldn't do better."

"I am glad you are satisfied," I said, in a stifled voice. I dipped a pen in an ink-pot standing near, then paused with it suspended. I had never signed the name which was really mine," Jenny Harland," and to do so was repulsive. "I will not be Jenny," I said to myself; "not to him at least. In this one thing I will indulge my own wish. I shall sign myself 'Sheila.'"

I wrote the name hurriedly beneath the few typed paragraphs, folded the letter, and put it into an envelope, which I addressed to "John Bourke, Esq." I felt as if I had signed my own death warrant; but I wept no longer. A stony calmness had come to help me through the rest of this scene with Lady Feo Ringwood.

"When will he be here again?" she asked.

"Not till to-morrow," I informed her.

"You are sure?"

"As sure as I can be of anything."

"That's good. I will go now, for, as I said, I must not be associated with this plan of yours. Presently, I suppose, you can make some excuse to that old woman—Mrs. Jennett, isn't it? You won't tell her that you are leaving for good?"

"No—o," I said, slowly. "Perhaps it would be better not. She has been very kind to me, and it is hateful to leave her so. But one hateful thing more or less doesn't matter much now."

"You are a brave girl, Sheila Cope," exclaimed Lady Feo. "It sounds conventional to say that Heaven will reward your unselfishness, but, really, I believe it will."

"We won't talk about it, if you please," I said, my lips very stiff as I formed the words.

"At all events you must come to me afterwards. Not to my house, perhaps, for that might lead to awkwardness—one never can tell. Things happen so queerly. But we must make an appointment. This is a great responsibility I've undertaken, and I feel——"

"Don't feel," I cut her short, abruptly. "I shall be all right."

"Have you—do forgive me—but have you money?"

Her hand fluttered towards a dainty, gold-netted purse that she had laid with a lace film of handkerchief on Mr. Bourke's desk.

I stopped her with a gesture. "I know where to get money, thank you."

"Oh, very well. Of course you know your own affairs best. What else is there for me to say?"

"Nothing but—good day," I returned with a smile that was strained as the smile on a mask.

"I have been very frank, very outspoken, because I had to be so. But I hope you don't feel hard towards me?"

"I don't think that I—feel anything," I said.

"Well, then, good-bye."

I murmured something, and did not seem to see the hand which she held out—a great lady condescending to a misguided girl who had promised to mend her ways, and therefore deserved commendation. She gathered up her belongings and went to the door, then turned and looked at me anxiously.

"You won't change your mind and—and stay after all? I may—trust you?"

My eyes flashed to hers.

"I am doing this, not for you but for Mr. Bourke," I said. "I will not go back from my promise to myself."

"Then I do trust you."

She had the last word and so was gone.

Mechanically I began to put away the material on which I had been at work. I had finished typing Mr. Bourke's article, which was to appear in the "Fortnightly Review." Never would I do any more work for him. But he would find plenty of others to step into my place. I had only been employed out of charity.

When I had neatly arranged the papers I had no longer an excuse for inaction. I must make up my mind exactly what to do with myself. Somehow I seemed always to be making up my mind what to do with myself; and as soon as the matter was settled Fate interfered to undo it all again. I had run away from Arrish Mell Court; I had run away from Hazel street; now I was going to run away from John Bourke, which meant leaving all that had become to me best worth living for.

I had promised him that never again would I be a coward and seek to end my own life. I would not break the promise, and so my troublesome self had to be provided for; plans made by which my body was to be fed and clothed, just as if it were still of some importance.

There was Roger Cope, of course. I could really do the thing which in my letter to Mr. Bourke I had hinted at. Probably Roger's offer was still open, and if I took it I could rehabilitate myself in the eyes of the world, in case my acquaintance with the great "Labor Member" became known to others beside Lady Feo Ringwood. Yet, no! I could not bring myself to that.

I thought of Mr. Westerley. But he liked Roger, and would advise me to act in a way contrary to my inclinations, if according to common sense. He was a dear old matchmaker, and with the best intentions in the world he would work to throw Roger Cope and me together. Therefore, Mr. Westerley was still out of the question.

My eyes fell upon a newspaper lying on the desk. It had not been there, I knew, before Lady Feo came. She had, doubtless, brought it in and forgotten to take it away. I picked it up and turned to the advertising pages. I could not go back to any of the agencies I had visited while I lived in Hazel

[illegible] To be continued.

A Dramatic Moment.

At the close of the Crimean War the Duke of Cambridge, who had taken command in the absence of Lord Raglan, went in person to Marshal Canrobert to invite the French officer to review the English troops. It had not occurred to His Highness that the date fixed for the review was June 18, the anniversary of Waterloo. Nor indeed at the moment did Marshal Canrobert pay any heed to the date.

At the time agreed upon Canrobert was on the ground in full parade uniform, accompanied by his staff. The English army was drawn up in long file; to the right, the Guards, with their long, hairy head-gear; then the Highlanders, with their feather-trimmed caps, their strange costumes and their bagpipes, and with sounds stranger still; and last the infantry, with their tufted shakos and their red tunics with white gimp. The sun was beaming brightly, causing the arms to glisten, and the flags waving in the wind were all covered over with names embroidered in gold. It was a superb spectacle.

The Duke of Cambridge asked the marshal to take the right of the line of battle—it was the Guards who occupied it—and reviewing officers began to move along in front of their ranks. Having got level with the first battalion, Canrobert saluted it. At the same moment the flag was lowered to return his salute, and on the unfolded tissue he read, in large letters:

"Ramilles, Malplaquet, Les Arapiles, Vittoria . . . Waterloo."

Those were precisely the most disastrous days of the history of France that Canrobert, a French general, was thus compelled to salute on the anniversary of Waterloo, in the midst of English generals who had fought there. He was unable, do what he could, to repress the emotion that was choking him during that second. Cold shivers ran through his body; the hand with which he held his hat while saluting trembled like a dead leaf.

Still, anxious to let nothing of all that appear, he went on saluting, one after the other, down to the very last of them, the colors on which he could always read:

"Les Arapiles, Vittoria . . . Waterloo."

As may be imagined, Canrobert's emotion was all the more powerful that he was constrained to keep it down. When it was all over he was obliged to pull himself together in order to shake hands with the Duke of Cambridge, to tender him thanks, to offer him congratulations.

His Highness was far too quick-sighted not to have noticed what he had gone through, and far too tactful to make the faintest allusion to it. But from that day onward, whenever French officers were invited to review the English army, the colors remained under cover, and neither Saint-Arnaud, Pelissier nor Canrobert had in the future a similar ordeal to go through.

The Artist's Little Joke.

"This," said the Eminent Artist, "is my famous study of the Cows in the Clover." "But where is the clover?" we asked, not seeing any of it in the picture. "Oh, the cows have eaten it, you know."

Mistress—Now, Jane, there is no use of further argument as to how this dish should be prepared, but our ideas on the subject are so different that it is evident one or the other of us is crazy.

Jane—True for you, ma'am; an' it's not the likes of me as would be after sayin' the likes of you would have no more since than to keep a crazy cook.—Chicago News.

Railroad Search-Lights.

One of the recent safety equipments of the fast mail-trains, which of necessity run at a high rate of speed through the night, is the electric search-light. A number of engines on the leading roads have been supplied with such powerful search-lights that objects on the track can be seen nearly a mile away on the darkest nights. A small dynamo in the engine supplies the light, and the lamp itself is so arranged that the fireman can operate it from his position in the cab to suit the needs of the moment. It was found that a permanent light attached to the smoke-stack, as the old-time reflectors were, would cast its path of light off the track instead of on it when rounding curves. The fireman can now touch a lever and throw the light straight ahead, sideways, or up in the air. The largest of these locomotive search-lights are 6,000 candle-power, which, compared to the old-time reflectors, are remarkable products of the age.

The fast mail-trains travel over the ground so rapidly that an ordinary head-light casting a reflection four or five hundred feet is practically of little use. It might reveal to the engineer trouble ahead, but it could never help to avert the accident. The engineer might be able to shut off steam and apply the brakes, but by that time the engine would be upon the object. It is almost impossible for one of the fast trains to come to a dead stop much inside of 1,200 to 1,500 feet, and the heavier and faster the train, the greater length of time must elapse before a stop can be effected. Consequently, the old head-lights were of little real value to trains running fifty and sixty miles an hour. With the new powerful electric search-light, however, danger ahead can be seen in ample time for the engineer to bring his heavy train to a dead halt. As a safety equipment of the record-breaking trains, the search-light has thus become a necessity of the day.

In Desperation.

The European king sighed and stirred uneasily. "My subjects," he exclaimed, "are getting so enlightened, so imbued with the ideas of democracy, that they no longer fawn upon me, toady to me. There's only one thing for me to do to relieve this monotony. I must visit America."—"Town Topics."

A Phenomenon of Sleep.

He had come on her dozing in a hammock, and when she woke up she accused him of stealing a kiss. "Well," he said, "I will admit that the temptation was too strong to be resisted. I did steal one little kiss." "One!" she exclaimed, indignantly; "I counted eight before I woke up."—"Household Words."

The Switzerland of America.

The above caption is particularly appropriate to the region in the "Highlands of Ontario" known as "The Lake of Bays" district. It is replete with natural beauty and loveliness, and comprises some of the most beautiful water stretches and picturesque landscapes for which the locality is becoming so famous with the ever increasing army of tourists. The scenic grandeur of hill and mountain, the placid beauty of the lakes, the lovely rivers, are not surpassed in any country. One thousand feet above sea level. No Hay Fever, absence of flies, splendid speckled trout fishing, and good bathing and boating assured. Handsome illustrated descriptive matter giving full particulars can be had for the asking by applying to M. C. Dickson, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP

WORKS OF

Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 321 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 326 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM. MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 150 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 287 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials

---

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE
GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE

LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Tunisian	July 19 5 a m	July 19 3 p m
Pretorien	July 26 5 a m	July 26 3 p m
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m

First cabin, $65 upwards; second cabin, $37.50 to $42.50; London, $1.50 extra; third class, $25 and $26—Liverpool, Derry, Belfast, Glasgow, London.

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Laurentian .... July 16, 1 p m
Carthaginian .... July 30 12 noon

S. S. Sicilian new, from Montreal to Glasgow direct, Wednesday 9th July, at daylight, carrying 2nd cabin passengers only. $35.00 single; $66.50 return.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt. T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S. S Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply t V. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leav Toronto and Montreal daily excep Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.55 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m. daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 8.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. For Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, Ont

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 6 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11 55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. [illegible], Master.

Time table for week ending July 26th

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8 30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00.
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5 00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay

ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m. and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m. "	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8 40 a.m. "	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11 00 a.m. "	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12 10 p.m. "	7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m. "	8.55 p.m.

Satu days boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.

MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por. Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.

"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER. N. Y.

STEAMERS
'NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN'

Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets ...... [illegible] a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope Ontario...... [illegible] p.m

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to official ticket reads. For further information apply to.

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston [illegible] Agent Port Hope

---

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth en route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

TO-DAY

Ask your druggist for

FOOT ELM

The great remedy, for all foot troubles.

We will pay back your money if the remedy is not satisfactory.

If your Druggist offers you a substitute, try some honorable druggist, there are lots of them and it's not necessary to deal with a man who offers you an inferior article for the sake of making a few extra cents profit.

STOTT & JURY.
Bowmanville, Ont.

THE

PORT HOPE BREWING AND MALTING CO., Ltd

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight or your appetite and digestion need stimulating or are convalesing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 24 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Bookstore.

—The Boston Bloomers will visit Peterborough again on July 29th.

—A good ad in The Times is a stepping stone to success.

—The Rielly terrace, on Bethune street, has been purchased by Mrs. Harry Phelan.

—Mr. H. Seymour purchased the bankrupt stock of Lane & Co. yesterday.

—Mr. W. J. Pearson, the well-known horse buyer, secured a load of fine animals yesterday in town.

—The remains of the late Mrs. H. T. Strickland were interred yesterday afternoon, in the Little Lake cemetery, the funeral being largely attended.

—Messrs. Kells and Knapman, who are selling stock for the new rink, report that the required amount has been secured. They are still out for more, so as to be on the safe side.

—The first annual excursion under the auspices of the local Bartenders Union will take place today to Jubilee Point.

—The Forepaugh & Sells Bros. circus put on a thrilling act in Buffalo which it omitted in Peterborough.

—Mr. John Kincaid, the well known builder, spent three months at Stony Lake in building new cottages and repairing old ones. Mr. Kincaid says the population of Stony Lake is growing.

—Indications are that coal will be "up" next winter. Mr. Robt. Hicks told The Times yesterday that it is next to impossible to get coal at all at any price, on account of the great strike. He has orders on hand for next winter to clean his supply out several times over.

—The Times received a letter for publication which does not bear the signature of the writer, and therefore cannot appear. It refers to gambling which is alleged to take place at frequent intervals in a certain hotel in town, the name of the house being given. If the writer is responsible and will furnish his name, the article will appear.

Withdraw from Contract

Messrs. Rutherford Bros., who were awarded the contract for the erection of the Presbyterian Mission church in the South End, have notified the Board of Managers of St. Paul's church that they will not proceed with the work. The result is that the building may not be erected this season.

Dangerous Sport

On Tuesday evening a Times representative happened to visit Inverlea park, and while there was treated to the rather exciting spectacle of watching a number of boys who were bathing in the river, "run" the dam. The water at the dam is quite high and the venturesome youths would swim down and over the dam in the very centre of the stream. Once in the rapids below the dam, the lads could not be seen for fully half a minute, when they would reappear and strike for shore. This was repeated several times. It is a decidedly dangerous pastime and should be put a stop to.

A BIG FAIR

The Central Exhibition to be Held Early in September

A very wise change has been made in the date of the Peterborough Central Exhibition. Instead of being held in the last of September, it will now take place a couple of weeks earlier—on the 9th, 10th and 11th.

The management have secured the fine band of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, as an attraction. The band is one of the best on the continent, and has made several tours through the United States and Canada.

The prize list and posters are now in the hands of the printers and will be issued in a few days.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mrs. W. H. Meldrum was down from Stoney Lake yesterday.

—Miss Allie Whiten is visiting friends in Woodstock.

—Miss L. May, who has been visiting friends in Hamilton, has returned to town.

—Mr. Wm. Gallon, of Apsley, came down to attend the Cheese Board yesterday.

—Mrs. Whiting, of Berlin, Ont., and her two children, are the guests of Mrs. A. W. Cressman, Brock street.

—Mr. Clarence Bell, of the Ontario Bank, Montreal, is spending his holidays in town.

—Mrs. Dr. Spier and children, of Montreal, are staying at Mr. Richard Hall's cottage, Stoney Lake.

—Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Kennedy, of Peterborough, are visiting Mrs. Samuel Brown, Lindsay.

—Mr. Matthew Jamieson is back for a few days from the North Shore lumbering district.

—Mrs. Samuel Munro, of Montreal, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davidson.

—Miss Grace E. Hickey, of Park Falls, Wis., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. C. Flynn, Dublin street.

—Quite a number from town went out to Stoney Lake last night and took in the pavillion hop.

—Miss Mary E. Payne, who has been attending the Ottawa Normal School, has successfully passed the examinations. Congratulations.

—Mrs. Wm. Ruth and Miss Mamie Beach, of Rochester, are visiting their brother, Mr. Robert Beach, Sherbrooke street.

—Lindsay Post: Mr. Geo. Matthews of Peterborough was in town to-day, passing through to Sturgeon Point to join his family.

—Mr. Bert Dolan, of Chicago, accompanied by Miss Sadie Dolan, is spending a few days at Belle Chasse, as the guests of Mrs. H. LeBrun.

—Miss Marion Thompson, daughter of Rev. C. L. Thompson, Ashburnham, and Miss M. A. White, formerly of Lakefield, and now of Ashburnham, have passed with honors the Kindergarten Assistants' Examinations, recently held in Toronto.

Returning to Town

The interest in the Peterborough Hardware Company, owned by the late Mr. R. S. Davidson, has been purchased by Mr. Fred McKibben, who has arrived in town, and who will now become a permanent resident. The Times is pleased to join Fred's many friends in extending him a hearty welcome.

Eyes Tested Free

Prof. J. H. De Silberg, the celebrated eye specialist from Germany, will be in Hastings from Monday, July 21st until Wednesday, July 23rd, at the Coughlin House parlors; in Norwood, on Thursday, July 24th, until the 26th, at Dr. Moffatt's drug store; in Keene, on Monday, July 28th, to Wednesday, July 30th, at Dr. Harrison's office; and in Lakefield, July 31st, to Saturday night, Aug. 2nd, at Dr. Burgess' drug store. Those having weak or imperfect eyes should not fail to consult him.

THE PORT HOPE INQUEST

Over the Death of J. W. McNaughton—Christian Science Condemned

Port Hope Guide: The inquest on the body of the late Joseph William McNaughton was resumed at the home of Mr. Wm. McCallum, last night, July 21st.

Dr. L. B. Powers was again called and said,—I am of the opinion that if the deceased had had proper medical treatment after having the measles last January, there might have been a possibility of his recovery. It is only in the earlier stages of tubercular disease that you may expect any beneficient effects of a curative nature. After softening of the tubercular matter in the lungs, the disease generally proves fatal.

This ended the evidence, and the jury brought in the following verdict:

"That Joseph William McNaughton came to his death from tubercular disease of the lungs, causing syncope of the heart.

"And we, the jurors, are of the opinion that Christian Science, as now practised, is a danger to the community, and further wish to express our opinion that the safe guarding of society some further legislation is necessary in dealing with these people, and we would humbly submit that it is time the Provincial Legislature should give the matter their careful consideration, and would request the County Attorney to transmit a copy of the verdict to the Attorney-General of this Province."

SUMMER ADVICE

By One Who Knows

Keep cool in hot weather.

"How?"

By eating Grape-Nuts every day.

"Rats!"

No, not rats, but a good, sound fact that thousands make daily use of.

Grape-Nuts is a predigested food which makes digestion easy.

It gives the nourishment without the internal heat caused by heavy, carbonaceous foods.

You can feel from ten to twenty degrees cooler than your neighbor when you eat proper food that does not overtax the stomach.

Grape-Nuts is made from certain parts of the grain and by mechanical process the starches are changed into grape sugar in the same manner as the stomach would do in the first act of digestion.

The phosphates of the cereals are retained in Grape-Nuts and these and the grape sugar supply the necessary nourishment to body, brain and nerve centres.

Grape-Nuts is a concentrated food giving strength, vitality and coolness to the body and energy and clearness to the brain, in place of the heavy, sluggish, groggy feeling caused by meat, potatoes etc.

Another point.

It is thoroughly cooked at the factory by food experts and saves you the trouble.

You get it from the grocer and by adding cream, it is ready to serve.

No hot stove, no cross cook, no loss of time or exertion as with other foods.

Its crisp taste with the delicate sweet of the grape sugar makes it pleasing to the palate of the most critical epicure.

The recipe book in each package of Grape-Nuts gives many pleasing puddings, salads, entrees, and desserts that can be made.

Worth a trial and a package will prove it.

MAY GO TO OTTAWA

If Peterboro Does Not Reach out for This Industry

Mr. W. H. Meldrum Proposes to Build the Shovel Factory in Ottawa—The Works Will Employ About 60 Hands

It seems strange that Peterborough should let the proposed shovel factory slip away, as now seems likely. Mr. Meldrum who is interested in the undertaking, is forced to look elsewhere for a site on account of the slim support which he is receiving in Peterborough. We hope it is not yet too late, and would suggest that the worthy Mayor take the matter up without delay, with a view of getting the factory for Peterborough.

The following, from the Ottawa Citizen, speaks for itself:—There is a chance of Ottawa getting a new industry in the shape of a manufactory of steel shovels, picks and the like. Mr. W. H. Meldrum, of Peterborough has addressed a letter to Mayor Cook, stating that along with some American gentlemen he is arranging to establish such a manufactory with a capitalization of $100,000. Of this amount one half will be subscribed by the promoters and the factory will go to whatever place where citizens are willing to subscribe the remaining $50,000. The factory will cost about $8,000, 60 hands will be employed and some three acres of land will be required.

To Increase Your Appetite

Nothing will stimulate a keen, healthy relish for food, insure good digestion and perfect assimilation like Ferrozone, which is the most successful tonic and health renewer known to medical science. Ferrozone is a positive cure for anaemia, impure blood, boils, pimples, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach and bowel troubles. Ferrozone cleanses, strengthens and purifies the blood, it invigorates the heart and nerves, banishes sickness and pain, and makes ailing people well. Try a box or two of Ferrozone, the result will be a surprise. Price, 50c. at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation. Kingston, Ont.

THE BOYS TO BE WELCOMED

The 57th Regiment Has Taken the Matter Up and will Prepare Reception

Lieut.-Col. Edwards, of the 57th Regiment, has issued the following orders:

Officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the 57th Regiment are requested to parade at the drill shed on Friday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock, for the purpose of marching to the C.P.R. station to welcome the returning volunteers from South Africa. Rifles will be issued at the drill shed. Both bands will be in attendance. Officers and men of sister corps are invited to parade with the regiment.

J. W. MILLER.
Major and Acting Adjutant.

It is possible for the men to reach Peterborough tomorrow, and if so, the same will be bulletined by the newspapers. In any event the boys will get a rousing reception, in which the 57th Regiment, the 3rd Dragoons, and the 14th Field Battery will take part.

The following men left Peterborough on the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles: Sergt. M. Murphy, Leo O'Connor, Alex. Trotter, W. H. Blanchard, V. S., W. T. Bradburn, Geo. Might. These men left Peterborough on Dec. 26, and the following twelve on Dec. 2: Lieut. Gerald Hayward, Capt. W. P. K. Milligan, (killed at Harts River) Lieut. Percy R. Price, Corp. R. Turner, Corp. Daniels, Sergt. Trusler, Sergt. Boyle, Privates Craig, R. Oranfield, and McDonnell, Trumpeter Hubbs, and Gunner Dundas.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Items Taken from the Times of February 1872

—Mr. William Robertson, carpenter, was elected councillor for the north ward, without opposition.

—The first issue of the Times (Feb. 3rd) has been so great a success that 600 additional copies were issued the next week.

—There will be a concert for the benefit of the English church Sunday school library, in Hastings, on Monday evening, 12th instant. This will be a good excuse for a pleasant drive for some of our townsfolk if they wish to spend a pleasant evening.

—"Health unto our Country," is a song just published and dedicated to Col. Bond, of the First Prince of Wales Rifles, Montreal. We have to thank Mr. A. B Kidd, bookseller, for a copy.

—Why does not the Midland Railway extend its line from Lakefield to Mud Lake? But we suppose while this road has the monopoly of the trade of the back lakes, it does not care to expend money in opening up the line to Mud Lake, when it is sure of the whole business by Lindsay, which is a greater distance from Port Hope, the hub of the system.

—The committee of the Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations: Mrs. Mack, lamp for hall; Mrs. L. Maguire, Lindsay, box of soap; Mr. S. White, quarter of lamb; Mrs. Maclennan, a parcel of clothing; Mrs. Romaine, apple pie and dress for Mrs. Lawry; Mr. T. Robinson, parcel clothing; Corinthian Lodge Masons, No. 101, through Mr. Maurice Dunsford, of the Times' staff, 20; T. Lannin, $6.30.

PETERBOROUGH'S FIRST POLICE MAGISTRATE.

The following letter was received by Mayor George A. Cox:

Provincial Secretary's office,
Toronto, Feb. 2nd, 1872.

Sir,—I am commanded by his excellency the Lieutenant Governor, to say with further reference to the memorial of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough, praying for the cancellation of the appointment of Mr. D. G. Hatton, as Police Magistrate for that town, (on the ground of the additional expense entailed on the ratepayers) His Excellency sees no sufficient reason for taking that step.

By the Municipal Act of 1866, the appointment of Police Magistrate is made obligatory in certain cases, and at the time of the appointment of Mr. Hatton, satisfactory evidence was adduced that the population of the town reached 5,000 souls, the number making the appointment imperative under the statute. If the corporation is not satisfied with the decision arrived at, it only remains for me to say that the question as to the legality of the appointment can be raised in any court of competent jurisdiction.

I have the honor to be, Sir, your obedient servant,

PETER GOW, Secretary.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C. CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E. TENER Jr., Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G CANNON, Vice Pres, Fourth National Bank N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES, Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D FLEMING, New York.
J P COOPER, Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bonds without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

TENDERS

For Re-Flooring Otonabee Bridge, Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received up to noon, Thursday, July 24th, 1902.

For re-joisting and re-planking Otonabee Bridge.

Separate tenders will be received for material and labor.

A deposit of 10 per cent. (temper cut) of amount of tender must accompany each tender. Specifications may be seen at the offices of the Town and County Engineers.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

(Sd.) M. A. MORRISON,
Joint Committee Town & County Peterborough.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 284 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office.

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Situations Wanted.

LIGHT employment by young lady either at home or in an office. Best of references. Apply at Times Bookstore for address

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W Smith Sec.-Treas, Clanricarde, P. O.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 284 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 284 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 48 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

Help Wanted.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $30 to $50 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 77 14 and 16 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn to printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt Peterborough.

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

BOOTS & SHOES

—FOR—

Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS

in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

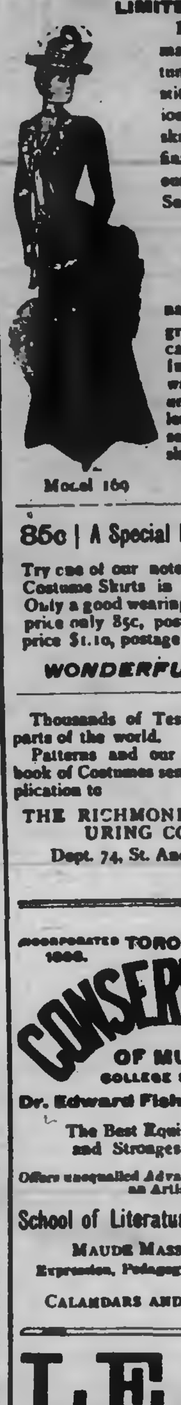
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transient guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.



$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.

LIMITED.

Model 160

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

LEAD

We carry in stock for immediate shipment:—

PIG LEAD (Any Size Pig) LEAD WIRE
BLOCK LEAD LEAD PIPE
BAR LEAD RIBBON LEAD

It will pay you to get our quotations before purchasing.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

Too Busy to Write Ads., Because:

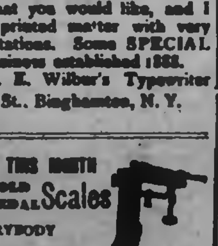
The bargains we are giving in Houses and Lots, Garden Lots and Farms, of all sizes and prices, and the easy terms our long experience enables us to arrange for our buyers, keeps our entire staff hustling from early morning until late at night and still our work is only well begun, as new properties are being listed daily. All are invited to our New Ground Floor Office, so convenient to call when you go to the Post Office, or call up phone 376 for any information desired regarding REAL ESTATE.

T. HURLEY & CO.

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.



SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL: GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

GET OUR PRICES

DIAMOND STEEL BEAR'GS

C. WILSON & SON
31 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

IF YOUR DEALER IN PHOTO SUPPLIES IS

UNDER THE THUMB OF THE TRUST

And cannot sell honest Canadian Goods, write to us direct for catalogue, etc., etc.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.
Only Canadian Manufacturers.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$61.25

PETERBOROUGH

—TO—

Vancouver, Victoria, B. C. Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and Return.

$56.25

PETERBOROUGH

—TO—

Nelson, Rossland, Robson, Trail, Sandon and Kasio, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 20th, inclusive, valid for return until September 15th, 1902.

Passengers leaving Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays have option of travelling via Lake Route from Owen Sound to Soo or Port Arthur on payment of meal and berth arbitrary additional.

Tickets and full particulars from your nearest Canadian Pacific Agent or

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt
1 King St, East, Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25

PETERBOROUGH

—TO—

Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25

PETERBOROUGH

—TO—

Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 20th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC

NEW BRUNSWICK

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)

NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY,

WM. ROBINSON,

10 King St West

William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at 0c
Suspenders 15c
Overalls, with bib, at 48c
Smocks, at......................90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

BIG G

CURE YOURSELF!

Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

ARE YOU STOUT.

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 28 NO 170 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO FRIDAY JULY 25 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

IMMENSE PREPARATION FOR WAR BETWEEN RUSSIA AND JAPAN

Troops are Being Massed and Fortifications Being Built

BRITAIN MAY BE INVOLVED

Her Treaty With Japan Will Make Her a Party to the Struggle

A War That is Sure to Come Soon—The Present Condition of Affairs Said to be Intolerable

Special to The Times.

London, July 24.—The London Telegraph in discussing that probable war says: The treaty pledges Great Britain and Japan to act together only so far as China and Korea are concerned. If, in defence of "their respective interests" (that is the interest of Britain in China and Japan in China and Korea) one of the allies becomes involved in war with one power, the other ally will remain neutral; but if any other power or powers join in hostility against that ally "the other high contracting party will come to its assistance." In other words Britain would remain neutral if Japan was fighting Russia, but would be involved in war if France joined Russia against Japan. Now the clear prospect is that a Russian war with Japan would also be a Russo-France war. Japan, fighting right on her base, could pour troops into Korea before Russia could even mobilize them at home. Moreover, Korea, like India, has a natural landward protection in the form of a chain of mountains running forbiddingly across just where the peninsula detaches from the mainland. Russia, therefore, would have to send her soldiery by sea to fight Japan, and would require the use of French coaling stations and harborage in French waters in Indo-China. If the dual alliance did not bring France into the war in any case, this requirement Consequently England would also be dragged in by the clause of the treaty which compels her to come to Japan's assistance in a war against more than one power. Looking at the attractiveness of the British Empire as a state to loot, and in view of the jealousy and antagonism with which the nation is surrounded, it would be surprising, indeed, if, in such a contingency as this highly probable one, more enemies than France and Russia did not crop up, covertly or frankly. On the other hand, Japan has all her eggs in the one basket, which the alliance is designed to protect. Whatever jealousy and territory-hunger affect her are virtually all directed to regions within a day's march or sail of the Mikado's military headquarters. And in the guarding of them the British fleet can be called upon, while in the meantime British interests may be attacked in any other quarter of the globe, and by any other of the powers which more or less are all eager for such a chance. It is conceivable, not to say probable, that while Great Britain was locked in a struggle with France and Russia in the far east, either Russia, (with millions of men to spare on a land enterprise) or Germany might attack her prestige or possessions in the near east or elsewhere. This is a side of the Japanese alliance which it would be culpably imprudent to ignore. It and the practically possible contingencies arise from the fact that Britain has absolutely no friends among the nations except the colored peoples of China and Japan.

Special to The Times.

Philadelphia, July 25.—The Public Ledger.—"It needed no British generals from China to tell us that Japan is preparing to fight Russia in the far east. That has been plain for a year or more and Japan has made no particular secret of it."

SHIPMENTS ARE STOPPED

Government Has Supplies for Ten Months in South Africa

Ottawa, Ont., July 24.—It is estimated that the Imperial government has on hand in South Africa supplies for the troops for a period of ten months so that it is not likely any further orders will be placed in Canada for some months. Last February, it will be remembered, permission was secured from the war office to forward Canadian products to South Africa on ships chartered for cargo for the war office, and a monthly freight service between St. John and Cape Town was inaugurated in March. No further shipments of supplies being required by the war office, this freight service terminated with the sailing of the steamship Usher, from St. John, last week.

Under the arrangement made with the Imperial authorities, the miscellaneous goods had to be discharged at Cape Town. This limitation prevented the shipments from assuming large proportions, because the import trade at Cape Town is for local consumption only, Port Elizabeth and Durban being the great distributing points for the interior, and transhipment of goods at Cape Town is impracticable, because of the expense.

A Double Hanging

Greenville, Mass., July 24. — With curses on his lips and the expressed wish that the people perish in the flames of hell, Ashley Cole died here today. With him, but silently, Tom Lonsdale, also met his end. Both were convicted of the murder of Engineer Wrey, and were hanged from the same gallows with the swing of a double trap. Cole died boasting that he would be in hell in a few minutes and cursing everything and everybody. He said that those who had planned his murder would meet their end, and that $11,000 had been deposited in the bank, $1,000 of which would be paid for the death of each of the eleven men who prosecuted him. The execution was witnessed by 4,000 people.

MAY NOT MARRY POOR

Rev. Dr. Langtry Scores the Bank of Montreal's Regulation as to Clerk's Marrying

Toronto, July 24.—Rev. Dr. Langtry acting bishop of Toronto, and one of the best known Anglican clergymen in this city, has written a scathing attack upon the Bank of Montreal in connection with the announcement that the bank has raised the salary limit upon which its clerks are permitted to marry from a thousand to fifteen hundred dollars a year. Dr. Langtry denounces this as a scandalous and immoral act of tyranny. It means that four-fifths of the bank clerks can never marry at all. Hundreds of young men are doomed to celibacy, not from any religious motive or choice of their own but by the pitiless, grasping greed of their superiors. Why don't managers and assistants see to it that capable skilled, faithful men get sufficient salaries to enable them to live without trampling under foot the laws of nature and of life? and, again, who are most likely to steal the bank funds: married men who are struggling on to keep themselves and their families on a scanty income or men who fall into the dissolute ways to which life-long, constrained celibacy is almost sure to lead. The money grabbers who are seeking in this way to increase their own gain are pursuing a fool's policy. The public has not noticed or not taken in the significance of this tyranny or, in the interest of public morality, it would demand legislative curtailment of powers of bank managers to inflict such wrongs upon their helpless employees.

"BOUNCER" DE BARRY

SAYS THAT CLEVER PLOT WAS LAID AGAINST HIM

Charges That T. V. Powderly Conspired to Have Him "Fired."—He Feels Sore

Special to The Times.

Buffalo, July 24.—This afternoon J. R. De Barry, inspector of immigration at the port of Buffalo, made the charge that he was being made the victim of a deliberate plot on the part of T. V. Powderly, United States Commissioner of Immigration, with a view of having De Barry ousted from the service.

De Barry charged openly, and then repeated the charge, that the young woman over whom the trouble arose, was a stool pigeon in the employ of Powderly, and that he would have had trouble whether he allowed the girl to enter the United States or whether he ordered her back to Canada.

When interviewed this afternoon, Mr. De Barry first said that he had heard nothing whatever from Washington regarding the charges which are said to have been preferred against him, or regarding his alleged contemplated removal.

"I am in the dark except for what the newspapers say," said Mr. De Barry. "If it has been determined to remove me from the service, it is a most unusual proceeding on the part of the Government. The practice has always been to show the accused official a copy of the charge against him and give opportunity for defense. Another thing: If the Government believes a man guilty the general course is to suspend him from his duties pending an investigation. I have not been suspended, nor has any copy of the charges been served on me."

Then referring to the cause of the present trouble, Mr. De Barry said:

"That girl whom I questioned on the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo train was on that train for the purpose of making me trouble. If I had put her off in Canada there would have been charges against me, and if I had simply allowed her to proceed into the United States without questioning her I would have been shortly asked to report whether such a young woman was allowed to enter the United States, and if so, why. It was a job put up by that man Powderly to get me into trouble.

"Why do I think so? Because when I civilly asked her where she came from, and where she was going, in view of the fact that she was without escort or baggage, she was ready for the question, and angrily snapped out in reply: 'None of your business.'"

"Then you think she was simply a stool pigeon put on the train by Powderly?" was asked.

"There is no doubt of it—not the least in the world," replied Inspector De Barry.

Weary Brain Workers

All fagged out, ideas flow slowly as molasses, snap and energy gone. The buoyancy that made work a pleasure, that gone also. A doctor would say you are run down, enervated, neither eating or digesting enough. It's Ferrozone you need to brace up that fitful appetite and improve assimilation and digestion so that lots of pure strong blood will be formed to nourish the broken down system. Ferrozone will drive away the tired feeling, restore your spirits and energy, revive your ambition and strength for work. No tonic or rebuilder like Ferrozone—try it. Price, 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50. At druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston.

Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

King Not Able to Walk

Cowes, July 25.—The King was unable to get on the open deck of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert today in consequence of bad weather. He is not yet able to walk.

The King will make a very brief stay in London when he goes there to be crowned. He will arrive there on Aug. 8, the day before the coronation, and will return to the royal yacht on August 11. It is possible that a dais will be substituted for the thrones in Westminster Abbey, thus saving his Majesty the exertion of mounting the steps. The ceremony will begin at 11.30 o'clock in that morning the King leaving Buckingham Palace a half hour before that time.

The King has given permission to the Salvation Army to hold an open air convention in the grounds of Osborne House to-morrow. Three thousand persons will take part in the convention.

[illegible]

CHINA TO HAVE HIGHER EDUCATION

American Chinese Minister Says It is the Beginning of a New Epoch

MODERN SCHOOLS ARE LIKELY.

Ancient Educational System to be Revolutionized—But Fanatical Uprisings are General.

Paris, July 24.—Prince Chen, of the imperial family of China, coronation envoy to London, and his principal secretary, Liang-Chen-Tung, the newly appointed Chinese minister at Washington who are making a thorough inspection of the educational systems, civil and military, of France, have visited the military school at St. Cyr.

Liang-Chen-Tung who studied at Phillips academy, Andover, from 1877 to 1881, under Professor Bancroft, is delighted at his appointment to the country where he has so many friends.

He says that the voyage of Prince Chen is of great significance as it is the first time in the history of China a prince of the reigning house has ever visited foreign countries and acquired foreign languages.

Laing-Chen says this indicates a decision completely to revolutionize the present educational system of China and bring it up to date.

In fact he declares, the Chinese government has already undertaken educational reform on a large scale.

When questioned on the present situation in China Liang-Chen said that, owing to the fresh taxation imposed to raise money throughout the country for the foreign idemnity, revolts and fanatical uprisings already had occurred and were likely to become general. The outlook he considered very gloomy, indeed.

Prince Chen and Liang-Chen will inspect schools and colleges until they sail from Cherbourg on July 26 for New York on the Philadelphia.

They intend to pass one week in the eastern states visiting Washington, West Point and Annapolis and probably Harvard, Yale and Princeton before resuming their journey home.

NEW MINISTER PRAISED.

New York, July 24.—Hubbard T. Smith vice and deputy consul-general of the United States at Cairo, Egypt, who is in this city, will sail for his new post today. Mr. Smith was the United States consul at Canton during the Boxer outbreak and later accompanying Commissioner Rockhill to Peking. He has met the newly appointed Chinese minister, Liang-Chen-Tung. "He is thoroughly progressive, thoroughly American," said the consul.

"China has a good future, a wonderful future before her, and if she can insure the world that her government is to be both stable and progressive, and it is just such men as Wu and Liang who will secure this government if she will let them, and bring in the capital which shall open up her giant resources."

JEFFRIES AND FITZSIMMONS FIGHT TO-NIGHT

The Great Pugilists Will Face Each Other in San Fransisco

IT WILL BE A HARD BATTLE

Particulars Regarding the Two Great Pugilists—Both Giants of the Ring in Perfect Fettle

JEFFRIES		FITZSIMMONS
6 ft. 1 1-2 inch.	Height	5 ft 11 3-4 inch
17 1-4 inches	Calf	13 1-2 inches
25 3-4 inches	Thigh	20 inches
34 1-2 inches	Waist	32 inches
41 inches	Chest	41 inches
17 3-4 inches	Neck	15 inches
16 inches	Biceps	14 inches
About 210 lbs.	Weight	About 165 lbs.
26	Age	40

San Francisco, Cal., July 25.—James J. Jeffries, of California, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, and Robert Fitzsimmons, who has hopes of regaining the championship honors he lost to Jeffries at Coney Island three years ago, meet in the arena of the National athletic club tonight to contest again for the supremacy. The men are matched to box twenty rounds. If present arrangements are carried out the boxers will face one another shortly after nine o'clock. According to reports from their respective training quarters Jeffries and Fitzsimmons are both in first class physical condition.

*From the hour the match was made Jeffries has been a decided favorite over Fitzsimmons in the betting. Those who have staked their money on the champion have in mind the fact that he did the trick once and can do it again. Besides, the champion has a most decided advantage in regard to age and in addition he is taller, heavier, and has a slightly longer reach than the Cornishman. It is conceded by all followers of the game that Jeffries has improved in science since he won the championship. He is no longer the free-arm fighter of the dash-away school. His best hold is a left rip, such as Dixon used with great execution in his palmy days. He is also handy with the right at the ribs. He is quick on his feet, gritty and aggressive and with his many natural advantages it is difficult to figure out how the Cornishman can withstand his sledgehammer blows. In the old days Jeffries slashed out in a wholesome way, paying little regard to pugilistic economics. He had a habit of striking with the big joints of his thumbs As a consequence he frequently crippled his hands early in the contest, and for the balance of the time he was as helpless as a dismasted vessel wallowing in the trough of a heavy sea. During the past three years, however, he has met and defeated a number of good men and in addition has sparred a lot with such past master of the craft as Tommy Ryan, and it is but natural that he should derive benefits from keeping such good company. It may safely be assumed therefore that Fitzsimmons will tonight face a far more scientific fighter than the pugilist at whose hands he met defeat at Coney Island.

While these facts are borne in mind it is difficult to figure out how the Cornishman has any chance to lower Jeffries' colors. But those best acquainted with ring matters know that Fitzsimmons is no ordinary mortal. He has outlived, in an athletic sense, all the middle and heavyweights of his generation. He has reversed the rule by building up in muscle and substance when symptoms of physical shrinkage might be looked for. He is to all intents and purposes a late flowering plant, and it is just possible that the respite of two years since he did any fighting has benefited rather than injured him. While shrewd bettors naturally favor the champion there are many who would not be surprised if victory perched on the banners of the lanky Bob. For Fitzsimmons is a man of surprises. On more than one occasion he has turned apparent defeat into victory. By his tactics he has kept opponents away from him when they might have finished him. Others he has led on, only to put them hors de combat when they least expected it. He still retains that famous old knock out blow. Unless he has retrograded more than critics suppose he is still one of the most dangerous men in the world at close quarters. While apparently awkward and shambling in the ring, in reality he is all eyes and fists, and, possessing force, no one knows better how to apply it.

As regards condition both men seem to be in excellent fettle. While their modes of training differ neither has left a stone unturned to harden himself for the contest. A long fight is not expected. Each man is a willing performer and the result should be arrived at before half a dozen rounds have been fought. Fitzsimmons realizes that his only chance rests in keeping away from the big champion long enough to get in that one knock out blow of his. And it will have to be a hard blow at that, for Jeffries, with his massive jaw and thick ribs, is built for heavy weather, and above all he possesses recuperative powers which Fitzsimmons naturally lacks because of his advanced years.

A MURDERED MARQUIS

Two Arabs on Trial for the Killing of De Mores

They Were Brought to Justice Through the Efforts of His Widow - At one Time the Marquis Had a Ranch in Dakota, U. S.

Tunis, July 24.—At Susa, near here, the trial of the murderers of the Marquis de Mores (who married the daughter of L. von Hoffman, the banker, of New York, and who at one time conducted a large ranch in North Dakota) opened yesterday. Three of the assassins were arrested in August, 1896, by the caid of Ourghia. One of them, named Hamma Ben Youssef, has since died. The remaining two, El Kheir and Hamma Chiekh, were in the prisoners' dock today. Seventeen accomplices belonging to the Tuareg tribe are still uncaptured. Hamma Chiekh and Ben Youssef, before the latter's death, admitted taking part in the murder, but accused El Kheir of being the instigator of the crime and the actual murderer. The widow of the Marquis de Mores, whose perseverance led to a thorough investigation of the affair, has been at Susa for the past three days, awaiting the trial. She offered a reward of 5,000 francs for the arrest of the principal assassin. The widow blames the government for not taking proper measures for the safety of the marquis, which, she asserts, was tantamount to inviting the massacre of his party.

At the opening of the proceedings this morning El Khair denied his guilt and thanked the court for being tried by Frenchmen. He spoke and gesticulated with such vigor that those in court who did not understand Arabic thought he was in a fury.

The trial is expected to last a week. Both prisoners rose and saluted the widow in military fashion when she entered the court room. El Khier is a tall, well-built Arab, with energetic features. He evinced no anxiety. Hamma Chiekh, a younger and smaller man, appeared very uneasy.

The Marquis de Mores was killed in 1896 in the Soudan, where, it has been asserted, he had gone to enlist the Arab chiefs against the British. He and his party were attacked by a band of tribesmen, and all save a few of the thirty-six in the expedition were killed. The journey of the marquis, it was officially stated, was part of his plan to extend French commerce by diverting the route of their caravan from Tripoli to Gabes. On the other hand, the French military men declare that the marquis was the victim of his own recklessness and credulity as he had been warned against the brigands, and an officer had been despatched specially to warn him not to pass the frontier of Tripoli. De Mores was the son of the Duke of Vallombrosa, a Frenchman, who obtained an Italian title, it is said, by purchase. He came to America in 1883, bought 15,000 acres of the Bad Land in Dakota, then a territory, and founded a town called Medora. He erected slaughter houses and soon had a war with cattle thieves on his hands. In a battle he, or one of his men, shot and killed William Souffey. He was tried and acquitted. His cattle scheme proving a failure de Mores returned to Paris, where he won notoriety by several duels.

THE LEPERS IN INDIA

Miss Hatch, Returned Missionary Tells All About Them

Woodstock, July 24.—Miss Hatch, a returned missionary from the leper districts in India, addressed the meeting of the B.Y.P.U. of First Baptist church last night on the work.

Miss Hatch is a daughter of John Hatch, of Woodstock, and has been seven years in India. She says the lepers are not constrained in any way, but are allowed to go or come as they will. As they can't be cured, efforts are being made to make their existence as happy as possible, and to relieve their suffering which is very great. They can live together but are not quarantined. They are allowed in the houses, but not on the streets, and the disease is so contagious that association with them in this way is an almost sure means of catching it. Once in a family, the disease is hereditary, and runs along from generation to generation.

WHAT CAN GREAT BRITAIN GIVE HER COLONIES?

In Return for a Preferential Market to the Motherland?

AN ENGLISH OPINION ON THE SUBJECT

The Colonies not Strong Enough to Supply Breadstuffs Sufficient for the Old Land

Special to The Times.

London, July 24.—The Saturday Review says:—Grant that the colonies are willing to admit British manufactures at lower duties that German and American; what can we give the colonies in return? When you come to examine the tariffs of the mother country as against the world, including the colonies, the question is more difficult, as all our duties are levied on articles of consumption. We are the old and over-civilized community with a dense population, with cunning craftsmen to supply the wants of the luxurious and the impatient, and with an appetite far greater than our area. The consequence is that while we do import manufactured articles from the United States, from France and from Germany, from our colonies we take practically nothing but articles of consumption. But this is only half the difficulty, the other half of which is the fact that about 80 per cent. of these imported articles of food comes from countries other than our colonies. Of the wheat imported into the United Kingdom 8.0 comes from Canada, 6.0 from Australia, 4.0 from India, 60.0 from the United States and 20.0 from other countries. Of the meat imported 6.0 comes from Canada, 14.0 from Australia, 60.0 from the United States and 20.0 from other countries. Of milk (in all forms except fresh milk and cream), 17.0 comes from Canada, 10.0 from Australia, 7.0 from the United States, and 66.0 from other countries. Of grains other than wheat imported Canada contributes 5.0, Australia nil, India 0.5, the United States 45.0, and other countries 48.5. From these figures it will be seen that the question Mr. Chamberlain has to ask and answer is this: what can this country give the colonies in exchange for the (assumed) rebate on British manufactures?

The fact—the rather awkward fact—remains that we can only benefit our Canadian and Australian colonies by taxing foodstuffs, wheat, meat dairy produce and grains. And we are to tax 80 per cent of these food stuffs in order that we may reduce the tax on the remaining 20 per cent. It is not, we admit, a very easy case for argument on platforms, but we can see no other way in which we can give the colonies a preferential tariff in return for rebates on manufactures. And of course the ratio of 80 to 20 will disappear in the future. There is no permanent reason why we should import such enormous quantities of dairy produce from France, from the United States and from Denmark As may be seen from the figures above Canada and Australia contribute a considerable percentage of milk products, as it is, and might, with an encouraging tariff contribute more. The wheat producing capacity of Canada is increasing by leaps and bounds. It is obvious that anything like a comprehensive tariff on foodstuffs, with preferential duties for our colonies would profoundly affect the economic future of the United States or Germany. We do not think these fears are well founded. We remember that the Cobdenites were thrown into an agony of apprehension a few years ago when Lord Salisbury denounced our commercial treaties with Germany and Belgium. But all that followed was that Germany and Belgium very sensibly tried to negotiate new treaties on terms more advantageous to Great Britain. We cannot allow the path of our imperial policy to be blocked by these shadows of possible wars.

THE TOWN COUNCIL IN SPECIAL SESSION

Grant of $100 to the Free Consumption Sanitarium--Contract Awarded for Gravel Walk at Auburn

The Town Council met in special session last night, when there were present: Mayor T. H. G. Denne, and Aldermen Edgcumbe, Shortly, Roger, Rush, McGregor, Morrison, Batten, Best and Corkery.

The minutes of the preceding meetings were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A telegram was read from P. R. Price, advising the Mayor that the Peterborough members of the South Africa contingent would arrive home this (Friday) evening.—On motion of Ald. Shortly, Council decided to go to the C.P.R. station this evening at 4.45 p.m. to receive the returning volunteers.

From R. H. Nesbitt, W. Thompson, E. McGrath, N. Lush, P. Mahar, Aaron McCall, James Lewis, D. C. King, John Jeffries, and W. J. Doughty, asking for remission of dog tax.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From R. M. Dennistoun, saying that during his absence from town a petition for a sewer on Water street was fyled with the Council through error before the petitioners had completed the same. He, therefore, asked that the petition be returned to be completed and refyled.—The request was granted.

Bridget Coursey asked that her taxes for this year be remitted, she being unable to pay them.—Court of Revision.

From Geo. A. Cox, enclosing bill for taxes for the Bernardo Home, and as that institution is exempt from taxation by statute, he asked that the collector be instructed to have the same written off.—Court of Revision.

From Geo. H. Howson, asking that the sidewalks on Edinburgh street be removed outside the line of the trees, which would add greatly ot the appearance of the street.—Board of Works.

From Emma Hudson, asking to be exempted from past and present taxes. —Court of Revision.

From Mrs. M. J. Fitzgerald, complaining of an error in her assessment. —Court of Revision.

From W. G. Howden, asking to be relieved from taxes on the store occupied on George street until destroyed by fire last January.—Court of Revision.

Chas. Stanley, of the Stanley Piano Company, complained that for the past two weeks their cellar has been in a deplorable condition, owing to the water backing up from the sewer, forcing the tops of the closets, and flooding the basement to the extent of several inches of water and filth. There has been no improvement that we can see, he adds, in the conditions that we complained of three years ago, and they are as much of a menace to the health of the men in the factory as they were at the time we first informed you of the trouble. Mr. Stanley thought it high time some action is taken regarding the George street sewer, and respectfully suggested that some settlement be made with his company for the losses sustained by them during the several periods alluded to.—Ald. Rush explained that the trouble here arises from the closets being situated in the basement and below the level of the sewer. Were they situated on the floor above, the company would experience no trouble, as the sewer is not in fault in any way. Ald. Roger said that this fact had been pointed out to Mr. Stanley in the first place. The communication was merely received.

From J. Bickerly, J. McWilliams, and Z. Blodgett, complaining that when repairing Edinburgh street the corporation men had carelessly dumped clay into the ditch which runs across Edinburgh street, between Union and Aylmer streets. This ditch is the only means by which their premises are drained, and during the spring and in wet seasons it is scarcely capable of carrying off the overflow. The action of the corporation men above referred to has, the complainants claim, caused a backing up of the water which will no doubt stagnate and prove a considerable nuisance. They asked that the Council give this matter their immediate attention.—Referred to the Town Engineer with instructions to have the matter attended to at once.

From Mr. E. A. Peck, Secretary of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, asking that the collector strike from off his roll the amount of taxes against lot 47, Crescent street, which has been purchased from Mr. Augustus Sawers by the Cemetery Company. —Court of Revision.

From O'Connell & Kerr, re Mrs. King, complaining of over-assessment. —Court of Revision.

From Dennistoun Peck and Stevenson, in behalf of the firm of Ormond and Walsh, asking the corporation to pay $200 for damages sustained by their clients through their cellar being flooded on July 14th last.—Court of Revision.

From Ozias de Laplante, complaining of an error in his assessment.—Court of Revision.

From Dennistoun, Peck and Stevenson, in behalf of the Central Milling Company, complaining that by reason of the position of the water tables at the corner of George and Dalhousie streets, the company's property has been seriously damaged by the recent heavy rains, and suggesting that a very little labor expended in diverting the channel toward the creek would relieve the property from this danger, which will be repeated from time to time.—Board of Works.

From W. G. Morrow, Manager Toronto Savings and Loan Company, saying that he finds that the company is assessed for the taxes on the Crystal block, which was destroyed by fire on the 22nd January last, and asking that this matter be adjusted in the usual way.—Court of Revision.

From the Secretary of the Ontario Municipal Association, advising Council that their annual meeting will take place in Brockville, September 10th and 11th next, and inviting the presence of delegates from Peterborough. —On motion of Ald. Roger, $10 was contributed to the association, and the question of attending the convention was left in the hands of the Committee of hte Whole.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were referred to the Finance committee:

J. R. Stratton	$ 72	63
Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co.	8	32
Davis, Thompson & Co.	15	00
Peterborough Canoe Co.		85
R. J. Munro	1	50
W. R. G. Higgins	8	75
A. McDonald	129	43
Kingan Hardware Co.	8	15
Peter Hamilton Co.	12	70
Robert Hamilton	1	50
Victoria Industrial School	26	00
A. Moore	5	75
R. J. G. Sutherland	2	00
A. H. Stratton & Co.	1	00
Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co.	31	25
St. John's Industrial School	26	00
Robert Fair & Co.	6	00
Times Printing Co.	25	74

TENDERS FOR GRAVEL WALK.

The following tenders for constructing a gravel walk on the River Road at Auburn were received:

From Samuel Kennedy, for $137.
From David Conroy, for $180.
From W. Breckenridge, for $244.
From M. McNamara, for $300.
From John Hay, for $240.

The tender of Samuel Kennedy, for $137, was accepted.

FINANCE REPORT.

Ald Roger presented the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the following accounts be paid:

A. N. Clark	$ 16	00
Peterborough Hardware Co	33	80
John Lovell & Son	4	00
Review Ptg. & Publishing So	59	05
J. H. Metheral		15
Alexander & Miller	5	65
Review Ptg. & Publishing Co	25	50
Adam Hall	1	55
Salisbury & Co.	3	00
C.P.R. Co.'s Telegraph	1	66
Wm. Hetherington	2	00
C. N. Brown	6	00
Bell Telephone Co.	140	00
S. S. Moore	3	00
Francis Mason	8	50
Andrew Brown & Co.	16	00
Grafton & Co.	50	00
Kingan Hardware Co.	5	84
Wm Hamilton Mfg. Co.		75
A. McDonald	90	12
Nellie Smith	4	00
W. J. McCallum	3	50

2. That the expenses of the supper to the Hon. J. Israel Tarte be paid on certificate on the Mayor.

The report was adopted as read.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Best presented the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the matter of preparing a scheme for the disposal of surface water be referred to the Chairman of this Board and the Engineer to report.

2. We recommend that the proposition of the Rev. W. J. McColl to build forty feet of granolithic sidewalk, five feet wide, on the west side of Reid street in front of St. Peter's Presbytery, on condition that the town pays $12.00 towards the cost of the work, be accepted, the work to be done under the supervision of the Town Engineer, and that this amount be paid to the Rev. Father McColl on the certificate of the Engineer that the work is completed.

3. Having examined the petition of H. W. Morphet, and others, for a granolithic sidewalk to be built as a local improvement on the west side of Walton street, from Homewood avenue to Weller street, and found it sufficiently signed, we recommend that it be granted, and that the Town Engineer ask for tenders for the work.

4. We recommend that the Town Engineer be instructed to ask for tenders for the construction of a sewer on Harvey street, from McDonnell street to London street.

5. We recommend that T. Williams be paid 50 cents each for cleaning gulley traps on certificate of the Town Engineer.

6. We recommend that the request of the Peterborough Light and Power Power Company, to place poles on Townsend street, be granted.

7. We recommend that the balance due the Wm. Hamilton Company of $500, under bylaw No. 942, be paid to that company in accordance with the certificate of the Town Engineer.

8. We recommend that the tender of S. Kennedy to construct the gravel walk on the River Road for $137 be accepted, and that Mr. Kennedy be paid for the work on the certificate of the Town Engineer, in accordance with the specifications tendered on.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GRANT OF $100.

A bylaw to authorize a grant of $100 to the Free Consumption Sanitarium passed its several readings.

Council then adjourned.

THE HUNTER ST. BRIDGE

Tenders for Repairing This Bridge Opened and Considered Altogether too High

The Council met in committee jointly with Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald and County Engineer Belcher, representing the County Council, to open tenders for reflooring and joisting the Hunter street bridge.

The following tenders were received:

From David Conroy—For work and supplying all material, $682; for labor alone, $279.

From H. Carveth—For labor alone, $300.

From L. Dobbin—For work and supplying all material, $989.

From C. Westlake—for labor and supplying nails and tightening joists, $371.50; for labor and supplying all material, $1171.50.

The tenders were considered altogether too high, and after due consideration Ald. Best moved, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald,—That the Town and County supply the material and employ men and an overseer to do the work.

New Flying Machine

Special to The Times.

Brussels, July 23.—A Belgian inventor M. Vitiers, has constructed a new flying machine and will probably enter it for the contests at the St. Louis world's fair. The apparatus is light and very simple in design. The motor is fitted with a vertical shaft, constructed in such a way as to support a horizontal shaft provided with a gearing of toothed and cogged wheels, and working two large screws, which act vertically and impart the force necessary. The vertical shaft supports also, a little below the main shaft, another small horizontal shaft which it puts into movement in the same manner, and which, by means of small screws, controls the [illegible]

WEATHER

[illegible]

IN SELECTING YOUR BROKER

It is wise to determine their financial strength, also years of experience. We have been in this business for years: our record for fair dealing is above reproach, and our financial stability beyond doubt.

Let us mail you our 400 page, cloth bound illustrated

"Guide to Investors." and "Daily Market Letter."

They will give you valuable information relative to Wall Street and its markets. Issued free from any of our offices.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1886. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

Peterborough, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

COMMISSION ONE EIGHTH—The only licensed M. S. Stock Brokerage Corporation in business by permission of the Royal Government of the Province of Ontario.

W. F. NELSON, Peterborough.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	5.10 p.m.	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.23 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5.10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate	7.23 p.m.	7.12 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	6.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West	11.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	6.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.25 p.m.	11.42 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	2.17 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	6.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.00 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	3.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.00 p.m.	5.00 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year Strictly in advance

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 25, 1902.

COAL SUPPLY ASSURED

Good news comes from Oswego. Ten months ago the coal supply was tied up. That is orders were given to the three agencies there to neither sell nor ship of the ten thousand tons they had on hand. They acted accordingly.

On Saturday the manager of the D. L. & W. trestle received instructions to dispose of the 2,400 tons of coal that had been held in the pockets of the trestle for an emergency. At once he sent out letters to customers in Canada, says the Palladium, inviting orders "at the regular wholesale price, without regard to the strike."

A new difficulty has arisen—one that none foreseen. That the urgent demand for vessel accommodation has increased the freight rates, and this increase is expected to be maintained.

The future of the coal market is still a subject of speculation. "The best information to be had," says our contemporary, "are that the coal companies are going to begin the mining of coal immediately, and that they will be successful the operator [illegible] there is no doubt." The manager of one firm is satisfied that by the latter part of his week coal trains will be running over the D., L. & W. railroad as usual. Otherwise he did not believe that the company's officials would take the chances and release the coal they hold in Oswego.

As a matter of fact there has been plenty of coal mined all along and for consumption. But not soon as the strike observed, over two months ago, it was reserved. Its release, at former prices is suggestive. There is (the [illegible] of a new supply or the old supply would not be sold except at a very material advance.

BULLER'S VIEWS ON LADYSMITH

General Buller, the irrepressible, now wants permission to state his views regarding Ladysmith's inability to hold out against the Boers. As Ladysmith did hold out against the Boers most successfully, Sir Redvers Buller's views upon the subject cannot be of very great interest to the public. The most interesting thing about them is that, happily, whatever else they may have been, they were wrong. Why do not some of the gallant general's friends take his pen and ink away from him? His pen is mightier than his sword—for mischief to himself. He has served the country with the latter weapon too well to be allowed to ruin himself with the former one. Let us forget, General! Let us forget!

EDITORIAL NOTES

China is reported to be in a bad way. Raising the money to pay for the Boxer risings is causing other risings; and presumably, when these risings come to be paid for in turn, the new taxation required will cause a fresh crop of risings; and so on ad infinitum. What China is in need of is a plan to raise money without raising a rebellion at the same time.

One of the men who have attracted attention by their utterances apropos of the high prices of meat is Prof. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry in the United States Department of Agriculture. Prof. Wiley suggested cereals as substitutes for meat. He says it is well known that men who are nourished very extensively on cereals are capable of the hardest and most enduring manual labor. Meats, he says, are quickly digested, furnishing an abundance of energy soon after consumption, but are not retained in the digestive organism long enough to sustain permanent muscular exertion. On the other hand, cereal foods are more slowly digested, furnish the energy necessary to digestion and the vital functions in a more uniform manner, and thus are better suited to sustain hard manual labor for a long period of time.

Estimated losses by strike of hard coal miners are— Loss to operators in price of coal (normal), $22,500,000; loss to miners in wages $19,500,000; loss to employes, other than strikers, made idle by the strike $2,750,000; loss to business men in region $7,500,000; loss to business men outside of region, $4,125,000; cost of maintaining coal and iron police, $540,000; cost of maintaining non-union workers $150,000; losses to mines and machinery, $2,000,000; total, $60,285,000. Mine workers who have left region since strike began, $25,000; strikers not earning money, 75,000; number of workers other than strikers idle, 35,000.

The plentiful rains and good crop this year will force the poor farmer to extra expense for binder twine.

New Flying Machine

Special to The Times.

Brussels, July 24.—A Belgian inventor M. Villers, has constructed a new flying machine and will probably enter it for the contests at the St. Louis world's fair. The apparatus is light and very simple in design. The motor is fitted with a vertical shaft, constructed in such a way as to support a horizontal shaft provided with a gearing of toothed and cogged wheels, and working two large screws, which are vertically and impart the force necessary. The vertical shaft supports also, a little below the main shaft, another small horizontal shaft, which it puts into movement in the same manner, and which, by means of two small screws, controls the horizontal movement of the apparatus.

Figuring it Out.

The "little Johnny" of the following story may never have heard that Great fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em,

And little fleas have lesser fleas, and so ad infinitum,

but his method of reasoning is analogous. He had been gazing thoughtfully at his book of animal pictures, says the Salt Lake "Herald," when suddenly he called out:

"Sa, pa, does it cost much to feed a lion?"

"Yes."

"How much?"

"Oh, a lot of money."

"A wolf would make a good meal for a lion, wouldn't it, pa?"

"Yes, I guess so."

"And a fox would be enough for the wolf, wouldn't it?"

"Yes, yes."

"And a fox could make a meal off a hawk, eh, pa?"

"I suppose so."

"And the hawk would be satisfied with a sparrow?"

"Of course."

"And a big spider would be a good meal for the sparrow, wouldn't it, pa?—wouldn't it, pa?"

"Yes, yes."

"And a fly would be enough for the spider?"

"Sure."

"And a drop of molasses would be all the fly would want, wouldn't it?"

"Oh, stop your chatter!"

"But wouldn't it, pa?"

"Yes."

"Well, pa, couldn't a man keep a lion more'n a year on a pint of molasses?"

The Last Words of Great Men.

On the subject of Cecil Rhodes' last words—so little done, so much to do—London "Truth" says: "Mr. Rhodes was not given to high-flown talk, and I suspect the story of his 'last words' is a fiction. Sydney Smith observed that it seems a necessity that every distinguished man should die 'with some sonorous and quotable saying in his mouth.' Mr. Pitt was supposed to have expired exclaiming 'How do I leave my country!' It was afterwards established on conclusive evidence that his real last words were, 'I fancy I could eat one of Bellamy's meat pies.' Mr. Fox was credited with some becoming observation about public affairs, whereas his last words conveyed a request for barley water. Sir Robert Peel was stated to have died after an ejaculation about the blessings of cheap bread. In reality he awoke for a few minutes, after several hours of sleep, said, 'God bless you all,' and died. Lord Beaconsfield was reported to have exclaimed, 'Any news in the Gazette?' with his last breath, whereas he muttered, 'I feel overwhelmed.'"

Literary Success.

"The main element of literary success is the popular mood," remarks "Life." "Litterateurs and litterateuses have nothing to do with making the popular mood. This is made by the high price of potatoes, or the bad times abroad, or the constructive statesmanship of the Republican party, et cetera. The public take to their bosoms today what they would have coldly neglected yesterday, and vice versa. Even the works of an Irving Bacheller might have fallen still-born from the press in another generation. In a word, literary success is quite like success in the real estate or saloon business; it is lucrative, and that is all. The man or woman who should write to please himself or herself— But that is getting away from our subject."

No Comparison

A sense of proportion is an excellent thing, and an old soldier who writes to The Globe upon the subject of the recent defeat of Lord Methuen makes a very good point as to some of the comments passed by certain newspapers. He signs himself as "one who saw this brave brigade from start to finish on October 25, 1854," and writes as follows:—

"I read the account of the Boer charge on General Methuen's rear-guard taken from The Standard newspaper, London, and published in The Globe of the 18th. The Standard compares the ride of the Boers with the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. The editor of The Standard must know well there is no comparison. General Methuen's column or field force of all ranks was only about 700 or so. The Light Brigade, with the brave Cardigan leading, went right through the centre of thirty thousand Russians, with sixty guns, in a commanding position, blazing away on the brigade as they were advancing down to the guns, where they had to put the Russian gunners out of the way. They tried to get away the guns, but found it impossible. Every man had to fight for his life back through cavalry and artillery, as they all closed in on them with the intention to capture or kill what was left on the retreat. The brave Cardigan, who obeyed his chief's order to advance and take the guns, knowing well at the time it was impossible, was about the last to return. From the time the brigade started until what was left returned—about 180 when the roll was called after the return—twenty minutes would cover the time. Bear this in mind: it was every man for himself to fight his way back, as they were all broken up in the rush at the guns by the Russian artillery firing on the whole, Russian and British, at the same time. Every volley carried off as many Russians as British. This statement is correct about the Russians firing on their own men. It was a surprise to see any return from the dreadful artillery fire they got from the Russians."

Brave, dashing and skilful Delarey's charge certainly was; it was exactly such a rush as many times before in the history of war has carried cavalry to victory. To persons accustomed to think of the Boers as unable to attack, accustomed also to think of the day of cavalry as over, it must be a surprise to read of such a charge. But the Boers have been moulded by two years of warfare into excellent soldiers, able to attack as well as to defend, and the loose formations of modern war offer peculiarly good opportunities to good cavalry trained to shoot from the saddle. To compare such a charge to the Balaclava charge, or to Von Bredow's "death-ride" at Vionville, when a few German squadrons shook the whole French line of battle and saved their overmatched infantry, is absurd, as my old soldier correspondent convincingly points out.

In this connection a personal reference to Lord Methuen may be introduced, showing him in a light possibly unfamiliar to the majority of newspaper readers. Lord Methuen, as is indicated in the paragraph which is quoted, is a man of a deeply devotional turn of mind. The quotation is from The Daily Graphic, and is as follows:—

"A largely attended public meeting was held last evening at Corsham (near Bath, in England)—the home of Lord Methuen—for the purpose of passing a resolution to be sent to the wounded General, expressing his fellow-townsmen's high admiration for his distinguished services to the country during the South African campaign, and their sincere sympathy with him in being wounded. The Rev. J. D. Dunlap, vicar of Corsham, presided. The following telegram was sent:—

"'Dunlap, Corsham. To Lord Methuen, Klerksdorp: Enthusiastic public meeting. Resolution sincere sympathy and speedy recovery. Shall sing your hymn Sunday.'

"Mr. Dunlap explained that the hymn referred to was 'Lead, Kindly Light,' Lord Methuen's favorite hymn, which he promised his Lordship should be sung in church the first Sunday in every month. He had received a letter from the General speaking of the comfort it gave him to know that he was remembered on the first Sunday in the month, and also in their prayers. The resolution was carried by acclamation, and it was also agreed to telegraph to Lady Methuen informing her of the terms of their message to her husband."

Some dispute has arisen as to Lord Methuen's nationality. It cannot be appraised with absolute accuracy; the family was originally Scotch, it is said, from Perthshire, and has for many years been settled in England, living in Wiltshire, at Corsham. Lord Methuen's grandfather was elevated to the Peerage in 1838; prior to that he had for many years been M.P. for his county. It may be added that Lord Methuen pronounces his name in three syllables, with the accent on the first.

The Culture of Celery.

"Celery Culture" is the title of another of the popular publications of the United States Department of Agriculture now in press, known as Farmers' Bulletins. "Little more than twenty-five years ago," says the bulletin, "the celery crop, which now forms such an important factor in market-gardening interests, was cultivated by few growers only. Celery was to be found on the menu of a few of the leading hotels, but not in many homes. Its use has spread until at present, with the output reckoned by the carloads, it is classed as a wholesome and palatable addition to the fare of all classes. All of the cultivated varieties now in use," continues Mr. W. R. Beattie, the author of the bulletin, "have been derived from the wild celery, a native of the marshes of southern England. This wild celery was for a long time considered poisonous, which was a natural supposition, as it belongs to the same family as poison hemlock." Mr. Beattie, after reviewing the value of celery from a commercial standpoint, notes the nutrition contained in the plant, which, by the way, is not so very great, but it adds a most palatable addition to the table in the winter season, when a great quantity of meat is eaten and few vegetables. It is generally considered as one of the most wholesome of vegetables.

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

or $2,900 PER DAY. 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANG is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON

500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C. CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr., Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank. N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R. FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P. COOPER, Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

Nurse was reading nature-stories of the chickens, ducks and geese.
"Johnny, tell me, what's a gander?"
asked she with a smile of peace.
Little Johnny looked up quickly, all his fancy turning loose,
As he answered, smiling proudly, "It's the rooster of the goose."
—Judge.

* * *

She—Isn't that a beautiful parrot?

He—Well, I like the cage better than I do the parrot.

"Pshaw! The cage can't talk."

"That's the reason I like it."—Yonkers

"I saw him," said the complaining witness, "steal a hammer from this hardware store and bolt for the door, upon which I noticed he had riveted his attention from the start.

"Yes," said the Magistrate, encouragingly.

"Well, I tried to hold him, but he gave a wrench and got a weight, and then I quietly called a policeman, who nailed him."

"You employed grate tact," said the Magistrate. "Ten months."

Which shows how convenient it would be if we would only fit our conversation to circumstances.—Baltimore News.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky

Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

THE

ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.

MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST.
MONTREAL, April 8th, [illegible]

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each, I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{99}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican . . Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York, World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year

Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealer

NERVOUSNESS

Or despondency caused by weak unhealthy nerves, are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease. If you have a secret drain from early abuse, later excesses or exposure, you cannot expect healthy nerves while your vitality is being wasted. Do not eke out a miserable existence on account of your follies, you are not safe until cured—nature never excuses—no matter how young, old or innocent one may be.

KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Have you pain in the back, a dull feeling in the region of the kidneys? At times your water comes freely, a large quantity light in color, while at other times you do not make it quite so freely, it is dark in color, you make a small quantity, or you may have a mucous deposit or brick dust colored sediment; give your condition immediate attention or more serious complications will set in. My treatment guaranteed as a positive cure for such conditions, and remember you

PAY WHEN CURED.

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. Surely this is fair, as you run no chances. CONSULTATION FREE. If you cannot call, write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. Medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor—All duty and transportation charges prepaid—Everything confidential—No names on envelopes or packages—Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., Cor. Wilcox Street, DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets

JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	[illegible]

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO

SAVINGS & LOAN COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 3 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.

Open every Saturday afternoon.

Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager

Peterborough, March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN

ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL

BARRISTERS

OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

STOCK BROKERS. 6 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

---

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold

ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES

Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms

Interest Allowed on Deposits.

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.

78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS

STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.

PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO

MONEY TO LOAN

At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co

MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.

NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.

CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.

LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.

ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.

LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies Issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main [illegible] and [illegible].

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. Stock now 15c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 315 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS

34 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. [illegible] Broad)

LIST OF DESIRABLE

STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS

SENT UPON APPLICATION.

STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON

Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 5c cash, 6c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 315 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 329 Water Street. Money to loan at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 415 Water Street. Money to loan. E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton, G. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Advertise in The Times.

A NAVAL BASE FOR THE CANAL

The United States May Seek to Buy an Island in Panama Harbor

Washington, July 23,—The complications surrounding the acquisition of the route over which the Panama Canal is to be constructed have revived interest in the matter of acquiring a naval base in the vicinity of Panama. In that connection Commander Potter, of the Ranger, has been instructed to make elaborate surveys of a number of islands, and especially of two in Panama Harbor. It is expected that either one of these two islands will be regarded as suitable sites for a naval station, and that negotiations for their purchase will follow. This course of action is interesting for the reason that there is doubt whether the United States will acquire sovereignty over the route of the Panama Canal and be able to protect its property by fortifications and garrisons. In the event that such a concession could not be secured from Colombia, the purchase of an island within convenient distance for a fortified naval station would be the next best substitute. This view of the exigency has revived the suggestion that the United States could purchase the Galapagos Islands. Senator Lodge introduced in the last Congress a bill for this purpose, but it received no consideration because it was regarded that there was no necessity for acquiring these islands. Now with the acquisition of the Panama Canal property, a new importance is added to the suggestion, and negotiations will be opened with Ecuador looking to the purchase of the Galapagos Islands as a naval base on the Pacific side from which to protect the canal.

BRITISH PREMIERS

Names of Those Who Have Occupied the High Office

The following is a list of the British premiers for the last century:

Pitt (C)	December 23rd, 1783
Addington (C)	March 17th......
Pitt (C)	March 15th, 1804
Grenville (L)	February 11th, 1806
Portland (C)	March 31st, 1807
Percival (C)	December 2d, 1809
Liverpool (C)	June 9th, 1812
Canning (L)	April 24th, 1827
Goderich (L)	September 5th, 1827
Wellington (C)	January 25th, 1828
Grey (L)	November 22d, 1830
Melbourne (L)	July 18th, 1834
Peel (C)	December 26th, 1834
Melbourne (L)	April 18th, 1835
Peel (C)	September 6th, 1821
Russell (L)	July 6th, 1846
Derby (C)	February 27th, 1852
Aberdeen (L. & C.)	Dec. 28th, 1852
Portland (C)	March 31st, 1807
Derby (C)	Feb. 25th, 1858
Palmerston (L)	Feb. 10th, 1855
Palmerston (L)	June 18th, 1859
Russell (L)	Nov. 6th, 1865
Derby (C)	July 6th, 1866
Disraeli (C)	Feb. 27th, 1868
Gladstone (L)	Dec. 9th, 1868
Beaconsfield (C)	Feb. 21st, 1874
Gladstone (L)	April 28th, 1880
Salisbury (C)	June 24th, 1885
Gladstone (L)	Feb. 6th, 1886
Salisbury (C)	Aug. 3rd, 1886
Gladstone (L)	Aug. 18th, 1892
Rosebery (L)	March 3rd, 1894
Salisbury (C. & L. U.)	June 29th, 1895
Salisbury (C)	October, 1900
A. J. Balfour	July 12th, 1902

A BIG FAIR

The Central Exhibition to be Held Early in September

A very wise change has been made in the date of the Peterborough Central Exhibition. Instead of being held in the last of September, it will now take place a couple of weeks earlier—on the 9th, 10th and 11th.

The management have secured the fine band of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, as an attraction. The band is one of the best on the continent, and has made several tours through the United States and Canada.

The prize list and posters are now in the hands of the printers and will be issued in a few days.

PROFIT FOR BRITONS IN MORGAN COMBINE

Liverpoolers Argue that Shipping Trust Will Bring Them Prosperity, as Steel Trust Has British Manufacturers

Special to The Times.

London, July 23.—While there is a general expectation in Liverpool shipping circles that the Cunard line will be drawn into the Morgan combination there is less excitement over it there than in London newspaper offices. This is because the wide-awake merchants have watched the effect of the formation of the United States Steel Corporation and observed that the exports of iron and steel from Germany and England to America has been increased.

They assert that the results of combination in that trade are a reduction of American production by the closing of many unprofitable works, a rise in prices through scarcity of the supply of metal for the home market, the reduction of American exports for foreign trade and increased exports from England and Germany to fill the vacuum.

Analogy is drawn between iron and steel and ocean traffic, and a forecast is made that a rise in freights through American combinations will involve increased prosperity for British shipping outside the central pool.

Dangerous Sport

On Tuesday evening a Times representative happened to visit Inverlea park, and while there was treated to the rather exciting spectacle of watching a number of boys who were bathing in the river, "run" the dam. The water at the dam is quite high and the venturesome youths would swim down and over the dam in the very centre of the stream. Once in the rapids below the dam, the lads could not be seen for fully half a minute, when they would reappear and strike for shore. This was repeated several times. It is a decidedly dangerous pastime and should be put a stop to.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers, Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness, Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

street, for Mr. Bourke was probably right in his deductions. At all events, they had offered me no hope, after the first visits I paid them; but Roger had certainly lost sight of me now, and he could not prejudice the minds of advertisers in the papers in case I should luckily discover one willing to try my services.

But I could find nothing in the long lists of persons wanted which offered hope for me, and I was on the point of flinging the paper aside with an impatient sigh when my eyes happened to fall upon the "personal" column on the first page.

Then my heart gave a great bound and I snatched up the paper again.

CHAPTER XVII.

What I Saw in the Personal Column.

Destiny seemed bent on playing strange tricks with me of late; and the last trick was no less curious than those which had gone before. Strangest of all was it that this should come to me now.

"Heart-shape" were the two words, in capital letters at the head of the "personal" column, which had caught my startled attention. "If the younger of the two ladies who saw something which surprised her at the theater on a night several weeks ago would like to hear the explanation of a mystery and at the same time receive information greatly to her advantage," the paragraph went on, "she should be at the Marble Arch between the hours of seven and eight to-night or to-morrow. Later the offer may no longer be open."

The advertisement was meant for me, and no one else on earth!

By the wording, "to-night or to-morrow," I judged that this was the first time that the notice had appeared. It would come out once again perhaps, and then—unless the writer altered his or her intention—no more.

I read the paragraph for the second time, and was struck by the conviction that it had been cleverly planned to be understood by me alone.

If it had begun with the words, "Heart-shaped scar," others in the secret of that mysterious sign—John Bourke, for instance—might have been prompted by curiosity or an even deeper motive, to keep the appointed rendezvous. But "Heart-shape" might mean almost anything, were it not for the special significance of the message which followed. The uninitiated might easily pass it by as the device chosen by lovers who corresponded through the personal column of a newspaper.

But I knew differently—I only. For the other eyes which had seen the "something surprising at the theater" would never see anything else in this world. A shiver went through my veins as I remembered the white, white arm on the background of black satin, and the vivid, pansy-colored, heart-shaped stain. For an instant I saw, as clearly as I had seen it before, the gypsy face which had looked up to our box from the stalls with its pale cat-eyes. The atmosphere of mystery and dread closed round me again, and I felt it as I had felt it then.

Should I keep the tryst, or should I not? The thought frightened, yet at the same time fascinated me.

There was still enough of the old self left in me to tingle with a subtle curiosity at the thought of solving the mystery connected with Lady Cope's death—the mystery which wove its web round John Bourke as well. As for the "information greatly to my advantage," my mind did not dwell upon that with such a sense of allurement.

It seemed to me that, since I must go out of this one man's life, nothing could be really worth having any more. But I could not long resist the calling of the syren-voice, and after a very few moments of hesitation I determined that I would be at the Marble Arch at the time appointed.

It was afternoon still, and there was little to delay me. The things given by John Bourke or lent by Mrs. Jennett I would not, of course, take away. I had only to change the tea-gown which had cost me so much bitterness for the black frock which I had worn when I came; make some excuse to Mrs. Jennett for my departure—an excuse which would not cause her to send word of my sudden move to Mr. Bourke—and then I could go.

I was about to cut the advertisement from the paper, when I reflected that to do so might rouse suspicion; and instead I tore off the entire sheet, which I folded into small compass.

Then I threw the remainder into the waste-paper basket, and was on my way to the door when Mrs. Jennett came smiling in with a tray. "I've brought your tea, my dear," she said, chirpily. "It's after the usual time, but I just wouldn't bring it in while her ladyship was here. I had an idea, somehow, that you wouldn't care for her to stop too long. And, my gracious! I was in such a state when she would insist on bouncing in. 'Twas almost as if she knew there was something in the room I didn't want her to see. But, of course, she couldn't. I do hope you didn't mind. As it turned out you'd met before, it was all right."

"Oh, yes, it was all right," I echoed, drearily.

"Well, you've seen Mr. Bourke's wife to be, if she can anyways manage it," Mrs. Jennett went briskly on, as she finished clearing a space for the tea-tray on the table where I had been working. "I suppose she could call herself Lady Fee Bourke, if it should come off, couldn't she?"

"I suppose so," I repeated.

"That would sound well! But then, Mr. Bourke doesn't care about titles and things of that sort, or money either. They say Lady Beaconsfield proposed to her husband under the clock at the Crystal Palace or somewhere; and he took her because she was rich, and could help him to reach the place he wanted. And they were happy ever after, just as it says in the story-books. Not that Mr. Bourke would take a wife for any reason of that sort, no matter how much it might be to his advantage—which it certainly would! But then, her ladyship is such a beauty, and has such a way with her, anyone might fall in love with her just for herself. Don't you think so?"

"I do," I answered, truthfully. For I thought that, though I now, as a girl, almost hated Lady Fee, if I were a man she would be exactly the kind of woman I should admire most. And I grudged her the admission, which it hurt my heart to give.

"Well, we shall see what we shall see," remarked Mrs. Jennett, oracularly. "Anyhow, Lady Fee Ringwood is the only great lady that Mr. Bourke ever will go to see; though there's a lot of them would give their eyes to get him at their houses. Haven't I made

[illegible]

Passing of the Artificial Flower.

"Harper's Weekly."

For the last hundred years artificial flowers have been the dearest decoration a woman could buy for her summer hat. The superlative has a double meaning in this connection — "dear" to feminine pursestrings, immeasurably satisfying to her sense of the artistic and appropriate. No one, not even the most logical man, could deny the daintiness of the instinct that led women to bedeck their multitudinous heads with copies of the sweetest things Divinity sets down upon this rolling ball. So it was that all these years, from her palace in the center of her kingdom, Fashion each spring sent out her unassailable decree that flowers were to deck hats.

At first the word "artificial" was always used in speaking or writing of linen or silk posies. Old "fashion items" contain many allusions to "artificial roses," "artificial lilies-of-the-valley,"—always to impress upon the reader that real flowers were not meant. Of late years the adjective has been almost entirely eliminated from the dictionary of the writer who dishes up modish delicacies. Nowadays, a hat is trimmed with "violets;" a boa is of "forget-me-nots." No woman—and not often a man—is so ignorant as to imagine anything else but artificial flowers is meant.

The making of these beautiful imitations of Nature's handiwork became a vast enterprise employing the skilled labor of thousands of men, women, and girls. In many parts of the world the trade of artificial-flower-making descended from mother to daughter. Whole families for generations cut, pasted, stitched and colored the beautiful evidences of their skill.

Until recent years the aim was always to make artificial flowers successful counterfeits of Nature's own darlings. Every one knows that the work was often done so ably as to defy the eye's discernment. At this time the art of artificial flower-making attained its highest perfection. The more faithful the likeness of the imitations to the originals the better the pay of the maker, and the greater the stimulation to effort.

Then came a creeping in of the grotesque and unnatural. Now and then Queen Fashion sent out edicts establishing the position of green roses, red lilacs, purple carnations, and all sorts of inartistic, even ugly, effects in artificial flowers. The unending search for novelty began it. Newness, no matter how unseemly, appeals to most people for a time. Then comes a reaction, when the full commonness of a popular fancy strikes people, and they put the whole, good and bad, aside for a period of dormancy. When the imitation blossoms of fantastic proportions and bald ugliness came to be the style, artificial-flower-making was a doomed industry. Milliners looked about for some artistic and new substitute. The hat itself, which from our great-grandmother's time down had been a thing of shape only, offered great possibilities for ingenious ideas. About three years ago fancy braids began to flood the market; wire frames were made with greater care than ever; all sorts of fantastic and beautiful effects were brought out in straw hats, which needed no extra adornment other than a trifle of ribbon, chiffon, or lace—and artificial flowers went off Fifth avenue to dwell among the folk who live on the outermost edge of Queen Fashion's realm, and read her royal mandates through poverty's spectacles.

Last year there were more fancy straws, and dozens of carefully planned shapes in hats, and this season the demand for the new straws has driven many dealers in artificial flowers out of business. During the month of April four heretofore prosperous firms were obliged to close their doors. One of these, a large wholesale house dealing exclusively in artificial flowers, went into bankruptcy, giving as the sole reason for so doing that there was no demand for their goods.

So long as the straws are as dainty and durable as they are this spring the situation is not likely to change. A walk past the series of fashionable Fifth avenue millinery shops establishes the truth of this assertion. There are whole windows displaying only hats of straw whose sole trimming is ribbon, lace, or chiffon. It seems a pity, when one thinks of the daintiness of the artificial flowers of past days, but there is no help for it until women tire of fancy straws and long for other novelties. Then the industry will awaken. In the meantime hundreds of girls and women who have no other employment are hopelessly out of work.

Wage-Earning School Children in England.

Whilst dreams of world-wide empire and visions of the subjection of the entire universe to the domination of the occupants of No. 10 Downing street, Whitehall, are disturbing the rest of the average Briton, and turning even the late followers of Gladstone into rampant jingoes, thinking men are reminded, by the publication of Blue Books such as the report just issued by the Home Office on the employment of school children, of some of the evils which are eating away the heart of the English nation. Child labor in England has been the subject of repeated legislation for nearly a century. Children eight years of age are no longer allowed to work in factories, nor are the hours of labor for older child-workers so long as heretofore. For the latter class a system of half work, half school, has been devised; while a series of acts of Parliament have been passed forbidding the employment of young children in chimney-sweeping, acrobatic performances, etc., and severely regulating their hours of labor in other and, in my opinion, equally objectionable occupations. It was fondly imagined that these enactments had finally exorcised the evil spirit of child labor; but the terrible disease of poverty is too deeply rooted in Great Britain to be eradicated by such measures; and though now and again a sore may be healed, it surely reappears in some other part of the body politic. Its latest development is to be seen in the spectacle of children of tender years trading in the streets, or working in shops, or engaged in some form of agricultural labor which has not been forbidden by any existing legislation. The first symptom was noticed by the Education Department through its school inspectors; and six years ago an investigation was held by that body in order to see whether the disease was quite so dangerous as represented. Enquiries were made from the various school managers throughout the country, with the result that it was reported that no less than 144,000 children attending school were employed either before or after school hours, or both, for a very small remuneration, at some form of work for periods ranging from twenty to forty, fifty, and even eighty hours a week. These figures rather underestimated the total number, as the compilers did not include those children who had a regular occupation after school, or those whose work was not, in their judgment, prejudicial to health.—Thomas Burke in the "Forum."

Mrs. Jenkyns—I see Mrs. Hootong is going to have "King Lear" at her next private theatricals. Mrs. Newrich (furious with envy)—Is she? The affected thing. Do you know, I don't believe he's a real king at all.—"Tit-Bits."

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP

WORKS OF

Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature, Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM. MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE

An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 150 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 337 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the superb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE

GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE

LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE

ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Tunisian	July 19 5 a m	July 19 3 p m
Pretorian	July 26 5 a m	July 26 3 p m
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m

First cabin, $60 upwards; second cabin, $37.50 to $42.50; London, $1.50 extra; third class, $25 and $26—Liverpool, Derry, Belfast, Glasgow, London.

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.

Laurentian	July 16, 1 p m
Carthaginian	July 30 12 a m

S. S. Sicilian new, from Montreal to Glasgow direct, Wednesday 9th July, at daylight, carrying 2nd cabin passengers only, $35.00 single; $66.50 return.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt. T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to V. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet, French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and PENETANG at 1.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS

"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.

—FROM—

TORONTO

—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY, General Manager, Toronto, Ont

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 6 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15. Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2.30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

STEAMER

"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. [illegible] Master.

Time table for week ending July 26th

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902

THE STEAMER

CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00. CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5 00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT, Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y

LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay

ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point "	7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8 40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11 00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point "	12.10 p m.	"	7 40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.

MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.

"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON, Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.

STEAMERS

"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"

Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.

Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets) ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND,

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets) ...... [illegible] a.m.

Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] a.m.

Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Arrive Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which tickets reads. For further information apply to.

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston [illegible] Agent Port Hope

---

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth en route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN [illegible]

TO-DAY

Ask your druggist for

FOOT ELM

This great remedy, for all foot troubles.

We will pay back your money if the remedy is not satisfactory.

If your Druggist offers you a substitute, try some honorable druggist, there are lots of them and it's not necessary to deal with a man who offers you an inferior article for the sake of making a few extra cents profit.

STOTT & JURY.
Bowmanville, Ont.

THE

PORT HOPE BREWING AND MALTING CO., Ltd

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight or your appetite and digestion need stimulating or are convalesing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 25, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

—The Court of Revision meets on Tuesday night.

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Bookstore.

—The street watering contractors are having a good thing this season.

—If this weather continues the farmers will be obliged to gather their crops in a row boat.

—Six Port Hope hotelkeepers were fined recently for selling liquor during prohibited hours.

—Mr. H. C. Winch, with a party of friends has gone out to Bottle Lake for a few days' fishing.

—Over eight inches of rain has fallen this month already—the greatest quantity ever known for July.

—There is some talk of a rink being erected in Hastings before the coming winter. Further particulars later.

—A wheel was "taken" from the Crown Hotel on Monday evening. Its return is requested, and no questions will be asked.

—Mr. A. R. Plummer has purchased the grocery and provision stock from Mr. J. B. Cummins, corner of Lake and Aylmer streets.

—The Charlotte street Sunday school excursion will take place today to Sturgeon Point, by way of Lindsay and thence by steamer.

—The Coughlin Monumental Company have purchased the three storey building occupied by them on Hunter street, and will greatly extend their business.

—Omemee Mirror: Mr. Ben McNeelie, of Peterborough, has just completed a very fine foundation for Mr. R. Jamieson's new house. Ben is a first class stone mason.

—Proceedings will be taken against Dr. Clarke, of Lindsay, by the local Board of Health of that town, for not reporting a case of scarlet fever which he attended.

—Capt. Donnelly, of Kingston, who for years has been government inspector of steamboat hulls, and has often visited Peterborough in that capacity, has been appointed superintendent of the Knapp Roller Boat Co.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Rountree took place yesterday afternoon to Little Lake cemetery. A large number of friends by their attendance paid a last tribute of respect. Among the beautiful floral offerings was one from the ladies of St. John's church, by whom she was very highly respected.

—Hastings Star: Messrs. J. W. Green & Son, photographers, of Peterborough, who have been running a branch gallery in Hastings for over a year, have disposed of all their branch galleries, including Hastings, and will confine themselves to their Peterborough trade. Mr. Byers, also of Peterborough, the purchaser, intends continuing the work here and will make announcements soon. Mr. Byers comes highly recommended as an artist, and will keep up the good name made by his predecessors.

Why Suffer and Sneeze

Don't suffer any more with a cold in the head, just carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in your vest pocket, use it now and again, and you won't have colds. Catarrhozone knocks out a cold in ten minutes, kills a headache in five minutes, and hard racking coughs in half an hour. Inhale the pleasant Catarrhozone vapor five minutes four times daily and it will cure bronchitis, lung trouble, deafness, asthma and catarrh in any part of the system. Catarrhozone is the most direct, modern and scientific method, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction. Complete two months' treatment costs $1, trial size, 25 cents. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston.

Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Dr. Boucher is sojourning at Oak Orchard.

—Mrs. D. J. Lundy is leaving on a two weeks trip to Muskoka.

—Mrs. R. R. Hall has returned from Stony Lake for a few days.

—Mr. A. E. Lech and family have taken up their residence in Montreal.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Snowden, of Midland, are visiting friends in town.

—Mrs. A. H. Stratton is the guest of Mrs. Crane at her Stony Lake cottage.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bradburn are guests at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing.

—Mr. Dickson Davidson spent yesterday at Stony Lake the guest of Mr. John Crane, of Glad-Hal-Ken.

—Miss Frances Dwyer, of St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, is spending a vacation with her parents in town.

—Mr. and Mrs. D. Hughes-Charles are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McAllister at "Jennemoc" cottage.

—Hastings Star: Miss Katie McNichol, of Peterborough, was visiting friends in Hastings during the past week.

—Mr. H. E. Bradley is on a short business trip to the Eastern States. His object is to look up the very latest styles in gentlemen's garments for the fall and winter season.

—Mr. O. C. Kirn, the resident engineer of the Cereal Company, has rented Mr. A. E. Leck's residence, Kirk street, and will make his residence there while in town.

A Charter to be Secured

Messrs. Hatton and Bradburn, barristers, have been instructed to secure a charter at once for the new rink company. As soon as the company is organized, the contract for the new rink will be let.

Referendum Fight Opens

The referendum campaign upon behalf of the liquor trade interests began last night. Mr. Edward Dickie, the Secretary of the Licensed Victuallers' Association left Toronto for Ottawa, in which city the opening meeting was held. The meeting, it is said, was open only to the trade and will be followed by similar meetings throughout the Province. The Toronto dealers will enter upon the campaign next week. Mr. Dickey will visit Peterborough on his way west.

The Late Wm. F. Gardiner

There passed away at his late residence, Park street, yesterday morning, Mr. Wm. F. Gardiner, at the early age of 29 years. The deceased had been suffering for some time from catarrhal troubles, and his demise was not unlooked for. He was formerly a painter, but latterly had been in the grocery business at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets. He leaves a wife, the daughter of Mr. Cole Barrett, and one child, to mourn his death. Much sympathy will be extended to the bereaved relatives. The funeral takes place from his late residence to-morrow at 2.30 p.m.

The City of Peterborough

Under the present efficient staff of management, the steamer City of Peterborough is growing in popularity every day, and meeting with unqualified success. The superior advantages afforded by this steamer, which is perfectly complete and comfortable throughout, and the calm and placid waters of the Otonabee, unrivalled in Canada except by the St. Lawrence, make the trip both pleasant and beneficial. All who have not yet enjoyed this ideal outing should lose no time in purchasing tickets for a round trip on the City of Peterborough.

Death of Mr Louis Craig

Mr. Louis Craig, who was accidentally injured by being struck with a blank cartridge fired in sport by his sister-in-law, died at the Nicholls' Hospital on Wednesday evening. The injury was thought to be trifling, but blood poisoning and lockjaw intervened, and he passed away as above. The deceased was a son of Mr. Jos. B. Craig, of Ashburnham, and lived in the apartments on George street over Mr. W. H. Wrighton's store. He leaves a widow and infant child.

The funeral has been delayed until the arrival of the brother of the deceased, Private Frank Craig, who is on his way home from South Africa.

The Convent Pupils

We are pleased to notice the success at the recent examinations in connection with the Conservatory of Music, the names of the following pupils of the congregation of Notre Dame: Misses Hazel Dean, Maude Brown, Anneta Lewis, Adeline Doris, and Estella Kelly, who took the intermediate course; Bessie Wyer, Beatrice Flynn, and Margaret Sullivan, the junior; Pearl Morgan and Geraldine Rudkins, the primary examinations. Special mention is due to the little primaries, the last named being a tot of eight years, who began music last September. The senior rudiments class of six rank as follows: Misses A. Doris, H. Dean, M. Brown, A. Lewis, E. Kelly, and M. Sullivan. Their work was very creditably done, the marks taken ranging from 90 to 71 per cent.

A Live Board of Trade

The business men of Orillia, however lacking in other respects they may be, are keenly alive to the good work that may be accomplished by an energetic Board of Trade, and the majority of them take an active interest in that organization. The membership fees for the year were $176, and the total receipts $642.35. Over $400 was expended in advertising the town as a summer resort and a sum of $100 was granted to assist in opening a road for the benefit of the town trade. In his address at the first meeting the Chairman said he was in a position to state, positively, that the summer resort business continued to improve year by year. One member told him that a few years ago there were not twenty-five actual tourists staying in Orillia in a single season. Last year there were ten or twelve hundred. The summer resort traffic was only in its infancy. He had more faith in Orillia as a summer resort at the present time than he had for four years ago. He was not a prophet, but would venture the assertion that within the next five years the tourist traffic will increase Orillia's population by three or four thousand during the summer months. But there must be a proper accommodation. Advertising is of no use if the accommodation is not here. He would like to see local capital invested in the erection of a first-class summer hotel.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT

A Little Child of Alnwick Loses Her Life in a Creek

On Monday evening, a little six-year-old child, the daughter of Mrs. James Edington, of Alnwick, lost her life by drowning. It appears that the little one was playing outside the house while her mother was getting supper, and went to a small freshet about six or seven rods from the house, which had become swollen from the recent rains, and in some manner fell in and was drowned. Mrs. Edington sent her husband to look for their daughter, and he looked about but could not find her. He then went to Mr. Peter Thackeray's near by, and he and his son searched for her in the creek. They found the little girl in the creek. When found, life was extinct. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon and was very largely attended. The parents have much sympathy in their bereavement.

WHICH SITE WILL BE CHOSEN

Where Will the New Rink be Located, is Now the Question

There is a warm fight on regarding the site of the new rink which is to be built this year. It is understood that the hotelmen are now taking a hand in, and each pulling their own direction. Messrs. Graham, of the Oriental; Shea of the Commercial, and Rountree of the Little Windsor, are anxious to see the building on Brock street, while Messrs. Snowden, Tooley, Laroque, White, Dunn, Conroy, Conners and Brooks prefer to have the building on Charlotte and Louis streets. They have agreed to take $850 in stock, providing the southern lot is all right.

Those in favor of the Chamberlain site on Charlotte street, state that the Bradburn lot is only 100 x 132 feet in size, and that the building would fill the entire lot. This would mean that light would be excluded should their neighbors build up close to the rink, as is sure to be the case. Then again, it is claimed that it would be a great advantage to have the new rink close to the old one in case of bonspiels or other similar attractions, when both rinks would be used. The matter will be settled at a meeting of the stockholders in the usual way, each share being entitled to one vote.

Off To The Pacific Coast

Lindsay Post.—Conductor J. W. Britton, of the Port Hope mixed, Mrs. Britton, Misses Hattie and Ruby Britton have gone for a trip to the Pacific coast. They will spend a week at Winnipeg going and coming, and while in the Prairie City will be the guests of his son Arthur, who is holding a good position in Ashdown's wholesale hardware. They will also visit his son Frank at Vancouver and other B. C. points, and expect to be absent about six weeks.

All About the Weather

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—A great deal is being said just now regarding the weather, and many theories are being advanced as to where all the rain comes from. This is a matter in which there is ample room for theory, but no satisfactory explanation has appeared.

For the benefit of the readers of The Times, I would have you publish the following good signs of rain:

1. Tobacco nearly always gets moist before rain, so do ginger snaps.

2. A ring around either the sun or the moon is an almost certain sign of rain, except in winter, when snow will probably fall instead. A sun dog is a sign of either rain or snow.

3. Smoke falling toward the ground, a poor draught in the stove, and a louder singing of the teakettle indicate rain or snow. The roaring of the draught in a wood stove is louder before rain.

4. Cocks crowing in going to roost is another sign.

5. Hogs carry straw to their bed on the approach of rain.

6. On the approach of rain the leaves of the trees are blown bottom upward by the wind.

7. Just before rain in summer, flies bite people and the lower animals more severely than usual.

8. Rheumatic people and those who have ingrowing nails suffer more pain than usual before rain.

9. Three successive hoar frosts are usually followed by either rain or snow.

10. The croaking of tree toads and the drumming of woodcocks are indications of rain.

Here are a few good old verses which I quote. The title is—

SIGN OF RAIN.

The hollow winds begin to blow,
The clouds look black, the glass is low;
The soot falls down, the spaniels sleep,
And spiders from their cobwebs creep,
Low o'er the grass the swallow wings,
The cricket, too, how sharp he sings,
Hark, how the chairs and tables crack!
Old Betty's joints are on the rack;
Through the clear streams the fishes rise
And nimbly catch the incautious flies;
The frog has changed his yellow vest
And in a russet coat is dressed,
My dog is altered in his taste
Quits mutton bones on grass to feast;
Puss on the hearth with velvet paws
Sits wiping o'er her whiskered jaws,
How restless are the snorting swine!
The busy fly disturbs the kine,
Loud quack the ducks, the peacocks cry,
The distant hills are seeming nigh,
And see yon rooks, how odd their flight!
They imitate the gliding kite,
And headlong, downward seem to fall
As if they felt the piercing ball,
'Twill surely rain. I see with sorrow,
Our jaunt must be put off tomorrow.

J. A.

General - Sports

GOLF.

The senior team of Peterborough went to Port Hope yesterday and were defeated by twenty three holes. The score was as follows:

0	S. Ray	Pepler	7
7	Burnett	Swarts	0
0	Garvin	Chisholm	7
0	Granger	Swartz	7
0	Campbell	Smith	9
0	Stratton	Ralston	0
7			30

BASEBALL.

The Excelsior Baseball team succeeded in defeating the Bobcaygeon nine by a score of 7 to 3 in a match at the latter place last Saturday. The boys drove to Chemong, where they had Captain Lewis' yacht Pearl chartered to take them up, and after a most enjoyable sail of two and a half hours arrived in Bobcaygeon in good time for dinner. Rain in the afternoon prevented a large number from witnessing the game, nevertheless 100 spectators were present. The match was fast and exciting all through the nine innings, the village boys playing remarkably good ball. The batteries for Bobcaygeon were Lacomb and McIntyre; for the Excelsiors, Flaherty and Bellingham. Mr. Robert Reid umpired the game to the entire satisfaction of every one. On account of an accident to the Pearl the boys did not return home that evening, but remained over until Sunday afternoon. Everyone speaks in glowing terms of the treatment received at the hands of their friends in the northern village, and some do not hesitate to say that Captain Lewis is the best man in town.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. L. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T. A. S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wardo, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal...	5.10 p.m.	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.33 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	5.10 a.m.	12.35 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago ...	11.35 a.m.	5.10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...	7.33 p.m.	1.13 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto ...	11.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	2.00 p.m.	5.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.35 p.m.	11.45 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.25 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	8.35 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.00 a.m.	8.30 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	8.00 p.m.	6.00 p.m.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court building.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 384 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office.

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Situations Wanted.

LIGHT employment by young lady either at home or in an office. Best of references. Apply at Times Bookstore for address.

Help Wanted.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 11 11 and 15 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to WM. W SMITH Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 394 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 394 Park place.

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 40 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co. Milwaukee, Wis.

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

Got Lame Back or Lumbago

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order, for Polson's Nerviline, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out, and gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives Polson's Nerviline this power. You will think it magic however, if you try it, pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere, in large 25 cent bottles.

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS

in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

TENDERS

For Re-Flooring Otonabee Bridge, Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received up to noon, Thursday, July 24th, 1902.

For re-joisting and re-planking Otonabee Bridge.

Separate tenders will be received for material and labor.

A deposit of 10 per cent. (ten per cent) of amount of tender must accompany each tender. Specifications may be seen at the offices of the Town and County Engineers.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

(Sd.) M. A. MORRISON,
Joint Committee Town & County Peterborough.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS For Ladies

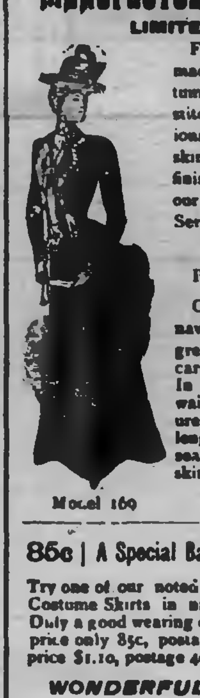
A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

Advertise in The Times.



$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

Model 169

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory, Bradford, England

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALENDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

LEAD

We carry in stock for immediate shipment:—

PIG LEAD (Any Size Pig)	LEAD WIRE
BLOCK LEAD	LEAD PIPE
BAR LEAD	RIBBON LEAD

It will pay you to get our quotations before purchasing.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

Too Busy to Write Ads., Because:

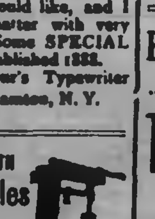
The bargains we are giving in Houses and Lots, Garden Lots and Farms, of all sizes and prices, and the easy terms our long experience enables us to arrange for our buyers, keeps our entire staff hustling from early morning until late at night and still our work is only well begun, as new properties are being listed daily. All are invited to our New Ground Floor Office, so convenient to call when you go to the Post Office, or call up phone 376 for any information desired regarding REAL ESTATE.

T. HURLEY & CO.

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1882.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.



SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL: GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

GET OUR PRICES

DIAMOND STEEL BEARING

C. WILSON & SON
81 ESPLANADE STREET EAST TORONTO.

IF YOUR DEALER IN PHOTO SUPPLIES IS

UNDER THE THUMB OF THE TRUST

And cannot sell honest Canadian Goods, write to us direct for catalogue, etc., etc.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
4 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.
Only Canadian Manufacturers.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, Victoria, B. C. Seattle and Tacoma, Wash., and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Robson, Trail, Sandon and Kaslo, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 20th, inclusive, valid for return until September 15th, 1902.

Passengers leaving Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays have option of travelling via Lake Route from Owen Sound to Soo or Port Arthur on payment of meal and berth arbitrary additional.

Tickets and full particulars from your nearest Canadian Pacific Agent or

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt
1 King St. East, Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 20th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetawan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC

NEW BRUNSWICK

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)

NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY,
WM. ROBINSON,
10 King St West

William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsteds to choose from.

Working Shirts at	0c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	48c
Smocks, at.....	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailo
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

BIG G

CURE YOURSELF! Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

ARE·YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 38 NO. 171

PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO SATURDAY JULY 26 1902

PRICE TWO CENTS

CONSERVATIVE LEADER SAYS HE WILL WIN

Mr. J. P. Whitney Takes a Rosy View of the Future

Says Mr. Ross Cannot Carry on the Government as Matters Stand

The Protests Against Liberals are to be Pushed to the End

Hon. Mr. Stratton, on the Contrary Says the Government is Going to Stay

Montreal July 25.—"It is impossible that Mr. Ross should carry on the administration of the Province with such a majority as he has at present."

This was the statement made to a Star representative at the Hall today by Mr. J. P. Whitney, M.L.A. for Dundas, leader of the Conservative party in the Legislature of Ontario, who, if Mr. Ross resigns, will be called upon to form a Cabinet.

"Public opinion has shown most conclusively by a majority of over seven thousand votes which the Conservative party obtained all over the Province that the present Government has overstayed its welcome. The public generally and especially the people of other Provinces, would hardly believe what the Government did in order to secure a victory."

"But if Mr. Ross cannot carry on the administration of the Province, how will you be able to do it, seeing that even if you win in some of the recounts, you will not have any more majority than Mr Ross has at present?"

"It is impossible to tell at present what the future will bring and I cannot announce at present what course I would follow. I do not even know how much of a majority I would have, but there are always quite a few members who do not belong to any particular party unless the Government party, so with their assistance we would have a substantial majority. There is not the slightest doubt that if the election had been a straight one we would have defeated them without any difficulty. We intend to push all the protests that have been entered and while we expect to unseat some of the Liberal members, I would be greatly surprised if they are able to unseat any of the Conservative supporters for corrupt practices. In the case where vacancies have occurred I am sure that we will be able to land a victory.

"I have not the slightest idea when the Legislature will meet, but whenever it does I am confident that public opinion will have asserted itself, and that the Liberal party, will have discovered that it cannot remain in power against the wishes of the people."

Hon. Mr. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, was seen the other day by The Times in reply to a question he stated that the Government was going to stay. The bye-elections would give Mr. Ross a sufficient working majority to enable him to continue.

THE ELOPERS TOOK NINE CHILDREN ALONG

Hamilton Police are Looking for Two Whole Families

J. MILLER AND MRS. YOUNG

Went Away While Miller's Wife and Mrs. Young's Husband Were Patients in the City Hospital

Hamilton, July 25.—It is not often that a married man elopes with another man's wife, and includes his children and her children in the bargain, but that is what a man named Jake Miller, who formerly lived on Simcoe street east, is said to have done. The woman in the case, it is said, is Mrs. C. M. Young, who is well known to the police, as she was charged at the police court on March 29th with keeping a disorderly house at No. 121 McNabb street north. She was allowed to go on the understanding that she got out of the city. Miller was an important witness for her at the trial, and her husband was also in court. After that the Millers and the Youngs went housekeeping on Simcoe street, and rented a house between them. The neighbors say that Miller and Mrs. Young seemed to be on very intimate terms, particularly after Mrs. Young's husband was taken ill and had to be removed to the City Hospital. Miller's wife, being in a delicate condition, was removed to the City Hospital at just about the same time, and Miller and Mrs. Young evidently thought that this would be an opportune time to make their exodus, and they did, taking with them Miller's family of three, and Mrs. Young's family of six. Mrs. Miller was notified of the occurrence, which took place about two weeks ago, and when she was discharged from the City Hospital she found there was no home for herself and babe to go to. However some friends of her husband have given her a home temporarily. The detectives have been asked to find the couple who eloped. It is stated that they went to Buffalo.

Mrs. Miller is said to be a very respectable woman, and much sympathy is expressed toward her.

The Critical Time of Life

Is between the years of fifty-seven and sixty-two. Nature's power-down, vitality becomes less, and the progress of decay sets in. A means of extending old age, and renewing decreased vigor is to take Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone keeps up the appetite, and in the formation of red, vitalizing blood, imparts clearness to the tiring brain, force, energy and spirits just when they are needed most. To take Ferrozone regularly means adding from ten to twenty years to life. Large boxes 50c., or 6 boxes for $2.50, at druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are Certain.

OLD CRIME OF TRACY'S

Murder of Jos. Blackburn at Gordon, Wis., Thought to Be Work of Famous Fugitive.

Special to The Times.

Stillwater, Minn., July 26. — About four years ago residents in the vicinity of Gordon, Wis., were startled by the murder of Joseph Blackburn who had resided in that vicinity for many years, and was well acquainted with everybody. He kept a store and a stopping place and was supposed to have considerable money.

Everything possible was done to apprehend the guilty party, but he was never brought to justice and there is now a supposition on the part of the people who knew Blackburn and the circumstances surrounding his murder, that the deed was committed by Harry Tracy, the Oregon outlaw who disappeared from the vicinity of Blackburn's home at about the time the murder was committed.

They say that Tracy's right name is Severance and that his home was near Gordon.

They Father Consumption

Bad coughs, colds and catarrh are responsible for more consumption than is traceable even to heredity. Catarrhozone cures more quickly than ordinary remedies, because it is the only antiseptic yet discovered that is volatile enough to reach the root of the trouble in remote parts of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and impregnate every particle of the air breathed with its healing, germ-killing vapor. Colds can't last ten minutes, or coughs more than thirty minutes when Catarrhozone is inhaled. It clears nose, throat and air passages at once, stops dropping, headache and eradicates catarrh from any prt of the system. Two months' treatment, $1.00; trial size, 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are Mild.

THE CZAR OF RUSSIA AND HIS NEW HOPES

The Prospect of War With Japan Not to the Monarch's Liking

HIS INFLUENCE IS FOR PEACE

A Few Facts Concerning the Royal Muscovite Family—The Political Parties of the Empire

Special to The Times.

St. Petersburg, July 26.—The prospect of war with Japan is not pleasing to the Czar, who is a man of peace, yet who is powerless to change the policy of the Russian Government, which has been the same since the days of Peter the Great. The immense preparations which are quietly going on for the coming struggle are not reassuring for the peace of the world.

The Czar and Czarina are at present living quietly at their favorite country place, Tsarkoe Selo, in anticipation of a happy event. Russia is in eager anticipation also, for the expected event has a deep political significance that cannot fail to have a direct bearing on the empire's future policy. Should the looked for heir be a son, he will, should he live, in the course of time become Emperor of Russia, and will be reared under the political influence of the present Czar thus practically ensuring a continuation of the enlightened, progressive policy of Nicholas II.

The Czar has four children, all of them daughters. While the government of Russia is an absolute hereditary monarchy, and while the will of the Emperor is law, yet he cannot transfer the throne to his daughters. If Nicholas II. should die before a son is born to him, his successor would be his brother, the Grand Duke Michael, born in 1878. The latter is entirely under the influence of his mother, the Dowager Empress Marie Dagmar, widow of Emperor Alexander III, now in her fifty-fifth year. These few facts possess important political significance, which may change the future history of Europe to a marked degree, and as any radical change in Russian policy may vitally affect every great European power, all the world is naturally concerned.

There are no political parties in Russia, as the term is understood in the rest of the world, but there are rival factions at court which serve the purpose admirably. At present there are two of these parties or factions. One is headed by the Dowager Empress, and her influence is almost equal to that of the Czar. It embraces many of those highest in authority, including dignitaries of the church, the army and the schools. It is known as the reactionary party, and it represents all the despotism and illiteracy of Russia under the old Emperor.

Opposed to the reactionary party is the progressive party, with the Czar at its head. His staunchest supporter is M. de Witte, the Russian Minister of Finance, and by every consideration the leading statesman of the Empire. Also associated with him in progressive councils is the Grand Duke Constantine Constantinovitch. But despite these able supporters the Czar's party is in reality in the minority. The all-powerful influence of the reactionary party has been strongly manifested on more than one recent occasion in the balking of the Czar's plans for the betterment of the schools of the empire. The Czar's policy has ever been marked by wise, humane and progressive features. But his orders are quietly ignored, and the policies he does not favor are persistently pushed forward. Left to himself the Czar would issue decrees for the amelioration of the peasant classes, for the aid of depressed agriculture, for more liberal education. His dealings with foreign powers would be more candid and direct. But the Czar promises what his Minister of Foreign Affairs quietly, but none the less firmly declines to fulfill.

The Czar's plans for more liberal education for the masses are not executed by his Minister of Public Education. His Minister of War is so firmly attached to the Dowager Empress that it is even doubted the Czar could count on the support of his armies. All the efforts of the Czar for the amelioration of the agricultural classes have been as firmly opposed by the Minister of the Interior.

This situation, almost intolerable as it is to the present Czar, exists only because he has no male heir. Up to the present time his children are girls and are barred from the throne. All his hopes center in the coming event, which he prays may add a son to his household and give to Russia a direct heir to the throne. Four times he has been keenly disappointed.

The reactionary party in his Cabinet is able to flaunt the misfortune in his face, because it is well known that in the event of his death, the crown will pass to his brother Michael, who is directly under the influence of the Dowager Empress. If the present Czar dies Michael will be the nominal Czar, but his mother will be the actual ruler. She is a woman in the prime of life, born to command.

Should a son be born to Nicholas II. the power of the Dowager Empress will be reduced to nothing in a moment. The Czar will be a Czar in fact as in name, and the ministers who now openly defy him, oppose his will, and refuse to execute his policy will be at his feet.

Various sensational rumors are current as to what will happen if the Czarina again fails to give birth to a male child, and of them being that the Czar will abdicate. Another story is to the effect that the Czar has been consulting Russian law authorities and has come to the conclusion that he could legally alter the law of succession of Paul I., under which females are excluded from the throne until all males in the line of succession fail. That the Czar would attempt anything of the kind, however, is regarded as highly improbable as it certainly would result in civil war.

EXPECT A BUMPER CROP

The Outlook in Manitoba is for a Yield of 25 to 30 Bushels to the Acre

Winnipeg, July 25. — Authoritative reports which are now reaching Winnipeg from various sections of the country corroborate the general impression already current that the crop is likely to be an exceptionally fine one. The general yield is likely to be 25 to 30 bushels per acre of wheat, from the most conservative estimates, while barley will probably run as high as 60, and oats 75. From the central portion of Manitoba, including the vicinity of Wawanesa, Belmont, Elgin and Minto, reports are most encouraging. The crops of all kinds are said to be in excellent condition, and the yield of all grains is expected to be very high. The same condition is found in the Brandon and Portage plains, where, as well as in the Carman district, the prediction is made that the yield will exceed that of last year should the weather of the next two weeks prove favorable. The northern part of the province appears to reflect the bright prospects of that section south of the mail line of the C.P.R., and in the Dauphin country, where the damage by rains was supposed to be the greatest, the good average crop of twenty bushels to the acre is expected. West of there, in the Gilbert Plains district, the outlook is even better. The whole tenor of the reports received from correspondents of the government and railway companies is that if the present weather continues, the season will be as successful in every respect as that of last year, and probably more so.

A RARE OPERATION

Portion of Diseased Lung Removed and Patient is Now Recovering

Ottawa, July 25.—A somewhat remarkable operation was performed a few days ago at the General hospital, Water street, in a critical case, in which the patient now gives every evidence of a recovery. A young woman named Grimm, belonging to Lower Town had been troubled for a year or so, with a severe affection of one of the lungs, and consumption of the organ had set in. The girl was treated in several places but was sinking when brought to the hospital recently. There she was put under an anesthetic, two ribs over the lung were cut out and the diseased part of the lung was removed. The operation was performed successfully by Dr. Dewar assisted by two house surgeons, and the patient is not only recovering, but has gained five pounds in flesh since the operation.

Midsummer Suffering

Paine's Celery Compound

Quickly Dissipates Tired Feelings and Gives New Life to the Weak, Nervous and Debilitated

Tired, languid and despondent feelings prevail to an alarming extent during the heated term of summer. Such feelings indicate depleted blood and a feeble condition of the nervous system.

This is just the time when Paine's Celery Compound is needed to build up flesh and muscle, brace the nerves and clear and strengthen the brain.

Sick headaches, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, and a general feeling of mental and physical depression by which life is made almost intolerable in the hot weather, can all be speedily banished by the use of a bottle or two of Paine's Celery Compound, nature's summer renovator and strength-giver.

Paine's Celery Compound never fails to repair the wasted and wornout tissues; it calms and perfectly regulates nervous action and brings that sweet and restful sleep that makes life happy.

The medicine that in the past has done such marvelous things for others is the kind you should use at this time.

PROHIBITION CAMPAIGN

The Fight Will Be a Hot One in the Province

AN ATTACK ON MR. ROSS

Prohibitionists Say That They Will Sweep the Province

The Licensed Victuallers Realize the Peril and Will Put up a Big Fight—Organization Meetings to Be Held, and Every Possible Vote Polled on Both Sides—It Is Thought That the Prohibition Party on Sentiment

Once more, after a number of years of peace, the country is to undergo another period of turmoil and financial distress over the liquor question. Those who remember the operation of the Dunkin Bill and the Scott Act, have no use for prohibition in any form. But, unfortunately, these are comparatively few, and the evil may again be repeated, with all its vile associations. We in Peterborough had a year of the Dunkin Bill and nearly two years of the Scott Act—both prohibitory measures. Under the Dunkin law no pretence was made to put a stop to selling, or was there any way of punishing those engaged in the business. The result was that liquor could not only be obtained at every hotel, but also in many stores and in scores of dives. One year was enough, and those who voted for the measure were foremost in securing the repeal. A few years later the Scott Act was submitted to the people of the town and county, and was carried by a large majority. The experience resulting from a year's trial of the Dunkin Bill was forgotten, the people being carried away by the sentiment against the liquor traffic. The Scott Act was also a failure, more liquor being sold during the time the law was in operation that ever before during the same period of time. A tremendous effort was made in this town to enforce the law, a special detective being engaged to watch the hotels. But it was no go; the drunkenness rapidly increased owing to the scores of dives where liquor was obtainable. After a year and a half of bitterness and loss the repeal of the measure was demanded, and was carried by a sweeping majority.

Will history repeat itself? This is the question that will soon be answered when the vote is taken this fall. We don't even know what the penalties of a violation of the proposed prohibitory measure will be, or the nature of the measure. It goes without saying that it will not be made overly stringent for the government is known to be against prohibition. The question of compensation is also to be considered and will add to the trouble, should prohibition carry.

A Toronto despatch to The Times says that the temperance men contend that they are eager for the fray, while some even go so far as to state that they will sweep the province. Before the prohibition campaign can open it is apparent that the different prohibition camps have some difficulties to settle and from present indications interesting things will take place before the great convention closes its doors on the 29th inst.

Some leading prohibitionists will now tell you that prohibition is only a dream, but that he means to perform his humble part in administering some well needed rebukes to the men who make their cause a dream. Great dissatisfaction is expressed with such men as Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. S. H. Biggs, J. J. Maclaren and F. S. Spence who are regarded by many as worse than foes to the prohibition cause, for the simple reason that they are alleged to have used the movement for their own benefit, but that when its final utility was apparent, they sold it to benefit themselves.

A prominent temperance worker told The Times' Toronto representative that the temperance people would thoroughly organize every riding throughout the province. The cities would be organized and canvassed. Permanent temperance workers would address the mass meetings throughout the country, and every attempt would be made to poll the largest vote possible.

In Peterborough the license holders are quietly getting things in shape for the coming battle. Mr. Dickey, the Secretary of the Provincial License Holders' Association is in the eastern part of the Province, where he is organizing the anti-prohibitionists.

All Canada at Toronto

There will not be a province or a piece of Territory in the Dominion that will not be represented at the exhibition to be held in Toronto this year from Monday, Sept. 1st, to Saturday, Sept. 13th. To mark their appreciation of this evidence of the country's confidence, the executive have increased the Prize List until it is now proudly boasted that, with specials, upwards of $37,000 will be distributed in prizes among the exhibitors, six-sevenths of which will find its way to the agricultural community. While this large sum proves the magnitude of the exposition, the enterprise of its managers, and the comprehensiveness of the exhibits, the fact that $30,000 is to be spent in attractions and special features, the latest inventions as well as the latest novelties in the amusement world, and including $7,000 for music, shows that while the agricultural and industrial interests of the country are to be well looked after, the people's enjoyment will not be neglected. America and Europe have been scoured for all that is best in every line of attraction. Bolossi Kiralfy, the greatest master of spectacle on earth, has been secured to produce in all its brilliancy and gorgeousness his stupendous production "The Orient," which was the wonder of London, Eng., at Olympia for a year, and that is only one of the really costly features that have either been engaged or are being negotiated for. Then there are the new Dairy Building and the new Art Gallery, which will greatly increase the value of the exhibition as a factor in the education and elevation of the people. In the Dairy Building not only will there be exhibits of dairy products, utensils, and so on, but lectures and demonstrations will be given twice daily in a hall provided with seating accommodation for 600 people. Reduced rates will, of course, be available on all lines of travel.

A MOTHER'S HEROISM

She Rushes Into Her Burning House and Rescues Her Little Ones.

Special to The Times.

Shrewsbury, Pa., July 22—A gas stove exploding in the kitchen of A. J. McCurdy's home this morning destroyed three buildings. When the blaze was at its height Mrs. McCurdy thought of her two sleeping children, and rushed through the flames, into the house, and up the stairway to the second floor. Grasping Raymong, aged 5 years, by the hand, and lifting her 3 months old babe in her arms, she attempted to fight her way through the thick smoke down the stairway. She was compelled to retrace her steps, and appeared at the second story window. A number of firemen called at her to throw the boy to them, as they had formed a human net. The brave woman did as requested, and the little fellow landed safely upon the shoulders of several men. Mrs. McCurdy, with her babe clasped to her breast, leaped, and was caught by several men. The woman's eyebrows and hair were singed. In the meantime her husband, not knowing of his wife's daring rescue, entered the burning house, and was severely burned before he made his exit. Several firemen were injured. After the fire started it spread to the homes of Charles Korn and A. B. Lyons, causing a total loss of $6,000, partly covered by insurance.

The Old Scotch "PARRITCH"

It Had a Few Good and Many Poor Qualities

Malt Breakfast Food

The Only Cereal That Makes a Truly Healthful and Nutritious Breakfast Dish

The old Scotch "Parritch," starchy, blood-heating, stomach-irritating, and hard to digest, is being superseded by delicious, appetising and strength-giving Malt Breakfast Food. Dietetic experts and the best physicians strongly recommend Malt Breakfast Food for the old and young, the strong and weak. It is retained by the weakest stomach, and is the best nourisher and builder. One 15 cent package makes 25 meals. Ask your grocer.

THE ICE MINES TO BE WORKED

Unique Industry Just Being Started in Arizona

NEGLECTED IN THE PAST

Though Vast Quantities of Ice Lie at the Door of the People, They Have Only Just Begun To Use Them

Special to The Times.

Los Angeles, July 23.—Nowhere in the world does there exist an industry so unique as that just being put in operation in Northern Arizona, where elaborate plans are being laid to utilize the product of the ice caves in existence there. Strange, it seems, so, that in this land of great heat, where in some places ice is a priceless luxury, made so by excessive freight rates which prevail in the Territories, man's ingenuity has not heretofore conceived the idea of the wholesale approbation of the relief which nature has provided.

NEGLECTED ICE.

Not until very recently has any attempt been made to take away the apparently inexhaustible quantities of ice which have been found in the caves near Flagstaff. Now, however, it is intended to literally mine or quarry the ice, and the promoters of the scheme declare it will prove a great profit producer from the very outset, as they expect to secure ice enough not only to supply the scores of smaller stations, towns and lumber camps in that vicinity, but to provide a supply for the railroads of northern Arizona and New Mexico, even into California, as in the vast region of what was once the northern part of hte Great American Desert ice factories have not as yet become common. Indeed, the factories at Los Angeles, Pheonix, Albuquerque and Las Vegas have for years supplied most of that district with ice, although at prices that necessarily were prohibitive, made so by the long railway haul.

BEST KNOWN CAVE.

The main or best known ice cave lies at the head of Clerk's Valley, seventeen miles southeast of Flagstaff. Although others may be larger, they are not so accessible. A wagon road leads nearby to the cave, and the Arizona Lumber Company's railroad at one time passed near, but its route has been changed since. The people of the country think the cave was originally what is termed a "blow-out"—that is, a volcano vent made by water or gas, during some convulsion of nature, in the early history of our

CANADA LEADS EMPIRE IN BATTLE WITH TRUSTS

London Times Says Canadian Pacific's Success on the Pacific Ocean Proves Its Ability to Operate on Atlantic

Special to The Times.

London, July 26.—Canadian Pacific officials confirm the statement that they have offered to establish and work a fast passenger freight service between Liverpool and Halifax in the winter and Liverpool and Quebec in he summer, with four twenty knot and ten or eleven fifteen knot steamers. A subsidy of £260,000 is asked.

The Canadian ministers refuse to discuss the matter. In Anglo-Canadian circles the Canadian Pacific's offer is hailed with satisfaction as a practical step toward the establishment of a fast service.

The Times today says it is a good augury that such a proposal emanated from a company which has already given proofs of its ability to conduct a great ocean service on sound business lines. No better service is given on the Pacific than the service of fast steamers which the Canadian Pacific runs between Vancouver and the Far East and Australia. The establishment of better and more rapid communication between Britain and Canada constitutes even greater service in the interests of the Empire.

The Colonial Conference met today, with all the Premiers present. It is understood they discussed the question of Imperial defence. The Conference will conclude on August 1.

Sir Edmonton Barton, and probably Premier Seddon, will return via Canada about the middle of August.

Lady Laurier will hold a reception at the Hotel Cecil on Monday evening.

London, July 26.—The announcement from Montreal that at the request of the Canadian Ministers now in London the Canadian Pacific Railroad has offered to establish and work a weekly fast service between Quebec and Liverpool in the summer and between Halifax in the winter, with a good freight service, is causing considerable stir in England, where it is hailed with delight, as being an offset to J. Pierpont Morgan's shipping combine. The evening papers have placards reading: "English combination to fight the American trusts," etc.

The officials of the Canadian Pacific Railroad here deny that they have any such intention, but they, as well as others, believe that the long discussed Canadian fast service is really approaching realization. The chief indication of this is the fact that the offer was made by the Canadian Pacific Railroad at the instance of the Canadian Ministers now here, and that they were fully aware of the conditions the Imperial Government is prepared to accede to.

EASILY FINANCED.

The Globe commenting on the offer, says: "Naturally a subsidy will be expected for the new service, but since the Dominion Government is most willing to share this obligation, there should not be the least difficulty in financing the scheme. Apart from the stimulus it cannot fail to give to Anglo-Canadian business, it will be most helpful in perfecting all the British lines of communication with the Far East. Though 'enlightened self-interest' has no doubt some part in the Canadian proposal, only the veriest Little Englander will shut his dull eyes to the spirit of Imperial patriotism behind it."

The Pall Mall Gazette sees in the Canadian Pacific Railroad proposal a guarantee against the Atlantic becoming "strictly a preserve of the American shipping trust," and adds: "It was only because the Atlantic trust had command of the railways of the United States that they could hope to rival England in the carrying trade. They did not expect competition from Canada as well as from obsolete England. Now that it is clear that they are going to have it, the prospect cannot be reassuring to the Morgans and their fortune hunting allies in England and Germany."

Lord Strathcona said in an interview today: While I am unable to add to the information already published, the terms mentioned seem reasonable and probable. The members of the Dominion Government some years ago were authorized by the Canadian Parliament to offer a subsidy of $750,000 for this purpose. So far as I know this offer has not been increased. The reported subsidy of $1,300,000 shows an advance over the original offer, but it has always been understood that Great Britain would supplement Canada's offer, though I am not saying to what extent."

Lord Strathcona was unable to say what British port would be the terminus of the proposed line, but he said Liverpool Swansea, Bristol, Southampton, Newport, and Cardiff were all competing for selection.

WHITE LABOR NEEDED ON AFRICAN RAND

Belief That 100,000 Unskilled Workmen from Britain Ought to be Attracted

Special to The Times.

London, July 25.—The correspondent of the Times at Johannesburg says there is a scheme afoot to attract unskilled white labor to the Rand. The mine owners believe that the employment of white labor is practicable, for wherever tried lately on a limited scale it has worked well. It is thought that 100,000 unskilled workmen from Great Britain ought to be attracted by the prospect of $1.25 a day with board and lodging from the time they reach South Africa. The companies are building three room cottages, each to accomodate six persons, and it may be that a married man with a family will get a whole cottage. It has been suggested that the Home Government ought to provide free transportation.

Special to The Times.

St. Petersburg, July 25.—The steady decline of prosperity among the Russian peasants is regarded with keen anxiety by the Government. There are indications that the ministers would not shrink from making sweeping changes in the country's fical policy or even the internal organization of the Empire to obviate the danger of starvation for the discontented peasantry. The cause of the distress is mainly ascribed to the ignorance of the peasants and their primitive methods of agriculture.

Special to The Times.

London, July 25.—According to the Paris correspondent of the Times, the Catholic committee for the defence of right, which declared Captain Dreyfus innocent, has issued a strong manifesto, saying htat M. Waldeck-Rousseau expressly stated that the associations law would not apply to schools having nuns as teachers. It seems that the Council of State decided that the law did apply to those schools only five days after the expiration of the second period of grace granted for asking for authorization.

Special to The Times.

London, July 25.—Adespatch to the Times from Athens says the brigands are doing flourishing business in Western Morea and Thessaly.

JEFFRIES WINS FROM FITZ IN EIGHTH ROUND

The following despatch of the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight was received at an early hour this morning, just before going to press:

San Francisco, July 26, 2.30 a.m.—The fight last night resulted in Jeffries winning in the eighth round.

Fitzsimmons put up a strong battle, and had Jeffries badly beaten, but being over confident in the eighth round, left an opening for Jeffries, when Fitz went down and out.

EIGHTH ROUND.

Both stood up straight, Fitz feinting with his left. Jeffries smiled through his bloody features, hooking a left swing and landing a hard left on the ribs. They went at it fierce, Fitz putting left on face and took one on the head. Fitz missed a right and took a stiff punch on the body. Jeff forced the fighting at this stage. Crouching low and carrying his right and left far back they came together and clinched. As Fitz stepped back he smiled and spoke to Jeffries, and before he could get out of reach, Jeffries quickly hooked his left on the jaw and Fitz went down on his back. He came up slowly, but before he could get upon both feet the referee counted ten and the fight was over.

Eyes Tested Free

Prof. J. H. De Silberg, the celebrated eye specialist from Germany, will be in Hastings from Monday, July 21st until Wednesday, July 23rd, at the Coughlin House parlors; in Norwood, on Thursday, July 24th, until the 26th, at Dr. Moffatt's drug store; in Keene, on Monday, July 28th, to Wednesday, July 30th, at Dr. Harrison's office; and in Lakefield, July 31st, to Saturday night, Aug. 2nd, at Dr. Burgess' drug store. Those having weak or imperfect eyes should not fail to consult him.

Valuable Advice to Mothers

If your child comes in from play coughing or showing evidences of an approaching attack of grippe, sore throat, or sickness of any kind, first thing get out your bottle of Nerviline. Rub the chest and neck with Nerviline, and give internal doses of ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water every two hours. This will prevent any serious trouble. No liniment or pain reliever equals Polson's Nerviline, which is a necessity in every household. Large bottles cost only 25 cents.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayer.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rennel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Rock Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Jonesley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	6.10 p.m	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.13 a.m.	7.30 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Portland, Boston	6.10 a.m.	12.35 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.35 a.m.	6.10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate	7.23 p.m.	1.13 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.35 a.m.	6.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West	11.35 a.m.	6.10 p.m

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	2.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	6.20 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.35 p.m.	11.40 a.m
Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.30 a.m.	8.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	2.35 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	2.30 a.m
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.30 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 26, 1902.

KRUGER AND THE POWERS

A history of the confidential relations of ex-President Kruger with foreign powers would be exceedingly good reading, and there is every prospect of such seeing the light one of these days. According to a Reuter despatch from Bloemfontein, the curator of the late Boer government's official papers recently handed over the whole of the documents to a representative of the military authorities at Pilgrim's Rest. They include confidential reports giving a complete history of Mr. Kruger's relation with foreign powers, together with all the ciphers and a mass of other papers. All these are now being translated and arranged by the director of the intelligence department at Pretoria. But it is safe betting that not all the facts concealed in the cipher will be published yet awhile.

THE TRENT CANAL

A dead set is being made against the completion of the Trent Valley Canal by the Conservative press. A few years ago when the Liberals were in opposition, the project was viewed with favor by the people who are now loudest in condemning it. The following, taken from the London Free Press, is a sample of what one reads in Conservative newspapers:

Hon. Mr. Tarte, at a dinner at Peterborough said that Trent Valley Canal would cost several millions of dollars, maybe be provided. The New Brunswick is again needed and the primary wick Premier has lately declared that the Provincial fishery claims are also to be paid. These claims for a share of the fishery award of $4,500,000, together with interest for thirty years, amount about $7,500,000. The Dominion chest is full, however, and affords fine picking.

EDITORIAL NOTES

They do things differently at different places it seems. The following frank wedding notice is said to have been actually published in the Trenton (Mo.) News:—Married,— Miss Sylvia Blanton, to James Carnahan last Saturday afternoon. The bride is an ordinary town girl who doesn't know any more than a rabbit about cooking, and never helped her poor mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means and has a gait like a fat duck. The groom is well known here as an up-to-date loafer, has been living off the old folks all his life, and don't amount to anything nohow. They will have a hard life while they live together, and the news hastens to extend absolutely no congratulations, for we don't believe any good can come from such a union.

A freak of the Chicago river lately puzzled the oldest observers. The water suddenly rose three feet and flowed into Lake Michigan. Two hours later it fell and the current was reversed, the normal level being resumed in the afternoon. No one has been found to explain the cause of this phenomenon.

The Sultan of Turkey has ordered three warships to be built in American dockyards. Meanwhile the navy yards at Constantinople are to be brought up to date, so that in future Turkish vessels can be built at home. The Sultan is tired of being under the thumb of foreigners.

General Buller might as well retire behind a kopje and keep quiet. He cannot write himself into a position among the men who scored a success in the late war.

A South Dakota farmer has improvised an automobile from a threshing engine some purpose. He hitches four gang plows to it and plows about thirty acres a day with the contrivance. If this can be done with a clumsy threshing engine, the comparatively light and rapid auto-plow ought not to be long in coming.

In Skookatan, Minn., every member of the board of health, with one exception, has the smallpox. The board may make it unanimous in a few days.

The rains of July have injured the trade in straw hats in American cities. Many dealers complain that these hats are dead stock on their hands.

A contemporary lays down these practical rules for the observance of people going on a vacation with the desire of having a good time.—

1. Resolve that you are going to have a good time.
2. Don't worry about anything.
3. Cultivate simplicity in every way.
4. Give your mind a rest as well as your body.
5. Spend as much time as possible in the open air.
6. Make friends with everyone you meet.
7. Determine to be happy.
8. Help others to have a good time.
9. Count your blessings every night.
10. Forget yourself.

If Greenland's icy mountains are for sale Canada has as good a right to put in a bid for them as anybody else. Geographically she has the best right.

King Not Able to Walk

Cowes, July 25.—The King was unable to sit on the open deck of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert today in consequence of bad weather. He is not yet able to walk.

The King will make a very brief stay in London when he goes there to be crowned. He will arrive there on Aug. 8, the day before the coronation, and will return to the royal yacht on August 11. It is possible that a dais will be substituted for the throne in Westminster Abbey, thus saving his Majesty the exertion of mounting the steps. The ceremony will begin at 11.30 o'clock in the morning the King leaving Buckingham Palace a half hour before that time.

The King has given permission to the Salvation Army to hold an open air convention in the grounds of Osborne House to-morrow. Three thousand persons will take part in the convention.

Special to The Times.

Philadelphia, July 25.—The Public Ledger.—"It needed no British generals from China to tell us that Japan is preparing to fight Russia in the far east. That has been plain for a year or more and Japan has made no particular secret of it."

It was a New England parson who announced to his congregation on a recent Sunday: "You will be sorry to hear that the little church at Jonesville is once more tossed upon the waves, a sheep without a shepherd."—Boston Christian Register.

"They tell me Maude Burlocks is going to be married."

"You're misinformed. Miss Burlocks is going to marry the man who is going to be married. Your difficulty is that you don't know Miss Burlocks."—Baltimore News.

"Poor child!" exclaimed Mrs. Goodart, who had been touched by the appeal to the extent of a quarter, "and how did this accident happen to your father?"

"Why," replied the bright little girl, "he begged so much money one day that he got drunk and was sent to jail."

"But you told me his arms were cut off."

"Oh! No, ma'am, I said 'alms.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Alas, the nights are nearly here
When Mr. Skeeter will Sing songs unasked, and then forthwith
Present an awful bill.
—Cincinnati Commercial.

"Why don't you wash your face?"

"Aw, say, I ain't goin' to try no experiments."—New York Journal.

"She's not what you'd call an advanced woman?"

"No, no."

"Has no mission in life, I suppose?"

"Oh, I believe she claims to have one, but it's nothing of any importance."

"What is it?"

"Just a mission to make some good man happy, understand."—Chicago Post.

Young Lady—A friend of mine is engaged to a man, and now he refuses to marry her. What would you advise her to do?

Old Lawyer—Is the man wealthy?

Young Lady—No. He hasn't a shilling.

Old Lawyer—Then I'd advise her to write him a nice letter of thanks.—Tit-Bits.

The story is told of the present Archbishop of Canterbury that, upon a candidate for ordination essaying to read a chapter of the Bible before him to test his elocutionary powers, he was stopped with the abrupt comment, "You're inaudible!" "But, my lord," said the discomfited youth, "I've read the lesson in a big church, and been told that every word could be heard." "Who told ye—a lady? Are ye engaged to her?" The candidate owned the soft impeachment. "Then, don't believe a word she says—until you're married to her," was the sagacious reply.

Money and Dreams.

He settled himself in his roomy chair in his big, old house, where he had lived so long that the city had grown up away and beyond him, leaving the house, which had been in a fashionable neighborhood, so far down town that there was little more than the hum of business to be heard all day around it. The old man's housekeeper brought him a cool drink, and one of his nephews came in to enquire how he had stood the unusual heat of the day.

He had so many nephews and nieces to look after his comfort. Some even stayed in town all summer to be near him. When they tried to persuade him to go away for a little rest in the hot weather he would say:

"Rest! Who wants rest? If you let money rest it rusts—rusts! Turn it over, keep turning it over; it grows, it grows!" And he would add that the summer was the best time of all for work. The old financier was the possessor of many millions. But he walked alone. This evening he sat in the twilight which settled itself hot and thick about him. The night was bringing no cooling breath. The roar of the metropolis was dying away in tired sobs outside. The city's life seemed sapped with the heat. Even the old man, who never stopped his work for anything, realized that it was unusually hot tonight. He fanned himself with his newspaper and took a sip from the glass which stood near him on the table.

He closed his eyes. He felt such a strange sense of oppression. No, he was not dizzy. It had passed. He opened his eyes and put up his hand to unfasten his collar. At his neck he touched a twisted cord of silk that was around it. He pulled at the cord and drew out its length. From it hung a ring—a silver ring—old-fashioned and worn, and on it two raised hearts lying against each other and rubbed smooth by time.

He sat now with his eyes closed again and his hand folded over the ring on his breast. He dreamed once more, and it was his last dream. It was summer—yes—but it was nearly fifty years ago. The dust and roar of the city gave way to the scent and quiet of an old garden; the heat to the dew of a country evening, its breeze lightly moving the leaves of the trees and fluttering the ruffles of a girl's muslin frock, with its pattern of summer blossoms upon it.

A boy—such a boyish country boy—took the silver ring, then new and shining, from his pocket and put it on the hand of the girl in the flowered muslin frock. Then they kissed each other, and the girl fell to sobbing, with her arms about her companion's neck, and he spoke:

"Never mind, dear; Annie, dear. I am going away to make a fortune, and I'm coming back for you, and we will be married, and I will take you away to the city, and you will be rich and have everything you want."

"But I don't like the city. I should be so afraid and so confused, and you might not love me there as you do now here in the country. People in the city forget each other so."

"No, they don't; not if they really love each other, and I love you. Nothing can ever make me forget you. See, not as long as evening comes after the day and the stars come with it."

They kissed each other again.

The ring came back to him in a letter with a flower from Annie's grave.

Never once did he go to seek the grave to rest by it a moment. Work became his love and gold the star that guided him.

Now he clasped the silver ring tighter, tighter. By and by he gasped and fell forward. His clasp relaxed; he sighed once, a deep sigh, then lay there quite still. And later they found him so.—Margaret Klein in the New York "Herald."

A Useful Helpmate.

The editor of the Grapevine "Telegraph," after spending six years without a break, in the editorial harness, felt himself entitled to a vacation, and went away to the mountains for a month's hunting and fishing, leaving his wife in charge of the paper.

On his return he was astonished to find his office overflowing with potatoes. Everything that could be turned into a receptacle was filled with them. Each pigeonhole in his desk contained a potato. The drawer of his editorial table was bursting with potatoes. Old ink-kegs, lined with papers, were filled and heaped with them. There were potatoes in the coal-bucket, in the ash-pan, and even in the stove itself.

They were no small potatoes, either. Every one of them was as big as his fist, and some were as big as two fists. The collection would have taken a premium at a county fair.

"Lucy," he said, after the greetings were over, "what does all this mean?"

"Oh," she almost sobbed, "I wanted to do something original, and so I announced, in the first number of the paper I printed after you went away, that the 'Telegraph' would be sent for one year to the person sending us the largest potato raised in this county, for six months to the person sending the next largest, and for three months to the one sending the third largest. The potatoes began coming in right away, and they've been coming ever since. Some persons, I am afraid, have tried to get all three of the prizes. I have begged the people not to send any more, and I do believe they are doing it now for a joke. We can't announce any prizes till they quit coming, and there are some boys in the other room with their pockets bulging with them right now, and—Oh, Cyrus, what shall we do?"

"Do?" said the editor, with a grin on his face. "Do? The right thing to do would be for me to go away for another month and let you continue to edit the paper. Potatoes are worth a dollar a bushel, and you have got enough of them here to pay all the expenses of my trip, and all they cost us is a dollar and seventy-five cents' worth of 'Telegraph.' If you want an apprentice, just consider me in line for the job."

Wife—I am going down town this morning to try and match a piece of silk. Husband—Very well, my dear; I'll tell the cook to save some dinner for you, and I'll put the children to bed myself.—"Tit-Bits."

Electric Lamps
25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest." WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $6,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnel and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON

500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST

IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr. Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres. Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
I. D FLEMING, New York.
J. P COOPER, Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filed in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

Bridget and Pat were sitting in an armchair reading an article on "The Law of Compensation."

"Just fancy," explained Bridget; "accordin' to this, when a man loses wan av his sinses another gits more developed. For instance, a blind man gits more since av hearin' an' touch, an——"

"Shure, an't it's quite thrue," answered Pat.

"Oi've noticed it meself. Whin a man has wan leg shorter than the other, be-gorra the other's longer."—Philadelphia Times.

Col. John C. Haskell of Columbia, S. C., has on his place an old negro woman who cares for her brother's motherless pickaninnies. One day the Colonel, after experiences of several small losses which had been fastened on the children, said to her:

"Rachel, I think these children are getting dishonest."

"Well, sah, dat's a fac'. I tell dere daddy he oughtn' let 'em steal. Children ain't got no judgment in stealin'. Wen dey do steal things, jes as likely dey'll take somethin' you'll miss!"

—New York Times.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky

Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers: LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

THE

ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.

MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each, I have analysed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{99}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE. ALL FURNISHINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 383 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican . . Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories. Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year

Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

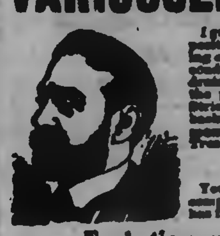
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

To be had at all first-class dealer

VARICOCELE AND STRICTURE



I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the [illegible] par excellence. So positive am I that my Latest Method Treatment will cure you that you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each time you call you see me Personally,

or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country.

The Latest Method Treatment Guaranteed to Cure

Varicocele and Stricture without cutting, stretching or loss of time; also Blood Poison, Chronic, Private, Nervous, Impotency, Kidney, Liver, Bladder, Stomach, Female and Rectal Troubles. CONSULTATION FREE. Call; if you cannot call write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor. All duty and express charges prepaid.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 Woodward Ave., Cor. Wilcox St.
DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets.
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	[illegible]

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO SAVINGS & LOAN COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough, March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN

ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS
OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough.

HENRY S. MARA. ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits.

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO

MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co.
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2098.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME!

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 10c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 316 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade } Est. 1885
BANKERS AND BROKERS
38 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 500 Broad.)
LIST OF DESIRABLE STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 5c cash, 6c instalment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 316 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 370 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton, E. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Hurrah for the Printers' Picnic, on Saturday, 2nd August.

CAPT. STRONG STOLE $250,000 IN JEWELS

Cleaned out Deposit Box of Woman on Whose Bounty He Had Lived

New York, July 24.—Search was made yesterday afternoon of the safety deposit box in which all of the jewels and valuables belonging to May Yohe were placed last April by Putnam Bradlee Strong. The box was found to be empty, except for two fans and a few trinkets of insignificant value. The articles stolen are believed to be worth fully $250,000, much more than that amount having been paid for them.

When she realized her loss Miss Yohe reeled and almost fainted, but, recovering herself, refused the assistance that was proferred her by those who stood near-by. A little later she went to police headquarters, where she made complaint, charging Captain Strong with grand larceny. An order for his arrest was immediately sent to every police station in New York.

Emanuel Friend, counsel for May Yohe, announced that he would offer a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of Captain Strong.

In an interview Miss Yohe revealed the secrets of her life with Captain Strong during the past year. She asserted that he had lived off her bounty ever since she left her husband, Lord Hope, and that he had made it necessary on various occasions for her to make good his gambling debts.

Miss Yohe expressed intense bitterness toward the man who took her from her husband, and asserted with great vehemence that no circumstances could arise which will reconcile her to him. She said that he had found her with an independent fortune of no less than half a million dollars, and that he had left her without enough money to pay the next month's rent.

"Ever since we reached Japan I have supported that man," said Miss Yohe, "though he kept assuring me that he possessed a fortune in his own right. I never hesitated to let him have money, and had he come to me and told me that he was in trouble I would have willingly sold all of the jewelry which he has stolen from me to protect him. It was so unnecessary for him to have descended to theft.

"Until yesterday I believe that I loved him, but now I know him as a coward, and worm.

"It was in Yokohama that we first ran behind in our accounts. He said that he could not get money by cable, and I gave him three pieces of jewelry, and on the money he got for them we were able to leave Hong Kong in a brilliant manner. We had plenty of money to last us until we reached New York.

"On shipboard Captain Strong gambled, and we reached Genoa without enough cash to 'tip' the waiter. Again I gave some jewelry to him, and he came back with $1,000. Then we reached New York, and had a surplus of cash.

"During all the time that I have been with Captain Strong only once has he ever paid one dollar toward my support. Last April he handed $250 to my mother, which money went toward the expenses of the house at Hastings. He seemed to think that he had done an act of great generosity."

SHIPMENTS ARE STOPPED

Government Has Supplies for Ten Months in South Africa

Ottawa, Ont., July 24.—It is estimated that the imperial government has on hand in South Africa supplies for the troops for a period of ten months so that it is not likely any further orders will be placed in Canada for some months. Last February, it will be remembered, permission was secured from the war office to forward Canadian products to South Africa on ships chartered for cargo for the war office, and a monthly freight service between St. John and Cape Town was inaugurated in March. No further shipments of supplies being required by the war office, this freight service terminated with the sailing of the steamship Usher, from St. John, last week.

Under the arrangement made with the Imperial authorities, the miscellaneous goods had to be discharged at Cape Town. This limitation prevented the shipments from assuming large proportions, because the import trade at Cape Town is for local consumption only, Port Elizabeth and Durban being the great distributing points for the interior, and transhipment of goods at Cape Town is impracticable, because of the expense.

A Double Hanging

Greenville, Mass., July 24. — With curses on his lips and the expressed wish that the people perish in the flames of hell, Ashley Coles died here today. With him, but silently, Tom Lonsdale, also met his end. Both were convicted of the murder of Engineer Wray, and were hanged from the same gallows, with the swing of a double trap. Coles died boasting that he would be in hell in a few minutes and cursing everything and everybody. He said that those who had planned his murder would meet their end, and that $11,000 had been deposited in the bank, $1,000 of which would be paid for the death of each of the eleven men who prosecuted him. The execution was witnessed by 4,000 people.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers, Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness, Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

your tea right, my dear? You said yesterday it was so nice."

"So it is now," I reassured her. "But my thoughts were somewhere else, to tell the truth. I—I've been reading a thing in the paper that set me thinking of—a very dear friend. I can't bear to wait any longer. I shall have to go out this very afternoon, to—to make some enquiries about her. You must not be worried if I should stay late, or even be away all night."

"Dear me," said Mrs. Jennett, "I'm not at all sure, miss, that I ought to let you go. The doctor said you must be so careful not to take cold——"

"Ah, that was ten days ago," I reminded her.

"But you haven't been out of doors since you came here. Do wait, miss, till Mr. Bourke's been in to-morrow, and see what he says."

"I can't wait to see what Mr. Bourke says," I replied, trying to speak lightly, though the thought of his next coming wrung my heart. "He could say no more than you, after all, dear Mrs. Jennett; for, kind as he has been, he's not the master of my actions."

"Of course not, miss," protested the little old woman. "But if you should spend the night with your friends, and he should come before you got back, I'm sure he'd be anxious. He's only a young man, but he's much older than you, and he looks upon you as a child—himself as a sort of guardian. He told me so himself."

"He's not likely to call very early," I said, winking away the tears that rushed to my eyes. "Oh, how hot this tea is! It almost made me cry! And I shall leave a note which you can give him, in case—he should be before me."

"Very well, if you must go, you must," sighed Mrs. Jennett. "But I shall be glad when it's to-morrow at this time, and I see you and Mr. Bourke sitting with your heads together over the typewriter."

I could bear no more, but sprang from my chair. "I must go and get ready," I explained. "Here's the note. I wrote it to hand to you."

"And her ladyship's? The letter she was to give you for Mr. Bourke?"

"She forgot to write it, after all," I said. "She was so interested in talking to me—about him."

"I suppose she left her regards?" Mrs. Jennett suggested, slyly.

"Something of the sort. You can give them to Mr. Bourke if you like." I talked with my back to her, lest she should see that tears were running down my cheeks; and, reaching the door, I ran away without turning, on pretence of being in a desperate hurry.

It had seemed hard to leave beautiful Arrish Mell Court, but it was a hundred times harder to leave this plain little house in Westminster. I had grown to love it dearly. Mrs. Jennett had told me how, when her "poor husband died," she had fallen into financial difficulties, and John Bourke—who knew them both through work her husband had done for him—came to the rescue, as he always did when he possibly could, if people were in trouble. He had offered to pay the rent of the house, and so much besides, as her lodger—a very generous arrangement, Mrs. Jennett had gratefully added. That was years ago, but, though it was a poky little place in a dull neighborhood, and several very grand men had wanted to share their chambers with Mr. Bourke (for she had overheard them say so with her own ears) he would not move away.

I loved the house because it was associated with him, and I loved Mrs. Jennett because she loved him, and because he was good to her, even more than for the reason of her kindness to me. But I wished the little bedroom where I had slept and dreamt of him good-bye, and I came downstairs and bade farewell with my eyes to the study, and from the mantel I stole the worst and oldest of the pipes in the motley collection there. Then I was ready to go; and I kissed Mrs. Jennett, who stood in the front door, waving her hand that still held the letter I had written to Mr. Bourke.

It was half-past five, and, though I must walk because I had no money, I thought that I should reach the Marble Arch shortly after six. I did not quite know the way there from Westminster, but I should recognise the neighborhood, with which I had once been tolerably familiar; and I could enquire the direction from time to time.

I was longer in reaching the journey's end than I had expected, however, for my illness had weakened me; and, though I started out briskly at first, I was soon so tired that I was glad to slacken my pace. Twice I lost myself, going for some distance in a wrong direction before enquiries told me of my mistake. Altogether it was nearer seven than six when I saw the Marble Arch in the distance, and I was fearful lest I should be too late.

I quickened my steps, with my heart beating fast, and joined the crowd which I always associated with the Marble Arch. This evening in early June it seemed to be precisely the same crowd that it had been in March and the first part of April, when I had been a debutante making my bow to society. There were a few belated carriages coming out of the Park; there were the well-dressed people on foot who had lingered for a last look at royalty; the poorly-dressed people who yearned for a sight of their betters or a breath of fresh air; there were the men who shouted the latest editions of sporting papers; the men who stopped to buy them on their way home from business; the anxious-eyed women elbowing each other in the determination to get ahead of someone else in an approaching omnibus.

All the faces were just the same; I alone was changed. But I looked in vain for a person who might have inserted the notice in the "personal column."

I had half hoped, half feared to see the woman of the heart-shaped scar, though I told myself that others might be concerned in the mystery; and if even she had thrown the baited hook someone else might be sent to take me to her.

But nobody appeared to be waiting for anything less commonplace than an omnibus, and I lingered about on the edge of the crowd searching every new face as it came within my line of vision.

Suddenly a voice spoke in my ear. "I have been here since six. I am glad you have come at last."

I turned with a start; and though the tall woman in black who stood close beside me wore a French veil so heavily embroidered that I could distinguish through the thick figures only the gleam of eyes, I knew at once that it was she.

It seemed that, even if I had been

To be continued.

THE Toronto General Trusts Corporation

HEAD OFFICE AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS—59 YONGE ST., TORONTO
WINNIPEG BRANCH OFFICE—
BANK OF HAMILTON CHAMBERS, WINNIPEG, MAN.

CAPITAL	$1,000,000
RESERVE FUND	270 000

President—JOHN HOSKIN, K. C. LL. D., Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Life Assurance Company and Vice-President Canada Landed and National Company.

VICE-PRESIDENTS—{ HON S. C. WOOD, Director of The Western Assurance Co. / W. H. BEATTY, Vice-President of The Bank of Toronto

AUTHORIZED TO ACT AS

Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Receiver, Committee of Lunatics, Guardian, Liquidator, Assignee, etc.

WINNIPEG BRANCH.

The corporation has opened a branch of its business in Winnipeg, and the attention of property owners, executors, trustees, etc., and other residents in Ontario who have interests in Manitoba, is called to the unusual facilities offered by the Winnipeg branch for effecting sales of property, prompt collection of rents, appraisement of property, and generally looking after the interests of non-residents, at most reasonable charges.

ADVISORY BOARD:

SIR D. H. McMILLAN, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.
D. W. BOLE, Wholesale Druggist; Chairman of The Winnipeg School Board.
A. M. NANTON, Messrs. Osler, Hammond & Nanton.
H. H. Smith, formerly Dominion Land Commissioner for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

J. W. LANGMUIR, Managing Director.
A. D. LANGMUIR, Assistant Manager
JAMES DAVEY, Manager Winnipeg Branch.

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, and save three Profits.
LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES & GENTS, REAL SWISS, ROLLER BLINDS, BLOUSES, LOOM HOSIERY, GUIPURE D'ART, LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, HOUSEHOLD LINENS

POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

Lot No. 397 contains:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Sent if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $5.10, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability. First Prize Medals, Toronto 1892; Chicago, 1893.

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.

Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP WORKS OF Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM. MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 337 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 332 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the superb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE
GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies.

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

Advertise in The Times.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE

LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Carthagenian .... July 30
Sardinian .... August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT
Sicilian, 6784 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S. S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to V. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to:
W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to
THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

St. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.35 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. For Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, Ont

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

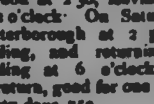
The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15. Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2.30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master



STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. McCLELLAND, Master.

Time table for week ending July 26th
On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00.
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay

ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11 00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	"	7 40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.

MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por. Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.

"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER. N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND,

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets ...... [illegible] a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester ...... [illegible] a.m
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which ticket reads. For further information apply to

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James Swain, Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth on route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager,
Picton, Ont

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Loves own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc., prevents and removes Freckles At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co
103 YONGE ST., TORONTO

IF YOUR DEALER IN PHOTO SUPPLIES IS

UNDER THE THUMB OF THE TRUST

And cannot sell honest Canadian Goods, write to us direct for catalogue, etc., etc.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.
Only Canadian Manufacturers.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS
in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY
OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALENDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

CURE YOURSELF!

[illegible]

Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, [illegible] Circular sent on request.

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE
Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

Too Busy to Write Ads., Because:

The bargains we are giving in Houses and Lots, Garden Lots and Farms, of all sizes and prices, and the easy terms our long experience enables us to arrange for our buyers, keeps our entire staff hustling from early morning until late at night and still our work is only well begun, as new properties are being listed daily. Al are invited to our New Ground Floor Office, so convenient to call when you go to the Post Office, or call up phone 376 for any information desired regarding REAL ESTATE.

T. HURLEY & CO.

LEAD

We carry in stock for immediate shipment:—

PIG LEAD (Any Size Pig)	LEAD WIRE
BLOCK LEAD	LEAD PIPE
BAR LEAD	RIBBON LEAD

It will pay you to get our quotations before purchasing.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

You Are Proud

of your bird. He's a pretty little fellow, and you wouldn't like to lose him. TAKE CARE that he gets no inferior seed. COTTAMS is the best known, and the only safe food for improving the form, plumage and song.

BEWARE of inferior imitations. Be sure "BART COTTAM CO. LONDON" is on label. [illegible] COTTAM SEED [illegible] COTTAM'S BIRD BOOK [illegible]

Personal

HANDSOME Intelligent American Lady worth $50,000 will marry immediately and assist kind husband financially. Address Belle, 131 Van Buren St.

RETIRED MERCHANT, middle age, worth $90,000, seeks at once, poor but faithful wife. Address Mr. Hamilton, 603 Omaha Bl'g Chicago.

Help Wanted.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $16 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mapes & Co., Room 71 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn to printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $10 to $20. Apply to D. Foley, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W Smith Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P.O.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 304 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 304 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 40 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 201 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office.

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Foot Elm.

This is the original and reliable remedy for feet that are blistered, hot, feverish, sweaty, tired, aching, etc.

It gives immediate relief.

It preserves the leather

It is the cheapest because the best. All honest druggists sell it. If any man offers you a substitute for the sake of making a little extra profit out of you, write us about it, giving the name. We will send you the name of some honest dealer in your vicinity who will give you what you ask for.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

THE

PORT HOPE BREWING AND MALTING CO., Ltd

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight or your appetite and digestion need stimulating or are convalesing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

PETERBOROUGH WATER COMMISSIONERS

NOTICE
TO WATER CONSUMERS

Public notice is hereby given that on Sunday next, 27th inst., pumping will be stopped from 6 a. m. until evening, to admit of street connections being made into force main from pumping station.

By order of the Board.

W. HENDERSON,
Superintendent.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 26, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Hurrah for the Printers' Picnic, on Saturday, 2nd August.

—The Council has a number of impending law suits on its hands just now, through the flooding of cellars.

—The regular weekly band concert of the 57th Regimental Band last night in Victoria Park, was largely attended.

—A wheel was "taken" from the Crown Hotel on Monday evening. Its return is requested, and no questions will be asked.

—Little Jack Horner sat in a corner
Watching his chips mount high.
He sat awhile grinning,
Then said: "Ha! I'm winning.
What a wizard at poker am I."

—The water will be turned off from the city mains to-morrow from 6 a.m., until evening. This is done in order to make connection with the pumping main at the corner of Smith and Water streets.

—Today is bargain day at Times Bookstore. Every person making a purchase of 50 cents worth will receive a beautiful picture of our late Queen. A good assortment of everything in the line of stationary and fancy goods to select from. Come early.

—A lively runaway took place on George street north yesterday morning. A horse attached to a buggy in which was seated a man and a boy, took fright and dashed up street. The rig collided with a telegraph pole, and the occupants were thrown out, but fortunately received little injury. The horse was captured a few blocks further on.

—The heavy rains of the past few days have gone against pic-nickers and campers, but they did not quite kill out that sort of pleasure-hunting. A mother, who had been out to a country pic-nic, was seen to strip the frock from one of her children, wring out the water and put it on the little one again. No mere shower can spoil a pic-nic for a woman of such firmness of purpose.

Some Fine Roses

Peterborough has long been noted for its fine roses which are to be seen adorning so many lawns. A prominent Montreal florist stating that the best roses in the world are grown in Canada, particularly the well known "American Beauties." The roses are sent in great numbers to New York, Boston, Washington and other large cities of the United States. The most beautiful rose bush that it's possible to imagine, may be seen on the lawn of Mr. W. H. [illegible], on Macdonald street.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mr. R. Hicks went up to Toronto yesterday.

—Miss E. Burnham is visiting friends in Fenelon Falls.

—Miss Laura and Irene Gray are holidaying at Stony Lake.

—Mrs. Jas. Wharton, Water street, is in Gravenhurst on a visit.

—Mrs. A. Garlick is visiting her brother at Sturgeon Bay.

—Miss Aggie Hall and Mr. Llewellyn Hall, are guests at Forest Nook, Stony Lake.

—Miss Ida Winfield, Victoria Harbor, is the guest of Miss Curry, McDonald street.

—Mr. Thos. E. Sears, of Toronto, was in town yesterday, and gave the Times a call.

—Mr. King Houston and his sister, Miss Houston, are the guests of Mrs. H. LeBrun, Belle Chasse, Stony Lake.

—Miss Jennie O'Brien, of Ashburnham, is spending her vacation with the Misses Bogue, at Chemong.

—Miss Pringle, of Napanee, is spending her holidays in town the guest of her brother, Mr. Gibson Pringle, King street.

—Miss Sim, McDonald street, is spending a week in Toronto, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hamilton.

—Miss Louisa White, Russell street, Lindsay, returned home yesterday after spending the day in town visiting friends.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thomas, of Cleveland, have taken Mr. John McClelland's cottage, at Pompadour Island until September.

—The Misses Horsburgh, of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting their cousins, the Misses Pollock, of Dufferin street, Ashburnham.

—Mr. C. B. Stone, medical student, son of Mr. E. B. Stone, is in Bilton, attending a smallpox case, under the direction of the Provincial Board of Health.

At Home

W. G. Green, tax collector, will be at home every day next week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at his office, 139 Simcoe street, to receive callers desirous of paying taxes. Up to Friday, Aug. 1st, 2 per cent. discount will be granted for the delectation of those of his guests who pay one half or the whole of the taxes on any property.

An Ungrateful Tramp

On Tuesday last a tramp called at a farm house on the borders of North Monaghan, and asked for breakfast. He was given the scythe and asked to work up an appetite while his meal was being prepared. He moved around the yard a time or two and then sat down to a hearty repast. When it was finished he took the scythe again as if to finish the work he had begun, and the trusting housewife went about her domestic duties with increased sympathy for the honest hobo who was not afraid of work. But her sympathy vanished very suddenly when later in the day she discovered that the vindictive wretch, in a spirit of revenge for being asked to work for his breakfast, had gone into the garden and slashed every green thing in sight—corn, cabbage, peas, tomatoes, etc.—off close to the ground. The owner of the farm is authority for this tale of misplaced confidence and we have no doubt in its truth.

THE RETURNED HEROES

The Boys from South Africa Arrived Yesterday Morning

It was unfortunate that the returning South Africa soldiers arrived in town on the early C.P.R. train, instead of the evening, as was expected. They were to have reached Peterborough last evening. A telegram was received that the boys would arrive in the morning, and the big reception which was arranged for them was accordingly off. However, the band turned out, and with a number of the officers of the 57th, met the soldiers at the station.

The following veterans stepped off the train: F. Craig, Geo. Might, W. T. Bradburn, J. Macdonald, Reg. Turner, Fred Hubbs, Percy Price, and Corp. Daniels.

Of those who left Peterborough was Capt. Milligan, who was killed in the Hart's River fight. Sergt. Murphy is still confined to the hospital, and Messrs. Blanchard, Trotter, Dundas, Boyle, Cranfield, Hayward and Sergt. Trassler will arrive here in the course of a few days.

Yesterday the boys were around town shaking hands with their many friends.

The home-coming of Craig was a sad one, his brother having died only two days ago. The boys will attend the funeral of the late Mr. Craig this afternoon in a body.

JUST THINK

One Think When the Food Makes Your Brain Work

The mind does not work properly unless the right kind of food is furnished. A young man studying telegraphy said that his progress was very slow. It seemed impossible for him to pick up the art and understand it.

He suffered continually with stomach trouble, and could not digest his food properly, and he finally got so he could do but little work, and was tempted to give up his studies altogether.

About that time some one told him about the brain food Grape-Nuts, and he went in for it. In a short time a very remarkable change took place. His stomach recovered and he became free from headaches. His hand was no longer nervous and trembling when he used the key, and the whole mystery of telegraphy untangled itself, for, as he says, "I had the mental power to master it, and the understanding came easy when the mind was in poise and strong."

He is now holding a responsible position as an operator.

This is but one of the many illustrations of the advantage of using food purposely manufactured for rebuilding the broken down gray matter in the brain and nerve centres throughout the body. The facts are there, and can be proven to anyone making the trial.

Don't overlook the recipe book in each package of Grape-Nuts.

THREE MONTHS IN JAIL

Mrs. Crossley Sentenced Yesterday by Police Magistrate Dumble

Mrs. Crossly, who was charged with keeping a house of ill-fame, and selling liquor without a license, was sentenced yesterday to three months in jail, and fined $75. If the fine is not paid at the expiration of her term, three months will be added.

The prisoner was defended by Mr. D. O'Connell, and Mr. L. M. Hayes appeared on behalf of the prosecution.

Close Season for Bass

The close season in Ontario for bass may be changed. Many statements have reached the fisheries department at Toronto that bass caught between June 15 when the close season ends and July 1, have in many instances not spawned, and in consequence the close season may be advanced so that fishing may begin on July 1. The Federal Government which fixes the season has the matter under consideration.

SOUTH BURLEIGH.

Rev. Mr. Roadhouse, Methodist pastor for the past year at Apsley circuit, has been sent to Bethany, as assistant to Rev Mr. Robeson. During his term here the several churches have prospered both spiritually and financially. The attendance at Eden church was regular and large, and besides paying the ordinary expenses of the church, there was quite an increase in the subscriptions to the minister's salary. It is expected that in a short time the circuit will be self-supporting.

Mrs. Caldor, of Montreal, is visiting her brother, Mr. Charles Lauder.

Mrs. Curtis, of Warkworth, paid a visit to her brother, Mr. W. Langford lately.

Miss Emma Reid, Rochester, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Reid.

Several of the young people here attended the picnic at Apsley on the 12th of July.

A party from Buckhorn on the Lady of the Lake had a moonlight excursion to Mount Julian Hotel, on Tuesday, 15th and tripped the light fantastic till daylight.

The red cedar store at Mount Julian is well stocked with curios this season and there is also a good stock of groceries, confectionery, and all the usual supplies for campers kept constantly on hand.

WOULD ANNEX CANADA AND STOP FRICTION

A Buffalo Writer Wants Suggestions as to How its to be Done

IT MUST COME, SAYS THE WRITER

"The Way to Annex is to Annex" and Uncle Sam is Asked to Proceed to Work on the Job

Special to The Times.

Buffalo, July 25.—The News today publishes the following letter:

"Does it seem possible that the United States, which controls most of the wealth, shipping and industries of the great lakes, will allow a foreign commercial power much longer to hamper their trade with international regulation, etc., and control the only outlet that goes naturally to the ocean, of States whose population is about six times that of Canada? Why the cities and towns alone of ours on the great lakes will count probably considerably more than the whole Dominion. How are we interested? Well, while Cleveland, according to the census, has a larger population than Buffalo by some 30,000; the Greater Buffalo has nearly 70,000 more than Cleveland, we being the seventh city on the great lakes—or that basis the exact figures by Chicago and immediate environs, 1,900,227, Buffalo and environs, 508,647; Cleveland and environs, 436,150. (Authority, World Almanac, 1902.) I read constantly in your paper pieces about certain routes which must not be because throwing trade by Canadian routes. Now Chicago and Buffalo should take the lead in this matter and why not Buffalo start out with a strong annexation movement? Why we send up and send more tonnage through the Welland than Canada does, and our cities as well as theirs would both prosper with the change. I [illegible], reading in your paper articles on the annexation of more contiguous territory. What we want is the annexation of contiguous territory and making Alaska also contiguous, a place which, according to your paper, takes nearly one third of our exports to our outside territory and this, notwithstanding supplies sent to the Philippines for soldiers, etc. Now, about our exports to Canada. Well in 1890 they were $116,972,884. How does this compare with these non-contiguous countries? Some of us who are strong advocates of Canadian annexation by any proper means are called "Little Americans" by those who would ape English ways of government and growth, it must come; Buffalo will grow in any event, but fancy our position with a city in the near future going from beyond the steel plant to Lewiston, with boats plying on two lakes with the greatest power in the world, that of the Falls. Now with annexation, free transit to all points on the lakes north as well as south, with the Western Peninsula of Ontario the "Garden of Canada," by tributary to us and to Detroit on the west, but naturally more to the city east of it—and the great thing of it is, it would help Canada even more than us. I hear some one ask, "How is this to be brought about?" There are many ways. I write this in the hope that suggestions as to the best way will be offered. If it is inevitable, as many believe, it is better to have it come in a quiet way, though we may at any time with a proper President and Congress demand it if necessary. We could then command the food supply largely of the world. Horace Greely said, "The way to resume is to resume," and "The way to annex is to annex.""

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Bookstore.

KIDNEY TROUBLE CURED.

General Health Greatly Improved by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. FRANCES MATOON.

Mrs. Frances Matoon, Treasurer of the Minneapolis Independent Order of Good Templars writes from 12 Sixth Street, Minneapolis, Minn., as follows:

"Last winter I had considerable trouble with my kidneys brought on after a hard cold which I had neglected. One of my lodge friends who called when I was ill told me of a wonderful medicine called Peruna. I had no faith in it, but my husband purchased me a bottle, and asked me to try it. It brought me most satisfactory results. I used three bottles before I was completely cured, but I have had good cause to be grateful, for not only did my kidney trouble disappear, but my general health improved and I have been in good health ever since. I would not be without it for ten times its cost."—FRANCES MATOON.

This experience has been repeated many times. We hear of such cases nearly every day.

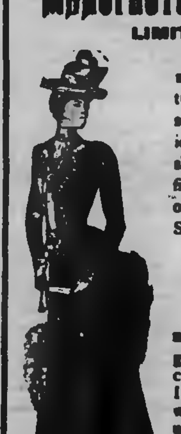
Mrs. Matoon had catarrh of the kidneys. As soon as she took the right remedy she made a quick recovery.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

Peruna is a specific for the catarrhal derangements of women. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio, for free book on catarrh written by Dr. S. B. Hartman.

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.



Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketchbook of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

Leave Your Money In Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

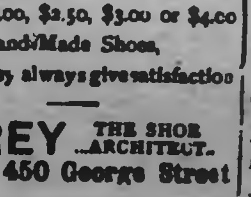
SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL, GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

GET OUR PRICES



O. WILSON & SON
81 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$64.70
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
SAN FRANCISCO and LOS ANGELES CAL., and Return
Going and returning via Detroit and direct United States Lines.

$72.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
SAN FRANCISCO and LOS ANGELES CAL.,
and Return.
Going via Detroit and direct U. S. lines returning via Vancouver and Can. Pac.

Tickets good going July 28th, August 1 to 9th inclusive, valid for return until September 30th, 1902.

Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watch this space for dates and particulars.

Tickets and full particulars from your nearest Canadian Pacific Agent or

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt
1 King St, East, Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 26th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S W
William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at	0c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	48c
Smocks, at	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

If you like Japan tea you will like Green Ceylon better.

RED ROSE TEA

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 38 NO. 172 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO MONDAY JULY 28 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

TRAIN SET ON FIRE, APPALLING SCENES

Four People Dead, Four Missing and Probably are Dead, Ten Injured

Special to The Times.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—A special to the Sentinel from Trebeina, Ohio, says: One of the most appalling wrecks in the history of the Pennsylvania Railway occurred here last night at 10.30, when the limited from St. Louis to New York, with a heavy train, consisting of an engine, two mail cars, day coach and four Pullman sleepers, while running at 70 miles an hour, dashed into a wild flat car loaded with coal coming down grade toward it at a rate of 25 miles an hour. The result was terrible in loss of life and property.

Four people are dead, four missing and probably dead, and ten injured. Three dead bodies have been taken from the wreck, the engineer's body was burned to ashes. Four others are missing. The train was totally consumed by fire, with the exception of the two rear Pullmans. Sixteen persons were injured. Two postal clerks are dead, two others are badly scalded, and eight or more people are more or less hurt.

The crash came in the darkness. The clouds hid the moon, and to add to the horror a gas tank under a coach exploded, and the entire wreck was a mass of flames three minutes after the collision with the runaway coal car.

The dead: Charles McGowan, Greenfield, Ind., railway postal clerk; M. M. Peters, Columbus, Ohio, railway postal clerk; William Clark, Columbus, Ohio, engineer; William Dwyer, Columbus, Ohio, fireman.

The injured: Geo. E. Gifford, Indianapolis, scalded, will recover; William G Forsythe, Indianapolis, scalded and injured internally; Samuel McFadden, Indianapolis, badly cut on head, will recover; Fred Carpenter, Indianapolis, stunned and cut about the head, will recover; others whose names could not be secured.

The little town is three miles west of Xenia. There is a heavy down grade from that city here. While switching coal cars there last night at 10.20 o'clock a loaded flat car got loose and shot down the heavy grade toward this place. The limited express on the Pennsylvania road was speeding on the same track in the opposite direction, at the rate of 70 miles an hour. It was late and Engineer Clark was trying to make up lost time. In the darkness he did not see the coal car coming, or at least saw it too late. His train crashed into the car, and an instant after the entire mass was a burning pile of wreckage. In it were nearly 50 human beings. Ten minutes later all had been taken out of the burning mass but seven. The passengers escaped without clothing, except the seven in the day coach. The survivors stood helpless, and heard the screams of two women and one man pinned down to the wreckage, for whom aid was impossible. For three hours the wreck burned. The Xenia and Drayton fire departments went to the rescue. They could save no life. The body of the engineer was burned so completely that no vestige remains. A few charred bones tell of others' loss of life. William Delore, the fireman, was taken out alive, but lived only 25 minutes. Four postal clerks were in the mail cars. They were Gifford and Forsythe, of Indianapolis; Peters, of Columbus, O., and McGowan, of Greenfield, Ind. The bodies of Peters and McGowan were recovered, badly scalded and mangled.

For an hour the horror-stricken passengers stood horrified about the burning wreck, before help arrived from Xenia. The survivors were taken there, and the injured cared for. Later a special train took the uninjured to Columbus. There is nothing left of the train but two Pullman coaches. Everything else was reduced to charred iron and steel, hissing with the heat under the streams of the fire apparatus.

HAS SPAINS YOUNG RULER GONE INSANE?

Eccentric Behavior of the Royal Youth Causes Great Alarm

THE QUEEN MOTHER'S AGONY

It is Said That He is an Imbecile and is Becoming Very Tyrannical—Insults His Mother

Madrid, July 26.—Many rumors are prevalent here that the eccentric behavior of Alfonso XIII is causing the royal house hold considerable anxiety for the future of the young king.

It is said that after angering the military [illegible] his minister, he is now on strained terms with the queen mother, whom, it is alleged, he has repeatedly insulted.

The king's attitude toward the queen mother is the most severely criticised part of his conduct, for he seems to have lost all sense of the respect due to her, and when in any way crossed by her he is said to become very abusive.

His Word is Law.

The king will have it clearly understood that his word is supreme, and at the most trifling opposition to his whims, he becomes angry.

The most recent of these scenes is said to have nearly resulted in an open rupture between the king and queen mother.

As the story goes, one evening shortly after dinner, the king, disguised as a laborer, slipped away from the palace unrecognized by the guards, and proceeded alone and on foot to the slum quarters of Madrid, where he attended a workingman's ball. He passed the night dancing, drinking and playing and returned to the palace at dawn half intoxicated.

The queen mother spent the night in agony, fancying him the victim of a plot. When she heard of the cause of his absence she felt compelled to remonstrate against conduct so unworthy of a king, and risks so ruthlessly taken with a life on which the present Spanish dynasty depends. She accordingly approached him, and represented to him that he was not only compromising his reputation, but endangering his crown.

Insults His Mother.

It is said that the king, losing his temper, told her to mind her own business and respect his authority like the rest of his subjects.

The queen is reported to have replied that in the eyes of God the son owed submission to his mother. The king, flying into a violent passion, ordered her out of the royal palace.

The queen remaining passive, the king cried violently:

"I shall call my guards to throw you into the streets of Madrid."

He was ringing to give the orders when his confessor succeeded in restoring outward peace.

The queen mother has since then declined to see the king, save in public, and has passed most of her time in prayer. It is said that she thought of retiring from the court but that the king's advisers have persuaded her to remain for the present at least.—Philadelphia Press.

PHILIPPINES WERE COSTLY

More Than 4000 Lives Lost and 2000 Engagements Fought

Washington, D.C., July 26.—Major James Parker, of the adjutant general's office, figures that, during the insurrection in the Philippines, between Feb. 4 1899, the date of the battle of Manila, and April 30, 1902, fixed as the virtual downfall of the insurrection, there were 12,561 engagements or skirmishes. The number of troops that have been transported to the Philippines up to July 16 was 4,135 officers and 123,803 men. The casualties were:

Nature of Death	Officers	Men
Killed or died of wounds	69	900
Died from disease	47	2535
Died from accidents	6	125
Drowned	6	257
Committed suicide	10	73
Murdered	1	82
	139	4015
Wounded	390	2770
Killed, wounded and died from other causes, than disease	[illegible]	4052

BOER PEACE MEETING RECENTLY HELD

Full Particulars of the Gathering of the Burghers

THEY WERE BADLY BEATEN

And Could Resist No Longer—Impossible to Keep Prisoners of War—The Farms and Homes Burned

Special to The Times.

Cape Town, July 28.—The following translation of the resolution passed by the People's Congress at Vereeniging, Saturday, May 31, has been published:

This meeting of Representatives both of the South African Republic and of the Orange Free State held at Vereeniging from May 15 till May 31, 1902, has received with regret the proposal of his Majesty in connection with the cessation of the present hostilities and the communication that this proposal must be rejected or accepted unchanged. It regrets that his Majesty's government have absolutely refused to negotiate with the Government of the two republics on the basis of our independence or to allow our Government to communicate with our delegation. Our nation has always thought that not only on grounds of justice it has a well-founded claim to that independence but also because of its great material and personal sacrifices made for that independence.

This meeting has earnestly considered the state of our country and people and paid special attention to the following facts:

First—That the war policy of the British military authorities has led to the total devastation of the territory of the two republics with the burning of farms, and villages, the destruction of all means of existence and the exhaustion of all resources necessary for the support of our families, the existence of our forces, and the continuation of the war.

Second—That placing our captive families in the concentration camps, has led to an unheard-of state of suffering and disease, so that within a relatively short time about 20,000 of our beloved ones have died there, and the horrible prospect has been opened that in this way our entire race may become extinct.

Third—That the Kaffir tribes within as well as without the limits of the territory are nearly all armed and take a part in the struggle against us, and by committing murders and perpetrating atrocities create an unsupportable state of things in many districts of the two republics, such as quite recently occurred in the district of Vrijheid, where fifty-six burghers were murdered and mutilated on the same occasion in a most horrible manner.

Fourth—That by proclamations of the enemy to which he has already given a commencement of execution the burghers still fighting are threatened with the loss of all movable and immovable property and so with total material ruin.

Fifth—That the conditions of the war have made it impossible for us for a long while to keep the many thousands of prisoners taken by our forces so that we can only inflict small damage on the British forces, whereas the prisoners who are taken by the British forces, are sent abroad, and that after the war has been waging three years only a small part remains of the forces with which we began the war.

Sixth—That this fighting remnant which forms but a small minority of our nation has to fight overwhelming numbers of the enemy, and, moreover, practically exists under conditions of famine and destitution of the necessaries of life, and, notwithstanding our utmost endeavors, and the sacrifice of all that was dear to us, we cannot reasonably hope for ultimate victory.

This meeting, therefore, is of the opinion that there are no reasonable grounds for supposing that this people will retain its independence by continuing the war, and considers that under the circumstances the nation is not justified in continuing the war, as it can only result in the social and material ruin, not only of us, but of our posterity.

Compelled by the above circumstances and considerations, this meeting instructs both governments to accept the proposals of his Majesty's Government and to sign them in the name of the people of both republics.

This meeting expresses its confidence that the conditions called into existence by the acceptance of the proposals of his Majesty's Government may soon be improved in such a manner that we may attain to the enjoyment to those privileges to which it believes itself justly entitled, not only on the grounds of the past, but also of its sacrifices during the war.

This meeting has with great pleasure noted the resolve of his Majesty's Government to extend a great measure of amnesty to such British subjects as have taken up arms on our side and to whom we are attached by ties of blood and honor and expresses the wish that it may please his Majesty still further to extend this amnesty.

MINISTER IN WRONG CHURCH

It Was Baptist Student and Got Into a Presbyterian Pulpit

Louisville, Ky., July 26.—The Rev. Fuller Rice is one of the group of students of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary who are in Louisville during the summer in order that the congregations of that denomination shall not lack for spiritual food during the vacation period of the regular pastors.

Within the past week Mr. Rice has been called on for services in different and widely separated sections of Louisville. His knowledge of the city's topography is not so great as his zeal, and, accordingly when, a few nights ago, he was called upon to speak the Word in the Baptist Church of Parkland, the Rev. Fuller Rice found himself facing a brightly lighted church. Without hesitation the embryo minister passed up the steps, down the aisle and ascended the pulpit.

The congregation watched him with interest, but the emotion excited was not manifest, and the student proceeded at once with his services.

He made an opening prayer and then lined out a hymn and the congregation joined with him. The spirit of reverence was discernable, but the young preacher could not help noticing that the glances in his direction had in them something of inquiry.

As he opened the Bible before him and turned to the words which were to form his text for the evening an elderly man clad in clerical black made his way down the aisle with an air of proprietorship, and the people as they saw him turned with wondering faces to the Rev. Fuller Rice.

"This is my church, sir," said the elder.

"Why, I'm sure that can't be," came the unlooked-for reply. "They told me to come here and preach. I'm from the Baptist Seminary," he added in explanation.

The look of interrogation passed from the minister's face. "The Baptist church is just across the street," he said. "This is the Presbyterian. My brother, I'm afraid you are in the wrong pew."

HORSES FROM CANADA

Col Dent Gives Interesting Statistics on War Office Purchases

Montreal, July 26.—Lieut.-Col. Dent the head of the British army remount commission, who has been in Canada for the past 18 months gave today some figures of deep interest to horsemen. He said:

"From April 1, 1901, to July, 1902, I may say that the purchase of horses their keep, railway freight, and all other expenses, has amounted to $1,615,666. The approximate number of horses purchased in the various provinces was as follows:

Ontario	7,715
Quebec	2,225
Maritime provinces	115
Northwest Territories	886

Making a total of 10,941 horses. Of these 10,717 were shipped to Africa and England, and the remaining 224 were either sold or died before being shipped.

"In addition to the above number purchased in Canada, we also obtained 2,064 horses in the United States, which were shipped to Toronto by the imperial remount commission in the United States. Of these 1,966 were shipped to England, 39 died while in Canada, and the remainder were sold at auction at Toronto, and Montreal, by order of the war office."

He added that in future 500 horses would be bought annually in Canada.

CHINESE REBEL AGAINST TAXATION

Boxer Indemnity Leads to Uprising—Boxers Still Busy

Special to The Times.

Boston, Mass., July 26.—As a result of the attempt of the Government to collect a tax with which to pay the Boxer indemnity, according to the report of Rev. F. M. Chapin, of the American Board's North China Mission, an uprising has taken place to the west of Lin-Ching. Mr. Chapin says says that thousands of troops have been sent to suppress the uprising, but at last accounts had not succeeded. Mr. Chapin adds that in one district Boxers are still carrying arms and oppressing Christians, and robberies and kidnappings are frequent.

Malt Breakfast Food Constantly Receiving The Most Flattering Indorsements

None of Greater Value Than That of the President of the Widely Known Ralston Health Club

The Ralston Health Club is the largest organization that has ever existed for the purpose of inculcating correct methods of living. Their books relating to diet, exercise, bathing, etc., are followed by thousands. The president, Mr. Webster Edgerly, writes as follows:

"We have been using your breakfast cereals, and have given your Malt Breakfast Food a thorough test. After consulting with a leading chemist, who has analyzed it, we are about to call the attention of the Ralstonites to the Food, which will probably increase the sale many thousands of dollars. We do this freely and will not accept any remuneration, directly or indirectly, our sole purpose being to help the public to get pure goods."

Winnipeg's Oarsmen

Winnipeg, Man., July 26.—The Winnipeg Rowing club's representatives for the C. A.A.O. regatta leave today for Brockville. the four-oared crew is represented by Riley (stroke), Johnston, Bate and Richards (bow). The oarsmen are in good condition and have high hopes of returning [illegible].

KRUGER'S OX WAGGON

Lord Kitchener Has Presented it to the City of London

Special to The Times.

London, July 28.—The lord Mayor announced that Lord Kitchener has offered to give the city of London a fully-equipped ox wagon, formerly belonging to President Kruger of the Transvaal, in which a pom.-pom was mounted during the war, and that the offer had been accepted.

FINDS LEPROSY CURE

Honolulu Board of Health Will Test Its Curing Properties

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 23. The secretary of the interior has forwarded to the board of health of Honolulu samples of an alleged cure for leprosy submitted by a Brooklyn physician on behalf of a fellow practitioner abroad.

The board has agreed to use the samples in their experimental research and the treasury department has authorized the admission of the samples at Honolulu free of duty.

The boards of health of San Francisco and New Orleans also will be asked to test the alleged cure.

A WIDE PATROL

Each South African Constabulary Squad Covers a Distance of 500 Miles

Ottawa Citizen: Trooper D. McColl, of the South African Constabulary, writing from Woonderfontein to his mother, Mrs. N. McColl, 575 Somerset st., stated that the constabulary had started on police duty patrolling from Brandford on the south to Kroonstadt. Each squad has 500 miles to patrol. He considered himself lucky to be assigned to a patrol squad for many of the constabulary were ordered to remain at Smaldul, a place rather smaller than Jacobsdal.

NO CORONATION EXCITEMENT

Little Sign of Official or Social Interest in the Coming Event

London, July 26. There are no signs as yet of interest in the coronation ceremonies on Aug. 9. Apprehensions prevail in court circles that the attendance of peers and members of the House of Commons may fall below what is fitting to the occasion. Private pressure is being worked to insure the presence of peers and members of the House of Commons. Scarcely one-fifth of the latter have signified intention to be present, and fashionable persons like the Devonshires and Rothschilds announce that their invitations to view the procession have been cancelled. Seats on stands opposite the Abbey which sold some time before the postponement of the coronation at prices ranging from 5 to 25 guineas, can now be had at from 1 to 5 guineas.

LIVED A DUAL LIFE

Married Two Men and Divided Her Time Between Two Homes

Winsted, Conn., July 26.—Mrs. Susan Brady, young and attractive, is said to be one of the cleverest bigamists this state ever produced. Neither of her two husbands desire to prosecute her even should her whereabouts be come known.

Frederick Brady, of Norfolk, Conn., is husband No. 1, and Samuel K. Edwards, of Springfield, Mass., is husband No. 2. In 1892 Mrs. Brady was married to Brady at Millerton, N.Y., One child was born to them. Mrs. Brady, whilst visiting in Springfield was joined in wedlock to Edwards.

Mrs. Brady, or Edwards, divided her time between her home in Springfield and the one in Norfolk up to within a month ago, when Edwards learned that his wife had a husband and son living in Norfolk. He went to her with the story, but she did not deny it. Brady recently heard that his wife had another husband living in Springfield, and when he asked her if the report was true she said it was. Brady will sue for divorce.

The fair bigamist, before taking her departure, told a friend she might have to serve a year or two in prison, but she would not mind that.

A HIGH CLASS INVESTMENT

Graham County Mining Company's Splendid Proposition

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the above Company, to be found elsewhere in this issue of The Times. The Company is controlled by men of the highest reputation and business integrity. The corporation own a large and valuable property, consisting of gold and copper mines, covering about 540 acres of mineral land, and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal franchises, they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona. The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumberances or liens against the property. Already over $160,000 has been expended in development. There is no promoters' stock, so that all who invest are in on the ground floor.

The proceeds of the present sale of stock will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

The proposition is well worthy of the attention of those who are looking for a safe and profitable investment.

General - Sports

LACROSSE.

The T.A.S. lacrosse team will cross sticks with the Orillia team a week from today.

BOWLING.

Arrangements have been made for a grand bowling tournament on Tuesday evening next in order that the members of the club may have the pleasure of entertaining their Vice-President, Dr. Moher, previous to his departure from Peterborough. It is hoped that every member who can possibly be present will be on the grounds.

Amongst the rinks playing on the green last night were the following:

S A Oke,	A N Otherm,
Kitely	H Runnals,
E W Cox	J M McIntyre,
R Waddell, sk...10	G Giroux, sk......11

A match of president vs vice-president will be played Mr. Giroux leading the President's players in the absence of Mr. Robert Kerr. The draw has been made as follows, the numbers starting from the right.

President.	Vice-President
1 Geo. Giroux	Dr Moher
2 B W Cox	W Pringle
3 H Rush	F J Bell
4 R. Waddell	R J Frost
5 W Salisbury	A Elliott
6 E G Complin	Fred Dixon

The play is to start at 7 o'clock promptly and the skips are asked to see that their players are ready to begin at that hour.

Refreshments will be served during the evening and every bowler is asked to be present.

BASEBALL.

On Saturday afternoon the Lilies played the return match with the Shamrocks, and defeated them badly, the score being 21 to 10. The losers thought they had a snap, as they are trimming everything right along, but they have met their Waterloo.

The following is the line-up:

Lilies. — W. Thornton, c played an excellent game; H. Bartly, 1b, P. Adamson 2b, H. Staunton s.s., J. Sanderson, 3b, played well; G. Macdonald, rf, T. Henderson c.f., the game of the day; S. Canniff lf., did splendid work in the field; J. Jeffries, p.

Shamrocks—Simson p, Watson c, played a good game; W. Graham 1b, D. Duncan 2b., S. Larocher s.s., R. Sawes 3b, B. Gays rf, M. Sharp cf, F. Mulhern lf, did some good fielding.

The Lilies would like a game with the Excelsiors soon.

STARTLING STATE OF AFFAIRS IN MANCHURIA

Russia Treated with Brigans who Made a Business of Blackmailing Traders

Special to The Times.

London, July 26.—An interesting story is told in the report of Consul Hosie of Newchwang, received by the British Foreign Office. Discussing the Russian occupation of Manchuria, he says:

The disbandment of the greater part of the native soldiery—the only police of the country—by the order of the Russian military authorities when they occupied Manchuria in 1900, let loose many thousands of armed men, who forthwith preyed upon trade and continue, as avowed brigands or in the guise of insurance guilds, to rob and blackmail farmers and traders, and to terrorize the country generally. So formidable did these brigands become in the east and southern provinces—the leader had a following of some 7,000 men—that the Russian authorities deemed it advisable to treat with and employ them as police. So rife was brigandage on the Liao River, the great summer commercial waterway of Manchuria, that joint Chinese and Russian expeditions were organized to protect the junk traffic, but the brigands were so well posted in their movements that they were able to blackmail boats even under convoy and retire, if considerably distrest, at the approach of the troops, only to return to their work as soon as the latter had passed. No serious attempt was made to suppress brigandage and the protection afforded to trade was so ineffective that an arrangement was ultimately come to with the brigands whereby each boat paid to the junk hongs in this port the sum of two dollars, and was provided with a pass, the production of which ensured immunity from blackmail on at least the lower section of the river but the full benefit of the arrangement was lost, owing to its having been concluded too late in the season and to its having been concluded too late in the season and to its restrictive sphere of protection. When navigation ceased owing to ice the brigands retired from the river and settled down as blackmailers in the country to the west of the Liao and that part of the province is now so demoralized owing to the inadequate native police force decreed by the military occupants that robbery is considered not more discreditable than agricultural labor. When peace and good order are restored the money market is expected but the insecurity that has prevailed in Manchuria throughout the year has so disorganized the finances of this port that the quarterly settling days had to be deferred and the balancing of accounts by payments of hard silver had to be postponed, as ready money could be had only at very high interest.

A Vacation Full of Health, Rest and Enjoyment

To plan a summer vacation that shall bring the maximum of rest, health and comfort, with the minimum of expense is not always easy. Fortunately, the opportunities for rest and recreation within the reach of all are becoming more numerous each year through the energetic efforts of some of the leading railway lines to make known the attractiveness of places somewhat remote from "the busy haunts of men."

There is no region in the world which offers so many attractions to the vacationist who loves the untouched beauties of nature as can be found in that extensive tract in Canada known as the Muskoka Lakes District. This region, including within its boundaries more than eight hundred (800) lakes and rivers, is situated in the northern part of Ontario, east of Georgian Bay; north of Lake Ontario. The point of embarkation for the trip on the Muskoka Lakes is one hundred and twelve miles from Toronto, and is reached by the Grand Trunk Railway.

The lakes in this vast region which stand out in more prominence than the others are the Muskoka Lakes, composed of three bodies of beautiful, translucent water, their names being Lake Muskoka, Lake Rosseau, and Lake Joseph, all three being connected and giving a continuous steamboat route of more than fifty miles. Being at an altitude of one thousand feet above the sea-level, this region is peculiarly suited by the purity of the air to bring health and strength to those whose physical and mental natures have become exhausted through too close application to indoor work.

Rates at the hotels are unprecedentedly low, and the accommodation excellent.

For full information address G. T. Bell, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Grand Trunk Railway System, Montreal, Canada.

THE ENGLISH REJOICED BUT THE DUTCH WEPT

The King's Illness--Another of the Landmarks of Venice Threatens to Collapse

Special to The Times.

Montreal, July 26.—A very interesting letter has been received by friends in Montreal from Miss Blythe E. M. Burney, one of the Canadian teachers in South Africa, in which she describes the incidents of their journey and their arrival at their destination.

"Four of us, three Montrealers and a Toronto girl, were to be sent to East London, in Cape Colony, but as some of our trunks failed to appear we had to wait on the Gaul till they were found.

"We had a grand send-off from the Gaul, and boarded the Norman, which proceeded around the coast to East London. We tried to land at Port Elizabeth but were turned back, as our permits did not read "East London and other ports." These permits are a nuisance. When we arrived at East London no one was there to meet us, so we drove to the 'swell' hotel there and waited for some one to look us up. Early Monday afternoon our inspector called and said there had been a mistake about meeting us. We left, with Miss Pugh-Jones as chaperon, for Kubusie, our destination; Miss Pugh-Jones is a graduate of Oxford, and a highly accomplished and charming person. I forgot to say that the very day we set foot in East London the terms of surrender were signed by Botha and de Wet.

"Kubusie camp is beautifully situated in a little hollow. There are 1,000 people, 400 of whom are school children. We have a dear little house of our own, containing six bedrooms, a dining room, parlor, spare room, kitchen, pantry, bathroom, with bath and shower bath, scullery, and a back and front verandah. We have a cook and housemaid and every comfort. The camp is the healthiest and one of the prettiest in South Africa. A few yards away the little Kubusie river winds in and out among the green fields. From the banks of the river a little bank rises, covered with numerous trees, shrubs and palms, and peeping through the branches we can see the railway station.

"We teach from 9.30 in the morning till 1 p.m., with three-quarters of an hour intermission. The children have been a delightful surprise. Many of them have been to school in Cronstadt and know English quite well. Saturday the 7th June we went to Captain Brackenbury's house to hear the terms of surrender read. The military, nurses, and teachers took up their position on the verandah, or, as they call it here, the stoop. Below stood a mass of Boers. The Dutch minister spoke a few words, the terms were read, and then the minister prayed. The Boer men and women were moved to tears.

"Sunday and Monday were declared days of thanksgiving, and were spent by the English in rejoicing, but by the Dutch in mourning. Tuesday we opened school with an attendance of 400. Wednesday it rained so hard that the river overflowed its banks. Few children appeared, and those who did were so wet that we were compelled to send them home. Today the captain sent us word not to open school as no one would be there."

Bloemfontein, July 20.—The question of the settlement of British farmers on the land in this colony has now entered the sphere of practicability. The subject is one which presents many difficulties. Pastoral farming, which is here the stable type, necessitates huge farms, and also encourages a state of idleness among the farmers themselves. By placing settlers on large farms their influence is rendered practically nil, since there is necessarily little opportunity for intercourse with their neighbors.

Mr. H. J. Goold-Adams, the Lieutenant-Governor has therefore decided on a policy of small farms in cases of settlers taking up Government lands. He has at his disposal nearly 200,000 acres which he is increasing by purchase and by the lapse of leases of Government farms.

At present there exist altogether 160 settlers comprising those belonging to Scottish Associational colonists from over sea and others who served in the late campaign. They are being given an opportunity of studying the new features of farming in South Africa, pending their taking up farms permanently. Subject to the approval of the home authorities farms will be given to such settlers, (if approved) on lease or purchase terms, the purchase price being equivalent to thirty years' rent.

The difficulty now arises that small farms are unable to feed sufficient stock to pay a fair profit, but the Government's intention to encourage agriculture. In order to favor this end an engineer has been appointed to survey the Government property for the purpose of devising a scheme of irrigation, whereby a great proportion of the land can be brought under cultivation. The scheme is one which promises success.

There is no doubt that the slipshod methods of farming generally adopted by the Boers has resulted in a vast amount of land being left practically unproductive. It is to be hoped that British enterprise will help to remove this state of things, and signs are not wanting that such enterprise is likely to be applied. Three thousand applications for farms have been received from intending British settlers, nearly all with capital. One of the most enthusiastic supporters of the scheme of settling British emigrants on the land, Mr. Abe Bailey, is desirous of furthering the scheme by purchasing land both in the Orange River Colony and in the Cape Colony, with the object of placing such indigent settlers on it. Everything will be provided for them until they are able to support themselves, and they will be allowed to purchase their farms on easy terms.

Venice, Italy, July 26.—A commission has ordered that the tower of St. Stefano be demolished, as it threatens to fall. The houses near it have been evacuated. Three hundred thousand volumes in the library of the ducal palace are being removed, as it is feared they form a danger to the back of the facade. Inspection shows that the church of St. Mark is in good order, though the galleries have been closed. An inspection of the Procuratie Vecchie, on the north side of the piazza of St. Mark, shows that the columns of the arcade are supporting all they can bear in the building alone. Heavy merchandise, wooden, and marble statuary stored on the first floor are to be removed by order of the authorities. Several houses in the Giorgio Rezzonico are to be [illegible].

London, July 26.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says the Duchess D'Orleans has left the capital to meet the Duke. Serious efforts have been made to arouse popular interest in the Duchess but all have signally failed. There is no doubt, however, that her presence has roused the representatives of the reactionary parties from their lethargy, one result being a vain effort on the part of some Parisian society women to compromise Mme. Loubet, as well as the President, by attempting to interview Mme. Loubet on the subject of the Government's action regarding the law of associations. The correspondent says the present situation is a pretext for a desperate, and to some degree, dangerous attempt to stir up popular emotion for political ends. A despatch quoted by the Vienna correspondent of the Times says that when the Duchess D'Orleans visited Versailles she showed the greatest interest in the apartments of Marie Antoinette, and burst into tears while the conservator was narrating the Queen's fate. The Duchess, in order to conceal her emotion, went out on the balcony, where she remained a long time.

LORD LISTER'S COMFORTING STATEMENT.

London, July 26.—Lord Lister, in his speech last night, at the Athenaeum Club's banquet to members of the new court of merit, said that in his opinion, no indiscretion was committed in fixing August 9 as the date for the coronation on King Edward.

Paris, July 26.—A Cabinet Council at the Elysee Palace yesterday examined the questions brought up by the application of the law of associations. President Loubet signed a decree submitted by the Premier, M. Combes, ordering the forcible closure of 26 Congregationalist schools in Paris and in the Department of the Seine, which have refused to disperse voluntarily. Decrees forcibly closing similar schools in other departments will be signed as soon as the prefects' reports are received.

A serious situation is prevailing in the Catholic country of the unauthorized schools. The countryside has taken up arms, and is determined to resist any attempt at the forcible execution of the orders of the Premier.

An incident yesterday evening at St. Meen, 15 miles from Brest, shows the spirit of the peasantry. Two newspaper men of Brest drove out there in an automobile to investigate the situation at the Sisters' school. Immediately after they had entered the commune a boy sounded a bugle, and crowds of peasants swarmed from the fields, armed with pitchforks and ironbound sticks, shouting, "Long live the Sisters!" "Long live liberty!" One of the reporters was dragged from the automobile and beaten with pitchforks and sticks. The newspaper man explained in the Breton dialect that he had only come in search of information, but the crowd refused to listen to him and he had to keep them at bay with a revolver. He succeeded in regaining the automobile, and rode off at full speed, followed by a shower of stones.

A school at Ploudaniel in the same neighborhood, has been converted into a fortress, barricades have been erected, and the inhabitants have formed a cordon about the surrounding area. The Lady Superior said, "You see our barricades. They must shoot us before we yield. There will be bloodshed if any one attempts to enter." Placards have been posted in the townships, urging resistance to the police.

The population of Landerneau, twelve miles from Brest, has formed relays to guard the school, and peasant women sit on benches opposite the gate, knitting, while awaiting the coming of the gendarmes. They are excited, and desire they prefer to be shot rather than abandon the sisters.

The lady superintendent of the Landerneau convent said:—"Like true Bretons we will only yield to force. The women and other people who are guarding the school night and day have given us a courageous example."

The population of Roscoff is guarding the schools day and night. Sentinels are watching the roads, and men are sleeping on the ground in the neighborhood in order to be ready at the first alarm.

St. Petersburg, July 26.—A special despatch received here from Seoul, Corea, announces the conclusion of an important agreement between the British and Japanese Ministers to Corea on one hand, and the Japanese Councillor Kato, special adviser of the Corean Emperor on the other, by which Great Britain and Japan mutually guarantee Corea's independence, and pledge her their support and assistance in all important questions affecting her international and foreign policy. Corea, in return, agrees to raise her naval and military establishments to a footing sufficient for her own defence, and also in case of raising a foreign loan she agrees to restrict herself to the markets of Great Britain, Japan and the United States. She further agrees that no foreigners shall be appointed to positions in the Corean State service, that measures shall be immediately taken for the protection of Corean territory, and that a protest shall be immediately be made against any State or persons attempting to erect works or buildings situated so as to prejudice Corea's scheme for national defence.

Cures of St. Anne

Special to The Times.

Kankakee, Ill., July 26.—Today was St. Anne's day and thousands of Roman Catholics within a radius of 200 miles celebrated the occasion by joining in the eleventh annual pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Anne, near this city. The shrine, which has become famous the country over, is located in the French Catholic church in the village of St. Anne, about twelve miles from here. The shrine contains a relic in a bone supposed to have been taken from the head of St. Anne. Many stories are told of marvelous miracles performed through the intercession of the saint at the pilgrimages, and each year on St. Anne's day the devout French Catholics journey to the shrine to worship at the relic of their patron saint and today [illegible] crippled, so that they [illegible] the benefits [illegible] by her [illegible].

ACCURATE AND ABLE

are the words best fitted in describing our "Daily Market Letter" issued free every afternoon. It is conservatively and carefully edited by people of ripe experience in Wall Street matters; so prepared as to best assist the speculator in making his ventures profitable. Our 250 pages, cloth bound, illustrated

"Guide to Investors,"

we publish for free distribution, to enable our large and growing clientele, to participate in the great profits distributed annually, through the medium of dealing on the large and increasing number of Stock Exchange securities.

Orders executed for any amount for cash or on very moderate margin.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.
Established 1890.
Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Peterborough, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

COMMISSION ONE EIGHTH—The only licensed U.S. Stock Brokerage Corporation in business by permission of the Royal Government of the Province of Ontario.

W. F. NELSON, Peterborough.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	5.10 p.m.	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.13 a.m.	7.23 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Portland, Boston	5.10 a.m.	11.35 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.35 a.m.	5.10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate	7.36 p.m.	7.13 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West	11.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	4.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	5.00 p.m.	5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.35 p.m.	11.40 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	1.30 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	2.10 a.m.	5.35 a.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	5.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	3.30 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.35 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.00 p.m.	6.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Oshawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at [illegible] per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 28, 1902.

LORD METHUEN

Upon Lord Methuen's arrival at Corsham court, his Wiltshire home, he was accorded a hearty welcome and presented with an address to which he replied with characteristic modesty and a generous recognition of the bravery of the men whom he had the honor to command in South Africa. He said:

I can only say that I have done my duty to the best of my ability in novel warfare, and I feel sure that every man who has served under me has endeavored to do and has done his duty in the same manner as an Englishman always does. I shall consider it the honor of my life, not only to have commanded Englishmen, but also to have had under my command a very large number of colonials, both from Australia and New Zealand. It has been a war which, as I have said to you, has been waged in novel ways, and I do not intend now, nor do I intend during the rest of my life, ever to fight my battles over again. All I can say to you is that the criticisms that you may have read have been perhaps many and strong, but you may depend upon it that this country has never been represented by an army which has had better and braver men.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Philadelphia physician who attended Magee, the Pittsburg millionaire, in his last illness, sent in a bill of $190,000. The executors were not so easy, and they declined to pay the amount. The doctor sued and now the court has given judgment for $30,000. If this doctor would put on the market the nerve tonic that he uses he might soon become a millionaire.

Generals Botha and Delarey have sailed for Europe, each with a collection plate in his hand. Now is the time for the impassioned lovers of liberty on the continent to discover that the Boer oligarchy was really a despotism. The note of sympathy with the Boers was loud enough in its time; but it was not the kind of a "note" that you discount for cash.

London, July 26.—Every effort is being made to take home as quickly as possible the Boer prisoners still at St. Helena and Ceylon, and by the end of the month a uniform rate of return of 1,000 a week will be established, which will soon be doubled. It is hoped that all will be home by November. Preparations are being made for the passage of 3,000 persons through Harrismith, en route for the farms during the next eight weeks. From Harrismith they will proceed by train to Elands River, thence by ox or mule transportation to Bethlehem, Reitz and [illegible] districts.

OLD CRIME OF TRACY'S

Murder of Jos. Blackburn at Gordon, Wis., Thought to Be Work of Famous Fugitive.

Stillwater, Minn., July 26. — About four years ago residents in the vicinity of Gordon, Wis., were startled by the murder of Joseph Blackburn who had resided in that vicinity for many years and was well acquainted with everybody. He kept a store and a stopping place and was supposed to have considerable money.

Everything possible was done to apprehend the guilty party, but he was never brought to justice and there is now a supposition on the part of the people who knew Blackburn and the circumstances surrounding his murder, that the deed was committed by Harry Tracy, the Oregon outlaw who disappeared from the vicinity of Blackburn's home at about the time the murder was committed.

They say that Tracy's right name is Severance and that his home was near Gordon.

EXPECT A BUMPER CROP

The Outlook in Manitoba is for a Yield of 25 to 30 Bushels to the Acre

Winnipeg, July 26. — Authoritative reports which are now reaching Winnipeg from various sections of the country corroborate the general impression already current that the crop is likely to be an exceptionally fine one. The general yield is likely to be 25 to 30 bushels per acre of wheat, from the most conservative estimates, while barley will probably run as high as 60, and oats 75. From the central portion of Manitoba, including the vicinity of Wawanesa, Belmont, Elgin and Minto, reports are most encouraging. The crops of all kinds are said to be in excellent condition, and the yield of all grains is expected to be very high. The same condition is found in the Brandon and Portage plains, where, as well as in the Carman district, the prediction is made that the yield will exceed that of last year should the weather of the next two weeks prove favorable. The northern part of the province appears to reflect the bright prospects of that section south of the main line of the C.P.R., and in the Dauphin country, where the damage by rains was supposed to be the greatest, the good average crop of twenty bushels to the acre is expected. West of there, in the Gilbert Plains district, the outlook is even better. The whole tenor of the reports received from correspondents of the government and railway companies is that if the present weather continues, the season will be as successful in every respect as that of last year, and probably more so.

A Sure Cure for Constipation

Some remedies cure this distressing complaint in a day, some in a month, but Nerviline never fails to cure it in a few minutes. Just ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water—that's enough, and away goes the dysentery, cured to stay cured. Nerviline also cures cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach and Sick Headache. It has five times the strength and curative properties of ordinary remedies, and should be in every household. Better buy a 25c. bottle and try it. Nerviline is all right.

Hamilton's Pills for the Liver.

A MOTHER'S HEROISM

She Rushes into Her Burning House and Rescues Her Little Ones.

Salisbury, Pa., July 22—A gas stove exploding in the kitchen of A. J. McCurdy's home this morning destroyed three buildings. When the blaze was at its height Mrs. McCurdy thought of her two sleeping children, and rushed through the flames, into the house, and up the stairway to the second floor. Grasping Raymond, aged 3 years, by the hand, and lifting her 3 months old babe in her arms, she attempted to fight her way through the thick smoke down the stairway. She was compelled to retrace her steps, and appeared at the second story window. A number of firemen called at her to throw the boy to them, as they had formed a human net. The brave woman did as requested, and the little fellow landed safely upon the shoulders of several men. Mrs. McCurdy, with her babe clasped to her breast, leaped, and was caught by several men. The woman's eyebrows and hair were singed. In the meantime her husband, not knowing of his wife's daring rescue, entered the burning house, and was severely burned before he made his exit. Several firemen were injured. After the fire started it spread to the homes of Charles Kern and A. B. Lyons, causing a total loss of $6,000, partly covered by insurance.

A RARE OPERATION

Ottawa, July 25.—A somewhat remarkable operation was performed a few days ago at the General hospital, Water street, in a critical case, in which the patient now gives every evidence of a recovery. A young woman named Grimes, belonging to Lower Town had been troubled for a year or so, with a severe affection of one of the lungs, and consumption of the organ had set in. The girl was treated in several places but was sinking when brought to the hospital recently. There she was put under an anaesthetic, two ribs over the lung were cut out and the diseased part of the lung was removed. The operation was performed successfully by Dr. Dewar assisted by two house surgeons, and the patient is not only recovering, but has gained five pounds in flesh since the operation.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. L. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mr. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendry.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. F. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Jumbey, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill, Garvin, R. A. Fair, Weeks, Davis and Birdsall, Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. A. Sandford.

To Invade the United States.

A recent issue of The Philadelphia Press contained an account of an interesting enterprise undertaken by Mr. Alfred Mosely, an Englishman, who has gained great wealth in South Africa. The Press says:—

In November next by the best of ocean steamships, and at the most luxurious of American hotels, and on the finest of special trains, there is to be made out of England an invasion of the United States. At the personal expense of Alfred Mosely this invading force is to be organized, maintained and transported, a force of 120 leaders, forty of them conspicuous in the world of educational affairs, forty more being men of authority in the trade unions of Great Britain, and forty more being capitalists. The visit will be prolonged until January of next year, and when this company returns to England it is expected that their fellow-citizens will be enlightened as to those mystic influences which have made it possible for the United States to gain equal rank with other nations in world affairs and in many things preeminent rank.

Mr. Mosely was one of the invited guests at the installation of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler as President of Columbia University last Saturday. He sat with that representative and distinguished group, which, as a whole, was a composite representative of all the intellectual and material influences that have made the United States what the nation is to-day. He was peculiarly impressed by the ceremony, and especially by the presence, in enthusiastic accord and sympathy, with all that the election and installation of Dr. Butler means, of men of affairs, men of distinction in commerce, in manufacture, in applied science, and in finance. That was something to which celebrations at English or European universities, of which Mr. Mosely has had knowledge, can offer no counterpart. In the presence and in the enthusiasm of these men he discovered one of the reasons why the United States has been and is now passing by unconscious promotion from the rear rank of nations to a place of supremacy.

He was reminded of the attempt made by the Duke of Devonshire a few years ago when one of the ancient and most famous of the English universities, finding itself in some pecuniary need, made appeals for help. The Duke undertook to raise a considerable fund, having in mind as much as $300,000, American money. But when he turned to the men of commerce he found them deaf. When he appealed to the financiers he discovered that they looked upon the university as something apart in all its influences and scope from their vocation. When he approached the manufacturers he learned that even Oxford with its venerable traditions was for them a mere incident in the national life of Great Britain. So that, having at last secured a scanty $50,000, the Duke abandoned his undertaking. And Mr. Mosely, after he had identified the various personalities prominent in finance and in all material activities who shared in the installation ceremonies of last Saturday, discovered one of the reasons why Oxford and Cambridge are, comparatively speaking, dead, so far as their influence upon the prosperity and advancement of Great Britain are concerned. Nor was he surprised when he was told that had an American prince of finance been appealed to as the Duke of Devonshire was some years ago, he would have, and many times in recent years he has within a day or a week or a brief time, secured the hundreds of thousands, and even millions, that the university needed. Columbia itself had an experience of that kind last winter.

Mr. Mosley might have been told—perhaps he was—of a recent experience of Yale's young president. It seemed to Arthur Hadley that there ought to be raised for Yale, so that administrative and other convenient buildings might be constructed, $1,000,000, and he hoped that it would be possible for him to announce at the bi-centennial that this money had been pledged. He had not then learned the art of approach, however, or the manner by which rich men make up large funds, so that he began to despair of success. Then one day he met an alumnus of Yale, M.C.D. Borden, a man of wealth, and to him Mr. Borden said in effect; "You are not doing this the right way. What you want first is a nucleus of, say, $500,000, secured from a few men, and when you have got that there will be no trouble about the rest."

"But who is to form this nucleus?" President Hadley asked; and Mr. Borden replied, "I will. I will begin it with $100,000. To-morrow I will see Mr. Vanderbilt and one or two others." And on the next day in less than five minutes' chat with Frederick W. Vanderbilt Mr. Borden had secured his pledge of $100,000, Mr. Vanderbilt's only comment being, "It will give me great pleasure to do it," and a day or two later two others were secured pledging a like amount, and at last James J. Hill, and thus President Hadley had his nucleus of $500,000 and it was a mere detail to secure the rest.

Such an experience, according to Mr. Mosely's view, would have been impossible in Great Britain, even for Oxford or for Cambridge, and these institutions staggering under land poverty and the indifference to them of the powerful men of material affairs in Great Britain cannot in Mr. Mosely's view, or in that of American educators, even though stimulated by the endowments made possible by the will of Cecil Rhodes, give to American youths that training, experience, and character which they may obtain at home, and which they need, if they are to be of service in their day and generation. In fact, the American youth would probably do better were they to attend some of the universities in the greater cities of England, for some of the quickening influences of modern times has been felt in these institutions.

The sowing of seed by hand is not an economical method, as more seed is required than when a drill is used, and there is a larger return from the drill, owing to better covering of the seed and greater uniformity of depth. The drill has been improved to a high degree of efficiency, and some have fertilizer attachments. In all experiments made to determine the comparative value of the drill and hand seeding a less quantity of seed, carefully drilled in, yielded more bushels per acre, in proportion to seed used, than seeding by hand.

Electric Lamps
25c each
Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

SPARE ST. JACOBS OIL
SUFFER
RHEUMATIC PAINS

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A. Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average .... Profit $1,050
or $2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $5,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnel and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000
The American Cotton Co.
3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905
Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.
INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST
IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.
Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:
JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr. Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS
Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres., Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R. FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K. JONES, Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P. COOPER, Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
50 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers: LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

THE ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.
MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each. I have analysed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 99/100 to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE. ALL FURNISHINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 363 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world. Well written, original stories. Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year
Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER
—OF—
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class deals

STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you, you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor, Ont. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX ST. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

Genera Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets

JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	[illegible]

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent. paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager

Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

Office—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

HENRY S. MARA. ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits.

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO

MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME!

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jno. J. Rutherford & Son 216 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
38 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 467 Broad)
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold properties on the Pacific coast. Stock now 25c cash, 35c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 215 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 369 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. E. Bradburn, B.A.

March for the Printers' Picnic, on Saturday, 2nd August.

A BOER GENERAL TALKS IN MINNEAPOLIS

Louis Villers Says the Burghers Looked to United States for Help

IS GLAD THE WAR IS OVER

Says That This Opinion is Shared in by a Large Majority of His Countrymen

Special to The Times.

St. Paul, Minn., July 26. — Louis Viller, an ex-Boer soldier, arrived in this country but ten days ago, and is en route to the far west, where he goes to inspect lands for prospective Boer colonists, who are planning on coming to this country to build new homes for themselves. Mr. Villers served in many engagements. He says that he is heartily glad that the war is ended, and that he takes no stock in the rumors that a large portion of the Boers resent the declaration of peace and will keep alive smoldering fires of rebellion in South Africa.

"I know that the great majority of the Boer people rejoice that peace has at last come to South Africa. I do not mean by this that they regret their fight. They made a glorious fight for their liberties and impressed the entire civilized world with their heroism and prowess, but the fight was useless. Things had come to a pass when there was nothing left to fight for. The long er we fought, that much more suffering and hardship there would be, and that much harder it would be to begin our life over again, and build up our sorely stricken country.

"Yes, we were disappointed that we did not receive help from some outside nation, but we did not begin the war expecting any such help. We looked more to the United States for such help than we did for any other nation because of your traditions of liberty, and because we were making the same fight that you were, and against the same power. We had the satisfaction of knowing that your people were with us if your government was not.

"I think it is safe to say that thousands of Boers will turn their steps toward this country. Many of them are left penniless by the war; many have no kindred left, they have little heart to begin the fight again in their old home, and will return west in search of new fortune. I am now on a mission of inspection, and next spring I shall bring a large colony of Boers into this western country to settle upon farms. We are, you know, a farming people, and that life is peculiarly fitted for us. I think you will find that we make good citizens."

Miss Jones' Voice Greatly Improved

A startling improvement is noticeable in Miss Jones singing. Her voice is stronger, clearer and sweeter than before using Catarrhozone, which is a wonderful aid to singers and ministers. Catarrhozone inhaler insures absolute freedom from Colds, Coughs and Catarrh, clears the throat, and prevents hoarseness and huskiness. Catarrhozone makes the voice brilliant and enduring, and is uncommonly recommended by Prima Donnas, members of Parliament, Lawyers, Doctors, and thousands that use it daily. Better try Catarrhozone. Price $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Hamilton's Pills cure Constipation.

The Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

Special to The Times.

London, July 28.—The Sidney, (N.S.W.) Daily Telegraph, commenting on the statement made by the editor of the North China Daily News, in an interview in the Victoria (BC) Colonist, that "War between Russia and Japan is considered inevitable, not only by the Japanese but also by the Russians, and by all the residents of the Siberian coast. Enormous preparations are being made at Port Arthur and elsewhere in Siberia troops are being massed and fortifications made ready. Japan is also prepared. The Japanese are prepared to do battle at a moment's notice," says that "in view of the Anglo-Japanese alliance such a statement has a very special British significance, and a present and great interest to Australia. It seems indeed that the situation as described is the direct outcome of the alliance, for although Japan has for some time been suspiciously watching Russian encroachment in China and Korea, and at times frankly declaring her intention to resist it in certain eventualities, her demurring attitude has never been so determinedly militant as it evidently is now. Nor, it may be added, has there ever been a time in the history of that region when Russia was so systematically and effectively thwarted as she has been since the Anglo-Japanese treaty was signed."

It goes on to weigh the advantages and disadvantages of the Anglo-Japanese alliance from a British and Australian point of view. The alliance has checked the advance of Russia upon Manchuria, and has made Great Britain the paramount foreign power in China, so that Russia has received a sharp setback in more ways than one. But the obligations entered into by Great Britain to secure this advantage are matters in which the Commonwealth of Russia is vitally interested.

London, July 28.—A despatch to the Times from Johannesburg says: The Government has decided to subject a number of prominent Boer farmers and send them to Canada, Australia and New Zealand to study modern scientific methods of agriculture. The first party, which will comprise a large landed proprietor of his Orange River district, named Wessels, with his wife and two others, will probably start this week for Canada, returning via Australia. The second party will be made up of former prisoners of war, and will start from Ceylon.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers
Fortune's Spor., Miss Nobody,
Her Royal Highness Lady
Mary of the Dark
House, etc.

blindfolded, I must still have known, because of the voice. I had never heard it before, but it was one of those deep-toned, vibrant voices that lend a well-nigh mysterious significance to the lightest word. If I had been here at the Marble Arch in the midst of rushing, commonplace life, waiting for the sender of the message, and I had heard this voice, I must at once have said to myself: "No one else would speak like that," and I would have taken it for granted that the words were for me.

The voice was sweet—sickly, honey-sweet—but it brought to me a strong shock of repulsion. I could not bear to brush against the woman's arm, where I knew that the heart-shaped scar was hidden under the sleeve. It was unjust, perhaps, but I felt that all my misfortunes came through her. If it had not been for her and the secret things that had taken place between her and Lady Cope on a certain dreadful night, my adopted mother might still be alive. It was strange to answer in ordinary tones and ordinary words, but I did so answer.

"I came five or ten minutes ago," I said.

"I know. I saw you from a distance. I have been walking backwards and forwards for the last half-hour. I could not make my way through the crowd without pushing and being conspicuous till this moment. You look very tired."

"I am tired," I mechanically responded, wondering vaguely at the commonplace tone the conversation was taking. "I have walked a long way."

"I know that."

I stared at her, striving in vain to penetrate the black mask of her veil.

"You knew?"

"Yes. I know a great many things which you would hardly suppose possible. But here comes my carriage. You will be glad to drive."

As she spoke she held up her hand, gloved with black suede, and urged me a few steps nearer to the kerb-stone.

A handsomely-appointed brougham, with coachman and groom in dark livery, was drawing up to the pavement. The carriage, the shining silver harness and the liveries all looked as new as Cinderella's might have looked when the rats and the pumpkin had just been touched by the magic wand of the fairy godmother.

"Where are we going?" The question asked itself.

"To find out what you came here for the purpose of finding out."

"Our destination is to be another mystery, then?" I remarked, with a faint touch of scorn, for even if I had half-unconsciously felt a qualm of uneasiness I was resolved that she should not see it.

"Not a mystery. But isn't it foolish to waste time in explanations when you will so soon find out for yourself?"

I shrugged my shoulders. "Perhaps," I said. And hesitating no longer I got into the brougham. The woman in black followed, and the groom shut us in together. Another instant and we were driving rapidly away from the scene of our rendezvous.

CHAPTER XVIII.

On the Threshold of a Mystery.

"You didn't bring your carriage to the Lyceum that night," I said, boldly, as we drove along Oxford street towards the Circus.

"No. That fact was fastened in your memory, no doubt, by following the cab."

"You knew I was following?"

"I was sure that you would follow."

"Oh!" I exclaimed, impatiently, tired of fencing. "Tell me who you are."

"If I told you my name at this moment it would suggest nothing to you, no more than Jane Smith."

"Still, I should be glad to hear it."

"You shall hear it. In good time. And many things besides. But now I advise you to rest. You look utterly fagged. I am afraid you have been ill, and you will be ill again if you are not careful."

"Not till I have left you, I hope," were the words in my mind. I did not speak them; but the woman of the heart-shaped scar answered as if I did. "Of course you are anxious not to do that; though you would have the best of care, I assure you. You see, I have a fashion of reading people's thoughts and finding out what I want to know in ways that everybody can't make use of. For instance, I wanted to know where Lady Cope was to be found in London last April. I got out my crystal and concentrated my mind on the wish. Presently the crystal gave me the picture of the house where she—and you—were living at the moment. Even the name 'Coburg Hotel' was visible.

A malicious desire to annoy her rose, imp-like, in my breast. "But then you had seen that newspaper paragraph first," I remarked, quietly.

Her tone changed and was less melodious, less self-complacent. "What newspaper paragraph?" she demanded.

"The one which mentioned that Lady Cope and Miss Sheila Cope were spending the season at the Coburg Hotel, in Carlos place," I retorted. "I saw you reading it—in my crystal."

The "crystal" had been in the pocket of her cloak, exchanged for Lady Cope's that night. But I did not mean to give her this piece of information.

She was silent for a moment, and then she laughed, a low, monotonous laugh that was singularly disturbing to my nerves. "You are a clever girl," she said. "Something might be made of you. You must tell me about your crystal."

"In good time I will." I quoted her own words. "If I want anything from you which you may hesitate whether or not to give, I will buy it of you, not with gold, for I have none—but crystal."

"You are exhausting your nerve-power," she remarked. "Take these smelling salts. They are the best I ever saw."

She opened a silk bag which was slung with a ribbon over her right arm, and drew out a flask of cut glass and silver. Pressing a spring the top flew up, and a delicious, pungent scent came to my nostrils. I protested that I did not need the salts, for, grateful as the fragrance was, I did not care to accept the smallest favor from this woman. But she continued to hold the flask close to my face, so that my only remedy was to push it rudely away, or try to shrink further from her into my own corner of the brougham. I did not choose to appear childish, therefore I sat still; and before long a drowsiness stole over me.

Whether chloroform or something of [illegible]. (To be continued.)

Alligator Stories.

The game books kept by all the principal hostelries at Tampa Bay make exciting reading for the gentle stranger, in whom the various entries conjure up vivid reminiscences of Indian jungle or African river, where one goes

A-swimming in the muddy Nile,
And swims into a crocodile.

And while there is great excitement in playing a 150-pound tarpon, in netting a big catch of mullet, or in bringing down an Imperial eagle, the sportsman who goes after alligators feels he is really emulating the hunter who returns from the jungle laden with tiger skins and elephant tusks, and this thrill can be experienced by anyone who finds his way to Tampa Bay, where alligators of seven, nine and eleven feet are continually bagged.

The belief was long current that the only vulnerable spot in an alligator was the eye, and that a rifle ball would glance from the skin of this tropical armed cruiser, but a modern rifle ball will penetrate his hide anywhere, though it is not always immediately fatal. Apropos of Florida alligators, here is an amusing record from one of the game books at Tampa Bay. Someone wrote: "Killed the largest alligator seen this year. Found in his stomach a book, a piece of pinewood, a fisherman's float, and some small fish!"

Right under this another sportsman wrote: "Killed a much bigger alligator. The stomach contained a gold watch, ten thousand dollars in Government bonds, and a cord of wood." Not to be outdone, a third hunter wrote: "Shot the biggest alligator ever killed in Florida. In the stomach were found the remains of a steam launch, a lot of old railroad iron, a motor car, and a quantity of melted ice, proving that it existed during the glacial period!"

Safe to Say.

For the benefit of those who are at a loss to know just what to say on seeing a new baby for the first time, and who naturally feel that they must say something, we give the following list of expressions, any and all of which are commonly used, there being no patent or copyright on them. Whether you shall offer to kiss the infant depends somewhat on its age and appearance, and the extent to which you are willing to sacrifice yourself in order to please the baby's mamma. The baby itself doesn't care a button for your feelings or your kisses, but you are expected to say: "What a pretty little thing!" "Bright-eyed little fellow, isn't he?" "Why, how large he is!" "I don't think I ever saw so young a child take so much notice of his surroundings." "He's the image of his father." "How much does he weigh?" "What lovely, silky hair!" "Looks very like you." "What a little rosebuddy of a mouth!" "Do let me see his little toes!" "How very wise he seems." "I really believe the little thing understands every word we say." "Oh, what a splendid big boy he is!"

Mistress—Now, Jane, there is no use of further argument as to how this dish should be prepared, but our ideas on the subject are so different that it is evident one or the other of us is crazy.

Jane—True for you, ma'am; an' it's not the likes of me as would be after sayin' the likes of you would have no more since than to keep a crazy cook.—Chicago News.

Mr. D. Speptic—My dear, I wish you would prepare something occasionally to tempt my appetite. His Wife—The idea! Why, you have not any appetite to tempt.—"Waverley Magazine."

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS
in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 5 Roe St., Binghamton, N. Y.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD, K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM. MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 357 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public. Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 338 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the superb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE
GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Carthagenian..........July 30
Sardinian..........August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT.
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt. T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav. Co., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and PENETANG at 3.20 p. m. daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 6.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. For Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. SCOLLARD Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 2th

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars fro W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00. CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay

ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	"	5.30 p.m.
"	Lv 11 00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p m.	"	7 40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.

MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.

"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
'NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN'
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ..... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets..... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets ..... [illegible] a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester)..... [illegible] a.m
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which ticket reads. For further information apply to

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James Swain, Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCUTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports.

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth en route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont.

Foot Elm.

This is the original and reliable remedy for feet that are blistered, hot, feverish, sweaty, tired, aching, etc.

It gives immediate relief.

It preserves the leather !

It is the cheapest because the best. All honest druggists sell it. If any man offers you a substitute for the sake of making a little extra profit out of you, write us about it, giving the name. We will send you the name of some honest dealer in your vicinity who will give you what you ask for.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

THE

PORT HOPE BREWING AND MALTING CO., Ltd

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight or your appetite and digestion need stimulating or are convalesing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 28, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

—The Charity Board will meet this evening.

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Bookstore.

—The market on Saturday was very light, the farmers being engaged with harvesting.

—Dan Spence Council, No. 26, Royal Templars will not meet again until September 9th, next.

—There will be an excursion from Norwood to Jubilee Point, by way of Peterborough on Wednesday next, Norwood's Civic holiday.

The boys are getting ready for the annual Y.M.C.A. camp next month. This is a famous outing for the lads, and one that is thoroughly enjoyed.

—The Bell Telephone Company are putting their wires underground in Brantford and other towns. It would be a good idea to have them do so in Peterborough.

—The water was turned off yesterday morning at six o'clock until this evening, in order to make some connections with the mains.

—The work of installing the machinery at the Cereal Company's mammoth building is rapidly progressing. A portion of the works will be in operation about the first of September.

—Little money changed hands over the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight in Peterborough. It is understood that a certain hotel man put up a half hundred on Fitz, on a wager of two to one. Odd dollars and halves were wagered but no large sums changed hands.

—Norwood Register—Nine pupils from S.S. No. 6, Asphodel, wrote on the recent examinations for entrance to the High School and all passed, some with honors. Considering the attendance at this school this is an excellent showing, in fact, beyond record for a rural public school, and reflects great credit upon the teacher, Miss M. M. O'Connell. This makes a total of sixteen candidates in three years passed into the High School by Miss O'Connell. We are glad to see this clever young teacher is keeping up the highly creditable reputation already won by this family of teachers.

C. G. E Angling Club

About three hundred persons attended the annual excursion of The Canadian General Electric Angling Club on Saturday afternoon to Jubilee Point. There was music provided for dancing, and a merry time was spent.

Cereal Company's Dam

The work on the large steel and concrete dam for the American Cereal Company is now under full swing. Mr. O'Toole, the contractor, is losing no time, and the work will be pushed with vigor. Considerable blasting will have to be done to clear out the tail race.

To Join the Winch Party

Messrs. Ed. Brown and J. M. Brooks left on Saturday for Katchewanooka Lake, where they will join Mr. Harry Winch and party, who are enjoying a few day's fishing in the north. It is safe to bet dollars to doughnuts that they will return laden with big fish (stories).

Mr. Braund's Enterprise

Mr. R. C. Braund, the enterprising and successful South End grocer, has about completed the enlargement of his premises on the corner of Park and Albert streets. Additional facilities are afforded for the rapidly increasing trade enjoyed by Mr. Braund. The portion of the building formerly occupied as a family residence has been converted into additional store premises, and two large plate glass windows have been put in. Mr. Braund is building a new residence for himself on the south portion of the lot.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Miss Aileen Fair is visiting friends in Orillia.

—Miss Ethel Robinson is visiting friends in Lakefield.

—Mrs. Walker, of Welcome, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Deane, George street.

—Police Magistrate Dumble spent Sunday at his charming cottage, "Ballyrogget," Stony Lake.

—Mrs. R. R. Hall has returned to her Stony Lake cottage after spending a few days in town.

—Mrs. Nugent came down from Stony Lake on Friday and went out to Lindsay on Saturday on a visit to her friend, Mrs. Wetherup, who is very ill.

—Miss Mattie Robertson went up to Fenelon Falls on Saturday, where she will remain a month, the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Brandon.

—Mr. John A. Cameron and family, Miss Cameron, his sister, and Miss Edna Hogg, Shelbourne left on Saturday to spend a month at Boschink.

Campbellford Despatch—Mrs. M. Connelly has returned home from Peterborborough, after spending the last three weeks with her sister, Mrs. John Kelly.

—Mr. Dick Simons left on Saturday to rejoin the Bennet & Moulton Company, with which he has been connected for some years. The company rehearses at Glen's Falls and opens at Saratoga. We wish Dick continued success.

—Toronto Globe,—Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hopper, of Claremont, Miss Agar, of Peterboro, and a party of younger people will spend the August holidays at Chautauqua, N.Y.

—Mrs. E. R. Millar and daughter, little Miss Jessie, Stewart street, left yesterday for a two months' visit to Lynn, Mass., where Mr. Millar has been engaged in electrical works for the past year.

—The Times had a pleasant call on Saturday from Mr. M. J. Conway, inspector of the Canadian Freight Association. Mr. Conway was the guest of Mr. A. H. McInnes, of the Dominion Express Company, while in town.

At Home

W. G. Green, tax collector, will be at home every day next week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at his office, 129 Simcoe street, to receive callers desirous of paying taxes. Up to Friday, Aug. 1st, 2 per cent. discount will be granted for the delectation of those of his guests who pay one half or the whole of the taxes on any property.

A Peterborough Boy's Success

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Muncaster, formerly of Peterborough but now of Charleston, South Carolina, will be pleased to hear of the success of their son, Harold, who succeeded in winning the scholarship given by the city of Charleston, at the recent examinations. The scholarship gives a four year course with tuition, board, clothing and a university course of study, the cash value of which is one thousand dollars. The Times is proud of Harold, who received his early training in Peterborough.

Laid at Rest

The funeral of the late Mr. Louis Craig took place on Saturday afternoon, from the family residence, Chambers street. The remains were followed to the cemetery by a very large number of friends and acquaintances. At the grave services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Wilson, of St. Paul's church. The pall bearers were the deceased's three brothers, Frank and Roland of town, and Thomas of Toronto; and Messrs. J. Brownlee, Wm. Savigny, and D. Harper. The chief mourners were Messrs. Samuel Craig, of Hespeler, and Frank Reice, uncles, Miss Nellie, of Colborne, a sister, was here attending the funeral. The Peterborough members of the 2nd. C.M.R. attended the funeral in a body, out of respect to the deceased's brother, Pte. Frank Craig, who had just returned from South Africa. The deceased was an employee of the Peter Hamilton Mfg. Co's and his fellow employees attended the funeral in a body.

LAKE AND RIVER NOTES

The Season Now on in Earnest—The Hotels Are Busy

—The steamers on the lower waters were all in port on Saturday, bringing with them many passengers from Rice Lake and vicinity.

—Jubilee Point Hotel, under the management of Mr. Dan Foley, is having a splendid season. The hotel is nearly always full of guests. There is an excursion almost every day from some point to this popular resort.

—Mr. S. English, who was in town on Friday, says that business is looking up at this charming summer resort. He has a considerable number of guests booked for August.

—The City of Peterborough is doing a rattling business and has an excursion almost every day.

—The North Star is adding greatly to the opportunities of visiting the waters of Rice Lake. Her daily trips are being liberally patronized.

—The Stony Lake steamers are kept going every day, every cottage on the lake being occupied.

OUR NATIONAL DISEASE

Caused by Coffee

Physicians know that drugs will not correct the evils caused by coffee, and the only remedy is to stop drinking it.

Dr. W. J. Allison, of Heber, Ark., says: "I have been a coffee drinker for 50 years, and have often thought that I could not live without it, but after many years of suffering with our national malady, dyspepsia, I attributed it to the drinking of coffee, and after some thought determined to use Postum Food Coffee for my morning drink. I saw that Postum was made with the directions, and found it just suited my taste. At first I used it only for breakfast, but I found myself getting so much better, that I used it at all meals, and I am pleased to say it has entirely cured me of indigestion. I gained 19 pounds in four months, and my general health is greatly improved.

I must tell you of a young lady in Illinois. She had been in low health for many years, the vital forces low, with but little pain. I wrote her of the good that Postum did me, and advised her to try it. At the end of the year she wrote me that Postum had entirely cured her, and that she had gained 40 lbs. in weight, and felt like herself again."

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

The McAllister Milling Company's Mill Struck Yesterday Afternoon

The electrical storm yesterday afternoon in this section of the country, was one of the worst of the season, doing considerable damage to barns and dwelling houses in the vicinity. The lightning struck the flag pole of the cupola on the McAllister Milling Co's. mill in Ashburnham, and had it not been for the prompt action of the miller in charge and the heavy rain which distinguished the blaze caused by the lightning considerable damage would have been done.

WRITING IN THE SCHOOLS

Some of our exchanges, probably as a sort of dog-day diversion, are discussing the important question of the teaching of writing in the schools. There seems to be a general protest against the system of vertical writing now in vogue in the schools. There may be many objections to the vertical writing, but there is the incontrovertible argument, that any child may be taught to write a legible hand by the vertical system, whereas no power on earth can teach some children to write a hand that can be read by the old and so-called "character" slanting system. There are few things more beautiful than the slant writing, if done well, but on the other hand, it would be hard to find anything more the opposite when it is not done well. Good writing, like most other things, comes to people naturally. Very few attain to it. By all means, let us have writing we can read. In this business age, little attention is paid to the beautiful anyway. The vertical system is supposed to come near to printing, like the typewriter. But who would ever think of putting a slanting script on a typewriter.

CHURCH NOTES

—Rev. Mr. Langfeldt occupied the pulpit at St. Luke's yesterday, preaching powerful and eloquent sermons.

—Rev. Mr. Wilson, of St. Paul's, and Rev. Mr. Bastow, of the Murray street Baptist church, exchanged pulpits yesterday morning.

—The services in George Street Church last night were of an interesting nature. The subject of the discourse by the pastor was "The Seven Hills of the Bible," including Mount Moria, Pisga, Mount of Olives, etc., closing with the Hill of Zion and the New Jerusalem. The music was specially arranged for the occasion.

HEALEY FALLS POWER

Mr. J. Alex Culverwell Says That He Owns the Falls

Campbellford Despatch:—It has been circulated throughout this section that Mr. Patrick Burns had given an option some time ago on his property at Healey's Falls, to Mr. Rogers, a Government engineer, who resides in Peterborough. This week we learned that Mr. Rogers had secured the property and had paid Mr Burns $1500 as part payment of the same.

A few weeks ago we published a lengthy article in the Despatch in which we stated that Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell, managing director of the Central Ontario Power Company, was spending a great deal of time and money surveying and purchasing property at Healey's Falls and Crow Bay, and that we believed that the vast power which is going to waste would soon be harnessed. We still believe that Mr. Culverwell means business and will make things interesting. We received the following letter from Mr. Culverwell this morning.

Toronto, July 22, 1902.

To Ed. Editor of the Campbellford Despatch:

Dear Sir. — Please publish the following statement:

I have not joined forces with Government engineer in Healey Falls power purchases or proposed Government leases. His friends falsify when they circulate that report. I will stop him if there be justice. Besides his personal trafficking in water power on the Trent Canal is scandalous, and an outrage upon the public as well as myself. I have made purchases of parts of Healey Falls power.

J. ALEX CULVERWELL.

The Story of Morning Tiredness

Is told by impure blood, poor digestion, sluggish liver, and tired nerves. It is a warning of very serious trouble ahead, and should prompt sensible people to take a bracing tonic like Ferrozone, an energetic invigorant and rebuilder. Ferrozone will give you a sharp appetite, promote good digestion and sound sleep; it will feed and energize the enfeebled organs, strengthen the nerve and vital forces and regulate the heart. Ferrozone changes that tired feeling into vigor, strength, and action, and does it quickly. Remember the name, and insist on having only Ferrozone; it's the best tonic made. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists or Ormond & Walsh.

Hamilton's Pills cure Constipation.

INDIAN RIVER.

—The farmers have a very hard time saving their hay.

—The football team are meeting with much success. They are not afraid to meet any team in the country now.

—Mr. Daniel O'Leary was the guest of Miss Marquis on Sunday of last week.

—Mr. Maurice Mead is busily engaged building a barn for Jno O'Leary. While a portion of the frame work was up a severe storm blew it down and killed two valuable hogs belonging to Mr. O'Leary.

—Mr. Wm. O'Brien, clerk of Douro, has the sympathy of the community in the loss of his son on the 15th inst.

—Mr. Jno. Lonigan is the busiest man in the community this season. The farmers say he is giving more satisfaction in his cheese factory than ever before.

—Mr. Patrick Burke gives Thomas Quinlan an occasional lesson in the art of self-defence.

—On Wednesday evening, 23rd inst., Steve Murphy gave his friends a social hop. A large number came from Peterborough, and all report a jolly time. Besides dancing during the evening a number of fine songs were sung. Mr. Maurice Mead sang a song entitled "Mulcahy is Home Again," which was much appreciated, many of the guests having never heard it before. Mr. Steve Murphy and Patrick Healy gave many bouts of their fancy step dancing. Morning coming on the crowd broke up, after having a very enjoyable time.

Hurrah for the Printers' Picnic, on Saturday, 2nd August.

A High Class Mining Investment !

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises,
ARIZONA.
INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000
Full paid and non assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12.500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital,

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President
A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President
Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway, N Y
SYLVESTER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON
Retired Merchant Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT
Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL
Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. MARCHANT
Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers
Trenton, N. Y.
COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY own a large and valuable property consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight [illegible] hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30 000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines surveying the reservoirs wire line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one fourth (1-4th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold District, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Miscellaneous

RY, 204 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate rates. Geo. A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, a new 40 page phamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 234 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W. SMITH Sec.-Treas., Chandos, P. O.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

"The Blue Tailed Fly"

Editor Morning Times,

Sir,—In an item on negro minstrelsy, printed in The Times a few days ago, a quotation was made from the old favorite, "The Blue Tailed Fly." The quotation is not correct, and I venture to give the verses in their entirety:

If you should go in summer time
To South Carolina's sultry clime
And in the shade you'd chance to lie
You would soon find out that blue-tailed fly.

Chorus.
Jim crack corn—I don't care.
Jim crack corn—I don't care.
Jim crack corn—I don't care.
'Cause Massa's gone away.

When I was young I used to wait
On Massa's table—pass de plate,
Pass de bottle when he was dry,
And brush away de blue-tailed fly.

Old Massa ride gut one afternoon,
I follow arter wid de hickory broom
One chanced to bite him on the thigh—
De debble take dat blue-tailed fly.

The pony he did rear and pitch,
And tumbled Massa in the ditch,
He died—and people wondered why
The verdict was—de blue-tailed fly!

Several persons supply additional verses and variants, which I find in my scrap book.

There's various sorts of curious things,
From various kinds of insects springs,
Some hatches in June and some in July,
But August brings de blue-tailed fly.

In several versions a stanza is inserted after the second:

After dinner ole Massa sleep,
He bide dis darkey wigila keep,
An' when he gwine to close his eye,
To brush away dat blue-tailed fly.

The last stanza reads:

De pony r'ar, de pony pitch,
He fling ole Massa in de ditch,
Ole Massa die, da jury cry,
'De verdic' am de blue-tailed fly."

M. A. F. adds another final touch to the tragedy:

My ole Massa promised me
When he die he set me free;
Now he am bofe dead and gone
And he's left this nigger for to hoe de corn.

Ole Massa's dead and gone to rest,
All things dey happen for the best,
But if you chance to pass him by
Jes' brush away de blue-tailed fly.

M. F. JONES.

Stony Lake, July 25.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHA

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 316 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.

See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20.000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL

Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back

Help Wanted.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $20 to $30 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 11 41 and 43 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn to printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $12 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt Peterborough.

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.

Model 160

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2 50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH
Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales
FOR EVERYBODY
COAL. GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES
GET OUR PRICES
DIAMOND STEEL BEARING
C. WILSON & SON
81 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

IF YOUR DEALER IN PHOTO SUPPLIES IS

UNDER THE THUMB OF THE TRUST

And cannot sell honest Canadian Goods, write to us direct for catalogue, etc., etc.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.
Only Canadian Manufacturers.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS
for Ladies.
A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS
SEALS, PRICE MARKERS
10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

BIG G

CURE YOURSELF!

Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles $2.75. Circular sent on request.

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

CANADIAN PACIFIC

$64.70
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
SAN FRANCISCO and LOS ANGELES, CAL., and Return
Going and returning via Detroit and direct United States Lines.

$72.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
SAN FRANCISCO and LOS ANGELES CAL.
and Return
Going via Detroit and direct U. S. lines returning via Vancouver and Can. Pac.

Tickets good going July 28th, August 1st to 9th inclusive, valid for return until September 30th, 1902.

Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watch this space for dates and particulars

Tickets and full particulars from your nearest Canadian Pacific Agent or

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt
1 King St. East, Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 20th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S W
William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted, to choose from.

Working Shirts at	0c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	45c
Smocks, at	60c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

If you like Japan tea you will like Green Ceylon better.

TRY THE GREEN CEYLON

RED ROSE TEA

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 38 NO. 173 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO TUESDAY JULY 29 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

RUSSIANS AHEAD OF THE BRITISH IN MODERN NAVAL APPLIANCES

Startling Statement of a British Correspondent who Visited the Warships

Assembled at Spithead for the Coronation Review—Germans Also Sailorlike

London, July 29.—The naval correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Spithead during the assembly of foreign and British warships for the coronation naval review which did not take place, says:

"Both in the foreign squadron and in many of our own ships the palm for general merit in personnel has been awarded to the German officers and men. The foreigners have mostly made little secret of their opinion that man for man the Germans are superior to the British; and, however displeasing this opinion may be to our vanity, it demands careful attention. Personally I incline to fancy that due allowance is not made for the fact that we have many ships here, and the Germans have but one, and that one a show ship, admittedly the pick of their fleet. Allowing for all this, the most captious tend, however, to recognize that the Germans have little or nothing to learn from us. They have not, in all these things that—in days of peace—go to make up naval efficiency, the Germans have shown themselves adepts.

SMART SAILORS.

In physique, the average German sailor looks superior to the average British one. Our "typical bluejacket" has the advantage, but, there it ends. The difference lies in the fact that the German bluejacket gets more in the way of runs ashore. To say that we could double efficiency by granting double the present amount of leave might tend to an exaggeration, but there is no getting away from the fact that as things now run, if we are to hold the premier place in efficiency our sailors must be treated better than they now are in the matter of leave. Many captains and the medical staff of the navy generally have made strong representations on this head without avail. The authorities are never likely to increase leave on the score of recreation; let it be remembered that there are other and more cogent reasons that some demand it.

MODERN APPLIANCES.

In the matter of modern appliances and ship building advancement the Russians, of all people, are most ahead. As a piece of naval architecture, huge target though she is, no ship at Spithead was equal to the Russian flagship Pobieda. All our ships are years behind her, not merely in such things as electric points, scientific disposition of unprotected guns, etc.—in all of which things the French, German, Japanese and American ships are all ahead of us too—but also in ventilation, sanitation and so forth—things that that I never expected to find on board a Russian ship. In all these things she is a triumph of scientific construction, and coupled with it is a simplicity and a roominess to be found in no other vessel that was in the fleet. Our ships in comparison are Hampton Court mazes. Like the German Kaiser Frederich, the Russian ship has a roomy engine room. Some idea of the excellence in this direction may be gauged from the fact that during the ship's stay at Spithead ladies in their best frocks went through the Pobieda's engine and boiler rooms, none the worse for the trip. In our ships this would be impossible. Like the Germans the Russians have realized the importance of space below; with us, any hole does for the engine-room staff. We will find out the difference in war when every ounce of steam is needed.

GERMAN MACHINERY.

In the matter of machinery, Germany takes first place. We have an impression here that Germany is the land of shoddy machinery; but in the matter of careful finish, solidity, and so forth, Germany gives us points. External beauty of machinery may not go for much, but a slovenly exterior is in the end apt to spell interior deficiencies also. The cause is obvious; we demand the cheapest possible machinery for our warships; the Germans are wiser. It is the supposed close-fisted Teuton who says, "Economy is insanity where engines are concerned."

TO SAVE LIFE IN ACTION.

If there is one country that more than another is supposed to disregard human life, it is Russia, but it is the Russian ship and she alone, that possesses "escapes." The Japanese have them in embryo, it is true. They have a tube in each compartment leading to the deck. We have nothing in this way better than we had in the Victoria, where the engine-room people were drowned like rats in a hole. In the Pobieda there are large armored stairways running from the engine and boiler rooms to the main deck, up which every man below could escape in comfort were the ship sinking. There is no question that the men below will work more steadily, knowing that they are not foredoomed to death should anything go wrong. This is a matter that public pressure could be used about and should be used about.

WHERE BRITISH SHIPS FAIL.

Most of all our chief point of failure was obvious. Our failure to grasp constructional details was so apparent. Our constructors are behind the times in ability, and it is no good waving the the Union Jack and declaring to the contrary. We had far better take the cheap lesson peace can give than wait for the dearer one of war. We can do the big things; but we can't or won't do the smaller accessories. Instances are innumerable. Take searchlights. In the Pobieda (as in some Japanese cruisers) they are worked mechanically from the upper deck. Our constructors do not fit that. Our men have to work at the light itself, half-blinded by the glare and to that extent inefficient. Yet the invention is five years old, and simple enough.

Take ventilation. Ours is abominable. Men on the lower deck are left to swelter in an artificial inferno—ventilation is a minor detail to our constructors, and all the advance they have made is to give less in our newest ships. Yet Russia—who is an amateur at ship designing—can ventilate a ship well, why cannot we? Nothing can be more important than to keep men healthy.

BRITISH MAZES.

Why, too, need our ships between decks be mazes, full of obstructions for the unwary? In every one of the foreign ships the value of simplicity in internal arrangements has been learned. It is not that they have seized new ideas. It is that they have taken new things bodily, while we have taken old ones and tried to tinker them into imitations of the new. They sit down and design a ship with all the material available; we take an old design and insert new where we can. Years ago the Majestic was designed, and we have tinkered that design ever since. There is no place for modern accessories. We don't seem able to think accessories. We won't see that they can be thought out as well as the general outline. It is not our naval officers who want stirring up, it is our ship designers. Ventilation, sanitation simplicity—these things are little less important than guns and armor. Our guns and armor are all right, there is no need to bother about them. Other things go to make a ship efficient.

A Session Before Election

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Que., July 28.—Since the news was published that an appeal by the Laurier government to the electorate at no distant date was on the cards, the government organs throughout the Dominion have been kept busy denying the report.

The fact remains, as was stated, that the word has gone forth to the faithful from the leading organizers of the Liberal party to get ready for a campaign. This campaign may or may not take place before a redistribution bill is put through parliament, but that it will take place at as early a date as possible if Mr. Tarte and the other leading organizers have their way, is a certainty.

Mr. Tarte, according to those closely associated with him, wishes the Liberal party to again take advantage of the good times while they are at their highest to receive a new lease of power.

It is now definitely announced that a redistribution bill will be put through parliament before an appeal can be made to the people. La Patrie says: "The results of the recent census imposes on the government certain changes in the electoral map, and these changes will certainly be made before an appeal to the people."

WAR OF EXTERMINATION AGAINST YOQUI INDIANS

General Torries Issues Orders to Take no Male Prisoners But Kill All

Special to The Times.

City of Mexico, Mexico, July 28.—The present Yaqui uprising in Sonora has been marked by two terrible slaughters.

The first occurred shortly after the rebellion broke out when seventy-three Mexican regulars, a detachment from the army of General Torres, were ambushed near Aguajito, in the foothills of the Mazatlan mountains, and thirty of their number killed, including two of their most valiant officers.

The second and latest took place in the Uvalama canyon, not far from the scene of the first. At this point five hundred Mexican infantrymen and two hundred cavalrymen hemmed in the Yaquis in a narrow cannon box, killing one hundred and twenty-four of their number and taking two hundred and thirty-four women and children as prisoners. The Yaquis were unable to defend themselves and about two hundred young braves succeeded in scaling the walls of a side canyon and escaped from the Mexican troops, leaving the older men and the women to be shot down.

General Torres made a flying trip to Hermosillo shortly after the battle, and from him has been obtained a complete account of the terrible affair, and his reasons for resorting to such warfare for putting down the rebellion. General Torres drew a blue line sketch of the Mazatlan mountain country, showing just how he succeeded in entrapping the unsuspicious Yaquis.

AGED SCOUT, THE HERO.

From the account given out by General Torres it seemed that Jose Fimbres, an aged Mexican scout, is the hero of the Uvalama canyon fight. He discovered the Yaqui stronghold and betrayed the position of the Indians to General Torres, volunteering to lead the Mexican soldiers to the canyon where the Yaqui women and children were in hiding guarded by about three hundred braves.

General Torres, who was at Toscolote with his army, accepted the services of the old Mexican spy, and accordingly sent General Hermosa with two hundred mounted rurales to the mouth of the canyon to intercept the Indians at that point.

General Augustin Garcia Hernandez with five hundred regulars, guided by the old Mexican scout, followed a steep trail through the Mazatlan Mountains, with the intention of intercepting the Yaquis at the head of the canyon, and assembling his forces on the hillside above them, so as to take every advantage of his Indian enemies. The ascent of the steep trail began at midnight and oftentimes the soldiers had to go in single file. At daybreak they found themselves at the head of the Uvalama Canyon, far above the Indian camp.

In the meantime the cavalry had followed the road to a place called Rancho Viego, where they were met by a courier from the forces of General Hernandez, informing them that the latter had reached the head of the canyon. This was the signal for the attack, and the cavalry proceeded direct to the mouth of the canyon, where they opened fire on the surprised Indians.

With the first shot from the cavalry the forces assembled on the hillside poured volley after volley into the canyon below, and after about an hour of this deadly work the Yaquis ceased to return the fire.

MEN ESCAPED OR DIED.

When the smoke of the battle cleared away it was found that all male Yaquis in camp who had not escaped had been killed, and that there were a number of women and children among the slain.

According to the official report of General Torres, 73 men, 26 women and 25 children were killed in the fight.

The other details of the scene in the canyon, the terrible march of the 234 women and children prisoners to Hermosillo, and the reception given there to victorious troops, have already been told.

General Torres excuses the slaughter in the Uvalama Canyon and the order to exterminate all the male Yaquis by saying that it has been proved time and time again, that the Yaquis in Sonora could not be conquered as long as the Mexican officers tried to wage regular warfare against them.

According to Torres the only successful policy is to adopt the method of warfare employed by the Indians. Accordingly he has given orders to all his forces in the field and to all of the rurales to take no male prisoners, and he is preparing to deport all women and children prisoners to Yucatan.

The Mexican authorities have just learned that the Yaquis were preparing for the present uprising for months before it broke out. The order for a revolt was passed around among them some time ago by their chiefs, and it was then that they began collecting arms and ammunition.

The Mexican officials had made an arbitrary order requiring all proprietors of haciendas to register their Yaqui laborers and those who were deemed troublesome were deported to Yucatan and other remote States. The Yaquis were required to live on certain haciendas which they could not leave except by permission of their employers, and were in reality slaves of the Mexican proprietors. The latter, forgetting all former raids, had come to impose more and more on the Yaquis, until the Indians, smarting under such unlooked for treatment, took to the warpath, and the country was once again startled by reports of terrible depredations committed in one night.

RISE AND KILL FOREMEN.

The Indians on La Carmen ranch, near Hermosillo, rose up and killed the foremen and his assistants. This was only a signal for the Indians elsewhere, who were resting on their arms. That same night the Indian chiefs appeared in the Yaqui settlement just outside the city of Hermosillo, going from house to house and driving the men, women and children to the spot which they had selected as the rendezvous for the Yaqui forces. Then followed the battles at Camou Mill and El Tanque, where the Indians were defeated, losing about 20 killed and a large number wounded.

These battles, together with those at Aguajito and the Uvalama Canyon, and a few minor fights, make the history of the latest Yaqui raids to date, and from all accounts it appears that the end is still far off.

Items of News

TURKS DISCONCERTED BY ITALY.

Special to The Times.

London, July 28.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Times says the Yildiz Palace officials are greatly disconcerted by the arrival of the Italian squadron at Tripoli. It is said, however, that Italy has no present intention of acquiring Tripoli.

MARRIAGE OF DE LA REY'S DAUGHTER.

London, June 28.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Times says that Gen. Delarey's daughter is to be married to Ferreira, the General's secretary, in the Dutch Reformed Church at Cape Town tomorrow.

Special to The Times.

Johannesburg, July 28.—The settlement of the country is being taken in hand with all possible despatch, but it cannot be expected that progress will be discerned by specific landmarks every day or week. Each department of the state is working at full pressure. The amount of [illegible] are removable only gradually. In the Public Works Department things are almost at a standstill, owing to the difficulty of procuring goods from the coast. There are not only twenty years arrears of work to catch up, but also the destruction of the last three years to make good. Hospitals, asylums and jails are waiting to be built or provided with increased accommodation, and the public offices of such towns as Ermelo and Carolina have to be rebuilt. The material needed for all these purposes would at the present rate take several years to carry from the coast, and little can be done until more rolling stock is procured.

BOERS CAN'T LAND

Ex-Boer Prisoners Are Not Permitted to Land in Africa

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 29.—"New law; no passengers having less than $100 allowed to land."

Behind this brief cable, received at the State Department from United States Consul Stanley Hollis, at Lorenzo Marquez, Portuguese East Africa, lies a story of how the English Government is trying to prevent the return to the Transvaal of soldiers who have recently been released from British military prisons in various parts of the world.

Lorenzo Marquez is a Portuguese port, but English influence is strong there, and is doubtless responsible for the enactment of the law referred to, which will be an effective bar to released prisoners of war who start for South Africa as soon as they get together enough money for passage. Few of them will to get enough so they would land in land in Lorenzo Marquez with $100 cash. The railroad running to the interior from Lorenzo Marquez is one of the chief courses of migration in British territory in South Africa, and hence England's restrictive effort at that point.

CHINESE TO BE KEPT OUT

Rigid Enforcement of the Chinese Act by Uncle Sam

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 29.—With the passage of the new Chinese Exclusion law and the advent of Mr. Sargent as Commissioner General of Immigration, a strict policy of administering the law against smuggled Chinamen has been ordered and maintained. The latest reports to the Bureau show that everywhere the immigration officials along the Canadian border have been more than ordinarily alert, and have succeeded in catching a large number of Chinamen who have attempted to come into the country clandestinely. There are thirty-one Chinamen now confined in San Francisco who have been convicted of entering the country illegally and sentenced to deportation. They will be shipped back to the Flowery Kingdom within the next few days. There are, according to official advices, nearly 300 more Chinamen lodged in a score of jails along the Canadian border awaiting trial on the charge of having been smuggled in. It is believed that the greater portion of these will be convicted and deported. The officials of the Immigration Bureau say that under the new law it will be easier to keep a tight hold on the routes over which the Chinese have been getting into the country heretofore, and they predict that the law will be executed most effectively and successfully hereafter.

The Cause of Deafness

Deafness and impaired hearing are due almost entirely to catarrhal inflammation of the eustachian tubes. Permanent cure is guaranteed to all who inhale Catarrhozone as directed. This vegetable antiseptic is inhaled at the mouth, and after traversing all the air passages of the respiratory organs, is exhaled through the nostrils. It completely erradicates catarrh from any part of the system, clears the ears, nose and throat, and allays inflammation, congestion and soreness. For deafness, earache, ringing in the ears, head noises, catarrh, asthma and bronchitis, medical science can devise nothing so beneficial as Catarrhozone. Complete outfit for two months' use, price $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Hamilton's Pills are effective.

ARRESTED HIS BROTHER

Ottawa Policeman, Faithful to Duty, Has Performed an Unpleasant Task

Ottawa, July 28.—Yesterday morning P. C. George Lamothe stood between love and duty, as the song has it, but in his case contrary to the story of the song, duty won. He arrested his own brother. Thursday afternoon a deck hand on the steamer Welshman of the Ottawa Forwarding line, sent word to Lamothe that he wanted to see him. The officer went down to the boat shortly before midnight and much to his surprise discovered that the man was his younger brother, Arthur Lamothe. The latter was until recently a member of the Garrison Artillery, of Quebec City. Tiring of the soldier life, he took his departure without asking leave. His brother in Ottawa knew he had departed, as word of the disappearance was sent by the officer commanding the garrison. Constable Lamothe sized the situation up in short order and decided that it was his duty to place his brother under arrest and inform the military authorities of his move. The brother was his guest for the night at his home, but was yesterday marched to the police station, where he was placed behind the bars. The Quebec officers were notified, and will send a man along to take Lamothe back. The latter was spoken of as a first class soldier.

Seldom if ever have Canadian police annals witnessed the arrest of one brother by another.

DOUBLE LYNCHING IN WEST VIRGINIA

Race War May Follow Murder of Elkins's Chief of Police

Special to The Times.

Cumberland, Md., July 28.—A double lynching in connection with the murder of Chief of Police F. P. Wilmoth occurred at Womelsdorf, W. Va., eleven miles below Elkins, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. A large body of men rode into the little mining town, and augmented by many excited people who were on the streets, forced an entrance into the lockup and took from his cell Randolph Clemens, a negro, terrorized by fright, cowering in a corner, and dragged him through the street and hanged him to the limb of a tree. His cries for mercy were not heeded. The lynchers not being satisfied with this, returned to the lockup and literally shot to pieces William Calial, an accomplice of Clemens. Both men bore a bad reputation. All negroes have been driven from the town and an ugly feeling prevails. Several hundred negroes are working on railroad improvements in the vicinity, and a race war is looked for. A number of negroes were arrested in connection with the murder of Wilmoth, but all were released except the two lynched, against whom there is said to have been the strongest evidence. Chief Wilmoth was forty years of age, and is survived by a widow and one child. His father, Oliver Wilmoth, was Chief of Police at Elkins for a number of years.

CHAMBERLAIN'S HEALTH GIVES CONCERN.

Special to The Times.

London, July 28.—Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's condition is again giving serious concern and grave reports are current. It is stated upon trustworthy authority that ever since Mr. Chamberlain was hurt in a cab accident on July 7, he has had recurring attacks of irregular heart action. His cardiac troubles are so serious that last week he was examined by three eminent specialists, who feared the effect of the exciting scenes which would be certain to take place on his reappearance in Parliament.

Boer Farmers to be Educated in Agriculture

London, July 29.—A despatch to the Times from Johannesburg says that the Government has decided to select a number of prominent Boer farmers and to send them to Canada, Australia and New Zealand, in order to study modern scientific methods of agriculture.

The first party, which will comprise a large land proprietor of the Orange River district, named Wooste, with his wife, and two others, will probably start this week for Canada, returning by way of Australia.

The second party will be made up of former prisoners of war, and will start from Ceylon.

The same scheme was under way with regard to the Boer prisoners before peace was declared, but was then deferred. Meanwhile every effort is being made to bring home as quickly as possible the prisoners still at St. Helena, Bermuda and Ceylon, and by the end of the month a uniform rate of return of 1000 a week will be established, which will soon be doubled. So it is hoped that all will be brought home by November. Preparations are being made for the passage of 8,000 persons through Harrismith on their way to the farms during the next eight weeks. From Harrismith these will proceed by train to Eland river, and thence by ox or mule transportation to the Bethlehem, Reiff and Senekal districts.

NEGROES CONSTITUTE A LYNCHING PARTY

A Negro Horse Thief Riddled with Bullets

Special to The Times.

Shreveport, La., July 28.—Four negroes, Tom Patterson, Webster Edwards, Tom Patterson and Edgar McCloskey, small farmers residing in the vicinity of Shreveport, constituted a lynching party last night and after riddling the body of Russell Taylor, a negro horse thief, with bullets, dragged it to Red River and threw it in. The affair was brought to light to-night when three of the negroes were placed under arrest on the charge of murder. They were brought to Shreveport and are now in jail. The men were conveying Taylor to jail when he attempted to escape. One of the party fired a shot at him which took effect. He begged for his life, but the men riddled his body with bullets.

Fast Steamship Line

Special to The Times.

London, July 29.—The Times says the question of a Canadian-British subsidized service has been under discussion for fifteen years, and the present prospects for the establishment of the service are bright. It is considered necessary to have, besides four fast passenger ships, a dozen fast freighters, in order successfully to fight the Morgan combination. The Canadian Pacific Railroad is ready to do the fighting. The ships will be available as armed cruisers in case of war, and will be readily convertible into troopships. They will have large steerage accommodations. It was, says the Times, impossible to avoid Quebec as a summer port. It would have been better to avoid the dangerous St. Lawrence passage altogether, but public sentiment in Canada is too strong to permit this.

TAR MACADAM ROADS

Belleville Authorities Say It Makes a Splendid Road

Lindsay Post: Acting Mayor Panter and Town Surveyor Hulme, of Belleville, took a little trip recently with the object of acquiring useful pointers about road and walk building. The following extract from an interview with the Daily Ontario man may be of some interest to our citizens:

"How does our work here compare with what you saw?"

"Our granolithic walks are ahead of those in either places. They are better finished. And as for the roads, where they have the simple macadam roads they are not nearly as well built as those we have here. We visited Toronto first and also went out to Eglinton, just north of Toronto, and afterwards went to Hamilton."

"Well, how about the tar-macadam?"

"It makes a splendid road, there is no mistake about that, and it is cheap. Another good thing about it is that it is waterproof. The mixture is made with hot tar, put on hot and then rolled. The roads we saw made of this material were smooth and clean and looked very substantial."

"Can they be built as cheaply as our metal roads?"

"Well, not quite; but the cost is not very much more."

Alderman Panter thinks the tar-macadam might be found very suitable for our streets, and he also thinks we can build them more cheaply than in Hamilton. We have the limestone here. In Hamilton it costs $14 a cord, whereas it can be had here for about $3 a cord.

In regard to the price of cement, Alderman Panter says Hamilton is getting this year's supply for $1.45. In Toronto the Rathbun Company is selling their cement at a lower figure than they are offering to Belleville.

AN IMMEDIATE APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY

This Is What the London News Would Have the People Believe

THE PRESENT CONDITION CANNOT CONTINUE

The Liberals may be in a Minority if They Wait Till House Meets—So Says The News

Special to The Times.

London, July 28.—The News of this city prints the following: "There will be another election this fall—in September probably — probably a month later. The News has it on the most undeniable and reliable authority that Mr. Ross has determined to place himself in the hands of the electors whilst he has the advantage of holding the reins of power. The premier's position is this: He has at present a majority of one, and if an election is pulled of, he will have all the advantages which are on the side of a government. If he risks bye-elections and protests, he is liable to face the House in January next with a minority. In such case, Mr. Whitney would be called upon by Lieutenant-Governor Mowat to form a cabinet and conduct the business of the province. Mr. Whitney's majority being a small one, he would undoubtedly appeal to the electors and would have the manipulation of the government forces and resources to assist him. This would be fatal to the Liberals, and Mr. Ross and his colleagues have decided that it is better to face the country at once, than to run the risk of having to go before the electors as a minority. The source of the News' information is Toronto. The authority is unquestionable, and the News believes that nothing short of a miracle will stave off the Liberal appeal to the electors in the coming fall."

General - Sports

GOLF.

The Sturgeon Point Club will send its senior team to Peterborough on Friday, in all likelihood, to play the local colts.

Peterborough Golfers will have quite a treat on Wednesday next, when Geo. Cummings, the Toronto "Pro" will be in town, and will play the best ball of Mr. J. H. Burnham in the morning and after the Port Hope match will play the best ball of Mr. Ray, Mr. Burnham, or Mr. R. M. Hamilton.

LACROSSE.

The Cobourg World says: "Could not the Port Hope Guide allow the Ontario lacrosse team to play the game without defaming their opponents and the town in which they play? No person with any idea of sport should of course countenance rough play, or rowdy or ungentlemanly usage of a visiting team, but it seems to us that the guide can never let the Ontarios go anywhere without having a long story of the abuse they suffer. The Port Hope players are well able to take care of themselves and are occasionally charged with roughness, but stirring up strife between towns and sporting teams by a cranky editor is not fair and is becoming monotonous.

TENNIS.

The second draw of the Y.M.C.A. Tennis Tournament, has been played off, the successful players being V. Austin, S. S. Moore, E. E. Lord, P. Campbell, S R Hall, J. G. Tate, —Watson, R. M. Glover, Dr. Wightman, F. McGill, Dr. McFail, R. Thompson and H. Burnham.

In the third round the draw is:

1 Dr Thompson vs Dr Wightman,
2 Dr. Mcall vs A Austin
3 H Burnham vs R M Glover,
4 S S Moore vs P Campbell
5 J S Tate vs — Watson
6 E E Lord vs F McGill,
7 S R Hall a bye.

The third round is to be played off this week.

At Cobourg on Saturday the home team defeated Oshawa in a Midland League match by a score of 8 to 4.

Today the Boston Bloomers will make their second appearance in Peterborough. Owing to the splendid article of ball the Bloomers put up on the previous occasion, a great many are anxious to see them perform again. The local team has been practicing lately and will put on the following strong team: Graham c, Harris p, Conners 1b, Dolan 2b, Sherlgan 3b, Parnell s.s, Davidson lf, Wargham cf, Renton rf.

BACK FROM ENGLAND

Ald. J. J. Turner Returns From England on Saturday Last

Ald. J. J. Turner, who has been absent in England for some months, arrived in town on Saturday last. Mr. Turner was accompanied by his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Devonshire, of St. Blazey, Cornwall, England, an elderly couple, and Mr. Fred May. Mr. and Mrs. Devonshire intend to make their home in Peterborough, having ample means to settle down and live retired. Mr. May is a young man who was seeking a home in Canada, and Mr. Turner prevailed upon him to come to Peterborough, where he has already found occupation at his trade—that of a painter.

The party had a delightful passage over, Mr. Turner being elected to the chairmanship of the concert and sports committee on the steamer.

The news of the king's serious illness, when it first appeared in the London papers, caused unparalleled dismay and sorrow, as may well be imagined. Mr. Turner was present at the review of the colonials by the queen and royal family, and says it was a sight never to be forgotten.

The worthy alderman says he is home to stay now and will endeavor to make up for lost time, as far as possible, both in his business and as regards the council, of which he is an honored member.

The Delicious Flavor and Great Nutritive Properties of
Malt Breakfast Food
Make It an Excellent Diet For Invalids and Convalescents
It Can Be Served in a Variety of Ways

Malt Breakfast Food has become famous as an article of diet for invalids, convalescents, and for all who suffer from weak digestion. Its concentrated nutritive properties are well known to physicians. Malt Breakfast Food quiets and strengthens the irritated and weak stomach, and in a short time will banish the most obstinate dyspepsia. No other food so quickly enriches the blood and builds up the shattered system. This delicious health food for the strong and weak is sold by every grocer.

NOW IT IS JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES

Rival Claimants for an Island Worth Many Millions

TWO EXPEDITIONS BEING SENT

To Take Possession—There May Be a Clash Over the Right of Possession

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 29.—Island hunger may draw this country into a quarrel with Japan. The State Department has received formal notice from the Mikado's Government that the little island of Marcos, whither at this time Captain Rosehill is sailing with an expedition from Honolulu, is claimed by Japan. It is 2000 miles west of the Sandwich Islands, 800 south of Yokohama, and about that distance north from Guam. Americans discovered this island in 1864, and in 1889 Rosehill landed there and put up a notice announcing possession by the right of discovery. He raised a flagpole and left the Stars and Stripes flying to mark the title of the United States before he sailed away.

The value of the island is simply for guano, which lies there in extensive deposits. As Rosehill filed no bond at the State Department to cover his claim, it is believed he will have trouble in making good his ownership on the ground of his original discovery.

In March last Rosehill was notified that this Government would recognize his act of discovery, and that if he would file a bond for $50,000 he could go on and exercise the rights of ownership to the guano, which is said to be worth millions. He and three friends furnished the required bond.

A Japanese warship is now on the way to Marcos, and efforts are being made to warn Rosehill not to clash with the Japanese and bring us into trouble with the Island Empire. The Japanese will undoubtedly try to take possession. They carry with them the message of the State Department.

If Rosehill gets there first he will probably put up a stiff claim and try to keep the Japanese off. He is likely to find twenty or thirty Japanese on the island engaged in getting out the guano, as a party was sent there several weeks ago for that purpose.

Weak Babies Made Strong

Medical men emphatically declare that Lactated Food is the best nourishment for weak and sickly babies in the hot weather. It is the most easily digested, the purest and most nutritious infant food made. Babies regularly fed on Lactated Food are happy, bright, vigorous and strong. If your little one is not thriving, try Lactated Food.

A PRESENTATION

Made by the Members of St. Andrew's Choir and Christian Endeavor

A happy crowd composed of the choir and Christian Endeavorers of St. Andrews Church drove to Chemong, last evening and spent a very pleasant time. A sumptuous repast was served by the ladies to which ample justice was done, at the conclusion of which Rev. J. G. Potter, on behalf of the choir, addressed Miss Maggie Weddell and in appropriate and fitting language, expressed the regret the choir experienced in parting with one who was so kindly helpful in every branch of church work and whose faithfulness, earnestness and devotion were so worthy of commendation.

Mr. Davis then presented Miss Weddel with a very handsome cruet of silver and crown derby ware. On behalf of the Christian Endeavor Mr. Adam Gillespie also presented Miss Wedell with a beautiful gold pin, ornamented with the emblem of the society, to which she responded in most feeling terms.

Short speeches were delivered during the evening by Messrs. Gillespie, Davis and Anderson.

That the social possibilities of the evening might be taken as a happy omen for the future of Miss Weddell, and that her labor of love would be continued in her western home was the earnest and heartfelt wish of all present.

Canadian Pacific's Good Year

Ottawa, Ont., July 28.—Figures given out by the Canadian Pacific to-day show that the traffic of the road for the year ended June 30 was far in excess of any previous year. Both in the passenger and freight departments the road has done a phenomenal business. The outlook is equally encouraging. To meet the demands of the grain traffic to follow the abundant harvest this year the freight rolling stock is being increased as rapidly as possible, and by the harvest season the road expects to have [illegible] in commission.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal... ...	6.10 p.m.	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.20 p.m.
Norwood, [illegible], Kingston, Ot[illegible] Montreal Portland, [illegible] ...	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	6.10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate...	7.30 p.m.	1.12 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	6.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.25 a.m.	6.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	6.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	6.25 p.m.	11.4[illegible] a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	8.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.25 p.m.	2.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	1.00 p.m.	12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.30 p.m.	5.00 p.m.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Ross[illegible], Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall-Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. [illegible].

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at [illegible] per month, and to outside points at [illegible] per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 29, 1902.

IN DEFENCE OF THE EMPIRE

The conference of Colonial Premiers in London, which was to pave the way for the welding of the bonds between the British colonies and the mother country, seems to have failed utterly as to preferential tariff arrangements, and since the great question of imperial defence rested, in some of the mooted plans, upon tariff concessions, the conference does not promise definite results of importance, except in arousing and confirming the spirit of loyalty and affection. Preferential tariffs seem to have been abandoned. Great Britain would have been hampered as an importer, manufacturer and distributer by erecting a tariff wall against the world in order to aid the colonies, and the old fiscal policy by which England has grown rich will not be changed. And no plan of imperial defence has been suggested that wins approval. The London Spectator, which is a "convinced imperialist," confesses that the empire cannot be consolidated by contract. The Spectator says:

"We have always held that as the empire had its origin in freedom and the free play of political forces, so it must be maintained by and through freedom. We must develop on the old lines, and not on new lines. If the old system and the old principles had not produced results so unsatisfactory, from the point of view of material progress no less than of sentiment, it might be necessary to consider new methods of consolidating the empire. But the history of the last three years has shown us that there is no such need."

The colonies seem to take the same view. They will supply fighting men in times of need, will strengthen their military organizations, develop strategical railways, fortify forts for the shelter of fleets, but will not consent to the imperial spirit so far as to include [illegible] regular charges for military expenses outside of their own dominion unless the empire should be in sore need. Curiously enough, the ground for the refusal to enter into closer relations with the mother country is the same which led to the independence of the colonies now included in the United States. Any contribution of money to imperial funds, says the London Speaker, might have the appearance of tribute, which self-governing colonies would regard askance as "looking like taxation without representation."

The Canadian Government has been backward in contributing to imperial defence. In the Australasian States the project of maintaining naval burdens is growing in favor; Cape Colony has contributed a first-class warship to the imperial navy, but we in Canada have held aloof from supporting the navy, Sir Wilfrid contending that we have done our part in undertaking the land defence of our own territory and in building the great strategical Canadian Pacific Railway. The Montreal Herald makes the suggestion that Canada shall assume a larger share of the imperial burdens by taking over the defence of Halifax and Esquimalt. A spirit of militarism, says the Herald, is to be deprecated, but Canada must do her share.

THE SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY

In view of the erection of a proposed sugar beet factory in Peterborough, the following will prove interesting:

Wallaceburg is doing well from its sugar factory. The Herald says that "the large sugar factory, the largest and best in the Dominion, is rapidly being pushed forward, and will be ready for operations in ample time for this season's crop. Neither money nor labor has been spared to make this factory the best that can be had or that money can get, and besides the large $600,000 factory the company have had erected about fifty handsome residences, costing from $800 to $5,000. The lot will add value to our corporation to the amount of nearly a quarter of a million, and the factory over half a million. The lot means near one million dollars to be added to the wealth of Wallaceburg. That with 1,000 more inhabitants all comes from the Sugar Beet Co.

Interesting Items.

The Gloucester, Mass., fishermen regard Kipling as a hoodoo, as every one of the twenty fishing-boats belonging to their fleet named by him in "Captains Courageous" has gone down at sea, the last two of the ill-fated boats foundering in the recent big storm off the Massachusetts coast.

Only a little while ago a woman was arrested and taken to the police station for smoking on Broadway, New York. In the dining-room of a New York first-class hotel an engraved card is now placed on each of the tables each evening bearing this inscription: "Gentlemen and ladies wishing to smoke may do so in the grill room." So the world moves.

For the first time in the history of Paris art exhibitions, photographs have been received as exhibits at the annual Salon. The photographs were submitted by Edward Steichen, a young New Yorker, and are regarded as a great triumph. It is said that the decision to admit photographs almost caused a split in the jury. The pictures were, therefore, entered under the title of engravings.

The experiment is being tried by the New Zealand Telegraph Department of issuing telegrams in typewritten form. The operators have, of course, not only to acquire speed at typewriting, but also to accustom themselves to the clicking of the keys of the typewriter as well as of the telegraph instrument. So far the experiment has worked well—to the receiver of the message it is certainly a great improvement upon manuscript telegrams.

According to the "Pall Mall Gazette," Gandersheim, a German village, has recently been en fete. The occasion was the honoring of a hen which had laid its thousandth egg. Many of the houses were decorated with flags, while in the evening the proprietor of the hen entertained his friends at a supper at which the principal dish was a gigantic omelet. The function was a splendid success, and the health of the hen was drunk with great enthusiasm.

There seems no limit to the variety of uses to which a man-of-war can be put when past her work. Here is the latest. A syndicate of sporting men is said to be considering a scheme for purchasing the old American ship "Vermont" should the bill for her preservation fail to pass. The idea is to fit her up as a floating boxing-ring, which can be moved out to sea, so that the merry mills of the fancy may be brought off without police interference.—"United Service Gazette."

The "search-light telephone" is announced from Washington. The beam from a powerful light has been employed in lieu of a wire, and talking done to the distance of half a mile. The telegraphic account adds that the inventor has not yet taken out his patents. There are several reasons for this. It was in the same city of Washington, twenty years ago, that the excellent Dr. Graham Bell made his famous experiments with what he first called his photophone. It is curious that this amazing work is so little known. Dr. Bell talked over a ray of sunlight to a distance of near two miles. A pair of parabolic reflectors served for sender and receiver, and a pair of selenium cells answered to the magnets of an ordinary telephone.

The Kansas City "Journal" alleges Biblical authority for the declaration that the good die young. "Seth," it says, "lived 912 years. Enos lived 905 years, Cainan lived 910 years, Mahalaleel lived 895 years, Jared lived 962 years, Methuselah lived 969 years, and Lamech lived 777 years. Of Enoch, the only good one in the lot, the chapter says: 'And Enoch walked with God, and he was not, for God took him, and all the days of Enoch were 365 years.' Being good, Enoch lived a measly little period of only 365 years, while the others, being given to sin, lived to grow up to manhood. It always seemed strange to us that preachers pay so little attention to the facts of the Bible."

A contract was let last week for carrying Uncle Sam's mail in Alaska by dog-sleds. The successful bidder was Oscar Fish, and his route lies between Eagle and Valdez, a distance of 414 miles. He makes two trips a month, and receives nearly $1,500 a trip, or $36,000 a year. Only 300 pounds are carried per trip, and this is usually made up of letters, few newspapers. Post-Office Department officials say that the sum paid to Fish is very reasonable when it is considered that he makes the trip by dog-sledge, and that he has the most dangerous route of any mail-carrier in the world. He has several times been given up for dead by residents of Valdez and Eagle, but so far he has always managed to reach the end of his journey, although sometimes overdue, and occasionally very much battered up. He has fallen down precipices, got mixed up in avalanches, and has been starved and frost-bitten.

Algy — Poor Gussie's condition is very serious, indeed. He can't even raise his head from the pillow. Percy—Great heavens! What's the matter? Algy—The foolish fellah lost his head in a game of ping-pong last evening, and played steadily for nearly fifteen minutes.

Pennies by the Ton.

When one has put a penny in the slot and got his correct weight or a piece of chocolate, he seldom thinks of the thousands of other pennies dropped that very hour into other machines. The companies that own these "automatic vendors" receive tons of pennies, which they can turn back into circulation only through the United States Subtreasury, since banks refuse to handle pennies unless they are counted and packed in rolls, and the slot-machine companies would have to hire a large force of clerks to do this, and that would curtail their profits. The problem of counting pennies for deposit in the Subtreasury is simple. They are weighed like so many bullets on a scale, which registers not pounds and ounces, but dollars and cents. The collections from the slot-machines do not go directly to be weighed. The coin has first to be sorted, for it is mixed with all kinds of refuse—lead weights, buttons, bangles and counterfeits, put into the slot either in a spirit of mischief or to defraud the company. The boys who do this sorting wear antiseptic gloves, for the coins are very dirty and likely to spread disease. The refuse from the sorting process is usually valueless, although now and then gold pieces, bits of jewelry, gold and silver charms engraved with tender inscriptions find their way into the iron throat of the machine which swallows only copper cents. Hundreds of German pennies and many coins of higher value are found in the machines, put there through carelessness, for in these cases there can be no intention to cheat; there is nothing lower than a cent. Counterfeits abound. The cost of making is not great, and the per cent. of profit is large. People seldom take the trouble to look carefully at pennies, so counterfeits pass easily. On the Bowery in New York and at Coney Island from one to two per cent. of the copper in circulation is said to be spurious. So the owners of the penny-in-the-slot machines have more trouble with the actual money they receive than men in any other business. Making change relieves a street-car company from receiving nothing but nickels, but the penny-in-the-slot company must take the actual copper stuff and turn it into more convenient form. On lower Broadway it is no uncommon sight to see a wagon load of pennies going to the Treasury, in appearance only a load of canvas sacks, but really a clumsy embarrassment of riches.

A Believer in the Birch.

There are two very amusing little anecdotes in the newly-published "Memoirs of Herr von Busch," who lived for years in the confidence of Prince von Bismarck. It appears that the Iron Chancellor was not tender to his two sons when they were little, and spanked them for the slightest offence. Once Herbert and "Bill" had been caught stealing nuts in the garden of a neighbor, who, full of respect for the little gentlemen, only scolded them mildly.

At that very moment, however, Bismarck and Moritz Busch put in an appearance. "What!" cried the stern father; "is that all you find to say to these little scoundrels? Please cut one of the most elastic branches from your despoiled tree, and give them, under my very eyes, the best thrashing that they ever had. And, depend upon it, when I do it myself I do not spare them!" There was no getting out of it; so the neighbor set about the task as tenderly as possible, but Bismarck, stamping with his foot, kept on crying, "Go on! Go on! You coward!" till the wretched farmer, excited by the commanding voice, hit so hard that the boys asked for mercy.

Herr von Busch was indignant, and could not help venturing a few observations. "Bah!" Bismarck answered, "you are too much of a sentimentalist, and seem to ignore that the birch is the salvation of our German children. Look at the Prince Imperial himself! The birch never for a moment leaves the back of the chair of Fraulein H., his governess, who obeys orders, but hates beating her august pupil."

Then, choking with laughter, the Prince went on: "One day the poor, kind lady, after having administered a severe correction to Wilhelm, said, 'Believe me, your Highness, it hurts me more than it hurts you when I have to punish you so.' The boy shrugged his shoulders, looking somewhat incredulous. A little later, at luncheon time, when all the family was gathered round the table, he suddenly said to the governess, 'Is your back better?' On which Princess Victoria kindly asked her what was the matter with her back. 'Not much, I hope,' quickly answered the mischievous boy who is now Emperor, 'for I scarcely feel mine now, but you see, mother, Fraulein H. has such a sympathetic back that it begins to hurt her directly she commences to cane me, and she performed on me this morning.'"

The Glass Eye.

The following good story comes from Ceylon:—A tea-planter—he had a glass eye—was very desirous to go and have a day's shooting with a friend, but he knew that immediately the natives, who were at work on the plantation, got wind that he was away, they would not do a stroke of work. How was he to get off?—that was the question. After much thought an idea struck him. Going up to the men, he addressed them thus: "Although I myself will be absent, yet I shall leave one of my eyes to see that you do your work." And, much to the surprise and bewilderment of the natives, he took out the glass eye and placed it on the stump of a tree and left. For some time the natives worked like elephants, now and then casting furtive glances at the eye to see if it was still watching, but at last one of them, seizing the tin in which he carried his food, approached the tree, and gently placed it over the eye. As soon as they saw that they were not being watched they all lay down and slept peacefully until sunset.

Mrs. Hickey (who is entertaining her little son's playmate, aged five, to dinner)—Willie, can you cut your own meat? Willie (who is struggling with a piece on his plate)—Yes, thank you (with a desperate saw at the beef). I've cut quite as tough meat as this at home.—Glasgow "Evening Times."

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co

Mining Advertisements.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt, and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00............................$1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average....Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY. 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest." WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $3,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON

500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1900. DUE APRIL 1, 1903

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr. Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. R. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R. FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES, Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P COOPER, Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices,

W. O. Gay & Co.,
[illegible] CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
WALL STREET, NEW YORK

Canadian Pacific's Good Year

Ottawa, Ont., July 28 — Figures given out by the Canadian Pacific to-day show that the traffic of the road for the year ended June 30 was far in excess of any previous year. Both in the passenger and freight departments the road has done a phenomenal business. The outlook is equally encouraging. To meet the demands of the great traffic to follow the abundant harvest this year the freight rolling stock is being increased as rapidly as possible, and by the harvest season the road expects to have about 2,000 cars in commission.

New Pacific Steamship Service

Special to The Times.

New York, July 28 — The American steamer Tremont, recently completed by the Maryland Shipbuilding Company, left New York to-day on her maiden deep sea voyage, going through the Straits of Magellan in her journey to the Pacific coast. The Tremont is the pioneer ship of the Boston Steamship Company, and is to begin a new service between San Francisco and Honolulu and the Philippines. She is a first-class vessel in every respect, 540 feet in length and with a cargo capacity of 13,500 tons.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky

Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers. LEITH. Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

THE ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.
MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each, I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{88}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out
Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE ALL FURNISHINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories. Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York, World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year

Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealers

NERVOUSNESS

Or despondency caused by weak unhealthy nerves, are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease. If you have a secret drain from early abuse, later excesses or exposure, you cannot expect healthy nerves while your vitality is being wasted. Do not eke out a miserable existence on account of your follies you are not safe until cured—nature never excuses—no matter how young, old or innocent one may be.

KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Have you pain in the back, a dull feeling in the region of the kidneys? At times your water comes freely, a large quantity light in color, while at other times you do not make it quite so freely, it is dark in color, you make a small quantity, or you may have a mucous deposit or brick dust colored sediment; give your condition immediate attention or more serious complications will set in. My treatment guaranteed as a positive cure for such conditions, and remember you

PAY WHEN CURED.

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. Surely this is fair, as you run no chances. CONSULTATION FREE. If you cannot call, write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. Medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor—All duty and transportation charges prepaid—Everything confidential—No names on envelopes or packages—Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., Cor. Wilcox Street, DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165 856

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager

Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN

ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough.

HENRY S. MARA. ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

---

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold

ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES

Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms

Interest Allowed on Deposits.

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.

78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO

MONEY TO LOAN

At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co.
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto.
Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 215 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members (Consolidated Stock Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade) Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
34 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 880 Broad)
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold properties on the Pacific coast. Stock now 5c cash, 10c installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 215 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS

Municipal & Corporation Bonds

Of American Cities, netting
3% TO 5%.

HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Advertise in The Times.

Curiosities of Book Sales.

Commenting on the phenomenal sale of some recent novels, a correspondent of the "Book Buyer" writes interestingly of notable books that years ago were popular, but since have become practically unknown. He says:

There was once a very popular preacher who wrote many books, and for every one there was a large demand on the day of publication. But most of them passed out of print while he was still living, and I doubt if a single one of them is now kept in stock by any bookstore. Not many years ago appeared a book which the laboring classes and the tenement-house population bought so eagerly as to run the sale into the hundreds of thousands, because they thought it showed how an equal distribution of all property might be brought about. Now it appears to be dead. Helper's "Impending Crisis" attained a sale of 140,000 copies, forty years ago, which was as great an achievement as half a million would be to-day. That was because of its bearing on burning political questions and the fact that it was systematically attacked in Congress. Now you can occasionally find a stray copy of it in a second-hand shop. Tourgee's "Fool's Errand," twenty years later, reached about the same circulation. For purposes of comparison, this and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" would seem to be closely analogous. But while the "Fool's Errand" has almost, if not quite, gone out of circulation, Mrs. Stowe's great novel, thirty years older, still sells largely in several editions, and at many libraries is called for more frequently than any other book. Mrs. Stephens' "Fashion and Famine" was the best selling novel of its day, and three translations of it were published in France. But to-day it is difficult to find a copy of it anywhere except in the lumber-room of a public library. Another example may be seen in the sudden popularity and subsequent deadness of "Robert Elsmere," the author of which is still writing successful books. Were it not that it might seem like telling tales out of school, something could be said of certain books that have begun life with a phenomenal sale, which has stopped suddenly and unaccountably, as if at some mysterious signal.

For the reverse of the picture, the most notable example is afforded by "Ben Hur." This book had no sale worth mentioning for a year after its publication, and was considered dead. Now it is said to have attained a circulation surpassing that of any other American novel, with the single exception of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Someone might prepare a curious and entertaining article on three classes of books in light literature: 1. Those that have had an immediate large sale, and have then gone to oblivion. 2. Those that have had no sale at first, but afterward have met with large success. 3. Those that have been popular at the start and never lost their popularity. The first class would be the largest. Probably the second class would be the smallest. Two that would shine in the third are the "Autocrat at the Breakfast Table" and "Reveries of a Bachelor."

The Making of Anagrams.

Apropos the renewal of the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy, an article by William Sheppard in the "Era" on the making of anagrams is enlightening. "A correspondent has asked me," says Mr. Sheppard, "to furnish him with some good anagrams on the names of famous people. He further informs me that he has spent a good deal of time trying to make an acceptable anagram on the United States, and has failed to do so. With reference to this failure, I would remind him that he must not be discouraged. The task he has attempted is an enormous one. United States has just a dozen letters. Now, mathematicians will tell him that a dozen letters will admit of seven thousand and twenty-nine millions (7,029,000,000) of possible transpositions. Old Camden has vividly described the vexation of soul undergone by anagrammatists when oft-repeated effort, with an oft-repeated approximation to success, have finally resulted in loss of time and labor: 'Some have been seen,' he says, 'to bite their pens, scratch their heads, bend their brows, bite their lips, beat their beard, their paper, when they were fair for somewhat and caught nothing herein.' Again, let him comfort himself by the reflection that no one has yet succeeded in making a good English anagram on United States. Anagrammatists have been forced to fall back upon the more fluent and manageable Latin. It has been discovered that the letters forming United States may be transposed into the following Latin words:

In te deus stat. "God stands in thee."

Inde tutus stat. "Hence thou standest safely."

Dentatus est. "He has teeth," the "he" evidently referring to Uncle Sam.

Desiste, mutat! "Hands off, he shakes!" a sentiment which may have been applicable in 1861, when it was made, but is now, thank Heaven, without meaning or point.

Siste, nudat te. "Stop, he strips thee," which might be revived to-day by the Anti-Imperialists in their warnings to our new subjects in Cuba and the Philippines.

A te desistunt. "They hang off from thee," which is exactly the attitude which the anti's wish the United States to assume towards Cuba and the Philippines.

In Desperation.

The European king sighed and stirred uneasily. "My subjects," he exclaimed, "are getting so enlightened, so imbued with the ideas of democracy, that they no longer fawn upon me, toady to me. There's only one thing for me to do to relieve this monotony. I must visit America."—"Town Topics."

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers, Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

that sort had been mixed with the perfumed salts, or whether the drowsiness was the natural outcome of my great fatigue following upon extreme excitement, I have never known. But the fact remains that I lost all desire to ask questions or even speak. Curiosity curled itself up in my brain and went to sleep, while I sat with half-closed eyes, just enough awake to know that I was dozing. Such a condition of mind is usual enough perhaps in a long railway journey; but it was strange that it should have come upon me in the society of this woman whose companionship should have acted as a stimulant to my brain.

Nevertheless, I yielded to the somnolent influence, however it had gained its hold upon me, and I made no real effort to rouse myself after passing through Pall Mall, I remember, until the woman in black shook me gently by the shoulder.

"You have had a nice little doze," she said, as I opened my eyes. "It will do you good; but I am afraid you must wake now, because we are at Waterloo Station, and must walk to our train."

I still felt sleepy and dull. "I am not going away in a train with you," I protested.

"Certainly not, if you don't wish to go. But in that case we must say good-bye to each other, as the train will not wait for me, and there is not much time to spare."

"But you have told me none of the things you promised—none of the things I came to hear!" I exclaimed, slowly shaking off my drowsiness. "You induced me to meet you under false pretenses."

"Not at all," she imperturbably replied. "It would be impossible to explain certain things to you unless we had access to books and papers which cannot be taken away from their place. I had no intention of trying to explain, except at my own time, and the spot selected by myself, and the paragraph in the paper said nothing to the contrary. I have said nothing to the contrary."

"No, but——"

"There can be no 'buts.' You must trust me not at all, or all in all."

"I don't trust you at all," I said, frankly. "Neither am I afraid of you."

"Then decide quickly. Come with me and be satisfied, or stay behind and have had your trouble for nothing."

The brougham which had been driving up the long, white-tiled tunnel to the main line station at Waterloo, stopped, and the groom threw open the door. "Which shall it be?" coolly asked the woman in black.

Notwithstanding the sensation of having a head stuffed with cotton wool, I understood that she meant what she said, and that no arguments of mine were likely to move her.

"I think I should go with you," I returned, "except that—that——"

"Except that——"

"I have no money to pay for a railway ticket."

"You will have plenty of money before long."

The words were spoken quietly, but I could not help starting and looking with eagerness into her eyes, that sparkled through the veil. "You would like that, would you?" she went on. "It is one of the things I have to tell you about. How to get the money which ought to be yours."

Perhaps she was lying, but the shot told. If I had money, I might be able to take my position again; at least, I would not be the unhappy, dependent little nonentity I now was. And I might have the chance of meeting John Bourke again, after all, no longer so vastly his inferior as to vanish like a shadow before the light of Lady Fee Ringwood's charms.

The groom, with an impassive face, was still holding the door of the brougham open. "Have you made up your mind?" enquired the woman. "This is the last time of asking."

"I'll go with you wherever it may be."

"Very good. Come along, then."

She was nearer the door than I, and stepped out first. I followed. She gave no directions to the groom or coachman, but apparently they understood what was expected of them, for we walked away without looking back at the brougham. We passed the window of the first-class booking office, and involuntarily I paused, thinking that she would buy a ticket for me. But she did not stop.

"All that is arranged," she said, carelessly. I knew then that she must have counted upon my consent, and the conviction of this fact came with a little cold thrill.

A train was already in at No. 1 platform. I saw that it was announced to run to Bournemouth, but obstinately determined to ask no questions, for the present, at all events; and no reference was made to our destination. We got into a first-class carriage, which my companion asked the guard to reserve for us alone, if possible; and something passed from her hand to his. She also ordered two dinner baskets, fruit, and a bottle of champagne.

Fifteen minutes later we were steaming out of the station, with the door of our compartment locked against intruders.

"You must be very hungry," said the woman in black, raising the covers of the two baskets, from which arose an appetizing aroma.

"No, thank you. I really don't care for anything," I replied.

But even as I spoke I repented, for I could not tell what ordeal lay before me; and, after all, it seemed foolish, even school-girlish, to starve myself for a sentimental scruple. It did not stand to reason that a woman of this strange type would take the trouble to put a paragraph into the newspapers, keep an appointment, and go out of town entirely for unselfish reasons; therefore I might reflect that, even if she meant fairly by me, she had her own purpose to serve, and I need not consider myself deeply indebted to her either for my railway fare or the food she chose to offer. If it were true that I might hope to come into money, I could pay her back for anything that she had expended.

"Nonsense!" she ejaculated. "Of course you will eat your dinner. I have the right, in a way, to exact obedience from you, for not only am I much more than twice your age, but I—have narrowly escaped being a relative, or, at least, a connection of yours."

I was not pleased to hear this, yet I allowed myself to be persuaded in the matter of dinner, which was to fortify me against unknown trials to come.

"Now I will show you how excellently I can open a bottle of champagne," she went on. "It is a pity that we must make shift with cushions, but I [illegible].

(To be continued.)

Passing of the Artificial Flower.

"Harper's Weekly."

For the last hundred years artificial flowers have been the dearest decoration a woman could buy for her summer hat. The superlative has a double meaning in this connection — "dear" to feminine purse-strings, immeasurably satisfying to her sense of the artistic and appropriate. No one, not even the most logical man, could deny the daintiness of the instinct that led women to bedeck their multitudinous heads with copies of the sweetest things Divinity sets down upon this rolling ball. So it was that all these years, from her palace in the center of her kingdom, Fashion each spring sent out her unassailable decree that flowers were to deck hats.

At first the word "artificial" was always used in speaking or writing of linen or silk posies. Old "fashion items" contain many allusions to "artificial roses," "artificial lilies-of-the-valley,"—always to impress upon the reader that real flowers were not meant. Of late years the adjective has been almost entirely eliminated from the dictionary of the writer who dishes up modish delicacies. Nowadays, a hat is trimmed with "violets;" a boa is of "forget-me-nots." No woman—and not often a man—is so ignorant as to imagine anything else but artificial flowers is meant.

The making of these beautiful imitations of Nature's handiwork became a vast enterprise employing the skilled labor of thousands of men, women, and girls. In many parts of the world the trade of artificial-flower-making descended from mother to daughter. Whole families for generations cut, pasted, stitched and colored the beautiful evidences of their skill.

Until recent years the aim was always to make artificial flowers successful counterfeits of Nature's own darlings. Every one knows that the work was often done so ably as to defy the eye's discernment. At this time the art of artificial flower-making attained its highest perfection. The more faithful the likeness of the imitations to the originals the better the pay of the maker, and the greater the stimulation to effort.

Then came a creeping in of the grotesque and unnatural. Now and then Queen Fashion sent out edicts establishing the position of green roses, red lilacs, purple carnations, and all sorts of inartistic, even ugly, effects in artificial flowers. The unending search for novelty began it. Newness, no matter how unseemly, appeals to most people for a time. Then comes a reaction, when the full commonness of a popular fancy strikes people, and they put the whole, good and bad, aside for a period of dormancy. When the imitation blossoms of fantastic proportions and bald ugliness came to be the style, artificial-flower-making was a doomed industry. Milliners looked about for some artistic and new substitute. The hat itself, which from our great-grandmother's time down had been a thing of shape only, offered great possibilities for ingenious ideas. About three years ago fancy braids began to flood the market; wire frames were made with greater care than ever; all sorts of fantastic and beautiful effects were brought out in straw hats, which needed no extra adornment other than a trifle of ribbon, chiffon, or lace—and artificial flowers went off Fifth avenue to dwell among the folk who live on the outermost edge of Queen Fashion's realm, and read her royal mandates through poverty's spectacles.

Last year there were more fancy straws, and dozens of carefully planned shapes in hats, and this season the demand for the new straws has driven many dealers in artificial flowers out of business.

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send or JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature, Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 384 pages, and all the original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 326 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness

NOVELS BY WM. MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE

An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 337 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tailpieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the superb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE

GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Show-room will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS

in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO Sir J. A. Boyd, K.C.M.G. President.

CONSERVATORY
OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

Navigation

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian..	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian....	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian...	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.

Carthagenian..................July 30
Sardinian..................August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT.

Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35 - 3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt. T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave Collingwood on Mondays and Thursdays at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and Penetang at 2.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS

"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.

—FROM—

TORONTO

—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Tripe Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY, General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15. Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. [illegible], Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 2th'

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars fro W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay

ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6.15 a.m.	and 3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	" 4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	" 5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	" 6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	" 7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	" 8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.

MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.

"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board.

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER, N. Y.

STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets ...... [illegible] a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester... ...... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which tickets reads. For further information apply to.

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston [illegible] Agent Port Hope

---

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports.

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth on route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont.

FREE TRIAL

INTRODUCTION OFFER

Cut out this advertisement and send it to us together with 25c. in stamps and we will mail you one large size box of Dr. Dean's Nerve and Blood Builder or Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills.

You can use them and if you write us saying you do not find them better than anything of the kind you have ever used, your money will be returned by first mail.

Dr. Dean's Nerve and Blood Builder cures all diseases arising from nerve troubles or thin, watery blood. Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills cure all forms of kidney troubles.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'

H. H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 29, 1902.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Hurrah for the Printers' Picnic, on Saturday, 2nd August.

—A large number of Americans are now at Burleigh and Buckhorn.

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Bookstore.

—Mr. A. M. Roy proposes to take his trim little yacht "Rob Roy," to Stony Lake waters.

—Coal is being sold in Cobourg and towns along the lake shore at $6 per ton, while we in Peterborough are taxed $7.

—We have an opening in our press room for a good, reliable lad to learn the printing business. Apply at The Times office.

—Mr J. W. Garvin has got 'em again, bad. This time the poor robin, that never did anybody any harm, is the victim of his poetic effusion.

—While trawling down the river yesterday afternoon Mr. James Montgomery who was accompanied by two ladies, succeeded in landing a six pound 'lunge. A larger one was hooked but got away.

—Farmers experience a great deal of difficulty in harvesting their hay and grain crops, owing to the excessive rain. A good deal of fall wheat has been cut and is now in shock.

—The traffic on the Canadian Pacific for the year ended June 30, is announced to be ahead of anything previously experienced by the road. The figures are not yet ready, but it is known in both passenger and freight departments, the road has done a phenomenal business.

—Unusually large quantities of apples are dropping from the trees in some sections, leading to the conclusion that the crop will be as large as anticipated. The quality, however, promises to be first class.

The provincial health authorities are fearful of a big outbreak of smallpox in the fall. The disease, which is always dormant in the summer, has been very active this summer and new cases are developing every day in different municipalities.

—Cobourg Post.—On Friday, July 17, George B. Appleby, aged 14 years and 4 months, died at the home of her father, Mr. A. B. Appleby, after a brief illness, and was buried in St. Peter's cemetery on Saturday, July 12. Deceased was a sweet child, and a great favorite with all who knew her, and her death has caused much regret and deep sympathy for the bereaved family.

PRINTERS' EXCURSION
to Jubilee Point
Saturday, Afternoon, Aug. 2nd
per City of Peterborough.
First-Class Orchestra on board
Boat leaves 2 p. m. sharp.
Ladies 25c; Gents 35c; Children 20c

Large Cheese Shipments

Mr. George W. Fitzgerald, the well known cheese buyer, yesterday shipped two hundred and ninety-six boxes of cheese to England. Last week Mr. Fitzgerald bought cheese to the amount of nearly twenty thousand dollars, all boarded by the Lindsay and Peterborough cheese boards.
Special to The Times.

A True Nerve Tonic

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvelous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c, at druggists, or Ormond & Walsh.

Hamilton's Pills are effective.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mrs. A. H. Stratton has returned from Stony Lake.

—Mrs. Charles Stapleton, Miss Helen Stapleton, town, are the guests of Mrs. C. Henderson, Lindsay.

Lindsay Post—Mr. J. W. Brightman and Mr. P. Hicks, of Peterborough, were in town today.

—Miss Gertie Torrance of Hamilton, is visiting her friend Miss Minnie Craig, Ashburnham.

—Mrs. John Waller and Miss Kathleen Waller, of Palmerston, are visiting Mrs. W. Blanchard, Water street.

—Mr. McNulty, of the Lindsay Post, was in town yesterday, on his way home from a trip down the St. Lawrence.

—Mrs. D. Robin, Belleville, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Snowden at the Snowden House.

—Miss Edith Guy and Miss Jean Allan, of Toronto, are visiting with Mrs. John Smith, Stewart street, Ashburnham.

—Mr. A. Cox, who, with Mrs. Cox and Miss McHain, went to England to see the coronation, will visit France and Germany before their return home.

—Conductor Chas. Mitchell so popular with the public on the line of the Grand Trunk between Peterborough and Toronto, is enjoying a well earned holiday, and has taken a trip to England.

—Pte. R. Fox, No. 1 Co., 36th Regt. of Alton, Dufferin Co., is visiting friends in Harvey township and Peterborough. Pte. Fox is one of the veterans of 1866.

—Messrs. Dick Boyle and Bert Cranfield arrived home Friday night from South Africa. They were around town yesterday, receiving the hearty welcome of their friends.

—Mr. M. J. Keough, of Troy, N.Y., has been selectd second vice-president of the International Moulders' Union of North America. Mr. Keough is a brother-in-law of Mr M. C. Tooley, the genial proprietor of the Queen's hotel, town.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

The Horticultural Society's Show

The annual exhibition of the Peterborough Horticultural Society this year, promises to be very successful. Mr. Beal, the energetic secretary is engaged in increasing the membership roll, and is meeting with splendid success. So far he has not had a refusal when asking for a dollar which is the membership fee. A special effort is being made to get people interested in the society's show.

At Home

W. G. Green, tax collector, will be at home every day next week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at his office, 129 Simcoe street, to receive callers desirous of paying taxes. Up to Friday, Aug. 1st, 2 per cent. discount will be granted for the delectation of those of his guests who pay one half or the whole of the taxes on any property.

Some Bad Dogs

Yesterday morning ten sheep belonging to Mr. John A. Davidson, were found frightfully worried by dogs in a field about a mile above the water works station. It is said that the dogs belonged to town. It is to be hoped that they will by discovered and killed, for they should not be permitted to live.

For Barnardo Home

A party of 300 boys for the western homes and 111 girls for the Peterborough institution, sailed from England on the 17th., and landed in Boston on the 25th. The boys passed west by special train on Saturday afternoon. The girls are a bright and intelligent lot, and are in charge of Mrs. Woodgate.

Won't be a Holiday

A despatch from Ottawa says: It appears at present that Coronation Day will not be proclaimed a holiday. The matter, however, will come before Council at its next meeting. Nothing has as yet been done in the matter of Thanksgiving Day. The commercial interests press for Thursday, November 27th, whilst the general public seem more anxious for the third Thursday in October to be proclaimed.

Sure Cure for Sick Stomach

Such maladies as nausea, sick stomach, cramps and colic, yield instantly to Polson's Nerviline, and if you suffer periodically from any of these complaints, just keep Nerviline handy and take a few drops in water for quick relief. A large 25c. bottle of Nerviline is a comfort and safeguard in any household, and will save great suffering and big doctors' bills every year. Do you use Nerviline? Try it.

Hamilton's Pills don't gripe.

Dr. Stone's Case

The following taken from the Bolton Enterprise will interest the many friends in Peterborough of Dr. Stone, son of Mr. R. B. Stone, of this place, who has been appointed by the Provincial Board of Health to take charge of a smallpox case at Bolton:—"Dr. Stone was sent out by the provincial authorities to take charge of the patient, which he did early Wednesday morning, taking him to the camp where they will remain until danger of communication is past. Dr. Stone has since reported that it is a very mild case —in fact as mild as it could be and be called smallpox, and that the patient is not particularly sick. Dr. Stone has had some experience in nursing this disease, and knows what he is doing."

Sunday Band Music

We print in another column a letter suggesting that our band play in Victoria Park on Sunday afternoons. We notice that Kingston is discussing Sunday music, as will be seen by the following, taken from the News: "Sacred music in public parks on the Sabbath attracts many people to these cool retreats in the hot, sultry months of July and August. Men and women alike profit in hearing the sweet strains, Nearer My God to Thee and Lead Kindly Light, (when played by a musical organization capable of bringing out all there is in these widely famed and worthy hymns, will draw the young and old from the street corner and the bar room. Fast men can resist the charms of music. It brings out the best there is in man. It awakens sleeping memories, and the one who is touched bows his head in silent meditation. Nothing but good can result; the after effect cannot be harmful. Let us have sacred concerts in the city park every Sabbath afternoon. Will some one make an effort to bring out the city bands?"

The Times Letter Box

Letters from the People on Interesting and Timely Topics.

A NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I observe that it has been suggested that the old Nicholls homestead, which is now offered for sale, be purchased and turned into a Collegiate Institute.

I for one cannot compliment the originator of the idea on his brilliant achievement. It would be a poor peculation for the town to purchase this old shack and try to make a modern building out of it. Far, far cheaper would it be to construct a new building.

While I am on the subject, I would suggest that the proposed building be erected in Central Park. It is the only proper place for it.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, &c.,
COMMON SENSE.

SUNDAY BAND MUSIC

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I see in many places, where good bands exist, sacred concerts are given on Sunday afternoons in parks and other public places. I would suggest to Mr. Gliddon the propriety of having the band play in Victoria Park on Sunday afternoon during August. There is nothing so soul-stirring as good music, and it would help to keep the minds of the people on subjects suitable for the day. In many American cities the bands play sacred music, and occasionally the people are invited to join in singing such beautiful hymns as "Nearer, My God, to Thee!" etc.

I would like to hear what Mr. Gliddon and the band have to say. A collection might be taken up at each concert to supply sacred music for the band, the balance left over to go into the general fund of that organization.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am,
Yours, etc., A. M. WARD.

Paine's Celery Compound

NATURE'S SUMMER HEALTH GIVER

It Purifies the Blood and Multiplies the Number of Vital Red Corpuscles, Feeds the Nerves and Tissues and Gives True Physical Strength

Weak nerves, exhausted tissue, poor, thin blood, impaired digestion and sleepless nights, account for much of the present existing summer misery and suffering.

Dear reader, if you are unfortunately numbered amongst the sickly and weak mortals of to-day, it is now time to awake to a true realization of your danger. The weakening and depressing hot weather will only add to your miseries if you are careless and indifferent.

There is absolute relief and a positive cure for you in Paine's Celery Compound. This wonder working medicine is successfully conquering such troubles as yours every day. It is a fact verified by able physicians and thousands of testimonials that Paine's Celery Compound makes new, pure blood, builds up the nervous system, regulates digestion, whets the appetite and gives vigor and strength to combat the discomforts of the heated term. Mrs. E. Wilcox, Creemore, Ont., says:

"For years I have suffered from constant sick headache and nervousness; at times I have been so bad that I have been unable to sleep two hours a night for weeks. I have tried many medicines and doctored a great deal, but never received a hundredth part of the value from Paine's Celery Compound. After using three bottles I can sleep well, my headaches have ceased, and I feel healthier and fresher than I have done for years."

WEATHER NOTES.

Tuesday—Fine and very warm.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of

HAMMOCKS

in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

Mining Advts., Continued.

A High Class Miding Investment /

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises, ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL $100K—$250,000

Full paid and non assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12.500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital,

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President, A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President, Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway, N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON, Retired Merchant Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERETT, Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL, Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. MARCHANT, Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers, Trenton, N. Y.

COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY owns a large and valuable property consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 20 000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250 000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one fourth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $2.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectus and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISters and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street Money to lend E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1898. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Officehours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary Office DivisionCourt buildings.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets.

JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	163 886

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.

Open every Saturday afternoon.

Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager

Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

Office—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1886

BANKERS AND BROKERS

34 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 580 Broad

LIST OF DESIRABLE STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS SENT UPON APPLICATION.

STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 50c each, 10c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 215 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS

Municipal & Corporation Bonds

Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 6%.

HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

HENRY S. MARA. ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

Advertise in The Times.

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.

See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

ARE YOU STOUT.

Edith Bordon, M. D., Has the best treatment—has cured [illegible] of Obesity [illegible]

Help Wanted.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting rooms and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 711 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care R. Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to WM. W SMITH Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 304 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 304 Park place.

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 40 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period: It cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 321 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 32 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office.

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.

Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Shirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketchbook of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory, Bradford, England

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

IF YOUR DEALER IN PHOTO SUPPLIES IS

UNDER THE THUMB OF THE TRUST

And cannot sell honest Canadian Goods, write to us direct for catalogue, etc., etc.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.
Only Canadian Manufacturers.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies.

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

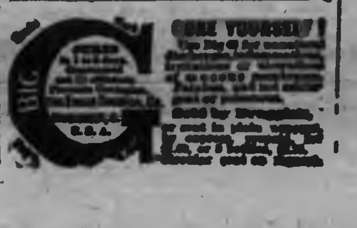
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back



BIG G

CURE YOURSELF!

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watch this space for dates and particulars.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 20th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY

WM. ROBINSON

10 King S West

William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at	0c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	48c
Smocks, at	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL: GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

GET OUR PRICES

DIAMOND STEEL BEARING

C. WILSON & SON
51 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

OL 30 NO. 173 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO WEDNESDAY JULY 30 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

ERMANS MAKE NO APOLOGY TO BRITAIN

egret Has not Been Expressed for Slanders Upon the British Troops

London, July 29.—Since the publi- ion of Count Bercheim's letter ding for more cautious treatment foreign questions by the German ess," says the Berlin correspondent The Times, "there have been in- ations of a more judicial tone in newspaper references to British licy, but the general expressions of gret at the estrangement between rmany and Great Britain are usual- accompanied by unjust accusations the effect that the British papers wholly anti-German; The corre- pondent says that no paper of impor- nce has frankly expressed regret for ducing British statesmen, abusing ritish generals and blackening the aracter of the British army. Ex- ressions of regret have been made in neral, almost unmeaning in charac- r, and an attempt has been made to nore the utterances of the daily ress and make a scapegoat of the comic papers, whose brutality would have had little significance if it had not in a coarser manner reproduced the attitude of the principal dailies.

MACEDONIAN TROUBLES NOT SERIOUS

Special to The Times.

Vienna, July 29.—The reported disturbances in Macedonia will not become serious, as Burgaria desires to maintain order. Russia disproves all revolutionary attempts, and Turkey's military precautions are sufficient to justify the hope that trouble can be easily localized and suppressed.

GOLD MINES BOUGHT FOR $10,000,000.

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 29.—The gold mines in the Baro Valley which the Emperor Menelek promised to grant to a French company, have been sold to a British syndicate for $10,000,000.

MERICANS MAKE A HUGE LAND DEAL

urchase Fifty Thousand Acres of Land Adjoining Winnipeg

OSY OUTLOOK FOR MANITOBA

y it is the Greatest Agricultural Country in the World

pecial to The Times.

Winnipeg, July 30.—An important al estate deal has been completed uring the past week, whereby over ,000 acres of farm land situated to e southwest of Winnipeg has been urchased by an American syndicate, ho have expended over $250,000 in e venture.

The lands secured by them are ad- cent to such towns as Starbuck, [illegible], Carman, Sperling, Myr- and Osborne.

All the areas are of wild land, but y adjoin improved farms, are well atered, and are situated in localities ll served by railroads. The syndi- te has had its agents at work for me time through the country, and ch piece of land has been personally lected. The object has been to se- re only choice quarter sections on hich to introduce intelligent farm- rs from the South.

At the head of the syndicate are C. Stevens, president of the Crooks- ton Land company; A. H. Gate, cash- r of the City National bank, Mason ity, Iowa; T. A. Potter, general man- ger of the Western Electric Tele- hone company, Mason City, Iowa; . J. Holahan, general agent Moline low company, Mason City, Iowa. They re at the Clarendon hotel, and spent esterday visiting the fair before re- rning to their homes.

ARE IN LOVE WITH WINNIPEG.

Mr. Potter and Mr. Holahan were en by a reporter for The Telegram ast evening, and they expressed hemselves as delighted with Winni- g and the country in general.

"We have seen pretty much the hole of your province," said Mr. Pot- ter, "and we think we have succeed- in getting some of the best land ou have. We've driven over miles nd miles of prairie to select our sec- ions, and as we have had some exper- ence in a prairie country we know what good prairie land is. You have ome of the finest agricultural coun- ry here in Canada I have ever seen."

"The crops are in excellent shape everywhere, but the grain in the dis- trict to the south of Winnipeg seems o be better matured than anywhere lse," said Mr. Holahan. "Around Carman things are particularly good. Our land stretches right to the boundary, and we're going to have it all settled before next year. Already we have arranged for a big number of families to come into Canada. Your land here is attracting all kinds of settlers, and we're going to bring in some more good ones."

H. Percy Simpson, of the firm of D. A. Ross & Co., who assisted the Americans in their selections of land, says that they have secured some of the choicest lands to be purchased in the province. He was with them on their purchasing tours.

The syndicate will open up an office in Winnipeg very shortly to look after their interests.

PROTECT THE JAPS

Dominion Government Refuses to Allow Discrimination Against Little Brown Men

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, July 29 — The Government has received from the Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia copies of the statutes passed by the legislature of that Province at the last session. Some months ago the Dominion Government pointed out to the provincial authorities that in fourteen railway charters passed last year a clause had been inserted inimical to the interests of the Japanese, Great Britain's faithful ally in the Far East.

It was mentioned in this dispatch that unless the legislature took steps to eliminate this objectionable clause from the acts in question, no other recourse would be open to the dominion authorities than to disallow the statutes in question. This would have been a serious matter for the corporations affected and the provincial authorities thereupon decided to meet the views of the Federal government. In the last days of the session, therefore, a bill was introduced which gets rid of the objections of the Dominion Government.

In the dispatch just received, which will shortly be considered by the minister of justice, there are two restrictive measures applicable to Japan and these will, probably, be disallowed.

THE LABOR QUESTION IN SOUTH AFRICA

Proposed to Send in One Hundred Thousand White Men

THIS WILL WIPE OUT THE DUTCH

Wholesale Importation of English White Labour Regarded as the One Way Out of the Difficulty

Special to The Times.

London, July 30 — The fact that native labor is now harder to get than ever in South Africa is retarding the work of reopening the mining enterprises around Johannesburg. The scheme which the mine owners have on foot for surmounting the difficulty is interesting, for if it succeeds it will go far to solve the problem of unskilled labor in South Africa, which has long been a most perplexing question.

The mining companies are building a large number of three-room cottages, and, according to the London Times, they hope to attract many thousands of unskilled workmen from England. They believe that workmen should be induced to emigrate by the prospect of $1.25 a day (and free board and lodging) from the time they arrive at the mines.

They are suggesting that the Government should provide free transportation to South Africa for those who would like to go and say they can give employment to 100,000 white men in the mines of [illegible].

The most vital question affecting South Africa will be solved to the complete satisfaction of all if the employment of white labor proves successful. The distinctive feature of South African life thus far is that all unskilled labor is done by the blacks. Along the coasts where the climate is hot and humid it is not easy for white men to accustom themselves to hard manual labor under the blazing sun; but this is not the main reason why all the common outdoor work has been left to the natives. Slavery was not abolished till 1834 and in the 200 years of its existence in South Africa all white men lost the habit of doing the ordinary work of the town, farm and ranch, and came to despise manual labor. The abolition of slavery was one of the great grievances of the Boers and one of the leading motives that led to the treks into the wilderness and the founding of the independent Boer republics. Up to this day no Boer or other white man in South Africa will perform any unskilled labor if he can get a black to do it for him. Indian coolies have brought into the country to do some of the common work, but there are only about 12,000 of them, and their numbers are too few to help solve the question which is becoming more serious with the increase of work to be done and the growing unwillingness of the Kaffirs to do it.

The great trouble is that the blacks of South Africa do not care to work after they have earned money enough to buy a wife or two to till their garden patch and support them at home. The Kaffir prefers to be his own master, to acquire a little patch of land that he can call his own or to have a few cattle and turn them loose to graze on the free veldt. Only a great strike can give us in America a realizing sense of how serious this labor problem has become. Fancy a white population of about 800,000 depending entirely upon the blacks, who are seven times as numerous, to do the whole of the rough work; and the blacks, who have never given service that we should call really efficient, exhibiting a constantly growing tendency to refuse to work for the whites on any terms. The effect of this state of affairs becomes more and more paralyzing as the conditions are intensified.

In parts of the country where the white population is very small indeed in proportion to mining and other operations the Europeans have tried to force the blacks to work for them. In Matabeleland and Mashonaland, for example, a great deal of native labor is needed not only for public works, but also for private mining operations. About ten years ago, as the number of Kaffirs who willingly entered the service of the whites was very small, the indunas, or chiefs, of the Matabele were each required to furnish a certain number of stout young men to help carry on the enterprises. According to Mr. Selous, who was living in the country at the time, though good wages were paid, force had to be used to bring in these young men. The genuine Matabele, who has lived all his life only for war and plunder, regards manual labor not only as distasteful, but degrading. The mines of Kimberley and Johannesburg have usually succeeded in attracting plenty of native labor, but the Kaffir has not yet overcome his dislike for hard and continuous toil, and though the wages are small the labor is dear because the service is not good.

There seems to be no good reason why white labor should not thrive in most parts of South Africa. While the coastal plain is hot, the vast inner plateau, which comprises the larger part of South Africa, rising from 3,000 to over 5,000 feet above sea level, has a cooler climate than many other parts of the world similarly distant from the equator. Rio de Janeiro is a tropical city, but Johannesburg, in nearly the same latitude, enjoys a temperate climate. Many British farmers with their wives and children are thriving in Southern Rhodesia, though they are seven degrees in latitude nearer the equator than the south end of Florida. Professor Brice wrote that the elevation of this great plateau, "coupled with fresh easterly breezes and dry weather during eight months in the year, gives the country a salubrious and even bracing climate. Englishmen might, in many districts, work with their hands in the open air were they so disposed; it is pride and custom, rather than the climate, that forbid them to do so."

The proposed experiment, if it succeeds, will have a wonderfully stimulating influence upon the future of South Africa. Turn a tide of white workingmen into that country and the labor problem will be solved; after white labor is firmly established there is no reason why it should not renew itself from generation to generation by natural reproduction; for it is not necessary there, as in some other parts of Africa, to send children to northern climates during their years of physical growth.

A WOMAN IN THE CASE.

Rice Ruled by a Woman's Love—Florence Johnston Arrested

Special to The Times.

Toronto, July 29.—The execution of Fred. Lee Rice has drawn the veil over the tragedy that has surrounded the operations of the Rutledge gang of bank burglars in this section of Canada. There are other phases of the remarkable case yet to be sifted, though Rice, Rutledge, Jones and Constable Boyd lie in their graves.

There is a woman now under arrest in Toronto, who is expected to cast some light on the dark phases of the crime and the police of Chicago and other cities are actively looking for a man whom the Toronto police have every reason to believe is the person who threw the guns into the carriage with which Rice and his comrades made their bloody and sensational attempt to escape the evening of June 4, 1902, while en route to the county jail.

From the time the Rutledge gang introduced their wild west methods into this part of the world and terrorized the whole community, tying up policemen, blowing banks, and finally committing murder, the engaging manners and handsome figure of Fred Lee Rice attracted women to him so that women sacrificed all they held dear and even liberty for their love for the man. There is reason to believe that one of the women infatuated with Rice was hopeful of providing the condemned man with means of escaping the gallows within two days before his execution.

A HANDSOME BLOND.

The woman who was so faithful to Rice is a handsome blonde, and known here as Laura Johnston. She is now under arrest on the charge of vagrancy. It is declared she carefully planned to supply Rice with saws, guns and money to bribe his guards with and even poison to be taken if he found it necessary to cheat the gallows.

A week ago this mysterious Laura Johnston was found trying to influence the jail matron to furnish her information about the location of the Rice cell, and the manner in which she might secure an interview with the condemned felon. The result was her arrest. Secreted in the lining of her skirt was found a deposit check for $1,300.

Laura Johnston has been in Toronto at different times since Rice was first charged with murder, but the police were never aware, until recently, that she was figuring in the Rice case.

She is probably 25 years of age, weighs 140 pounds, is a perfect blond, highly educated, evidently a woman of culture and refinement and a splendid dresser. She seems to have unlimited money. On one occasion she said she was from Champaign, Ill., and had once contracted a secret marriage with Rice. The police do not credit this story. The probabilities are that she is an old sweetheart of Rice.

RUINED BY LOVE.

The story of Rice in Toronto is a chapter written largely by women. It was his infatuation for another man's wife that caused the gang to be betrayed in their original operations around Toronto as bank burglars, and it was the plan of some of his female friends that secured him the guns with which he committed the murder for which he was hanged. If there was ever a lesson taught of the endless ruin of illicit love it is pointed by the sequel of this man's many amours.

When Rice and his companions came to Toronto over two years ago they were assisted by a brother-in-law of Rutledge, the leader of the outfit. A sister of this man's wife became enamoured of Rice's handsome face. Rice became a constant companion of this woman, and in revenge her husband communicated his suspicions to the police. The officers chased them to Chicago, brought them back to Canada where they were tried and sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary for robbing banks and as they were being taken back to jail they committed the murder that caused one of the crooks to die in the hospital of wounds, Rutledge to commit suicide by throwing himself headlong over the bannister at the jail and left Rice to die alone on the scaffold.

Yet the last hours of the wretched fellow were made happy by the devotion of a woman, as we presume, whose pleading words and sweet face almost secured the man's commutation of sentence— his mother. She never deserted him for a moment and there is little doubt that Rice would have committed suicide had it not been for his mother's pleadings to die like a man.

Dying By Slow Degrees

Although not always aware of it, yet thousands die by slow degrees of catarrh. It first attacks the nose or throat, then the lungs, and finally spreads all through the system. Catarrhozone is the only remedy that will immediately prevent the spread of this awful disease. Every breath from the inhaler kills thousands of germs, clears the throat and nose, aids expectoration and relieves the eyes. Catarrhozone eradicates every vestige of catarrh from the system, and is highly recommended also for bronchitis, asthma, deafness and lung trouble. Price $1.00, trial size 25c., at all druggists, Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure biliousness.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY HAS CAME TO STAY

An English Company Offers Telephones and Telegraphs

THE BEGINNING OF A NEW ERA

The Company Will Build Stations and Factories in England—The System Which is to be Used—The Outcome Will Be Watched With Lively Interest

Special to The Times.

London, July 30 — The Westminster Gazette to-day announced that a company had been formed with a nominal capital of £175,000 which has been privately subscribed, for the purpose of operating the Armstrong-Orling system of wireless telegraphy. The paper says it is informed that this company will begin operations on a large scale almost immediately. Two factories will be erected in Buckinghamshire, England, and in France at places which have already been selected. Everything in connection with the new scheme down to an illustrated catalogue and price list is ready. The Gazette says:

"A perusal of an advance proof of the catalogue suggests the possibility that everyone will be enabled within six months to buy for a moderate price a handy wireless telegraph and telephone apparatus for private installation and use. It will be the simplest matter to connect all the rooms in a house or to connect a house with the city. Patents have been taken out by the Armstrong-Orling people, whose system differs in many important respects from that of Signor Marconi."

This development, it is said, is the outcome of experiments made at Hughenden in the autumn of 1901, when electrical impulses were sent through the ground without wires and without the high poles used by Marconi. Among the experiments was one on the steering gear of a torpedo lying at a distance of 100 yds. in a ditch filled with water. The torpedo was moved at will to the right or left by pressing or releasing the lever of a small transmitter into which the electrical current of a small battery had been conducted. In a similar manner an electric lamp raised on a high pole far out in the fields was lighted and extinguished. In all cases the electric current was generated by an ordinary Bunsen carbon and zinc battery and then led into the ground through a transmitter, which was kept in a case no larger than a good sized cigar box. Thence the impulses speedily traveled to their destination, where the receiver was waiting. In both the transmitter and receiver are imbedded the secrets of Armstrong's and Orling's inventions. Last autumn one or two miles seemed to be the limit of telegraphing or telephoning through the ground. Since then Armstrong and Orling with eleven Swedish assistants have enormously increased the power of the transmitter and the sensitiveness of the receiver.

The Westminster Gazette says it is informed in their behalf now that they can telegraph or telephone fully five miles, and by the time the company is in working order they expect to be prepared to sell an apparatus with which everyone will be able to telegraph or telephone anywhere within at least twenty miles. The ground is always used as a conductor. All that is needed is to connect the telephones in a room with the transmitter or receiver by means of a short wire with the nearest gas or water pipe, which will carry the current to, and from the earth. The walls of houses do not form any obstacle.

When telephoning at a greater distance than twenty miles the Armstrong-Orling Company is still forced to use the air as a conductor of the shooting electrical sparks from station to station. This requires high poles at both ends, but they say that these poles will be only one-tenth the height of those used by Signor Marconi in order to be effective for the same distance. They also say that they are able to send 150 letters in the same time that it takes Marconi to send six.

They say their "relays" or an appliance used for catching or receiving the electrical impulse shot through the air from station to station, is far more sensitive than any ever previously invented and is fifty times more sensitive than Thomson's syphon recorder. It is so sensitive that a dry battery consisting of a piece of zinc of microscopic size and an infinitesimal piece of carbon will work it. In a test with Marconi's Siemens "relay," the latter with eight volts recorded electrical impulses at 1,800 miles. The Armstrong-Orling people say that their "relay" with only one volt worked even at 1,200 miles.

According to advance proofs of the price list the charge for transmitters for sending Morse signals short distances will be £10 and for long distances £18, in addition to a royalty of £1 per year. A complete telephone outfit for short distances will cost £4 per year and a royalty of £1. The prices of the relays are left blank for the present, but will be filled up later on.

ANGLO-SAXON FEDERATION

De Coubertin Says America Aims to be the Keystone of One

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 30 — In an article on the foreign policy of the United States, printed in the Figaro, M. Pierre de Coubertin expresses the opinion that the Monroe Doctrine has been placed in the background and that America is now looking forward to becoming the keystone of a gigantic Anglo-Saxon Federation. M. de Coubertin says he believes that if South Africa should be attacked, or Australia threatened, or if misfortune should overtake Great Britain, it would be seen that blood is thicker than water and the Star Spangled Banner would become the flag of the Anglo-Saxon race.

TWO HUNDRED PEOPLE

Killed in Railroad Accidents in the United States

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 29 — The inter-state commerce commission to-day issued a bulletin on collisions and derailments of trains and casualties to persons for the three months ending March 31, 1902. According to this showing, the number of persons killed in train accidents was 212, and of injured 2,111. Accidents of other kinds, including those sustained by employes while at work, and passengers in getting on or off cars, brings the total number up to 813 killed and 9,968 injured. During this period there were 1,220 collisions and 84 derailments affected by passenger trains, resulting in 41 fatal accidents to passengers and 326 injured. The damage to the cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounted to $1,214,266.

GEN. MEYER IN ENGLAND

Former Commander of Orange Free State Sees Country

He Predicts Lasting Peace—Provided The English Fulfill Promises, Return of Prosperity Will Be Certain, Burgher Claims

Special to The Times.

London, July 30 — General Lucas Meyer, the former commander of the Orange Free State forces, landed at Southampton yesterday, this being his first visit to England.

He made the trip from South Africa on board the British steamer Briton with a big batch of returning British officers and men, with whom the Boer general appeared to be on excellent terms.

Gen. Meyer is going to Dresden, Saxony, to visit his wife and daughter, and will return to South Africa in October.

He said he thought the outlook in South Africa was decidedly favorable, and, provided the British fulfil the promises held out to the Boers, there was every reason to expect lasting peace and a steady return of prosperity.

The general expects soon to be followed by Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey. He would not say if he intended visiting Mr. Kruger.

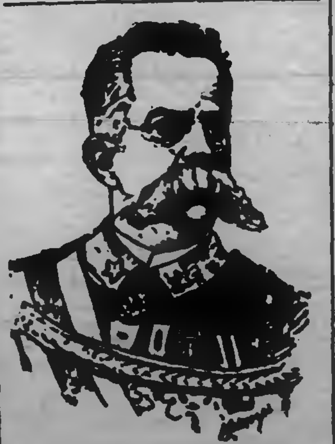
Honor Memory of Humbert

Second Anniversary of the Tragic Death of Italy's Ruler

Hundreds of Visitors on Pilgrimage to His Tomb

Special to The Times.

Rome, July 29 — The second anniversary of the tragic death of King Humbert, who was assassinated at Monza, July 29, 1900, by Gaetano Bresci, an anarchist, was observed to-day by commemorative services to-day throughout the kingdom. Rome was the center of the observances, there being hundreds of visitors here on a visit to the tomb of the dead monarch in the Pantheon. There were music and religious services, and the delegations filed past the vault containing the remains of King Humbert and there deposited magnificent wreaths in the name of the various provinces of Italy and of civil, military and labor organizations.



THE LATE KING. HUMBERT

BOY BURIED ALIVE

Young Louisville Ruffians Played at War, Philippine style

Special to The Times.

Louisville, July 30 — Policeman Stone at 2 o'clock this morning found Oscar Meyer, aged fourteen, buried to his neck in the sand of the old Shelby street fort, built in the time of the civil war. The boy was gagged so that he could only moan.

Meyer's explanation of his interment was that he belongs to a band of boys at war with the band which guards the fort. He was caught by them early last night, and after a formal trial was condemned to be buried alive. He had been in the hole for hours when found. After being rescued he became unconscious and his condition is critical.

WEATHER NOTES.

Wednesday—Light to moderate variable winds, fine and warm.

NEW CHINESE TARIFFS

Arrangements by Commissioners and Yangtse Viceroys

Special cable to The Times.

Shanghai, July 30.—Sheng and Lu, the Chinese treaty commissioners, and Sir James Mackay, the British Commissioner, have returned here from their visit to the Yangtse Viceroys. As the result of their conferences, the Viceroys have agreed to abolish the likin, or inland revenue taxes, except on opium and salt, and to increase the import duties to 12 1-2 per cent. The export duties will remain at 5 per cent., and the loti, or destination tax, will be retained.

These results have been reported to the British and Chinese Governments, but neither has yet sanctioned the agreement. It is locally reported that Great Britain is not satisfied with the arrangement.

The epidemic of cholera here is increasing in virulence. The daily reports show an increasing number of cases of the disease.

KAISER TO RIDE AT HEAD OF 90,000 MEN

In Answer to the Polish Noblemen who Asked Him to Stay Away.

Special to The Times.

Berlin, July 30.—An appeal of Polish noblemen to Emperor William asking him to postpone his visit to Posen in September, in view of the strong feeling aroused by his anti-Polish speech at Marienburg has influenced his Majesty in the opposite direction. The Posen correspondent of several Berlin papers say that the Emperor has refused to confirm the programme of festivities arranged in his honor.

He has expressed his desire to enter Posen at the head of the troops, 90,000 of whom will attend the autumn manoeuvres. It is his intention to show the populace that he is master.

An enormous detective and police force will be present on the occasion of the visit. The regulations forbid the opening of windows and the presence of sightseers on balconies. The workmen now on strike threaten to make demonstrations.

The Polish Committee advises the people to stay quietly at home.

A BLACK TRACY

Who is Terrorizing the People—Bloodhounds on the Trail

Special to The Times.

Phillippi, W. Va., July 30 — The real assassin of Chief of Police Wilmoth has been located, and officers with bloodhounds are on the trail. With the daring and desperation of Tracy, the murderer is terrorizing the people and steadily pushing his way up the mountains. His name is not known, and the only point of identity is his reported confession to another negro, whom he was trying to take with him. He was located by the authorities on the Roaring Creek and Charleston railroad about 20 miles northwest of Womelsdorff.

A large posse is on his trail, and if taken he probably will share the horrible fate of his companions.

He is well armed, and will make a daring fight for liberty. The whole country is aroused, and the negroes are all leaving.

FUTURE OF SOUTH AFRICA

Will Boers Benefit from the Imperial Conference?

London, July 29—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain appeared in the House of Commons today for the first time since the recent accident, in which he was hurt. He was greeted with hearty cheering and later he was warmly congratulated by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Liberal leader in the House.

Replying to a question as to whether would be extended to the Boers. Mr. Chamberlain replied that the one spirit animating the members of the conference was to draw closer together the constituent parts of the Empire and he thought it safe to say that the conference had made important progress towards a perfect union, to which he himself looked forward.

Regarding South Africa, Lord Milner, the High Commissioner of South Africa, had telegraphed spontaneously that he did not think further legislation necessary to make the banishment proclamation effective. The Government, however, reserved to itself the important right in the new colonies to refuse to allow the return or to keep watch over persons who showed themselves inimical to good order and peace. "We are not going to allow the result of the war not to be undermined," said Mr. Chamberlain, "by intrigues carried on by nominally constitutional means."

A CROWN COLONY.

Regarding the future status of South Africa, the Colonial Secretary said the Imperial Government had established a Crown colony in the strictest sense. The next step would be to add a nominated official element. Thereafter there would be an elected official element, and then nothing but circumstances and time would separate the colony from full self government, the ultimate goal of their ambition. That consummation would not be delayed if for no other reason because it might relieve the Government of the tremendous burden of responsibility involved in the present situation, but all must understand that the Government would not be rushed or hustled into any action which circumstances did not warrant. The speaker said he was one of those optimistic enough to believe that the new colonies would reach the ultimate goal of their ambition much sooner than many persons now thought possible. So far as the Government was concerned the Government promises would be kept in spirit as well as in letter. The Government, he said, was bound both by honor and interest to this course. There were many questions to be dealt with—a new tariff must be arranged involving intricate questions, concerning which experts must be consulted, and the taxation of mines must be settled, but he wished to say nothing would be done to punish owners of mines, as had been suggested in many quarters. The Government would do nothing to interfere with a quick revival of development of the country. Subject to that consideration, Mr. Chamberlain continued, no man was more anxious than he to recover some considerable part of the cost of the war from South Africa. He thought it would be perfectly fair to lay a fair part of the cost of the war on the principal industry of the Transvaal, but what amount it was too soon to say.

The Evils of Constipation

This dangerous condition causes sick headache, abdominal pains, piles, and in severe cases insanity and apoplexy. The most agreeable and satisfactory remedy is Ferrozone, which makes the bowels so well ordered that natural and unassisted action is established. It is mild and certain in action, and never causes [illegible] or inconvenience, and may be taken as long as required. Pains in the stomach and intestines, piles, biliousness and headache disappear at once when Ferrozone is used. Recommended and sold by druggists, price 50c., or by [illegible].

No pills like Dr. Hamilton's.

'TWAS A PATHETIC SIGHT

Twenty Crazy Men Were Dined in Chicago

They Were All Poor Fellows From the Philippines—What the Country Owes to Those Who Follow the Flag

Special to The Times.

Chicago, Ill., July 30 — Twenty insane men, manacled and wild-eyed, were the breakfast guests of Ald. Henry L. Fick, of the Ninth Ward, yesterday. The men filed into the alderman's restaurant, fell into line at the command "attention," sat down by command and ate in the manner habitual to military men.

The men are soldiers from the Philippines, tall, stalwart and lithe-limbed, but every one is as mad as a March hare. Under command of a general officer, they are on the way to Washington, where they are to be cared for and, if possible, restored to health.

The chains that were clasped about the soldiers' wrists allowed the men sufficient play to permit of handling their food.

After the men had finished they waited quietly until the order came to march back to the car. Not one created any disturbance.

"I never saw a sadder sight," said Ald. Fick. "The soldiers were splendid looking men, but all crazy. It was pathetic. At first I could scarcely realize that the men were insane, but I edged too close to one soldier, a glance at a man. He turned upon me and snarled like an animal, 'Get out of here!' I never before realized what a debt this country owes to the men who follow the flag."

The Coronation

Special to The Times.

London, July 29—London is still very anxious concerning the health of the King. The bulletins continue favorable, but the prevailing impression is that the coronation will have to be postponed once more.

Coronation seats cannot be sold, even at reduced prices and there is a steadily-increasing feeling of uneasiness respecting the King's condition. Outwardly there is every indication that the coronation will occur in a fortnight. The medical bulletins are favorable, the rehearsals are in progress, proclamations have been posted, the processes of the redecoration of the approaches to the Abbey has been resumed, and preparations are being made for the great naval review. Notwithstanding all these signs of optimism, there are persistent reports that the coronation will be deferred a second time.

There are, unfortunately, strong reasons for believing that the Queen the Prince of Wales and other members of the Royal family are dreading the necessity for a second postponement, and yet are not prepared to assume the responsibility of advising it, since they fear that the mental effect upon the patient will be serious. It cannot be doubted that the officials both of the Court and the Abbey are expecting the abandonment of the ceremonial, and are wondering how the surgeons will justify their own conduct in misleading the nation. Their apprehension may not be well founded, but it will not be a startling surprise for the public if a second postponement be announced in the course of the week.

VARIOUS EXPLANATIONS.

Various explanations of the King's condition are offered. One is that there are symptoms of a recrudescence of the malady. Another is that the wound is not healing properly and that blood-poisoning is feared. Another is that the King's physicians having found it necessary to comply with the patient's wishes respecting an early date for the coronation, are now forced to admit that they have overrated his recuperative powers, and yet are unwilling to disappoint him.

The list of explanations involves the theory that the King will be crowned as a final resource, but with a greatly reduced ceremonial, adapted to the requirements of an invalid incapable of enduring any prolonged strain, fatigue or excitement. The King, according to this forecast, will not drive with the Queen from the Palace to the Abbey, but will join her from the Confessors chapel, and only remain in sight during a few passages of the ceremonial. Whatever may be the truth respecting the King's condition, the coronation is not accepted as a foregone conclusion. The most hopeful thing about it is the fact that there is a general impression that it will not occur, and consequently that the unexpected is likely to happen.

CHOLERA RIFE AT CAIRO.

Special to The Times.

Cairo, July 30.—Fifty-two cases of cholera, one of the victims being an English woman and thirty-eight deaths were reported today. Since July 15 there have been [illegible] cases and [illegible] deaths.

SAGACIOUS PEOPLE

consider necessary, possession of complete information, when entering a speculative undertaking. For such people we have published, for free distribution, a handsome, 400 page illustrated, cloth bound

"Guide to Investors,"

also our

"Daily Market Letter."

which is a valuable assistant. Will you allow us to mail it to you, for a while, gratis?

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

Peterborough, Ont.

PRINCIPAL OFFICES.

Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Worcester, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Newark, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany, Poughkeepsie, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Atlantic City, Cincinnati, Toledo, Columbus, Detroit, Providence, Lowell, Hartford, Springfield.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED—The only licensed N. Y. Stock Brokerage Corporation in business by permission of the Royal Government of the Province of Ontario.

W. F. NELSON, Peterborough.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific — East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	5.10 p.m.	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.13 a.m.	7.23 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	6.10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate	7.20 p.m.	6.15 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West	11.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Grand Trunk	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	6.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.25 p.m.	11.41 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	6.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.37 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.30 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 30, 1902.

THE JAPANESE NAVY

Japanese naval preparations are going on apace despite the demands of other departments upon the estimates. The plan of the expansion decided upon by the Naval Department is to build in six years four battleships, four first-class cruisers, and six second-class cruisers, And in case of the other departments raising objections as to the expenditures, the Naval Office is said to be resolved to have recourse to a foreign loan for the raising of the necessary funds. With regard to the class of men-of-war to be built, it is stated that, since the Japan-China war the general tendency has been the construction of ships of larger displacement. The advantages of large ships in warfare were fully demonstrated during the late war with China, but in time of peace Japan is in much more need of smaller warships for the defence of her coasts. With this object, it has been decided to construct six second-class cruisers. The Japanese Naval Office seems not to place much confidence in torpedo boats, which are regarded much more as instruments of defence than of offence. So long as the fortifications are strongly armed, there is not much use in torpedo boats. It is, therefore, believed that the expenditure to be allotted for the construction of torpedo boats will be used for the strengthening of the fortifications. As to torpedo boat destroyers, their effectiveness is still in an experimental stage, —much as in England a torpedo boat destroyer of 1,000 tons was built recently, and its trials have shown doubtful results. Under these circumstances, the authorities will defer the building of torpedo boat destroyers until a definite issue is known.

A MOSQUITO PLAGUE

The Saginaw Courier-Herald remarks that the plague of the mosquitoes, according to reports from various sections of that state, is a real menace to comfort and sometimes to business in Michigan this year. This state of affairs is of course due to the extraordinary wet weather. It seems to have afforded the pest extremely favorable opportunity and conditions in which to increase and multiply —in short, vastly more water service in which to deposit their eggs and develop their larvae. The ordinary mosquito, according to those scientists who have studied him, is not particularly dangerous, although he is at all times more or less annoying. It is the malarial mos- into the human cuticle he is pretty apt quite, or genus anopheles, that is to be dreaded. When this insect sticks his bill in to leave a virus that causes various forms of disease under the general term of malaria. He has been detected in Michigan this year by the scientists of the agricultural college. It may be of some interest to afflicted human kind to be able to identify the wretch. First catch your mosquito. This will not be difficult just now. If you find one that under a lens shows a long, slender body and two palpi as long as the proboscis on either side, you may be sure that you have captured an anopheles. These characteristics readily distinguish him from his harmless but annoying relative.

The Love Letters of a Christian Scientist.

My beloved Prince of the New Thought—I have been wondering today if our exchange of gifts seems as beautiful to you as it does to me. Most lovers exchange rings, but how much more your betrothal gift to me really means! The thought that you have given me your well-studied and dog-eared copy of Science and Health with a Key to the Scriptures, and that I have given you my copy of the Mother's Words, thrills me to the heart—or would, if there were any reality in matter. (Heart would come under the head of matter, wouldn't it? And matter is reflected, of course, from mortal mind, which is evil.)

Do you remember the day, darling Vibration of the Mind Universal, that we sat together planning what we should represent at the Lemar's Book Party? It seems but yesterday! We decided that you would wear goggles and your college cap and gown, for you were to represent Science, and I, Health (trusting to my red cheeks, to treating the guests for Intelligence, and to silent affirmations that I was Health), to reveal the name of our book—the Mother's Book—and our Engagement! (Do you know, Beloved, they say the Mother has demonstrated an immense fortune out of her Words—really, three dollars and fifty cents to give for them is something fierce, isn't it?) Well, we were just finding a way to represent the Key (by putting ourselves in touch with the Way Universal), when your mother came in and asked the day of the month, and apologized for addressing us in English, adding sarcastically that she didn't speak Christian Science! Ah, my Own, I have to vehemently affirm that I am one with Love Omnipotent, Omnipresent, Omniscientific, every time I think of your mother. I begin each day by treating myself for Love and Non-resistance, and yet I must say your mother is without exception the most antagonistic old party I ever met! But then she is your mother—our mother—and All Is Love, and You are All—or almost All.

I hope my gift with a Key to the Scriptures will arrive safely and bring you the kisses I entrust to its wise care. How dear are the Mother's Words! Do you like kisses? Yours, with a Key to the Scriptures, would I could wear at my heart! It was so sweet of you not to select as the first manifestation of your Individual Love, some vulgar thing to dazzle the world, such as a grand piano. I would so much prefer having you simple, adorable Radiator of Hope, like Wisdom. Hold me in your Thought, as I hold you in mine—even as Thought (the Universal Mind)—holds us both to its breast! And come in to tea soon—soon.

P. S.—You remember, Bobby, don't you, Beloved? The poor child has such a frightful claim of superfluous flesh—actually, the neighborhood boys call him "the fat boy of the circus," but he is getting strongly in accord with the Principle of Life and will yet demonstrate his Freedom. Yesterday, Bobby was walking along with Ralph Hughes, when an unenlightened little street urchin yelled, "Hello, Skinny! hello, Skinny! hello, Skinny!"

"Smash him!" suggested Ralph.

"Not on your life!" said Bobby. "He is giving me a Treatment!"

Isn't it touching to see such Belief in the Power of the Word as this child has? Did I tell you that we have given up the claim of mice? Yes. We are now entirely free from them!—Ethel Shackelford in "Life."

Chimmie Fadden on Company Promoting.

"I see by de poipers where a company dat is going to make birch-bark canoes—or is it go-carts?—by machinery, offers stock for toity-tree cents a share which is sure to pay one hundred per cent. on one hundred dollars a share. Dis proves how wonderful is de metods of modern finance. But dat is not what most excites my fancy. De same company says de same stock will be forty-seven cents in tree days, a dollar and six-bits in ten days, and will sell for two or tree hundred dollars inside of six monts. Dat being so, sir—and of course dey would not say so if it was not—I is filled wit astonishment dat dey lets de public in at toity-tree cents!"

"Dey may be philantropists," says Miss Fannie.

"I am not sure," says Mr. Paul. "De only ting sure about 'em is dat dey is not in jail; and a man out of jail may be anyting. Den dere is de oil companies wit spouting wells, pipe lines, and railroads, who is selling stock easy wort seven hundred dollars a share for from four to twenty cents. As de poet says, 'I often wonder what de vendors buy one-half so precious as de stuff dey sell.'"

"Mostly, dey buys advertising space," says Whiskers, and den he near falls out of his chair laughing at his joke.

England's Royal Guests.

It is expected that more royal personages will be in London at the coronation than England has ever before seen together. When Victoria was crowned not a European court sent a representative with rank higher than ambassador extraordinary; but in the years between that occasion and her Jubilee the Queen fortified England against another such slight by becoming grandmother to most of the ruling monarchs of Europe. The accommodation of so much royalty is giving the Royal host some anxious moments. London has no such assortment of colossal royal palaces as most of the great European capitals. Marlborough House and Buckingham Palace will not lodge comfortably any save the privileged close relations of the King and Queen. It is said that a large hotel near Buckingham Palace has been taken for the King's guests, and that several noblemen have placed their London houses at King Edward's disposal. After the coronation week many of the royal guests will visit Windsor and Sandringham, and certain of the great country houses of England; so mighty preparations for elaborate entertaining are being made throughout the length and breadth of the land, as well as in London, and the amount of money that will be hospitably spent during the season is beyond ordinary calculation.

ST. JACOBS OIL

TRADE MARK

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR PAIN

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

His Estimate of Cromwell.

Lieut.-General Sir William Butler recently lectured to the Irish Literary Society on "The Cromwellian war in Ireland." After a sketch of the famous campaign couched in the severest terms, Sir William proceeded to express his view of Cromwell. His appreciation, marked as it is by an enviable power of expression, is as follows:—For some 50 or 60 years, he said, it had been the fashion of the time to speak of Cromwell as one of the greatest of men. For quite 200 years before our time not one historian, not one writer of any eminence, had had anything good to say about him. But we had changed all that. His eulogizers could now be counted by the thousand, his admirers by the million. He had already quoted a letter, written by Cromwell some years before he became famous, in which he said, "Who goeth to war at his own cost?" That was the keynote of Cromwell's character. The two chief objects of his effort were plunder and persecution. He and his were the saints; they were to possess the earth. All the rest were sinners; they were to be despoiled, cast out, persecuted. Who could count the oaths taken by him and broken by him? He swore allegiance to the King, but he cut his head off. He swore to support the Parliament, but he betrayed it and turned it out of doors. He swore to the Scottish covenant, but he destroyed it. He swore to uphold the liberties and rights of his country, but he trampled upon the one and betrayed the other. Standing in his place in the House of Commons with his hand upon his heart, he swore, in the presence of Almighty God, that he knew the army would disband and lay down their arms at the door of the House whenever the Parliament should command them to do so, and within 24 hours he was in the midst of that army inciting them to fresh defiance of that Parliament. Could any instance of hypocrisy match this—that he had prayed on his knees to God for the life of Charles until his tongue clove to the roof of his mouth, by which he saw that God had willed the death of the King? He averred that he was a most upright and conscientious man to his King and he prayed that God would be pleased to look upon him (Cromwell) according to the sincerity of his heart to the King, and at that moment Cromwell had the death of the King planned. He was absolute master of every trick of tongue, gesture, expression by which man could deceive his fellow. He could weep at will, pray, preach, affirm, swear, cajole, belie, act the buffoon with the corporal, play schoolboy tricks while signing the death-warrant of the King, commit the most appalling deeds with the name of God upon his lips and the Bible in his hand. He was the greatest dissembler that history held record of. While raving of liberty he suspended in turn every liberty that Englishmen had ever known—representation in Parliament, trial by jury, taxation with consent, everything that the people had gained and valued. He proposed to sell St. Paul's to the Jews for a synagogue. He sold hundreds of English gentlemen and thousands of Irishmen, women and children to West Indian planters to be slaves. He arrested and locked up in the Tower the three counsel of a London merchant who was prosecuted for having refused to pay taxes which had not been voted by Parliament. When confronted with all this perfidy he fell upon his knees in the House of Commons and took a solemn oath that it was untrue. He was false to his own chosen band of supporters and to the inner circle of his friends; and to each one of those parties whom he deceived in turn he used the same solemn asseverations of rectitude, piling perjury upon perjury such as no age had ever seen before. Did he deceive even himself? That question we could not answer. It was possible that having deceived every one—enemies, friends, comrades—he had come at last to deceive himself. The world held no greater failure in its history than our civil war. The result was that the King lost his head and the Parliament lost every shred of privilege and liberty it had ever possessed. For years Cromwell ruled the land with heavy sword and booted foot. He abolished the House of Lords, and he shut up the Commons. He taxed without representation. He tried without jury. He ruled by martial law. He packed the courts, he arrested counsel, he hanged and beheaded as he pleased. His little finger lay heavier upon the nation, said the people of the time, than the loins of the late King had lain. And then he died, and there came back to a weary and blood-sucked land a King. Cromwell left nothing behind him, no public works, no new system of law, no better policy of land, no clearer conception of justice. "Nothing cried at his funeral," wrote Evelyn, "but the dogs." And that, the dismalest failure of English history, was the man in whose praise to-day histories were imagined and statues inaugurated. Courage, diligence and the most dogged and determined resolution—these things he had to an extraordinary degree. But to what end and at what cost did he use them? It was a cowardly and a base act of the Parliament of 1660 to dig up his remains and hang his mouldering body on the gibbet at Tyburn. It was voted without a dissentient voice in the House of Commons, but history had missed one strange coincidence which resulted from it. They could remember the choice which Cromwell, in the days of his victory, gave the unfortunate Irish:—"Hell or Connaught." He turned to the last page of Cromwell's latest biographer, and this was what he read: "Where Connaught Square now stands, a yard or two beneath the street, trodden under foot and beaten by horses' hoofs, lies the dust of the great Protector." And that was the end.

Grazing does harm to pastures if the cattle are permitted to eat too closely of the grass. Weeds in pastures indicate that damage is being done by cattle, because of the fact that the animals reject the weeds, leaving them to grow and crowd out the grass. When a pasture becomes infested with weed mow them down and keep the stock off until the grass has an opportunity to grow. It may be necessary to re-seed the pasture also, as well as apply fertilizer.

Charcoal is very valuable as an aid to keeping poultry in good order and preventing bowel disorders. It should be fed in powdered form mixed with the food several times a week; it is harmless, whatever amount is given, as it is not really medicinal but acts as an absorbent, taking up the poisonous gases in the system. It is said that chickens will fatten faster if charcoal is given.

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO

PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850

15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY. 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having means to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnel and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON

500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE,

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.

ALBERT C CASE, President

WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres

HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr, Vice Pres & Treas

THOS. R. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.

JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.

Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston

Hon. DAVID R. FRANCIS, St. Louis

Senator JAMES K JONES, Arkansas.

MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.

ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.

ALBERT C. CASE, New York

HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.

CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.

L. D FLEMING, New York.

J. P COOPER, Boston.

WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,

24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.

45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.

See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co

[illegible]

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises.

ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL $100K—$250,000

Full paid and non Assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital,

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President — A. Y. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.

WILLIAM S. LELAND, Vice President — Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway, N Y

SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.

WILLIAM J THOMPSON — Retired Merchant, Hartford, Conn.

E. E. EVERITT — Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.

PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL — Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.

F. W. MARCHERT — Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers, Trenton, N. Y.

COUNSEL:

WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY owns a large and valuable property consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 20,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs, pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over-capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one fourth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectus and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

THE

ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.

MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1902.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{99}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make.

SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE

ALL FURNISHINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories. Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York, World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year

Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

To be had at all first-class dealers.

NERVOUSNESS

Or despondency caused by weak unhealthy nerves are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease. If you have a secret drain from early abuse, later excesses or exposure, you cannot expect healthy nerves while your vitality is being wasted. Do not eke out a miserable existence on account of your follies, you are not safe until cured—nature never cures, no matter how young, old or innocent one may be.

KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Have you pain in the back, a dull feeling in the region of the kidneys? At times your water comes freely, a large quantity light in color, while at other times you do not make it quite so freely, it is dark in color, you make a small quantity, or you may have a mucous deposit or brick dust colored sediment; give your condition immediate attention or more serious complications will set in. My treatment guaranteed as a positive cure for such conditions, and remember you PAY WHEN CURED.

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. Surely this is fair, as you run no chances. CONSULTATION FREE. If you cannot call, write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. Medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor—All duty and transportation charges prepaid—Everything confidential—No names on envelopes or packages—Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE.,
Cor. Wilcox Street,
DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
C. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT
Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165,856

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.
Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.
W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.
W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS
Office—Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members (Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade.) Est. 1886
BANKERS AND BROKERS
4 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 897 Broad)
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 25c cash No installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 715 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.
Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits
The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.
GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.
OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2098.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME
Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 5c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 715 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA. ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS
Municipal & Corporation Bonds
Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Advertise in The Times.

Beating a Gambler at His Own Game.

IF every one who has a system for beating the bank at Monte Carlo attempts to float a public company, as the young Earl of Rosslyn is doing, to invite the world to share in the profits, there will not be much available capital left for any other enterprises. Whatever may be the peculiar merits of the scheme evolved by the English peer, who has recently been selling dog biscuit, the fact remains that despite the daily attack on the Monte Carlo bank by mathematicians with new systems the Casino continues to pay its large dividends.

Not only does the Prince of Monaco welcome the distinguished scientists who come to deprive him of his wealth, but he even goes so far as to pay their railway fare home, when their money is gone, and to provide for them, if desired, one of the most picturesque spots in the world in which to blow their brains out. But pistol practice on the grounds is very distasteful to the prince; hence his readiness to provide funds to place the unlucky system player in some other part of the world, where he may take his life in whatever manner he pleases, without disturbing the other players at the tables.

One of the recreations of a well-known New York banker, who has no need to "break the bank" at Monte Carlo to provide funds for himself, is to play imaginary roulette on a complicated system of his own invention. Although a yearly visitor at Monte Carlo, he has never staked a sou on the spin of the ball at the Casino. Back in his college days he was an honor man in mathematics, and he still delights in odd computations that have no connection with dividends and money rates. One day last spring at Monte Carlo he amused himself by making a "graphic chart" of the "rouge et noir" croupier for five hundred consecutive rolls. Governed by the immutable laws of chance, the zigzag line, tracing the variations from one color to the other, appeared to have certain sub-signages of similar outline occurring at irregular intervals. Taking the daily record sheets of the roulette wheels, the New York banker plotted more charts, all of which showed the same characteristic signage, with "high levels," "low levels," "criss-crosses," "runs" and "chutes," and other peculiarities, for which the mathematical American has an elaborate nomenclature.

Coming back to New York, he privately engaged, in another part of the office building in which is his banking house, a small room, which he fitted up as a miniature Monte Carlo. Six young women spent three weeks there spinning the roulette wheels and making charts of the fall of the balls. These charts represent the equivalent of a year's play at one of the tables at Monte Carlo. The banker keeps them in a safe-deposit box, marked "strictly private;" the wheels he has destroyed. These charts, too, have the same easily recognized signage. From the study of them the New Yorker has evolved a "graphic system" of "beating the bank" which has met with marvelous success, although the major part of the winnings has been made in imaginary play. At odd moments he and several club friends played the charts. Starting with a capital of $1,000, they won a small sum every "day," and at the end of the "year" had won $264,000 without plunging. Had they given a larger increment to their wagers they would have "broken the bank." They are all satisfied that the chart system is based upon good mathematics and will "beat the bank."

While he was at the Carlton, in London, the banker met a Dutch diplomatic officer, on his way to America, to whom he gave the results of his observations at the tables at Monte Carlo. The nobleman from Amsterdam, who is greatly respected among the baccarat players of Paris, had just had some very costly lessons in American poker from his New York friends. He was delighted with the mathematical beauties of the "graphic system" and offered to furnish a capital of £10,000 if the banker would go with him to Monte Carlo and instruct him how to make his wagers. The American, of course, declined, but he gave the Dutch official enough of an outline of the method of play so that when he made a recent visit to America he spent several profitable nights in a well-known gambling house near Fifth avenue. The first night he won $920, the second $440, the third $1,200, and the fourth $870. The one fault he found with the system was that the winnings were made at the expense of brain tissue. He said he would not attempt to follow it longer. Meanwhile the secret of the "graphic system" of "breaking the bank at Monte Carlo" lies in a safe-deposit box in Broad street, and the man who has the key refuses to indulge in public gambling.—"Leslie's Weekly."

A Delicate Position.

Wedding presents are frequently distinguished for their uselessness, and gift-making at any time is always attended with some danger, but there is a contractor in Toronto who realizes that the most generous intentions are likely to turn out disastrously. This is how it came about:

A faithful Irish employe announced his desire to take a month's vacation in order to visit his brother in the West. He had worked so well and steadily that his employer not only granted the request, but made him a present of a new valise. The night before Tim was to leave he received the gift, accompanied by a few appreciative words.

Tim stared at the valise for a moment and then asked: "What am I to do with that?"

"Why, put your clothes in it when you go away, of course," answered the contractor.

"Put me clothes in it, is it?" said Tim. "An' phwat will Oi wear if Oi put me clothes in that?"

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers Fortune's Spor. Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

daresay it will taste none the worse for that."

My glass was filled, though I shook my head. "If you will not drink, I cannot," she announced, "and the wine will be wasted. I propose the health of Mr. John Bourke, and his continued great success in his political career. For you to refuse would be to bring him bad luck; in other words, to dim the brightness of his aura."

"You knew where I was?" I faltered.

"The crystal showed me. My dear girl, your aura and his did not blend well."

"I don't know what you mean," I protested, irritably, my face crimson.

"Drink his health and I will tell you."

Desperately I raised the glass to my lips and drank, for, though I disliked and distrusted the woman whose every word seemed to ring false, her strange manner and the equally strange way of putting things, called the superstition, which lies dormant (at best) in the mind of every normal woman, into life. She began to dominate me; and as she had said, with a bleak gleam of those pale eyes from under the veil not yet removed, that my refusal would invite "bad luck" to John Bourke, I dared not refuse. It appeared, from what Lady Feo had said, that I had brought danger to him already; I would run no more risks where he was concerned. And so, like a child, I obeyed the woman in black.

As I sipped the champagne, which almost instantly flew to my head, for I had never drunk any before, a sudden thought leaped up in my brain like a flame.

This woman knew of John Bourke. Did she also know of the mark he wore on his arm?

"About the aura," she said, slowly, having raised her veil high enough to leave the full red lips and part of the heavily-modelled nose exposed to view. "About the aura. Every human being is surrounded by an aura, which is visible to the Seeing Eye, but it is not every human being who has the Seeing Eye. I am one of the few who have. Happiness in love can only be assured by the proper blending of a woman's aura with a man's. If they clash harshly in color, it is like a discord in music—a discord that keeps on sounding and echoing through their lives. Your aura is very peculiar. So is John Bourke's. You must not think of him in future, if you wish to be happy, even contented."

"You are a very strange woman," I said.

"Didn't that boasted crystal of yours tell you that? If not, it is very defective. I supposed you consulted it before coming out to keep the tryst with me."

"I am very tired of talking nonsense," I said. "How did you know where I was staying? If you speak about that ridiculous 'crystal' again, I shall almost wish to throw you or myself out of the window."

The red lips, which had been curved into a smile under the black line of the lifted veil, straightened themselves. From the bosom of her black gown she drew out an old-fashioned gold watch, and I uttered a stifled exclamation as I saw it.

"Yes, I know," remarked my companion, as if in reply to a question. "It is like one you have seen Lady Cope wear. But it is not the same. I am not a thief. It is now a quarter to nine. A little more than an hour more and we shall have reached the place to which I am taking you. On that calculation I should say that, in twice the time, you will have learnt everything in my power to tell you—among others, how I knew some of the things which you fondly believed were secrets. Meanwhile, it is no use to catechise me, for I shall only be obliged to put you off, as I have before. Now I am going to finish my dinner."

I ate little and drank less. Still, I felt somewhat stronger and more rested when I replaced the dinner-basket on the opposite seat. I had had an ultimatum from the woman in black, and rather sullenly I rested my elbow on the narrow window-sill, turning my face away and looking out into the gathering darkness.

Last night at this time I had been comparatively happy and at peace, for I had had several hours with Mr. Bourke, and was looking forward, not only to the next day, but other days to come. I had been proud that I was to be his "secretary." I had thought with delight of the rooms which Mrs. Jennett had engaged for me, and how I would make them bright and homelike, hoping that some day my friend would come and drink tea with me in the little "parlor" which Mrs. Jennett had described.

If anyone had told me then that twenty-four hours later I would have run away for the third time in two months, deliberately putting myself out of John Bourke's life, and going off by night with the woman who had lured my adopted mother to her death, I would not have believed the prophecy.

For a long time the woman in black let me sit in silence, then she spoke out abruptly. "You are doing what I advised you not to do! You are thinking of John Bourke again."

What possessed me I know not; but a sudden desire gripped my heart, almost like a claw that squeezed. I turned on her. "I was thinking of something which you and he have in common."

"Indeed? What is that?" she enquired, unsuspectingly.

"A scar on the arm, shaped like a heart."

I could not tell whether I should succeed in taking this extraordinary creature by surprise or not. She knew so much, she seemed to have such an uncanny gift of divining things which she could not actually know, that, when I had taken the plunge, I waited eagerly, even fearfully, for the result. I was prepared for signs of anger, or I was prepared for sneering. I was prepared for half-concealed evidences of astonishment. But I was not prepared for what I saw.

She bounded up from the seat, as if she had been struck by electricity, and with one sweep of her hand wrenched off the veil which had still hidden the upper part of her face. I heard the lace tear at its fastenings, but she did not appear to know or care.

Her face was dusky-pale, and the eyes shone like green beryl. Her bosom rose and fell, while her breath came through closed lips and shivering nostrils.

"It's not true!" she hissed at last.

"It is true," I answered.

"Heavens!" she whispered, beneath her breath. And something else she added. I was not sure of all the words, but one I heard distinctly. It was "Judgment."

To be continued.

A Dramatic Moment.

At the close of the Crimean War the Duke of Cambridge, who had taken command in the absence of Lord Raglan, went in person to Marshal Canrobert to invite the French officer to review the English troops. It had not occurred to His Highness that the date fixed for the review was June 18, the anniversary of Waterloo. Nor indeed at the moment did Marshal Canrobert pay any heed to the date.

At the time agreed upon Canrobert was on the ground in full parade uniform, accompanied by his staff. The English army was drawn up in long file; to the right, the Guards, with their long, hairy head-gear; then the Highlanders, with their feather-trimmed caps, their strange costumes and their bagpipes, and with sounds stranger still; and last the infantry, with their tufted shakos and their red tunics with white gimp. The sun was beaming brightly, causing the arms to glisten, and the flags waving in the wind were all covered over with names embroidered in gold. It was a superb spectacle.

The Duke of Cambridge asked the marshal to take the right of the line of battle—it was the Guards who occupied it—and reviewing officers began to move along in front of their ranks. Having got level with the first battalion, Canrobert saluted it. At the same moment the flag was lowered to return his salute, and on the unfolded tissue he read, in large letters:

"Ramillies, Malplaquet, Les Arapiles, Vittoria . . . Waterloo."

Those were precisely the most disastrous days of the history of France that Canrobert, a French general, was thus compelled to salute on the anniversary of Waterloo, in the midst of English generals who had fought there. He was unable, do what he could, to repress the emotion that was choking him during that second. Cold shivers ran through his body; the hand with which he held his hat while saluting trembled like a dead leaf.

Still, anxious to let nothing of all that appear, he went on saluting, one after the other, down to the very last of them, the colors on which he could always read:

"Les Arapiles, Vittoria . . . Waterloo."

As may be imagined, Canrobert's emotion was all the more powerful that he was constrained to keep it down. When it was all over he was obliged to pull himself together in order to shake hands with the Duke of Cambridge, to tender him thanks, to offer him congratulations.

His Highness was far too quick-sighted not to have noticed what he had gone through, and far too tactful to make the faintest allusion to it. But from that day onward, whenever French officers were invited to review the English army, the colors remained under cover, and neither Saint-Arnaud, Pelissier nor Canrobert had in the future a similar ordeal to go through.

The Switzerland of America.

The above caption is particularly appropriate to the region in the "Highlands of Ontario" known as "The Lake of Bays" district. It is replete with natural beauty and loveliness, and comprises some of the most beautiful water stretches and picturesque landscapes for which the locality is becoming so famous with the ever increasing army of tourists. The scenic grandeur of hill and mountain, the placid beauty of the lakes, the lovely rivers, are not surpassed in any country. One thousand feet above sea level. No Hay Fever, absence of flies, splendid speckled trout fishing, and good bathing and boating assured. Handsome illustrated descriptive matter giving full particulars can be had for the asking by applying to M. C. Dickson, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD, K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

COLLEGE STREET.
Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of HAMMOCKS
in town.
Prices from $1.00 to $6.00
J. J. TURNER & SONS

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP WORKS OF Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature, Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages., with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM. MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 337 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tailpieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE

GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE

LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.

Carthagenian	July 30
Sardinian	August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S. S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to V. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to:
W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to
THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet, French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m. daily (Sunday excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

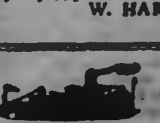
RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15. Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2.30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gores Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS,
Master



STEAMER "MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. SCOLLARD Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 2th!

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer
Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
"STURION"
JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and 3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	" 4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	" 5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	" 6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	" 7 40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	" 8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA
JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"
JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.
Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... 1.50 p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets)...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND,
Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets) ...... [illegible] a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester)...... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope Ontario...... [illegible] p.m

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which tickets reads. For further information apply to

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
[illegible] Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports.

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—FARE:—
$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18
Including meals and berth en route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write
A. W. HEPBURN Manager,
Picton, Ont

50 Doses for 25c

IF THEY CURE YOU.

50 Doses for Nothing

IF THEY DO NOT CURE YOU

These are the terms upon which we will mail you a full size box of either

Dr. Dean's Nerve & Blood Builder

—OR—

Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills

We know you never tried the equal of these wonderful remedies and that's why we can offer to send back your money if you buy them and are not perfectly satisfied.

Send 25c. in stamps and get a box by return mail.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'

H. H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 30, 1902.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

—The weather is tapering off, as it were, after a soak.

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Bookstore.

—The high water has seriously interfered with the building of the new dam at the locks.

The T.A.S. and Athletics will play on the Oval tonight. The game will start at 6.45 sharp.

—Freak No. 1.— raspberries were selling yesterday twelve boxes for a dollar at Mason's and one or two other places.

—Mr. McAllister did not order this g. 23. to be sent to his Stony Lake home, and his mill was struck by lightning. This should serve as an everlasting warning to others.

—James Haglan, a vagrant from Downeyville, appeared at the Police court yesterday and was given half an hour to get out of town.

—A meeting of the Sergeant's Mess of the 57th Regiment will be held in the bugle and drum corps' room tonight at 8 o'clock.

—During Sunday's storm the house of Mr. John Heap, of Ashburnham, was struck by lightning. The bolt entered the roof, where it made a hole, but did no further damage. Mr. Heap received a severe shock but was only temporarily disabled.

—The marriage took place on Monday evening last of Miss Alice Simmons, of town, to Mr. Walter Young, formerly of Stepney, London, England, and now of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. P. Wilson, B. A., of the George street church.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

To-Day's Excursion

A mammoth excursion, run under the auspices of the Sunday Schools of Norwood and Havelock, will arrive this morning by C.P.R. and will embark on the City of Peterborough for Idyl-Wild. We were in error yesterday in stating that the Excursion was to Jubilee Point.

Charged with Theft

A barber named Warren was arrested at Lakefield on Monday, charged with entering Hackett's barber shop on Saturday night and stealing a number of razors. He appeared before Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court yesterday, and the case was remanded until tomorrow.

St. Paul's Organist

Mr. Flavel, of Oshawa, who was to have succeeded Mr. Crane as organist and Choir Leader of St. Paul's church, has written to say that he has decided not to leave Oshawa for the present. It is understood that extra inducements have been made to have him remain. Mr. Crane's resignation is to take effect on the first of September.

Is Your Back Lame

Does it hurt to stoop or bend down? Have you a heavy dull pain at the base of the spine? If so, the best remedy is Nerviline; it will invigorate the tired, sore muscles, make them supple and strong. Nerviline will drive out the pain and make you well in no time. Nothing so good as Nerviline for lumbago, stiff neck, rheumatism, neuralgia and sciatica. Buy a 25c. bottle of Polson's Nerviline to-day, and try it.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure constipation.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Rev. Father Phelan, Young's Point, was in town yesterday.

—Mr. Richard Hall is spending a few days at Stony Lake.

—Mr. Will Leck leaves today for a month at Burleigh Falls.

—Miss Hall of Toronto, arrived last evening to spend a few weeks with Miss Mabel Bradburn.

—Miss Gertie Torrance, of Hamilton, is the guest of Miss Minnie Craig, of Ashburnham.

—Mr. A. J. Gough, of the firm of Gough Bros., Toronto, the great clothiers was in town yesterday.

—The Times received a friendly call yesterday from Capt. Ed Young, of Young's Point.

—Mr. George E. Williamson, of Port Perry is visiting with Mr. Wm. Cooney Charlotte street, for a few days.

—Messrs. Edward Phelan and Thos. Forty have returned from a two weeks' stay at Clifton Springs, yesterday.

—Mr. S. J. Sharp, western manager of the Elder, Dempster Steamship Company and Mr. Jack Rose, Travelling Passenger agent of the C.P.R. were in town yesterday.

—Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's, is away on a month's holidays. During his absence the services will be taken by Rev. J. H. McCallum, of Toronto.

A Large Catch

Mr. George W. Hatton and Mr. M. C. Cumplin, drove out to Millbrook on Monday to enjoy the pleasures of trout fishing in that neighborhood. At Millbrook they were joined by Mr. Robt. Ruddy, who is well known as a successful disciple of Izaak Walton. We have it on authority of one of the party that Mr. Hatton and Mr. Cumplin caught exactly 12 trout each. How many fell to Mr. Ruddy's share was not disclosed. It is possible that Mr. R. looked after the "bait" while his companions manipulated the rod and line.

Rainfall in July

The rainfall of July in Toronto is far above the average of the last sixty years, which is 2.918 inches. This month to date it has rained on sixteen out of the 28 days, and the total fall has been 4.235 inches. For the whole of July last year the fall was 3.379. The greatest rainfall in any July recorded was 8.150 inches, in July, 1841. A few other years when the rainfall exceeded that of this year in this month were: July, 1840, 5.27 inches; July, 1843, 4.605 inches; July, 1854, 4.805 inches; July, 1862, 5.344 inches; July, 1869, 4.610 inches; July, 1878, 5.63 inches; July, 1883, 5.57 inches; July, 1897, 5.24 inches.

THE VISION OF THE MULE

'Neath a spreading sugar maple
I was lying down to cool,
Breathing in the scent of burdock
On the lee side of a mule,
When I heard a jackass braying
In a tone of circular saw:
"Ashburnham! Ashburnham! he-haw! he-haw!"

But a wondrous vision mingled
With the mule's melodious bray
And I saw a noble village,
With its throngs at work and play
It was built upon a hillside,
At its foot a lake I saw:
"Ashburnham! Ashburnham! he-haw! he-haw!"

All the citizens were brothers
Sharing in the common loaf,
Working when they couldn't help it,
When not working, playing golf;
Seeking earnestly and striving
Each much idle breath to draw,
"Ashburnham! Ashburnham! he-haw! he-haw!"

Beer—friend Calcutt was the master
Pop—and water each a serf.
Collins John, the morn eye-opener,
Swiggl'd to brace the rocky nerve,
Faith and Hope——

[At this stage our poetry machine quit—the genius, (the printer's devil) who operated it having been drawn to play in the inter-presidential bowling tournament last night.]

RIVER NOTES

The annual excursion of the employees of the Matthews Packing Co., took place yesterday per City of Peterborough to Jubilee Point. Mr. Frank Matthews, the genial manager, was on deck, and as usual, looked after the employees of the firm in his usual courteous manner.

The usual sports and games were held under the personal supervision of Mr. Matthews and all hands voted it a great holiday.

The master and all members of his crew on the City are certainly to be congratulated on the way in which the boat was handled—leaving on time and pulled back on time, notwithstanding the fact that the Gilmour Co. had let their logs out into the river yesterday afternoon.

The majority of the excursionists had their baskets with them, but the popular caterer, Mr. Dan Foley, was called on to furnish dinner for about 100 of the party.

Sid Tivey, Bruce Beatty and Gordon Logan are under tent for a week at Jubilee Point.

A rather unusual sight was witnessed on the Otonabee yesterday and the farmers along the river certainly appreciated it by turning out in large numbers. It was a procession of the different steamers down the river including the City of Peterborough, North Star, The Gilmour Alligator, Muskoka, and last but not least the well known Water Lily.

THE STREET RAILWAY

The Company Met and Organized for Active Operations

The directors of the Railway Company met on Monday evening and completed the reorganization of the Company.

A letter was read from Mr. Bane, stating that he would arrive in town next week, when it is hoped that arrangements will be completed for active operations.

—The work of installing the machinery at the Cereal Company's mammoth building is rapidly progressing. A portion of the works will be in operation about the first of September.

THE STEAMERS DELAYED

Logs in the River Delayed Boats Yesterday Morning

Three steamers, loaded with passengers were delayed about an hour yesterday morning in getting through the locks, owing to the action of the Gilmour Company, who ran several cribs of boom timber into the narrow channel above the lock. The steamers had to wait until this was locked through. The City of Peterborough had on board about 200 passengers, it being the annual excursion of the Matthews Co.; the North Star was on her regular trip, and also had a large number on board, and the Water Lily was carrying the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral and their friends on their annual outing.

It appears that the foreman of the Gilmour Company was told by lockmaster Collins not to run his boom timber to interfere with navigation. He failed to obey instructions.

DOUBLE-TRACKING G. T. R.

Duplicate Line From Montreal to Niagara Falls

After an inspection extending over some days of the road between Chicago and Montreal, Mr. F. H. McGuigan, General Superintendent of the Grand Trunk railway, stated that before the close of the year the road would have 775 miles of double track. He expected that by the end of November the double-tracking of the line between Montreal and Niagara Falls would be completed. The big double-track bridge at Jordan, which would cost $200,000, was well under way.

The work between Toronto and Belleville, he said, had been considerably delayed by bad weather, and the contractors had had many setbacks, but the work being carried on by the company itself was being pushed forward with all possible speed. The grades along the Chicago and Grand Trunk were being so reduced that he believed the loads could be increased by 60 per cent.

On Monday Mr. McGuigan was at Midland and Lorneville Junction, at which latter point the track is being raised twenty feet over the Trent Canal.

PETERBORO THIRTY YEARS AGO

Interesting Items Taken From The Times in March 1872

—Mr. Arthur Rutherford and D. Carlisle have returned from a visit to the Old Country, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

—Mr. J. B. McWilliams has been appointed forest ranger in the place of Mr. Jumping John Rogers, retired.

—On Saturday last a person of rather low stature, seemingly of plethoric temperament and bibulistic habits, was coming up street, and for what reason we are not aware, preferred the middle of the road to the sidewalk. At Mitchell's corner he collided with a team coming carefully round the corner. The consequence was a horizontal position, and for a few minutes he was unconscious. He was taken into Bill Hepburn's saloon, where he rallied. It is generally believed he was full of scorpion juice. He will now understand that the streets are for horses.

— by-law giving a bonus of $10,000 to Paton, Moir & Co., proprietors of the Auburn Woolen Mills, was carried by a vote of 52 to 104. The Times supported the by-law.

—Our enterprising Mayor, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, has purchased the vacant corner opposite Morgan's hotel (the Commercial House), (from Mr. R. A. Morrow, and will erect a number of stores at once.

—Mr. Thomas Bradburn is, we are informed, preparing to build a magnificent town hall and opera house.

— newsdealers strike.—After Monday, April 1st, the daily papers will not be delivered by news agents in Peterborough.

—Commodore Calcutt is building a new steamer, 75 feet long and 13 feet wide—80x20 over all—24 horse power engines. The boat will carry 75 passengers.

—Those acquainted with history will find the following verses of interest. They are from the pen of John Drosley, a colored barber, who was quite a character along in the 70's:

nepolien once the king of france
All on the sabbath Day who in moscow thought to danc,
but had to run away.

now I can tell you of more fun
All on the sabbath Day,
that uncle sam at ole bull run who left a diging clay.

the southerners they could it fite
the northerners they could beat,
they had a chance at pea rige,
but to their own retreat.

montgomery in a soldier's ranks thought british boys to sell, that now engraved on quebec banks here is where old monty fell.

dear reader you think of these stops
when I am in my grave, and don't go round to barber shops on Sunday for a shave.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf Links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky

Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers. LEITH. Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd

AGENTS, MONTREAL.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Help Wanted.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $16 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 711 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to WM. W SMITH Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

Misc'llaneous

FRY, 204 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 40 page phamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co. Milwaukee. Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 204 George St., now occupied by Henry Best

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Childrens' Aid Soc'ety

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1895. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m. 4 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary Office Division Court buildings.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal... ...	5.10 p.m	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.12 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	5.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5 10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...	7.25 p.m.	1 12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port McNicoll, North West...	11.25 a.m.	5 10 p.m
Grand Trunk	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	2.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9 00 p.m.	6.25 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	2.25 p.m.	12.45 p.m
Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	2.30 a.m.	8.15 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	2.10 a.m.	8.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	6.45 p.m.	2.25 p.m
Lakefield local	9.00 a.m.	6.30 a.m
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	4.00 p.m.	6.40 p.m.

$3.10 $3 10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.

LIMITED.

Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

BIG G

CURE YOURSELF!

Sold by Druggists,

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Roszel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall-Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

BOOTS & SHOES

—FOR—

Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

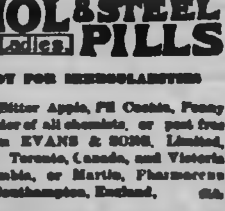
Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ...ARCHITECT..
450 George Street

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales



FOR EVERYBODY

COAL; GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

GET OUR PRICES

DIAMOND STEEL BEARING

O. WILSON & SON
31 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20.000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go They cannot produce the goods.

CANADA CAMERA CO.
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watch this space for dates and particulars.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$61.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma Wash. and Return.

$56.25
PETERBOROUGH
—TO—
Nelson, Rossland, Trail, Sandon, B. C., and Spokane, Wash., and Return.

Tickets good going July 10th to 20th, inclusive. Valid to return within sixty days of issue.

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY

WM. ROBINSON

10 King St West

William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at	60
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	48c
Smocks, at......	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

ARE YOU STOUT.

Are You Using RED ROSE TEA BLACK, MIXED AND GREEN CEYLON

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 30 NO. 174 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO THURSDAY JULY 31 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

BOERS SWAGGER AS IF THEY WERE VICTORS

They Look to the Future for Chance to Rise and Battle Again for Dutch Ascendancy

THEIR DEMEANOR AFTER PEACE DECLARATION.

Canadian Teachers Make Progress With the Boer Children—Were Taught Like Parrots

Potchefstroom Burghers Camp, June 30.—There is a great difference in the disposition and manner of the Boers in the camp since peace has been declared. While the war was going on they were much more unpretentious and humble, and more obliging. Since the declaration of peace there is a kind of "I am as good as you" air about them. This has no doubt been partly brought about by the men who have come into the camp during the past two weeks—men who have been out on commando all through the war—and who look and take on airs now as if they were the conquerors in the late struggle and not the conquered.

When these men came in at first, it was really interesting to go to the gate of the camp and watch the meeting of husbands and wives, fathers and children, brothers and sisters. The reunions had often pathetic as well as comical features about them. Now an old man would ride in, peering about right and left at the women and children who were lining both sides of the crowd, and a woman would push through to greet him. Tears and laughter were at times both near the surface. It was often "pitch and toss" which it would be.

Perhaps the next to enter would be a lad of 14 or 15, and what a hero he was—especially with the girls! He would march proudly through the camp with three or four girls linking arms on each side of him, and how happy he each side of him, and how happy the girls looked who were so fortunate as to have hold of the lad's arms.

I could not keep back the tears at one incident. A man of about 40 entered, and was making enquiries about his wife and five children, who had been in the camp during the unhealthy season. He fainted away on being told that his wife and four of his children had died since he last saw them.

One woman about 26 or 27 years of age, I should judge, came to me where I was standing, her face simply beaming with joy. She began to talk very rapidly in Dutch. One of our Dutch teachers standing by translated the harangue. The woman had been mourning for her husband as dead, and she had just heard that he was still alive, and in exile as yet at St. Helena.

As day after day went by and more and more of the Boer men came in, we began to see that they were certainly not in the half-starved condition that we had been led to expect they were. They looked exceedingly well fed and comfortable, but our blood tingled unpleasantly in our veins as we saw them swaggering about the camp in British army greatcoats—taken from our soldiers at some time or other—and, as we observed, their saddles. We saw that they were the latest thing in British army saddles.

Imagine the feelings of one of our English nurses when a Boer, well clothed in khaki, who was calling on a Dutch nurse in the hospital, pulled out of his pocket a British captain's stars, two for each shoulder, and laughed as he showed where they had been on the uniform which he then wore.

Most of the Boers coming to the camp declare that their leaders had deceived them or they would not have come in, that they had expected to still keep up their independence as a republic. They really think, in fact, that the Boers should keep all they have and give up nothing in the surrender; and even then I do not believe they would be satisfied.

That all bitterness has not died out is still to be plainly seen. As one Boer testily said here when the remark was made that everything was all right now —"For the present, only for the present."

One of the Canadian teachers, and one of those who left Toronto in April last, lately spent a most interesting but hardly a profitable morning with a class of Dutch children, ranging from 5 to 8 years old. The Dutch teacher, whose place our Canadian teacher had taken, had, indeed, tried to teach the children English, but what English!

On entering the class, the teacher said "Good morning." "Good morning," replied the class. At this prompt response the teacher felt a warm glow of hope come over her. Their English could not be so bad, when they said "Good morning" so nicely. But blessed, indeed, are they that expect nothing, for they shall not be disappointed.

Having drawn a cat on the blackboard, the teacher turned to the class with the question, "What is that?" "What one dat?" was the rather unexpected response. As yet undaunted the teacher told them "It is a cat," and with the characteristic politeness of the Dutch children, they did not contradict their teacher, but said, "It one a cat."

Among other English words the children had been learning were the names of the features of the face.

Pointing to her own nose, the teacher asked "What is that?" when the children, who had evidently been accustomed to indicating their noses at this stage of proceedings, replied "That one my nose." This did not altogether satisfy the teacher, and she said, "No, not your nose," whereupon the class repeated her words, "No, not your nose."

Once more touching her own nose, she said, "It is the teacher's nose," and the children, touching their own noses, also said, "It is the teacher's nose."

The Parrot System.

This incident is somewhat noteworthy as indicating one of the seeming chief defects of the Dutch system of education in South Africa. The children appear to have been merely taught like parrots to repeat the words and sentences that have been put into their mouths, but to obtain no real understanding of what they have been taught. The memory has been the only mental faculty apparently that has been trained. There seems to be no real brain work and no reasoning.

I am, however, far from saying that nothing has been accomplished. On the contrary, the way in which children who previously knew no English whatever, have learned our language during the time they have been in the camp schools is remarkable.

The interest which is shown in the schools, not only by the children themselves, but by the men and women, simplifies the teacher's work considerably. The children come to school because they like to come. There is more that is interesting in the school than at home. The parents come occasionally to watch proceedings. They stand about the schoolhouses for perhaps ten or fifteen minutes at a time, and then as if satisfied that matters are all right, they go home. But the time when we have the longest audiences is between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning. Between these hours the whole school in this camp of nearly one thousand children is drilling in different parts of the school compound. This is, indeed, a sight worth seeing—the girls going through the various physical culture exercises, scarf drill, etc., and the boys being put through their drill in such a soldierly manner that we are really glad they are now British subjects, and we, therefore, feel and take a personal, as well as a patriotic pride in them.

The teachers here cannot but feel a certain pride in their schoolchildren. Many of the Boer children had never until the present time attended a school, and the difference between those who have been attending and the others is amazing. The former are more alert, their eyes are brighter, and—what is probably more necessary with Dutch than English children—their tongues are loosened.

The Teacher's Work.

The weather has been cold, but the snap is over, and it is simply glorious weather now. The Canadian teachers' supplies for our camp have arrived, as well as the school requisites and supplies brought from England. Each teacher received a camp bed, mattress, three blankets, large pillow, lantern, steamer chair, and other camp necessaries. Our mess room—a marquee—has been very cold for eating in, and we Canadian teachers lately agitated for a brick fire place, which we are happy to say has been built for us. It may be interesting to some to learn that my own class at Potchefstroom camp is composed of about 40 pupils. This class had been lately taught by a Dutch gentleman teacher. The larger part of the class is composed of boys—ages from 8 to 14. The classification of these children has been rather difficult, but now it will be more simple, as it is to be according to their knowledge of the English language. The Canadian teachers are getting into happy touch with their pupils and begin to feel they can teach them profitably.

The winter school holidays are close at hand, during which season there will be a rally of school teachers at Johannesburg to attend a teachers' convention. I correspond with quite a number of the Canadian teachers in South Africa, and I believe they are all doing good work and enjoying their new experience immensely.

F. J. M. W.

ANARCHISTS' WORK

Military and Naval Authorities are Terrorized By Their Plots

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 31.—A band of anarchists is worrying the harbor authorities of Brest by attempts at torpedoing warships, sinking torpedoes in navigable waters, shooting sentinels and threatening the ammunition magazines. The War Office gave orders to patrol the harbor day and night, and general alarm is felt. Some little time ago the Austrian harbor of Pola was terrorized by a band of Anarchists in the same way, doing much damage to war material, and killing and wounding several soldiers. The authorities think these attempts are organized by an international band of miscreants to test the defensive works, and strike terror into the ranks of the soldiery and marines.

FOR COWHIDING A MINISTER

Interesting Case Before the Courts at Richmond Va.

Special to The Times.

Richmond, Va., July 31.—At Amherst to-day Judge Clarence J. Campbell was arraigned for trial on a charge of felonious assault on the Rev. C. W. Crawford, whom he horsewhipped in front of the court house at the June term of his court. The case has attracted wide attention, owing to the prominence of the parties, and the trial will be followed with much interest.

The Rev. Mr. Crawford is editor of the Christian Federation, a paper published in this city in the interest of the anti-saloon movement. Some time ago the Editor criticized Judge Campbell for dismissing the case against a man charged with selling liquor in Amherst. Mr. Crawford asked in his paper which was doctored the most, the whiskey or the Judge. Judge Campbell had the minister arraigned for contempt of court, but discharged him. Afterward the two men and Mr. Crawford held out his hand to Judge Campbell. The Judge drew a cowhide and struck the minister several blows about the head and face.

Double Hanging Scheduled

Special to The Times.

Wise, Va., July 31.—There is a double hanging here to-morrow, the first in the history of the county. The prospective victims are Charlie Blackman and Robert Foy, both colored. Blackman was convicted of the murder of Thomas Bates at Tom's Creek last month, while Foy's crime was the killing of a man named Dayton Miller at the same place last winter.

Largest in the World

Special to The Times.

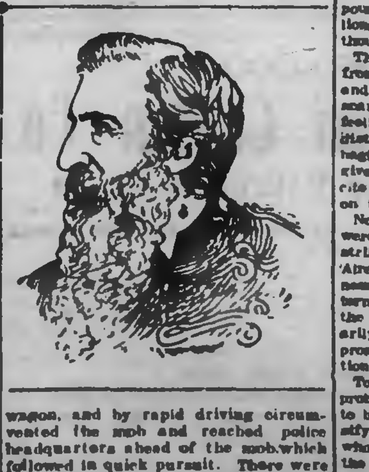
New York, July 31.—This city has now the biggest office building in the world, with twenty stories and over 1,500 rooms. There are more than 3,000 occupants. It is the building at the corner of Broad and Exchange place. The tallest building in the world is in Park Row and is known as the Syndicate Building. It is 344 feet high from curb to cornice, with twenty-six stories above ground and one below.

GENERAL BOOTH COMING

The Famous Head of the Salvation Army Coming

He Will Visit Canada in September or October

And Will Probably Come to Peterborough for a Day or Two



General Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, whose ramifications extend to every quarter of the globe, will visit Canada in September or October. He will be accompanied by several staff officers and will make a tour of the Dominion, visiting all the important stations.

It is now some seven or eight years since the General was in Peterborough, and as this will be his last visit, a big demonstration will take place. Excursions will be run to town from many points, so as to afford opportunity for people at a distance hearing the General's farewell words to the people of Canada.

A HARD FIGHT

To Prevent Lynching by a Band of American Negroes

Special to The Times.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 31.—The lynching of a negro by negroes was narrowly averted this evening by the prompt action of the police and good driving. Alonzo Strange, formerly a janitor at police headquarters, was dismissed for wife-whipping, since which time he has lived off her earnings (the woman and her daughter conducting a laundry), and has often taunted both of them of his familiarity with white women. This evening he went home intoxicated and demanded money, and not getting it, he assaulted his wife with a razor, cutting a horrible gash from shoulder to shoulder on the back, and also inflicting other gashes.

Both the wife and his stepdaughter attempted to defend themselves with flat-irons, and the younger woman was successful in knocking him down, giving her an opportunity to escape. Strange lives not far from the police station, and the bicycle police and patrol wagon were quickly on the scene, by which time 1,000 men, white and black, had gathered, the blacks clamoring for his life. Finally three of them pushed through the crowd with a rope, shouting, "Let's take him and swing him!"

The police fought back the leaders, and dumped Strange into the patrol wagon, and by rapid driving circumvented the mob and reached police headquarters ahead of the mob which followed in quick pursuit. There were enough police at headquarters to awe the crowd into submission, and the negroes withdrew, swearing that if Strange was not given a good long sentence they would fix him. Strange was not much injured in his fight with the women. His wife may die.

Completely Fagged Out

The world is full of sickly, despondent, tired, enervated people, all hoping to be well some day. The surest road to health is along the way of taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone is a great appetizer and enables one to eat plenty of wholesome food, without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia. This results in the rapid formation of an abundance of red, vitalizing blood, which will restore the nerves, increase flesh and vigor, and nourish and feed every organ of the body. Ferrozone is an ideal restorative and invigorant. It is a tonic of unequalled merit that anyone can use with benefit. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50 at Druggists or Ormond & Walsh.

BISMARCK'S PHYSICIAN LOSES POSITION.

London, July 28—Professor Schweninger, Bismarck's famous physician has had a heavy blow dealt him. As professor of skin diseases at Berlin University, he enjoyed a considerable salary and a high position, but has now been removed from this position, and in order to make the fall light, a place has been found for him as professor of the practice of healing. The duties are nominal, and it may be said that Schweninger retires forever from any prominent position in academic medical circles.

STRIKE TO LAST TILL NEXT OCTOBER

That is the Outlook Now in the Mining Regions

COAL IS SURE TO SOAR HIGH

At the Same Time Disintegration Has Begun —Miners Have Many Reasons for Dissatisfaction, Not Least of Which is the Distribution of the Strike Fund

Special to The Times.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 28.—Among those best informed as to the actual conditions existing in the coal region there is little or no hope of seeing an end of the strike before September at the earliest. The predictions of a resumption of coal mining early in August have no basis of fact on which to rest. It is believed, moreover, that it will be nearer the middle, or perhaps the last half of September, than the first of that month, that the collapse will come.

It will take from two to three weeks to get the miners and the machinery of mining in full working order after the men have signified their willingness to go back to work. In other words, a full restoration of mining in the anthracite region cannot be looked for much before the month of October. This is the best judgment of five or six representatives of the largest interests in the region, who are in a position to have an intimate and accurate knowledge of the situation.

There have been statements from time to time within the past few weeks to the effect that this, that and the other colliery had on its rolls the names of enough miners seeking employment to justify opening up the mines. The facts do not warrant such statements. So far as the big companies are concerned, there is none of them that could to-morrow open a single one of its mines. It is very doubtful if there is an individual operator who could begin mining coal now without making the effort so dismal a failure that the effect would put new heart into the strikers, and by just so much prolong the struggle.

Yet the evidences are on every hand that the process of disintegration is going steadily on in the ranks of the strikers. It began before the Indianapolis convention on July 17th, and was by that convention temporarily checked. There was disappointment that the bituminous miners were not ordered out. Mr. Mitchell was even accused of double dealing in this respect. It was said that at the outset of the strike he had, at least indirectly, held out the promise that the United Mine Workers of the bituminous region would rise up en masse and join the ranks of the strikers in the anthracite region, that the industries of the country would be paralyzed for lack of fuel to keep them going, and that such a state of commercial chaos would be brought about that the anthracite operators would be compelled by sheer force of public opinion to yield to the demands of their employees and sue the officers of the United Mine Workers of America for peace.

This was big talk. It caught the imagination even of some of those who were doubtful about the advisability of an anthracite strike at this time. Mr. Mitchell never said these things in so many words. He never said directly that the bituminous miners would be called out. But others said it all in his name and by the rank and file of the strikers it was believed to represent Mitchell's sentiments and his plan of action.

So when Mr. Mitchell at the Indianapolis convention took a stand of resolute opposition to a bituminous strike, there were many of the miners in this region who felt that in a measure he had betrayed them. They were consoled, however, by the promises of aid that the Indianapolis convention gave them. There was to be a brimming river of yellow gold poured into the anthracite country. Millions of money were talked about as though they were mere trifles.

The miner heard the big figures rolled from the tongue of his district leader and went away to his little home and his scantily fed wife and children with a feeling of affluence. The raising and distribution of $500,000 a week was a bagatelle, he was assured, that would give every miner now left in the anthracite region $5.00 a week. They could carry on the war indefinitely on that basis.

Now it looks as though this very money were to be the rock on which the great strike is to split and go down to ruin. Already there is wrangling and bitterness and out of the wrangling and bitterness the process of disintegration of the strike forces, which was temporarily checked by the hopes and the fair promises by the Indianapolis convention, has again set in.

To open a colliery now, in all human probability, would lead to a conflict and to bloodshed, and this would only intensify the bitterness and stiffen up those who are wavering in their allegiance to the union. At the same time were a mine here and there to be successfully opened and the strike thus broken—an impossibility at the present moment—the fact that the union had failed to give effective relief would be undemonstrated. On the other hand, if matters are allowed to take their course for a few weeks longer, it is believed that there will be brought home to the miner the conviction that it is his own work and that it is the employer who pays him for it that he must rely upon for support and that, as between the two, the employer is a better friend than the union.

Broke Her Leg

While Mrs. Phil Elmhirst, of Otonabee, was doing something in the barn at her home the other day, she received a severe kick by one of the animals, which broke her leg. She was unable to rise or make herself heard, and it was two hours before she was discovered. The limb had swollen so much that the bones could not be set for some days. She is now doing as well as can be expected.

CRUCIFIED HIMSELF.

Paris, July 28—A criminal lunatic was found nailed to the floor of his cell by his feet, with a gash in the left side. The man imagined himself to be the Messiah, and securing two rusty nails, drove one of them through his crossed feet into the floor, while with the other he bored holes through his hands and tore open his left side over the heart. When discovered, swimming in blood, he had his hands stretched out in imitation of a person nailed to the cross. The nail had to be removed from his feet with tweezers. He doesn't seem to feel any pain, being in a state of religious ecstacy and repeating passages from the Gospels.

A CASE OF MOTHER-IN-LAW

A Suicide Under the Most Pathetic and Sad Circumstances

Special to The Times.

Louisville, Ky., July 31—"I'll be in h—l in ten minutes," was the remark Samuel Lamb made to his wife this morning, after which he went into an adjoining room and sent a bullet through his brain. He died several hours later. He and his wife had been quarreling for two weeks, the mother-in-law, it is alleged, being considered the chief cause of dissension. Last night he quarreled with his wife again. This morning Mrs. Lamb awakened early to find her husband sitting beside her crying. He then picked up each of his children and told them to kiss him as they would never have another chance. He went to his brother, Ennis Lamb, in a rear room, and told him good-bye. Then he kissed his wife good-by, told her he intended to commit suicide and made the remark quoted. His wife thought he was not in earnest. When she heard the shot from the other room she ran in just in time to catch her husband as he fell. The bullet from a 32-calibre revolver passed through his head. He never regained consciousness.

CHARITY BOARD

First Case for the Sanitarium Under the Town's Arrangement—Accounts Passed

The Charity Board met Thursday night, when Mr. J. J. McBain, vice-chairman, presided, and Messrs. Butler, Kemp, Miller, Yelland and Ald. Batten were present.

The following statement of orders given out was presented:

	Since last meeting May 20th	During 1902
Groceries	$[illegible]	$361.00
Wood	6.00	386.36
Tickets	.75	85.36
Sundries	5.00	6.00
	61.75	$757.33

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid:

H. P. Kennedy	3.00
A. Allison	6.00
Curran & Gobeen	8.[illegible]
A. McDonald	12.00
F. J. R. Mitchell	5.00
J. T. Braund	2.00
Mrs. W. F. Gardiner	4.00
W. Bunton	70
N. Routley	5.00
P. Connell	17.00
M. Brown & Co.	10.00
R. C. Braund	5.00
W. Bradshaw	5.00
Mrs. Wainwright	4.00
T. E. Boddy	1.75

The case of Miss Gertrude McClennan who is suffering from the primary symptoms of consumption, was brought before the Board, and it was moved by Ald. Batten, seconded by Mr. Yelland, that upon the Free Consumption Sanitarium receiving Gertrude McClennan under the terms of the by-law passed by the town council, she be sent there, and that the relief officer be authorized to make the necessary arrangements.

This was adopted and the Board adjourned.

KNOCKING OUT A SIDEWALK

One Was Wanted on Knight Street by Some Owners—Others Didn't

Woodstock Times: A cement sidewalk which the city council advertised on the initiative to be laid on Knight street has been petitioned out. There by hangs a tail. Four or five of the residents of the street wanted the walk, as there is none on the street. The owner of one large parcel of property who does not live in the city was opposed to the walk. This one lot of property is as large as the four or five others put together. In order to petition out a sidewalk it is necessary to have the property owners effected on your side. So to defeat the movement for a sidewalk the large owner on Knight street, divided up his property into four or five separate parcels and deeded them to relatives. These four or five then signed a petition against the proposed walk, and put it out of business.

But there is another side of the story. It costs something to register deeds and lawyers do not draw up deeds for nothing. Then, again, this large property, when it was all one was assessed at a very low figure, something like farm lands. Now, when the assessor calls again, he will assess each of the properties separately. Each lot will likely be assessed at what the whole property is now.

The cost of the sidewalk to the original owner would be insignificant, as compared with what the cost of the deeds and the extra taxes will be now.

Cramps are Like Burglars

They come unexpected and when least welcome. Be armed with a one-minute cure in a bottle of Nerviline, which relieves cramp and stomach pains in five minutes. In Colic, Summer Complaint, Diarrhoea, Indigestion and Nausea, Nerviline is a remedy of remarkable potency, and acts promptly and satisfactorily at all times. The composition of Polson's Nerviline expresses the highest medical progress of the age, which accounts for its superior merit. Price 25c.

Hamilton's Pills are Good Pills.

CUT TO PIECES ON TRACK

Special to The Times.

Cornwall, July 28—The Mocassin train west-bound on the G. T. R. on Saturday night struck and instantly killed Miss Kate Kinnear between Cornwall and Mille Roches. The deceased who was a peculiar old woman, of 85 years or thereabouts, was walking on the track on her way to Mille Roches from Cornwall. The body, which was badly mangled, was taken to Mille Roches, and thence to Cornwall, and was interred today at Gravell Hill.

The unfortunate woman belonged to a good family, being the daughter of the late George Kinnear, of the first concession of Roxborough. She was born in Ireland, and came to this country when a child.

The committee in charge of the Printer's Picnic met last night and drew up a list of sports to be run off at Jubilee point on Saturday afternoon. The challenge from the Examiner office for a baseball match with the Times and Review has been accepted.

WEATHER NOTES.

Thursday—Fine and exceedingly warm.

—A good smart messenger boy wanted at Times Business.

KITCHENER AND MEYER MEET AND SHAKE HANDS

Interesting Incident at a Social Function Given by Alfred Rothschild

PROPOSAL TO LEVEL SHAKESPEARE CLIFF.

Ancient British Landmark Mentioned in "King Lear" Becomes a Subject of Controversy at Dover

Special to The Times.

London, July 30.—Seldom has any social function created more interest than that given by Alfred Rothschild last night when those two recent enemies on the field of battle, Lord Kitchener, and Lucas Meyer were invited to meet each other at dinner. Many notabilities well known in the worlds of art, letters, music, drama and politics, were present. Of course the two generals were the personages of greatest interest, and everyone present noted the very friendly manner in which they met and shook hands.

WANTS TO RAZE SHAKESPEARE CLIFF.

Special to The Times.

London, July 30.—The corporation of Dover yesterday discussed the proposal to level the Shakespeare Cliff. The Town Clerk said he understood the proposal came from the military authorities, who stated that the range of the heavy guns of the new batteries was interfered with by the cliff. The corporation resolved to send remonstrances against razing the cliff which is 500 feet high. Its mention in "King Lear" made it world famed.

TOO DEAR A SUBSTITUTE.

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 30.—Le Journal des Debats while acknowledging that most of the clauses of the British Chinese commercial treaty are advantageous to all the powers, object to the increase of customs duties as too dear a substitute for likin. It suspects Great Britain of bidding for the gratitude of China and advising China against Russia. The ultimate result of this policy, Le Debats thinks, would be Asia for Asiatics, which would be treason to European interests and short-sighted.

TIMES ON THE CORONATION.

Special to The Times.

London, July 30.—The Times says—"Expressions of surprise and grief by the Standard at the rumor of a further postponement of the coronation are regarded as amusing in view of the fact that it was the Standard's utterances on Monday in regard to King Edward's condition which caused the spread of the rumors. The reports from Cowes yesterday regarding the King's condition were undoubtedly reassuring, but the more sensible of the public still believe that every action of those in authority points to the greatest possible curtailment of the ceremony and every possible avoidance of fatigue for the King.

FLEET TO ASSEMBLE AUG. 1.

Special to The Times.

London, July 30.—The Times says the fleet has been ordered to assemble at Spithead on August 1 instead of August 11. The fleet will salute King Edward as he crosses from Cowes to Portsmouth on August 8. The royal yacht will leave Cowes on August 11 for Sandown Bay to enable his Majesty to view the fleet dispersing.

Special to The Times.

London, July 30.—The Gazette publishes another instalment of Lord Kitchener's despatches in the course of which he says that no request of his had ever been refused by the colonial Governments, and their consideration and generosity only equalled the character and quality of the troops they sent to South Africa or raised in that country.

Lieut. Col. Girouard, a Canadian officer, is warmly praised. Lord Kitchener saying that he is an "officer of brilliant ability, and I wish him all success in his new capacity as head of a great civil department."

Almost all the leading generals were recommended, including the writer's brother, General Fred Kitchener, who was described as an exceptionally keen and energetic officer. General Lord Methuen Lord Kitchener said, had done more than most officers towards maintaining the high standard of personal courage, honesty and humanity, which characterizes the British army. "I share his own deep regret," said the despatch, "that his wounds prevented him from remaining in the field until the conclusion of peace."

WEDDING BELLS

It was a pretty wedding that was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. John Weddell, Charlotte street, when his eldest daughter, Miss Maggie, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Bruce Anderson, son of Mr. John Anderson, Ashburnham.

The bride, who was very becomingly attired, was given away by her father, and attended during the ceremony by her sister, Miss Alice M. Weddell. Mr. Chas. Anderson, brother of the groom, assisted as best man.

The beautiful and impressive marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, after which a very unique and elegant wedding dejeuner was partaken of, on the lawn by the guests, who numbered about thirty, composed of the intimate friends, some of whom were from Windsor and Orangeville.

The floral decorations of the table, illuminated by the last rays of the setting sun, were ideally lovely. The happy young couple were the recipients of a great number of very valuable presents, which evidences the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends in town.

Mrs. Anderson will be much missed from our community where she is held in most high regard and we trust she will make as many friends in her new home as she leaves in the old one.

Mr. Anderson is a prosperous young business man of Oxbow, Man., where he has resided for the past three years.

A host of friends join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Anderson a full measure of happiness and the smile of fortune as they journey onward in their western home.

DR. MOHER REMEMBERED

The Popular Physician is "Presented" and "Addressed."

Dr. Moher, who has been appointed to the position of assistant superintendent of the Asylum for the Insane at Orillia, was presented on Tuesday evening, by the members of the C.M.B.A., with an address accompanied by a beautiful gold chain and locket. Dr. Moher, in felicitous terms, responded to the address, thanking his friends for their generous gift.

At the conclusion of the bowling tournament on Tuesday evening, the Doctor, who is vice-President of the the Bowling Club, was made the recipient of another address and a pair of bowls. The doctor, who is a pleasant speaker, made a happy speech in response, in which he thanked the members of the club for the honor done him.

Inflamed Nose and Throat

And such diseases of the respiratory organs, as Bronchitis, Weak Lungs, Cold in the Head and Nasal Catarrh, are treated with marvelous success on strictly scientific principles by Catarrhozone. The medicated vapor of Catarrhozone quickly traverses every air passage possible to be reached by any treatment. All soreness, pain, congestion and inflammation are at once dispelled, and by means of the healing powers of Catarrhozone, the vitiated tissues are quickly restored. Where Catarrhozone is used colds only last ten minutes, coughs half an hour, and Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma and Bronchitis flee as from fire. A trial will convince anyone of the startling merit of Catarrhozone. Costs $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure constipation.

THE VAST RESOURSES OF ABYSSINIA

Emperor Menelik's Minister of State Tells of His Country

RICHEST SOIL IN THE WORLD

A Country But Little Known in the World—The Great Buffer State

Zurich, July 28.—Dr. Ilg, Emperor Menelik's Minister of State, is spending his vacation at his old homestead in this city. In an interview with your correspondent he stated—"Abyssinia has probably the richest soil of any country in the world, it may beat even the United States. The climate is excellent and epidemics are unknown. The people are progressing steadily, and will soon be ready to buy industrial products of foreign countries. We have iron and copper, gold and coal, but mine only as much as we need ourselves. With proper machinery Abyssinia could be made one of the greatest gold producing countries.

"I have worked under Menelik 42 years, and now occupy the position of Foreign Minister and Governor. The Emperor is one of the busiest of mortals and works with his secretaries from morn to night, reading and answering reports, listening to deputations, his Ministers, representatives and subjects. He decided everything quickly and never loses patience.

"We have an army of 250,000 men equipped with the latest rifles, Gras or Mannlichter. The repeating rifle was tried, but found unsuitable. The troops are drilled according to Prussian tactics—the best in the world—and if any of our neighbors desire to expand in our direction they will have their hands full. Menelik has abolished the hereditary dignity of Ras or Viceroy. Every Ras may now be deposed at his pleasure, while their sons rank as ordinary citizens.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON CONCERTS

They are Being Given in Several Places in Ontario

With a splendid musical organization such as we possess in the 57th Regimental Band, it would be quite proper to have concerts of sacred music on Sunday afternoons during the heated term. On this subject the Ottawa Citizen says:

"If a service of sacred music by a Sunday school orchestra is right on Sunday afternoon in the school room, how can it be wrong to enlarge the orchestra and give the selections in a leafy temple?"

The Toronto World, in referring to a concert to be given in one of the parks of that city, says:

"Music lovers of Toronto will be given a treat next Sunday afternoon and evening by the 19th Band of St. Catharines, who have arranged to play at the Island. This band is one of the most efficient musical organizations in Canada. Wm. Peel, the well-known master of the band, has exerted unusual efforts to even improve the high standard of the band, and in this he has met with marked success. On Monday, Aug. 4, the band will proceed to Cobourg to compete for the first prize for first-class bands, and their [illegible] of [illegible] wish them every success [illegible] [illegible]."

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

[illegible], Hon., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T. A. S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Milling, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendry.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Bradley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill, Garvin, R. A. Peck, Wardo, Davis, and Birdsall, Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. A. Sandford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal... ...	5.10 p.m	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.20 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	5.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5.10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate...	7.20 p.m.	1.12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	2.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	5.00 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and east	5.35 p.m.	11.44 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	2.20 a.m.	5.30 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	2.10 a.m.	5.25 a.m.
Belleville, Napanee, King-ston, Montreal	2.05 p.m.	2.25 p.m
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	2.30 a.m
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	8.30 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Oshawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at [illegible] per week, to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 30, 1902.

THE FOLLY AS GREAT AS THE CRIME

From Constantinople there come the report, through the correspondent of the London Times, that a new plot against the life of the Sultan has been discovered, and from Berlin, through reliable journalistic authority, that the Court Chamberlain has appealed to Emperor William not to go to Posen in September, as the Polish race feeling is so strongly antagonistic to him as to render his proposed visit one of extreme peril.

Assuming that there has been revealed a plot to kill the Sultan and that the feeling of the Prussian Poles is such as to render it a reasonable precaution for the Emperor to abandon his visit to Posen, it is pertinent to ask: What good would or could come to the subjects of either ruler if they "removed" him by the hateful and revolting means of the assassin?

In the United States, three Presidents have been so "removed" but there was no consequent removal of, no let or hindrance to, the formal and orderly procession of the government. The country was shocked, distressed, but law and order, all the safeguards of society, were undisturbed. The assassins wrought for and encompassed the death of their illustrious victims—and also their own ignominious deaths. If they accomplished more than that, contemporaneous history has failed to record it.

Quickly following upon the heels of each other came the assassination of a President of France, of a King of Italy, and of an American President. In all three instances the assassins were Anarchists, the chosen representatives of a secret organization for the "removal" of rulers. If anarchy gained anything by the dastardly and fatal assaults upon Carnot, Humbert and McKinley its gains are unknown; its losses known. The King and the Presidents are dead, but the Kingdom of Italy and the Republics of France and America are not dead. To the contrary, they have all advanced along a certain road to broader fortunes since the assassins "removed" their late chiefs of state. "The King is dead; long live the King," has long been the inspiring cry of the people. So long as the government stands, and all properly constituted representative government is likely to stand, it matters little what man is King or President. If one is assassinated another stands at the door always ready to take his post. The throne or the office is always filled and the authority of the political office is thus always assured. This is especially true in America and in those other well founded Republics where the government is really of, for and by the people. The President is pleased and honored to call himself "a public servant"—the servant of the people, who is clothed by them with authority to execute their will and power. When he dies and lays down the chain of government his successor takes it up and carries it forward to higher planes of usefulness, power and prosperity.

If by assassinating the Sultan and the German Emperor the assassins could abolish forever all Sultans and Emperors of Turkey and Germany, their folly, even from their own infamous point of view, would not be so great and clear as it is otherwise. They accomplish not a whit of their proclaimed purpose, which is to destroy government by killing its highest representatives, as well constituted government, 'like to the Propontic, flows right on and knows no ebb."

France is more prosperous now than when Carnot was assassinated; Italy has progressed, not retrograded, since Humbert's death, and the United States has gone forward by leaps and bounds since McKinley was "removed." It seems such a little while ago since the great and good Queen of Great Britain peacefully passed to her reward. The nation, the whole civilized world grieved because of her death, but in her Government, from England to India and Canada, there was not for a moment the slightest jar. Monarchs, great statesmen, or other great props and pillars of state, go and come, but Governments, behind and beneath which stand a loyal, strong people, go on forever. The Anarchist or political assassin never shows his folly more clearly than when by killing a monarch or President he thinks he is killing the Government for which monarch or President stands. He kills only the man; the Government he cannot kill.

THE JAPANESE NAVY

Japanese naval preparations are going on apace despite the demands of other departments upon the estimates. The plan of the expansion decided upon by the Naval Department is to build in six years four battleships, four first-class cruisers, and six second-class cruisers. And in case of the other departments raising objections as to the expenditures, the Naval Office is said to be resolved to have recourse to a foreign loan for the raising of the necessary funds. With regard to the class of men-of-war to be built, it is stated that, since the Japan-China war the general tendency has been the construction of ships of larger displacement. The advantages of large ships in warfare were fully demonstrated during the late war with China, but in time of peace Japan is in much more need of smaller warships for the defence of her coasts. With this object, it has been decided to construct six second-class cruisers. The Japanese Naval Office seems not to place much confidence in torpedo boats, which are regarded much more as instruments of defence than of offence. So long as the fortifications are strongly armed, there is not much use in torpedo boats. It is, therefore, believed that the expenditure to be allotted for the construction of torpedo boats will be used for the strengthening of the fortifications. As to torpedo boat destroyers, their effectiveness is still in an experimental stage, —much as in England a torpedo boat destroyer of 1,000 tons was built recently, and its trials have shown doubtful results. Under these circumstances, the authorities will defer the building of torpedo boat destroyers until a definite issue is known.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Three chiefs of police have been killed in Elkins, W. Va., while in the discharge of their duty during the past year. What that town needs is a chief who knows enough to keep out of danger, like some we wot of. [illegible]

Don't swear at the telephone girl, no matter how provoking may be the delays. A doctor in St. Louis who permitted his impatience to overcome his politeness in this way was fined $5 and costs for "disturbing the peace." Most of us are sorely tempted to unburden our souls to the telephone wire, but the ruling of the St. Louis court, if not our own sense of propriety, will give us pause.

The Toronto World thinks another general provincial election to be inevitable.

Alluding to the fool proposal to pay the leader of the opposition a salary, the Chatham Banner-News says: "Instead of a slice of Government money, Whitney richly earned a bench in the penitentiary." The News seems to be somewhat pronounced, as it were in its partisanship.

Prominent Boers are giving much credit to the Boer women who assisted them in the field by running things at home. The Boer women deserve much praise; but the Boers ought to give John Bull a little gratitude for making it possible for the women to be of so much service to the men in the field. No other nation in the world would have cared for and fed the women and children, leaving the men free to fight; no other nation would have permitted the Boer women to be of so much assistance to their husbands and sons.

Col. John C. Haskell of Columbia, S. C., has on his place an old negro woman who cares for her brother's motherless pickaninnies. One day the Colonel, after experiences of several small losses which had been fastened on the children, said to her:

"Rachel, I think those children are getting dishonest."

"Well, sah, dat's a fac'. I tell dere daddy he out'er let 'em steal. Children ain't got no judgment in stealin'. Wen dey do steal tings, jes as likely dey'll take somethin' you'll miss!"

—New York Times.

A LIVING FAITH.

SERMON BY
GEORGE H. HEPWORTH.

He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief, but was strong in faith.—Romans, iv., 20.

The difference between the man of faith and the man of no faith is practically the difference between paradise and purgatory.

A man does not need to believe many things, just enough to give him a safe anchorage in stress of weather. Long creeds are tiresome, and the longer they are the more tiresome they become. As spiritual helps they are of very little value. If a man's theology consists of a few simple propositions there is small chance of his having a controversy within himself, whereas a complicated creed introduces many points of doubt.

If a man believes in little else than an honorable life, but believes in that at all hazards, and stands by it in all emergencies, he will make a good citizen, a loyal friend and cannot miss the approval of God. Such a man could not go to any other place than heaven, even if he wanted to, for he does not belong in any other locality. In like manner, if a man believes only in the law of gravitation, but believes in that with might and main, he will not put up a building that is likely to tumble down and bring him ruin. What he does build will be strong and solid. It may not be specially ornate, but it will last.

It is better to be absolutely sure of one essential thing than half sure of a dozen things. And so I venture to say that if a man is thoroughly convinced that he is in a world governed by law, and that behind the law is the Lawmaker, that right is everlastingly right and wrong always wrong, he has a sure clew to lead him through the intricacies of life, its bereavements, its poverty, its hardships and the strange change which comes when he falls asleep at last. The whole of religion, all that is necessary to keep him in the high road to heaven, will lie like a panorama in full view. A few certainties, and after that he may speculate as much as he pleases, for his many speculations will not interfere with his few certainties.

The difficulty with the man who has no distinct belief is that he is not a safe guide for himself. He is not only afloat, but adrift. There is nothing he can depend on, very little of that patience and resignation which make things easy and a good deal of that rebellion which makes them hard. He has more responsibility for himself than he can carry, and keeps watch on the bridge night and day, not knowing that there is a captain at the helm.

I can speak with confidence concerning this mental attitude, because in my younger years I passed into and through some of the more radical phases of doubt. The sky was not very blue in those days, and I got very little out of life. I was compelled to be honest with myself, and was therefore as miserable as I was honest. When at length I found good holding ground my anchor chain made merry music as it sought the solid bottom. I wanted little, but I wanted that with a yearning inexpressible, for there is a desperation in feeling that you are a stray waif in a strange world, and that you are certain of nothing but uncertainty. One cares very little what he does when there is no God visible and no heaven to go to. With the grave as the miserable terminus of our journey, one grows selfish and discontented. On the other hand, with a horizon line stretching beyond sundown, one is careful what he does, because to-morrow he may be sorry.

A good, plain, square religion which everybody can understand, which appeals to the common sense of mankind, to the logic of the business man, and the research of the philosopher, is the only thing to set this old world right and keep it right. You are bound for a port on the other shore, and you must govern yourself accordingly. There must be no death in our thoughts, for that is fatal to the development and discipline of the higher nature. Nothing makes a man so large, so generous, so unselfish or so noble as a belief in immortality, and immortality must therefore be a fact or the universe is a huge deception. There must be another world somewhere in which these crooked things shall be made straight and these mysteries explained. Surely there will be a chance in some more favorable clime for us to make another effort in the light of a larger intelligence. We must also be able to look forward to a reunion after the hard separations which carry our dear ones into the night before the dark.

With such a faith vouchsafed by the Christ and by the longings of human nature we can bear and forbear, because the hour of rest is not far off. There is much more than this to believe if we have time to investigate, but it will serve our purpose.

Nurse was reading nature-stories of the chickens, ducks and geese.
"Johnny, tell me, what's a gander ?"
asked she with a smile of peace.
Little Johnny looked up quickly, all his
fancy turning loose,
As he answered, smiling proudly, "It's the rooster of the goose."
—Judge.

+++

She—Isn't that a beautiful parrot ?
He—Well, I like the cage better than I do the parrot.
"Pshaw ! The cage can't talk."
"That's the reason I like it."—Yonkers

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.
PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00............$1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average....Profit $1,050

or $2,900 PER DAY. 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $3,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905
Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.
INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST
IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.
Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No m[illegible]age can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:
JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr. Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS
Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D FLEMING New York.
J. P COOPER, Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
[illegible] CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON
Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.
See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

Electric Lamps
25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!
GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.
Mines, Works and Franchises,
ARIZONA.
INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA
OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y
CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000
Full-paid and non-assessable.
25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10.
12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.
JOHN W. MANNING, President — A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President — Prop Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON — Retired Merchant Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT — Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL — Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. [illegible] — Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers, Trenton, N. J.
COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City.

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY owns a large and valuable property consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through its reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs, pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one-fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $3.33 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

THE ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.
MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,
OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,
MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each, I have analysed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{99}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.
Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out
Of Furnishings.
TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE. ALL FURNISHINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 363 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.
CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories. Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York, World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year
Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE
ALES AND PORTER
—OF—
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealers

VARICOCELE AND STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my Latest Method Treatment will cure you that you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each time you call you see me Personally,

or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country.

The Latest Method Treatment Guaranteed to Cure

Varicocele and Stricture without cutting, stretching or loss of time; also Blood Poison, Chronic, Private, Nervous, Impotency, Kidney, Liver, Bladder, Stomach, Female and Rectal Troubles. CONSULTATION FREE. Call; if you cannot call write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor. All duty and express charges prepaid.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 Woodward Ave., Cor. Wilcox St. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
O. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL.

CAPITAL - - - $12,000,000
REST - - - 8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS - - [illegible]

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
6 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 590 Broad)
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold propositions on the Pacific coast. Stock now 20c cash, 25c installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 715 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST., TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 715 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA. ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST

Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS

Municipal & Corporation Bonds

Of American Cities, netting
3% TO 6%.

HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Advertise in The Times.

GODDARD, PUGILIST, FATALLY HURT

One Policeman Among the Number Who Will Die as a Result of the Fighting

Special to The Times.

Camden, N.J. July 29—The primary election for delegates to the convention of the First Congressional district of New Jersey was held this afternoon and evening in Camden, Gloucester and Salem Counties, which comprise the district. The candidates for the nomination are—Harry C. Loudenslager, the present congressman, and J. Alphonse Van Sant. The contest has been one of the most bitter ever held in South Jersey.

The polls were open from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. and the three hours were marked with serious fighting. One man was killed in this city, and Joe Goddard, the well known heavy-weight pugilist, of Philadelphia, was probably fatally shot while electioneering in Pensauken township; another man was dangerously stabbed in this city and a fourth man received stab wounds at Dog Corners, near Merchantville.

Goddard was at a voting place in Pensauken township, when he was shot. There were a number of men who were travelling from one polling place to another. The pugilist got into a quarrel with a colored constable named Robert Washington. It is alleged that Goddard assaulted the constable with a base ball bat and the colored man, in defence, shot Goddard in the head.

The most serious affray occurred at Third and Beckett-streets in this city. Each side had a crowd at the polling place at that point, and one riot was started. When it was all over it was found that a man, who was later identified as John Morrissey of Philadelphia, had been shot through the heart by some unknown person, and a policeman not in uniform, named Harry Miller, had received two cuts on the head and a probably fatal stab wound in the left lung. There were a number of other persons hurt in the fight, but not so seriously.

The King's Health Serious

Special to The Times.

London, July 30.—Misgivings are expressed in many quarters concerning the King's strength being inadequate for even the curtailed coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey on Aug. 9.

He has been for five weeks in a recumbent position, and the Standard is informed that he has not got on his feet yet, but is confined to his couch, though he is able to move himself upon it.

His wound is not healed yet. In short, according to the Standard, he is still an invalid, and, though the prospects of his being able to go safely through the coronation on Aug. 9 are much more assured that they were, he is expected to do it only as an invalid.

It turns out though that the date of the coronation was set with the doctors' consent, they have not committed themselves to any direct statement.

The King aboard his yacht has made uninterrupted progress and the risks of complications have steadily diminished. The only danger apprehended in the ordinary course is a chill, to which convalescents are rather liable.

The prominence given by such a cautious paper as the Standard to the continued weakness of the King is sure to revive the gloomier conjectures regarding the coronation.

It is certain, however, that his Majesty is determined to go through the ceremony on Aug. 9, if it is physically possible for him to do so, even though he has to be carried.

DROWNED HERSELF IN CISTERN.

Special to The Times.

Guelph, Ont., July 28—Mrs. S. Sugden, Nottingham street, drowned herself in a cistern at her home, on Nottingham street on Sunday morning, while in a fit of mental depression. Mrs. Sugden had been in delicate health for a long time.

About three o'clock her daughter Robina heard a noise downstairs, and, accompanied by one of her sisters, went to investigate. They went to their mother's room and found that she was not there. While searching they noticed that the lid of the cistern was off and looking down into it they found the body of their mother.

Mr. Sugden was out of the city, having gone on a business trip with the Bell excursion to Barrie on Saturday and did not reach home until this morning.

HITCH OVER WHITE STAR

Special to The Times.

London, July 30.—The Daily Express reiterates that the White Star Line has definitely declined to be managed by the Morgan syndicate in any shape until the purchase money for the line is paid. The syndicate has declined to deposit the money until the English lines relinquish their individual management.

The paper adds that the tremendous price demanded for the White Star Line may have called a halt.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN ALBERTA

Rain has fallen again over Alberta but elsewhere in the Northwest light scattered showers only have occurred. Fine weather prevails from the Lakes to the Maritime Provinces. More showers are indicated for the Territories and Manitoba.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers
Fortune's Spor. Miss Nobody,
Her Royal Highness Lady
Mary of the Dark
House, etc.

CHAPTER XIX.

The House of Mystery.

Unless this woman were one of the greatest actresses living she had not known of the mark on John Bourke's arm!

Some impulse, which had been like a power outside myself, had forced me to speak the words which had so shaken her to the soul. I did not know whether I had been wise or foolish; but I would not stop there, having gone so far.

"It is strange, since you seem to know so much about Mr. Bourke, that you didn't know more," I ventured, half afraid of the effect my daring might produce. But, though the big pale eyes turned to my face, they looked through me unseeingly. And in their tragic light my speech seemed inadequate as the thin piping of a reed after the deep notes of a church organ. For the first time the woman in black was genuine and human. But her emotion either passed or was controlled by an overwhelming strength of will.

Slowly the rigid tension of the muscles round the mouth relaxed; the eyes ceased to stare; the tall figure sank back against the cushions once more, and the woman uttered a long sigh. "Children play with dangerous weapons sometimes," she said, in a low, meaning voice.

She had hardly ceased speaking before the train slowed into a station. It was not a fast train, and stopped so often that I had ceased to look at the names on the station lamps, and now, when my companion rose hastily, saying that we had reached the end of our journey, I had not the faintest idea where we were. I was only sure that we must be stopping somewhere between London and Bournemouth.

The woman in black was evidently in no mood for answering questions, and I made up my mind to trust to my own observation when we should leave the train. But I had not taken her alertness and energy into calculation. We had, of course, no luggage. My companion got out first, hastily helped me down—though I did not want help—and, slipping her arm through mine, hurried me across the narrow platform at such a rate of speed that I could not see the name of the station anywhere.

Few passengers save ourselves left the train. The woman in black gave our tickets into the outstretched hand of the sleepy collector; we ascended a flight of stone steps, walked along a covered way, and came through a doorway out into a country road, where only one carriage waited. A groom touched his hat, opened the door of an old-fashioned vehicle drawn by two fine horses, and the woman in black indicated by a gesture that I was to get in before her.

"I can stop and argue; ask where we are and where we are going," I said, dubiously, to myself. "But even if I refuse at first to stir a step until she has explained, somehow or other it will end in one way. She knows that I am dying to have her secret, and she knows how to play upon my curiosity and my will. Perhaps she means to murder me at the end of the drive; but at worst, that would save me a great deal of trouble. So I might as well put a bold face on the matter."

Which I did, and got into the carriage.

There was no moon, but the sky's purple curtain was thickly crusted with spangling stars; and as we drove away from the station I could see dark masses of waving tree-branches on either side of the road, and I could smell through the open window the aromatic scent of pines. Here and there a distant light gleamed like a yellow star out of the blackness; but there was no sound anywhere save the roll of our wheels and the ring of our horses' hoofs on the hard ground.

"Have we a long drive?" I quietly asked, after we had sat in silence for five or ten minutes.

"About a quarter of an hour now—not much more. Are you frightened?"

"No."

"But you are excited, though you try to keep me from finding it out. Well, you are a brave girl. And I don't think that you will ever regret this evening's work."

"I hope not," I impassively returned. And we spoke no more.

Twice only our road wound. The rest of the way—and it must have been four miles in all—was straight as a Roman road, till at last we came to tall stone gate-posts, set in a high brick wall. We turned in between, and I looked out eagerly, half expecting, after all the precautions for secrecy which had been taken, that I should be requested or more forcibly induced to sit back from the window. But I was allowed to do as I pleased.

We passed a lodge which, however, showed no lights; drove along a winding avenue that ascended for a little, and then abruptly dipped. With this, we came suddenly in sight of a house—a big square building with towers, that was silhouetted against the sky. Most of the windows were dark, but I could see two on the ground floor that shone dimly, and there was a light over the door at which we presently drew up.

By the time that the groom had sprung down from his seat to let us out of the carriage the house door was opened, and the illumination from within showed my curious, observant eyes that the livery of coachman and groom was identical with that worn by the pair who had driven us from the Marble Arch to Waterloo Station.

An elderly butler received us with the air of one who awaited an expected event; and as I entered the house I racked my brain to comprehend why I should be feeling as if I had lived through exactly this episode before.

I had never visited this house, or any other house like it, so far as I could remember, yet I had the impression of having seen it (not in a former state of existence, as happens sometimes in one's experience), but not so very long ago.

We passed through a big conservatory, not too well kept, into a square hall with a high, ornate ceiling supported by round pillars of ugly reddish marble, the walls hung with many life-sized portraits of men and women in the dress of bygone periods. Where had I seen them all? And why did I turn expectantly, searching for a wide staircase with shallow marble steps, to find it in the precise position where I had looked? I began to feel as if I were in a dream. At the foot of the staircase stood a tall grandfather clock with a big white face, very convex. I saw that it was half-past ten.

"Would you like to go immediately to your room?" asked the woman in black, whose bright eyes regarded me with keen attention. "Or—"

(To be continued.)

Armed and Invincible.

When the little woman opened the door the burly fellow promptly pushed his way in. In alarm she hastily backed away, and he closed the door after him.

"What do you mean?" she demanded, trying to appear brave and determined. "Leave this house immediately."

"Oh, I guess not," he answered, impudently.

"I'll call my husband," she threatened.

"He ain't home," retorted the intruder; "there ain't nobody home but you. That's why I come in. See?"

She was badly frightened, but she tried not to show it. Furthermore, she was handicapped by the fact that she was in house-cleaning attire, with apron and cap, and a feather duster in her right hand. A woman cannot be as dignified and haughtily imperious as she would wish under these circumstances.

"What do you want?" she demanded.

"Money an' jew'lry," he answered. "I ain't partic'ler wot it is, only so it's small an' val'able. I ain't lookin' fer no piano."

"Well, I should think not," she returned indignantly, "and you can't have anything at all. If you don't get right out of here I'll scream."

"Turn 'er loose!" retorted the intruder, carelessly. "There ain't nobody to hear you, but you better be quick about it, 'cause I ain't got no time to waste. I'm all business, I am, an' we been foolin' long enough. Reach fer the high note!"

"You're the most insulting man I ever saw!" she cried, angrily.

"Sure," he acquiesced—and then, with a slight show of impatience, "Better hand out that watch you're wearin' or I'll have to reach fer it, an' that wouldn't be wot you'd like."

"Don't you dare touch me!" she exclaimed, retreating to the parlor as he advanced. "You're a great big coward! You wouldn't dare do this if I had a pistol!"

"Sure I wouldn't," he admitted; "but I got to have that there ticker fer a start-off."

Her anger had been getting the better of her fear, and now her housewifely instincts added to her indignation.

"Don't you come into this room with those muddy boots!" she cried. "I've just swept and dusted. You go right back there and wipe your feet on the mat."

She pointed with the duster, and as that useful household utensil came in proximity to his face he hastily dodged back.

"Don't be sassy, little woman," he said with offensive familiarity, and that was the last straw. She was so angry that she could cry, and she would have done so if there had been any sort of a reasonable opportunity.

"Oh, if I only had a weapon!" she said, hotly. "I'd teach you manners, you big, burly brute—you coward! You knew I was defenceless, or you wouldn't have dared come in! Oh, why is a woman so helpless!" Then, as he advanced again, she suddenly pushed the duster into his face, with the peremptory command: "Go back there, you clumsy thing! Don't you dare traipse mud into this room!"

Now, a feather duster is about as disagreeable a thing as a man can have thrust in his face, and as the intruder jumped back his feet became entangled in the hall rug, and he was flat on his back before he knew what had happened. As he tried to raise himself he got the duster in the face again. He grabbed for it, but she was too quick for him. He needed his hands to get himself up and he needed them to protect his face, and then she made matters worse by suddenly throwing the spoon end of the rug over him.

"Oh, if I only had a weapon!" she cried.

"Wot do you call that thing?" he growled, as he tried to disentangle himself, with the result that every time he took his hands away from his face he got a feather in his eye or a bunch of them in his mouth. Once he closed his teeth on them and thus tried to hold the duster until he could grab it, but she jerked it away, leaving a varied assortment of feathers and parts of feathers in his mouth.

"Oh, my eye!" he suddenly cried, as well as he could with his mouth full of things that made him sputter and choke. "Ooi ooi ouch! you've put it out!"

"If I only had a weapon," was her retort, "I believe I could manage you all right. I'll never be unarmed again when I'm alone in the house."

"You ain't now," he wailed, holding both hands to his eye. "Let me up an' I'll go—sure I will."

"Am I sassy?" she demanded, the light of victory shining in her indignant eyes.

"Sure not," he answered.

"Are you ever going to say 'little woman' to a lady again?"

"No, ma'am; never!" with great earnestness—for she was still plying the duster whenever he attempted to move.

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself to impose on a defenceless woman?"

"'Shamed ain't no name fer it," he asserted with feeling.

She hastily threw open the outer door.

"Get up," she said.

He struggled to his feet, while she watched him closely. His back was to the open door when he stood up, the eye that had met the duster blinking distressingly. For an instant he hesitated, but only for an instant.

"Out!" she cried, and the duster went straight to his face again. He went out backward in such a hurry that he nearly fell down the steps, and the door was promptly closed. His defeat, which up to the very last minute he had hoped to turn into victory, was complete.

"Wot's the matter?" asked the man who was waiting for him at the corner. "Was she armed?"

"Bill," was the solemn and impressive reply, "'cordin' to a man's idea she wasn't, but you can't never tell when a woman's armed."—Elliott Flower in "Leslie's Weekly."

Bridget and Pat were sitting in an armchair reading an article on "The Law of Compensation."

"Just fancy," exclaimed Bridget; "accordin' to this, whin a mon loses wan av 'is sinses another gits more developed. For instance, a bloind mon gits more sinse av hearin' an' touch, an——"

"Shure, an't it's quite thrue," answered Pat.

"Oi've noticed it meself. Whin a mon has wan leg shorter than the other, begorra the other's longer."—Philadelphia Times.

"Why don't you wash your face?"

"Aw, say, I ain't goin' to try no experiments."—New York Journal.

◆◆◆

"She's not what you'd call an advanced woman?"

"No, no."

"Has no mission in life, I suppose?"

"Oh, I believe she claims to have one, but it's nothing of any importance."

"What is it?"

"Just a mission to make some good man happy, understand."—Chicago Post.

◆◆◆

Young Lady—A friend of mine is engaged to a man, and now he refuses to marry her. What would you advise her to do?

Old Lawyer—Is the man wealthy?

Young Lady—No. He hasn't a shilling.

Old Lawyer—Then I'd advise her to write him a nice letter of thanks.—Tit-Bits.

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octav, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM. MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 180 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 397 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE
GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Carthagenian .... July 30
Sardinian .... August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt. T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the Rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY
(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION
SS. BRITANNIC will leave Collingwood on Mondays and Thursdays at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.
CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and Penetang at 1.30 p. m. daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 4.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA.
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

6 Trips Daily (Except Sunday)

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

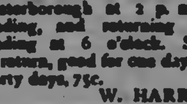
RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15. Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2.30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS,
Master



STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. [illegible] to Boston.

Time table for week ending Aug. 24th

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes.

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. [illegible], Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer
Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION
JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv	6.15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	"	7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar	8.40 a.m.	"	5.30 p.m.
"	Lv	11.00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	"	12.10 p.m.	"	7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar	1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA
JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m,	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"
JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets) ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets) ...... [illegible] a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which tickets reads. For further information apply to.

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston. James [illegible], Agent, Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports.

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT.

—FARE:—
$18—Belleville to Quebec, Return—$18
including meals and berth en route.

For further particulars, address, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont.

FOOT ELM
POSITIVELY CURES
SWEATY FEET
SORE FEET
ACHING FEET
BLISTERED FEET
HOT FEET
INFLAMED FEET
SWOLLEN FEET

Shun any man who offers you a substitute simply because he can make a few cents more profit out of you by persuading you to take a cheaper article.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'
Celebrated Malt Extract
SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'
H. H. EDMISON
Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada
The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, JULY 31, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to contribute items of news to its columns. Any thing that is phoned or sent in writing to the office, of a nature suitable for publication will be received and published—[Ed. Times.]

Passengers Left

Yesterday morning the Toronto Express pulled into the station here with a couple of extra coaches filled with excursionists, en route for Rice Lake. These cars were cut off, and the train, without warning, started on her way, leaving about a dozen passengers for Toronto and other points standing on the platform. Amongst those who got "left" were Dr. McCollough and Mr. M. Wilson, of China Hall.

New Cement Works

Ex-Ald. Lucas, of Toronto, was in town yesterday, on his way home from a visit to the Portland Cement Works at Lakefield. Mr. Lucas has for many years been interested in the cement works at Owen Sound. These works supplied the first cement used on the lift lock here. A company has been formed for the construction of a large factory at Kirkfield, near the peat works, where some splendid deposits of marl exist. The company will have a capital of $150,000, and will be in operation next year. To a Times reporter Mr. Lucas said that he was very favorably impressed with Peterborough, it was bound to rapidly develop into a big city.

Very High Water

Messrs. J. M. Brooks and M. Tooley, who drove out to Ketchecum Lake, north of Buckhorn, on Saturday, returned Monday evening. They spent Sunday with the Winch-Peck party, who have a splendid hunting lodge on the lake, and who are spending a week on this beautiful sheet of water. Mr. Brooks says that the water is fully six feet higher than usual at this season of the year. Mr. Winch is building a new dog house, so as to be in shape for the fall hunt, which is always a lively event. There is usually good trout fishing in Ketchecum lake, but the high water has made it impossible to secure minnows for bait, and no fish are being caught. Mr. Winch and party will return on Saturday.

LABOUR DAY IN TOWN

A Big Demonstration Being Arranged by The Labour Council

The Trade Unions of the town have decided to hold a demonstration in Peterborough on Labor day. A strong committee has been appointed to make all arrangements and an immediate canvas will be made amongst the merchants and others for funds. The committee will meet again on Saturday night.

PRINTERS' EXCURSION
to Jubilee Point
Saturday, Afternoon, Aug. 2nd
per City of Peterborough.
First-Class Orchestra on board
Boat leaves 2 p. m. sharp.
Ladies 25c ; Gents 35c ; Children 20c

MANY LOGS COMING

The Rathbun Company Has Three Drives on the Way

The Rathbun Company are taking through to their mills at Deseronto three large drives of saw logs and other timber, to the amount of 150,000 pieces. One drive is at Young's Point, another at Clear Lake, and a third at Burleigh. The logs will pass through Peterborough during August and September.

—The Gilmour Company's drive was cut loose in the Little Lake yesterday morning, and are now scattered all the way down the river to Rice Lake. With the present stiff current it is expected that the drive will "tail up" at Rice Lake by Saturday.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by phone or in writing.—[Ed. Times]

—Miss Annie Cressie is visiting friends in Norwood.

—Miss Edna Earle, Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

—Mr. George Matthews, Lindsay, was in town yesterday.

—Mrs. B. Mashon, of Toronto, is in Ashburnham, visiting friends.

—Miss Hall, of Toronto, is the guest of Miss Mabel Bradburn.

—Mr. W. H. Hill was in Toronto on Tuesday on business.

—Mrs. Freeburn, nee Miss Nellie Hitchie is visiting her mother, Dublin street.

—Miss Mamie Montgomery is in Lindsay, the guest of Mrs. Thomas Mimms.

—Miss Eva Preston is visiting her cousin, Miss Ida Thurston in Lindsay.

—Miss Annie Bryans, of Havelock, is visiting Miss M. Dunford, Sherbrooke street.

—Miss Dolan, of town, captured a 20-pound maskinonge at Chemong on Tuesday.

—Mrs. E. D. Storey, of Ottawa, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Tivey, Ashburnham.

—Miss Lizzie Graham and Miss Lillie Fitzgerald, Ashburnham, are visiting at Mount Pleasant.

—Mr. Theodore McWilliams returned yesterday from Wedgwood, where he has been on business.

—Mr. R. Fox, of Acton, a veteran of the Fenian Raid of 1866, accompanied by his wife, is visiting friends in town.

—Mrs. Emmerson and Miss Annie Emmerson have returned from a visit with friends in Balsover, Ont.

—Rev. E. V. Stevenson left on Tuesday to return to his home in New York city, after spending his holidays here.

—Mr. T. Calahan, superintendent of the woods' department of the Rathbun Company was in town yesterday.

—Mr. F. B. Waldron, of Picton, formerly of Peterborough, is the guest of his mother-in-law, Mrs. W. Bellegham.

—Mrs. J. H. Clapp and daughter, Flossie of Napanee, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. T. Canniff, Stewart st.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Chambers, Leskard, spent yesterday in town, the guest of Miss Chambers, Water street.

—Mr. Bert. Sheridan, Baltimore, Md., spent Tuesday the guest of Mrs. H. P. Kennedy. He will spend two weeks visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Sheridan, Lakefield.

—Mrs. P. H. Wright, of "Castleton Place" Cobourg, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Leary, returned home yesterday, accompanied by Miss Stewart, of Toronto.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, who have just returned from England, are the guests of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cressman, Brock street. They will leave for their home in Norwich in a few days.

—Mr. J. B. McWilliams, Provincial Inspector of Crown Timber, returned on Tuesday evening from a two weeks' trip amongst the lumber camps of the North Shore district.

—Ex-Ald. Lucas, Toronto, was in town yesterday, the guest of his nephew, Mr. J. M. Brooks. He went out to Mr. Brooks' Chemong Lake cottage yesterday, but returned in the evening and left for the city.

—Miss May Donell, of Rubidge street, leaves this morning for Clifton Springs, N.Y. where she will enter the hospital there as nurse in training. She will have the hearty good wishes of her many Peterborough and Stony Lake friends, with whom she was justly very popular.

—Mr. Widgust, of Nottingham, Eng., accompanied by his wife and daughter, arrived in town on Tuesday evening. Mr. Widgust is a musician of a high order, and intends to make Peterborough his home. He came over on the same vessel with Mr. J. J. Turner, and intended going to California, but was persuaded by Mr. Turner to come to Peterborough instead.

THE TIMES LETTER-BOX.

Letters from the People on Interesting and Timely Topics.

ASSESSMENT INEQUALITIES

To the Editor of The Times,

Sir,—A great deal has been said regarding the unequal assessments in town. I am told that a wealthy company recently sold a property for $4,000 which was assessed for $1,400. I am also informed that many of the stores escape with comparatively little assessment on the stocks.

Now, Mr. Editor, the only way to overcome this evil is to publish the assessment roll. This could be done, I think, easily. My plan would be to have it printed in the newspapers. One typesetting would do, and it could be printed in instalments, on most reasonable terms. About $75 for each paper, I am told, would be the probable cost. In this way, and this way only, would the evils complained of be remedied.

I hope, Mr. Editor, the council will take the matter up. It would certainly be a feather in Mayor Denne's cap to have this done at once. Yours, etc.,

SCAPIN.

A Square Deal

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—Let us have a square deal in regard to Central Park. It is now, I see, proposed to use it for a site for a Collegiate Institute building. This is all right, so far as it goes, but my idea is to have the present Central School building used as an institute, and a new school, large enough to make the Meade property no longer necessary, built on Central Park. This would be an easy matter to arrange. The property known as Central Park should be used for this purpose, and for no other. It is the Protestant end of the old burial ground, and should be used for Protestant or public school purposes. The changing of the other building into a high school or collegiate institute would require some book keeping, as separate school supporters would be called on to purchase an interest in the property, while they would have their interest in the present collegiate building to dispose of to the public school board.

Gentlemen of the Board of Education, let us have a square deal in this matter.

JUNIOR.

General - Sports

The Athletics and the T.A.S. played an exciting game of lacrosse on the oval last night, resulting in a score of 1-0 in favor of the former. There will evidently be a close run between these two teams for the championship in the city league. The defence for the Athletics play an excellent game, but in the field the T.A.S. showed to better advantage.

—Mrs. M. McFadden, Hunter street, left for Toronto and other points yesterday, spending a few weeks holidays.

A MAMMOTH EXCURSION

Over Four Hundred go to Jubilee Point Yesterday

Yesterday a large excursion party from Havelock and Norwood reached town on the C.P.R. morning local, and embarked on the steamers City of Peterborough and Water Lily for Rice Lake. It was the intention of the party to make Idyl-Wild the objective Point, but when Jubilee Point was reached, it was decided to go no further. The excursion was under the auspices of the Sunday schools of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches of Havelock and the Methodist church of Norwood.

It was about 7.40 when the City pulled out, followed shortly after by the Water Lily. The boats reached Jubilee Point at 10.30 and remained until three o'clock. Peterborough was reached sharp at 7, the party taking the local C.P.R. train at 7.30.

Accompanying the excursion were the following gentlemen: Rev. Mr. Taylor, Norwood; Rev. Mr. Johnston, Havelock; Rev. Mr. McCullough, Havelock; J. G. Keefer, Norwood Register; W. H. Port, representing the C.P.R. and Supt. Havelock Methodist Sunday School; W. P. Stevenson, Supt. Norwood Methodist Sunday School, and James Thompson, supt. Havelock Sunday School.

While at the Point games were indulged in exciting great interest and rivalry.

The trip is a new departure for the Norwood and Havelock people. The natural beauty of the route was a revelation to many of them, who had never before been down the Otonabee. It was therefore greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Dan Foley who was called upon to furnish a large number of dinners, did so to the satisfaction of everybody.

Altogether the excursion was one of the most successful on record in connection with the inland lakes.

A Hair Cut Club

The proposed increase of the price of hair-cuts in Ottawa from 15 to 20 cents has raised a storm of protest in certain quarters, and a club has been formed to resist the demands of the barbers. The club has 35 members, and has 150 applications for membership, which will be considered at a meeting to be held in Kennedy's hall, Wellington street, this evening. It proposes to bring a barber from Toronto who will work exclusively for the club. It will guarantee that his weekly earnings will be sufficient to please him. It is considered that there will be no difficulty in securing 500 or 600 members of the club, and if this can be done, other barbers will be brought to the city. A committee consisting of ex-Ald. T. McGuire, Albert Heddington, A. Guolin and J. Guerin is making the necessary arrangements for the importation of the tonsorial artist. The organization has assumed the soubriquet of the Paderewski club.

Assessment Inequalities

Elsewhere will be found a letter dealing with the assessment question. That grave evils exist there is no doubt whatever. The proposal to publish the assessment roll in the newspapers is not a new idea. The Times suggested this long ago. A gentleman who has had large experience in municipal affairs, both here and in other places, talking of the agitation for an assessment commission in Belleville, said:—"The idea is correct, but I believe that the only places where strictly correct and satisfactory results are made is where the assessors' rolls are printed for distribution among the taxpayers. There is nothing like publicity to bring about the correction of abuses. As it is now, not one man in a hundred cares to take the trouble to go and look at the assessors' rolls to see what other people's assessments are, but with the roll printed a surprising amount of interest is speedily shown. I know places where this is done, the township of Pickering, for example. People there told me they never had a thoroughly satisfactory assessment till the roll was printed, and I don't believe we will ever have one in Belleville till the same thing is done."

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Stream of Local and General Interest to The Times' Readers

—Coal is $7 a ton in Toronto, but it is ice we are buying just now.

—Engineer Jim English is having a lot of fun with his automobile these days.

—"Peterborough Pete" may be a good enough fellow, but there are others, you know.

—The school teacher at this season of the year has about as healthy a job as we know of.

—The Stony Lake Cottagers' Association will meet this afternoon at the pavilion.

—With coal at from $7 to $10 per ton, there is likely to be a good demand for wood this fall and winter.

—The Band of the 57th Regiment has been engaged to play at the Toronto Industrial exhibition on September 10th.

—At the Police Court yesterday morning Wm. Chafman was fined $1 and $1.00 compensation for breaking a window in Mark Long's laundry.

—A meeting of the non-commissioned officers of the 57th Peterborough Rangers was held last night in the buglers' quarters at which matters of importance were discussed.

—A large excursion from Norwood and Hastings arrived yesterday by C. P.R. and at once embarked on the City of Peterborough for Rice Lake. The excursion was under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday Schools of the two villages.

—The Trent Valley Navigation Co. have been building a new tug for towing purposes, and it was put in commission last week. The new boat has been named Ajax, is 50 feet long by 14 feet beam, and is equipped with a 40-horse power engine, and a Fitzgibbon boiler, which is said to be the most economical on the market. She will carry a steam pressure of 130 pounds.

—Apropos to the proposal for a Carnegie library for Peterborough, the following will be of interest: Mayor Bean, of Waterloo, has received an answer from Mr. Carnegie, to communications sent him some time ago asking for $10,000 to erect a new public library. Mr. Carnegie acceded to their request. Waterloo has a population of 3,600. With a $10,000 library, the little town will have to put up $1,000 a year to maintain it.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

MARRIED.

CHAMBERS—CORNISH—On Wednesday, July 30th, 1902, at the Parsonage, Millbrook, by the Rev. Mr. White, Robert Samuel Chambers, to Susan Cornish, both of Leskard, Ont.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.
THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

BABBIT
IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.
The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

BIG G
CURE YOURSELF!
Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISters and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Help Wanted.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $30 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 511 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W Smith Sec.-Treas., Chandos, P. O.

Miscllaneous

FRY, 264 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 264 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 48 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

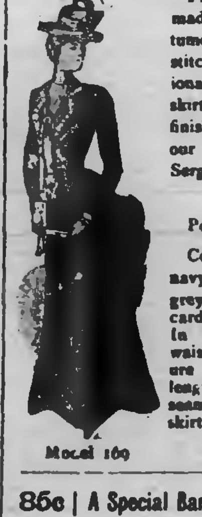
STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:
No. 384 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.
No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office.
Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill treated children, incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

A Few Snaps for our Patrons
2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.
See us quickly if you want anything in above.
T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

Electric Lamps
25c each
Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED



$3.10 $3 10
THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.
Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10
Postage 50c extra.
Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front
Model 169
85c | A Special Bargain | 85c
Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c. Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.
WONDERFUL VALUE.
Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.
Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to
THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.
Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director
The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada
Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education
School of Literature and Expression
MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.
CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

ARE YOU STOUT.
Faith Bordan, M. D., Has the best treatment—has cured many [illegible] of Obesity [illegible] Reducing Stout Abdomen and Large Hips a specialty. [illegible] For terms, particulars, Address Dr. E. Bordan, [illegible]

TYPEWRITERS
I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1883.
Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

J. J. TURNER & SONS
A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of HAMMOCKS
in town.
Prices from $1.00 to $6.00
J. J. TURNER & SONS

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.
JOHN KYLIE
Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.
A CALL SOLICITED
Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

Leave Your Money in Peterborough
Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction
CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies
A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES
Superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

RUBBER STAMPS
B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS
SEALS, PRICE MARKERS
10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S
There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

TORONTO EXHIBITION
Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back!

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL
GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN
And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is
AS FAR AS
they can go. They cannot produce the goods.
CANADA CAMERA CO.
40 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.
The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.
JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.
Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.
Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

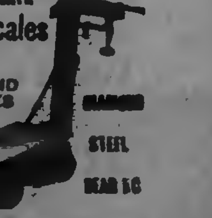
CANADIAN PACIFIC
Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watch this space for dates and particulars.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
$64.70
To Los Angles or San Francisco Cal., and return.
Tickets good going July 27th, 28th, 29th and August 1st to 10th, inclusive, 1902.
Valid for return until September 30th, 1902.
TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"
Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Maganetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.
For tickets and further information call on
W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

WRITE FOR
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY
Tours to Summer Haunts
Describing the Summer Lands of
QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA
TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S West
William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.
20 per cent
We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.
Working Shirts at 44c
Suspenders 15c
Overalls, with bib, at 48c
Smocks, at....................90c
F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway
Ties and Poles
Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.
JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont



SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH
Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales
FOR EVERYBODY
COAL; GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES
GET OUR PRICES
[illegible] STEEL BEAR[illegible]
C. WILSON & SON
21 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

AUGUST

1902

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL 30 NO. 175

PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO FRIDAY AUGUST 1 1902

PRICE TWO CENTS

BOER LEADERS WILL INTERVIEW CHAMBERLAIN

Correspondent Says that Economic Progress in Africa is Disappointing

Special to The Times.

London, July 31.—To the people of new colonies, says the Johannesburg correspondent of The Times, the debate in the House of Commons on Tuesday on the settlement of South Africa naturally seems somewhat premature. Economic progress, says the correspondent, does not correspond with the expectations, because of the labor difficulty. The scarcity of native labor affords a great opportunity of converting the colonies into a white man's country. There has as yet been an insufficient number of white applicants for work, and a practically unlimited immigration of dock laborers and navies is needed. If an immediate draft of 1000 men were forwarded, the managers of two mines would give the experiment of white labor a serious trial. Meanwhile the work of repatriation is proceeding as rapidly as circumstances permit, but is hampered by the lack of transport. A statement by the home Government regarding the loan needed to cover the extraordinary expenses of the Boer colonies, is urgently required, especially to relieve the anxiety caused by the belief that the Imperial Government intends to combine this loan with the Transvaal's contribution to the war debt.

A CANDIDATE FOR THE PAPACY.

London, July 31. The Rome correspondent of The Times says that the selection of Goti to succeed Ledochowski as Prefect of the Propaganda is interpreted as showing the determination of the religious orders not to allow such important positions to fall to the representatives of the secular clergy. Goti is regarded as the candidate of the Jesuits for the Papacy for which he appears to be the strongest aspirant.

CHAMBERLAIN INVITED THEM.

London, July 31.—The Paris correspondent of The Times says that the pro-Boer telegraphic agency, which often receives authoritative information from Boer sources, states that Botha, Dewet, Delarey and Lucas Meyer are coming to Europe at the express and direct invitation of Mr. Chamberlain the Colonial Secretary. It is stated that Mr. Chamberlain wishes to consult the Boer generals on the construction of conditions of peace in South Africa and the general situation there.

London, July 30.—Speaking on the conditions in South Africa, in the House of Commons yesterday, Hon. Mr. Chamberlain said:

"We have no intention that the Boers should break with their old traditions. We desire that they should preserve all the best characteristics of their race, and hope they will shake hands with us, thus securing prosperity in South Africa, under the flag which protects different races, and different religions." That sentiment was the keynote of the speech. Dealing with the much discussed labor question, Mr. Chamberlain said he believed every inducement to labor should be held out to the blacks, but he said no scheme of compulsory labor would receive the slightest Government support. There was no intention of packing the country with Britishers, but so much Transvaal land was lying idle that the colonies could only be made a great corn-producing factor by bringing in British settlers.

Mr. Chamberlain said that a Crown colony had been established in the strictest sense. Nothing but circumstances and time would separate the new colonies from full self-government. The Imperial Government would not be rushed or hustled into any action which circumstances did not warrant.

A new tariff had to be arranged and the taxation of the mines was to be settled. No man was more anxious than he to recover some considerable part of the cost of the war from South Africa. He thought it would be perfectly fair to lay a fair part of the cost of the war on the principal industry of the Transvaal, but what amount it was too soon to say.

TURNING FRANCE UPSIDE DOWN.

London, July 31.—The Paris correspondent of The Times says: A Protestant named Johnson, of Scotch descent protests in the Journal des Debats, in the name of equality, against what he terms "the Government abominable policy regarding religious associations." Johnson says that this policy is turning France upside down.

THE COAL STRIKE WILL NOT LAST VERY LONG

Violence, Bloodshed, and the Troops will Put a Speedy End to Disturbance

Special to The Times.
Special to The Times.

Shenandoah, Pa., July 31.—A reign of terror held Shenandoah in its grasp last night. Since 6 o'clock Senter st., one of the principal streets of the town has been in the hands of an infuriated mob. Two policemen were shot, one fatally. Joseph Beddall, a leading merchant and cousin of Sheriff Bedall, was brutally clubbed to death, and upwards of a score of strikers were shot by policemen, and it is expected that many deaths will result.

Sheriff Beddall arrived from Pottsville at 7.45 o'clock with a posse of deputies, and took up his headquarters at the Ferguson hotel, which was surrounded by several thousand men.

Non-Union Men Beaten.

The trouble started about 6 o'clock when Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beddall attempted to escort two non-union workers through the striker's line of pickets. The workmen were dressed in their street clothes, but one of them carried a bundle under his arm, and this aroused the suspicion of the strikers. The bundle was torn from him and when it was found to contain a blouse and overalls the man was taken from the deputy and beaten almost to death.

In the meantime Beddall opened fire on the mob, which had gathered by this time, and emptied his revolver. Two of the shots took effect, one, man being shot in the leg and the other in the foot. The deputy and the other strike-breaker were compelled to flee for their lives, and took refuge in the Philadelphia and Reading Depot. The depot was soon surrounded by an angry mob of 5,000 which were becoming more threatening and demonstrative every moment.

Clubbed to Death.

Joseph Beddall, a hardware merchant, and brother of the deputy sheriff, was seen making his way through the crowd in an effort to reach his brother, and the mob, divining that he was carrying ammunition to those inside the depot, seized him and beat him with clubs and billies into insensibility. He died on route to the Miners' Hospital.

Shortly after this the entire borough police force arrived on the scene, and escorted the deputy sheriff and his man to an engine, which had been backed into the depot for that purpose. When the mob realized that their prey was about to escape they surrounded the engine, and the engineer was afraid to move.

In a few moments however, the police fired a volley, dispersing the crowd for a brief period, and the engineer turned on full steam and got away with his men. Stones were thrown thick and fast about the heads of the police, whereupon Chief Fry

Gave the Order to Fire.

At the first volley the mob fell back and several were seen to fall. Their retreat, however, was but momentary. They turned, and, with revolvers, stones, and a few shot guns, they charged on the little band of policemen and made them flee for their lives. The policemen turned in their flight, and fired volley after volley at their pursuers.

President Mitchell issued the following statement to-day:

"While I am not informed of the causes of the regrettable occurrences at Shenandoah, and consequently not in a position to say whether the miners or the deputies are responsible for it, I am, nevertheless, much grieved to learn that there has been a serious violation of the law. I have repeatedly warned the miners that the person who violated the law was the worst enemy the strikers could have, and I have directed our local officers and committee to be constantly on the alert for any breach of the peace. Our efforts in this direction will be redoubled, and I trust that judgement will be withheld until the responsibility for the trouble at Shenandoah has been properly located."

President Mitchell received an official communication at 10 a.m. from the Mine Workers at Shamokin, which says that the situation at Shenandoah is not as bad as painted. According to the report, no one was killed and no one fatally injured.

The Strike will Collapse.

Wilkesbarre, July 31.—All the local leaders of the United Mine Workers deplore the shedding of blood and the calling out of the troops. They say the presence of the soldiers will encourage the operations to resume mining, and if the collieries in the Schuylkill district are operated it will only be a question of time before the other mines in the strike belt resume, for the miners of the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys will not be content to remain idle while their fellow-miners in other parts of the region are working.

It is the history of past coal strikes that the presence of the militia is always a sure indication of an early resumption of mining. Those of the local operators who could be seen today are of the opinion that the backbone of the strike is broken, and that it will only be a short time until there will be a general resumption of mining.

Revolution in Newfoundland

Since the introduction into Newfoundland of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirely revolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicine has been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone. It clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for coughs, colds, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, lung troubles and deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. Price $1.00, trial size 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills.

BEES CURE RHEUMATISM

Lit is Honeymakers' Stings Gave Old Sufferer Quick Relief

Chambersburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—William Snively, an aged resident of Shady Grove, has been a sufferer with rheumatism for a long time, and lost the use of his arms. When in the garden men were hiving a swarm of bees, and they settled on the old man and stung him sorely. When the swelling from the stings disappeared, the rheumatic pains and the stiffness left, and the old man can now do as much work as before he was afflicted.

A FIGHT TO DEATH

Young Men in Presence of Relatives and Friends Settle Differences

Portland, Ore., Aug. 1.—Frank Carlson and George Baldwin, each aged 19 years, quarreled over two girls, to whom both were paying attention. Carlson challenged Baldwin to fight.

The fight took place with bare knuckles in the presence of Carlson's brothers and other friends, and of Baldwin's father, brother and others of his followers, in an unfrequented part of the city.

The fight lasted about twenty minutes. At the end of that time Carlson received a blow in the stomach and fell to the ground. When picked up he was dead. Baldwin is in jail.

'PHONES WITHOUT WIRE

Berlin Electrician Talks Successfully, But Apparatus Is Too Expensive for Commercial Uses

Berlin, Aug. 1.—Ernest Ruhmer, an expert electrician, has succeeded in talking a distance of seven kilometers, nearly five miles, by his wireless telegraph system. He will next try a larger search light, and expects to be able to telephone a distance of forty kilometers.

It is not believed that this system will be available commercially, as it is too large and expensive, but will be chiefly useful for service on warships in transmitting orders, etc.

Herr Ruhmer's invention acts on the principle of the transformation of light waves to sound waves by using a search-light and a microphone.

HIS BAG OF GOLD

Was Found By the Ohio Man Just Where he Had Buried It Forty Years Ago

Special to The Times.

Marysville, Cal., Aug. 1 — Forty years ago J. H. Merryman, an Ohioan, buried beneath the floor of his mining cabin in Plumas County 13,000 in gold nuggets, and this week he unearthed his cache to find his stored wealth just as he left it in 1860.

In that year Merryman, who had prospered as a miner, concluded to visit San Francisco, and putting in his belt what gold he would need, buried the balance. A gay life at the bay soon broke him, and while befuddled with drink he was "shanghaied." He was finally landed at New York. Misfortune followed misfortune and it was only recently that he had money enough to return to California.

During the intervening years the thought of his buried treasure never left him and it was with trembling hands the old pioneer grasped a spade to dig for gold on the spot where he figured his cabin once stood. Providence favored him after many efforts, and yesterday Merryman came down from the mountains to take a train for San Francisco. He will return east.

Cause of Splitting Headaches

Poisons accumulate in the blood and spread every moment to all parts of the body. The brain becomes congested, nerves irritated, and the result is that awful headache.

Ferrozone is nature's own remedy for headaches; it is a blood strengthener and purifier of uncommon merit, a lasting potent tonic, and the greatest invigorant and health maker known. Headaches never bother people that take Ferrozone after each meal. Buy a box from your druggist for 50c. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Liver complaint.

Santos-Dumont's Flight

Special to The Times.

New York, Aug. 1—New Yorkers are looking forward to seeing sights to-morrow when Santos-Dumont, the famous French aeronaut, will make his first flight in America. The ascension will be made at Brighton Beach, and if the weather conditions are favorable it is possible that M. Santos-Dumont may make his attempt to encircle the Statue of Liberty.

COLOMBIAN REBELLION SAID TO BE WEAKENING

Revolutionists Reported as on Their Last Legs

Nicaraguan Support, Upon Which They Depended, Withdrawn—Government Offers Liberal Terms to the Rebels to Lay Down Their Arms

Special to The Times.

Washington, Aug. 1—Deprived of the covert aid from the Nicaraguan Government, upon which they depended to keep up the fighting, the insurgents in Panama, led by General Herrera, are said to be on their last legs and anxious to come to terms with the Colombian Government. No open negotiations have been conducted between the Colombian Legation here and the rebel Junta in New York, of which General Vargas-Santos, 80 years old, is the nominal head, since his propositions were rejected several weeks ago. Santos-Vargas proposed many conditions upon which he would endeavor to stop this revolution. One was that the Colombian Government pay debts incurred by the revolutionists in Europe, and another was that certain men favorable to the revolutionists be made members of the national cabinet.

As yet Vargas-Santos and Manotas, another member of the Junta, and one of the ruling spirits, have made no new propositions, but it is expected they will. The Colombian Government stands ready to grant amnesty to the rebels, giving all of them full political and property rights if they lay down their arms. No negotiations are conducted direct with the rebel forces in Panama. The most advantageous way to bring about a settlement would be for Vargas-Santos to issue a proclamation calling on the rebel troops to take advantage of the amnesty offered by the Colombian Government. It is possible that Vargas-Santos may go to Panama for this purpose.

Since Minister Corea, Nicaragua's representative here assured Minister Concha, of Colombia, that no support would be accorded the revolutionists, in Panama by the Nicaraguan Government, the prospect of success for the revolutionists has dwindled. The Government has twice as many troops in Panama as the insurgents, and now controls the chief sources of supply.

THE PROPOSED NEGOTIATIONS.

Panama, Colombia, Aug. 1.—The Government gunboat Boyaca, which was sent to Agua Dulce with reinforcements and provisions for the forces under the Government General, Morales Berl, returned here this morning and brings a report that the revolutionary troops, under the command of General Herrera, are at Santiago, Veragua, in close proximity to Agua Dulce. General Salazar, the Governor of Panama, has received a proposal from General Herrera that the revolutionary forces of his command lay down their arms. He has decided to send to-morrow, on board the British steamer Cana, a commission to negotiate with General Herrera, and there is a possibility that the terms offered by Salazar will be accepted by the revolutionists. The members of the commission to treat with General Herrera are Generals E. M. Gomez, Morales Berl and Moreno and Dr. Tomas Arias.

WEST INDIAN CRATERS ARE NOW QUIESCENT

The Recent Eruptions Were a Superficial Phenomena

A SCIENTIFIC SURVEY MADE

Professor Jaggar, of Harvard, Says Both Mont Pelee and the Soufriere Will Continue to Diminish in Activity Conditions in St. Vincent

Kingstown, St. Vincent, Aug. 1—The Soufriere volcano has been slightly in eruption twice since last Monday. A severe earthquake shock, accompanied by a tidal wave, affected the northeast point of the island, washing a fire swept estate, no further damage was done.

Many people, both of the wealthier classes and laborers, are leaving the island, fearing disaster. The Government is still feeding 6,000 persons. The settlement of refugees in huts on acquired lands in safe localities is progressing.

The Panama cable repair ship Newington, which is engaged in work eighteen miles north of St. Vincent, reports that the depth of the sea there has increased to a mile and a quarter. Attempts to pick up the cable have been futile, owing to unfavorable weather.

A SCIENTIFIC SURVEY

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, Monday, July 21—Dr. T. A. Jaggar, of Harvard University, representing the United States Geological Survey in the West Indies, arrived for the second time at Fort de France on June 24, and has since visited Mont Pelee twice. He has also made excursions to the southern end of Martinique and to the warm springs of the interior of the island. Dr. Jaggar came directly from St. Vincent.

As a result of recent examinations of the crater of Mont Pelee and exploration of the track of the devastating blast which destroyed St. Pierre, it appears that there is extraordinary similarity between the eruptions of the Soufriere volcano of St. Vincent and Mont Pelee. The products are the same, both are characterized by the absence of lava, and the work of destruction, both to inanimate objects and to mankind, was accomplished in much the same way. The destructive effects of the eruption in St. Vincent covered a much more extensive area, but the loss of human life was much less.

There has been no active eruption of Mont Pelee of importance since June 6. A great cone of boulders and volcanic combs, heaped within the fissure from which the explosion came, has grown in size since the middle of May, when Dr. Jaggar first saw it. Occasionally there are sudden slides of debris down this cone into the deep gorge of the Riviere Blanche. These slides produce great columns of brown dust, which resembles smoke that rises in billows from the mountain's flank and give the impression of an eruption when viewed from the sea. At night these slidings of red hot rocks make a glowing streak in the mountain's slope. This accounts for the many reports by passing vessels of eruptions, hot lava and dust-falls. The phenomenon is a merely superficial one. As at St. Vincent, the many mud spouts, steam jets and local craters that have been reported are all superficial, caused by rain water draining into the beds of hot, dry gravel.

The two volcanoes of St. Vincent and Martinique were in eruption in sympathy in May. Both have gradually become less active since, and it is probable they will continue to diminish in activity, to judge by the present signs. In this opinion the French scientific mission, headed by Professor Lacroix, of Paris, concurs. Dr. Jaggar is strongly opposed, however, to any rehabilitation of the devastated slopes of the volcanoes, until the respective Governments of the islands are willing to establish permanent experiment stations to protect and warn the inhabitants. In addition to his work on the islands of St. Vincent and Martinique, Dr. Jaggar has spent some time in Barbadoes collecting information and specimens relative to the spread of the dust fall, which appears to have been much greater from the Soufriere than from Mont Pelee.

Dr. Jaggar has been in communication with both the British and French scientific commissions now at work in the islands. Before returning to the United States he plans to visit the northern volcanoes to the Windward Islands, with a view to studying the conditions of vegetation and drainage on such mountains as Pelee, as they were prior to the eruption.

To Discuss Life Saving

Special to The Times.

Paris, Aug. 1—A despatch from Nantes says that several representatives of America are attending the international congress of life saving, preservation of health and maritime security, which opened in that city today under the auspices of the Society of Life Savers of Brittany. The congress will consider life saving in water and from fire, piloting in for, life saving on board steamships, the moral and physical development of sailors and fishermen, and several kindred subjects.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT

La Sonora Gold and Silver Mining and Smelting Co.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the above company, which offers a safe, sure and exceedingly profitable investment. The company has an exceedingly rich pay streak in their property, and one that will give prodigious results in the near future.

The company is controlled by men of splendid reputation and undoubted integrity, the president being Mr. J. D. McArdle, one of the most prominent grain men in the State.

Mr. R. J. Kidd, who is well and favorably known to our readers, has been appointed local agent for the company. Mr. Kidd will be glad to furnish prospectus and application forms for stock, and give such information as may be required by prospective investors.

Permanent Cure of Neuralgia

Experienced sufferers state that no remedy relieves neuralgia so quickly as a hot application of Polson's Nerviline, the strongest liniment made. Nerviline is certainly very penetrating and has a powerful influence over neuralgic pains, which it destroys almost at once. Nerviline is highly recommended for rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, and toothache. Better try a 25c. bottle, it's all right.

No pills like Dr. Hamilton's.

ANGRY CROWD WAS DESTRUCTIVE

Two Thousand People Tore Down and Burned a House

PUBLIC RIGHTS INFRINGED

People Claimed That Common Property Had Been Wrongfully Occupied and took Drastic Measures in Consequence

Special to The Times.

London, July 31.—An extraordinary scene occurred on Leckhampton Hill overlooking Cheltenham. For some time past there have been demonstrations and disturbances on account of a company which owns quarries on the hill having fenced in a certain portions and built a house there on for its foreman, thereby interfering with the right claimed by the people to roam at will over every part of the hill. Encouraged by the inactivity of the district council, a committee of working men have taken matters in their own hands and during the past few days several have been charged at Cheltenham Police Court with damage to the fences, while on one occasion when the police sought to interfere a constable was maltreated and his prisoner released from custody.

The alleged aggressor and three others were charged on Tuesday with resisting the police, but after a long hearing all were discharged, and at night a huge demonstration took place in honor of their release.

Two thousand men, women and children, marched from the town, headed by a band, to the hill, and men with pickaxes soon laid low the fence. A well stocked greenhouse next received attention, and this was demolished with crowbars. An entrance was forced into the house by smashing the windows and doors, and by these means of exit the furniture was handed out and placed on a bonfire prepared for this purpose, the fences sharing the same fate. Several men then mounted onto the roof which was stripped bare. After this the partition wall was saturated with paraffin and ignited. The house was gutted and its blackened walls were afterwards pulled down. The strange spectacle was witnessed by 4,000 people.

Not content with this, the crowd proceeded to the grounds of Mr. H. J. Dale, who is the principal shareholder in the quarry company, and soaked a rustic harbor with paraffin and burned it to the ground. The total damage caused is nearly £1,000. Ten policemen were present, including an inspector, but did not interfere.

A CLOSE CALL

A Peterborough Man Has a Narrow Escape in Port Hope

Port Hope Guide: Mr. John Hinds, who is employed at the steam shovel on the double track, met with a very serious accident this morning. He was walking up the track about 6.45 and did not notice that train No. 98 was behind him. By chance he looked around, and the train was coming at quite a fast rate, and was about two feet from him when he leaped from the track, but while he was in the air the edge of the cow catcher hit him in the calf of the leg, and the beam of the engine struck him on the right side. He was hurled into the ditch on the side of the track, and rendered unconscious for some time. He was picked up by his brother, who, with some other gentlemen, conveyed him to his home on Elizabeth street. Dr. Corbett was summoned, who found that his injuries were very bad. His side was injured very severely, besides a bad bruise on the leg, a cut on the elbow, and his forehead all scraped by the cinders on the track.

No doubt the only thing that saved his life was being in the air when the train struck him, which broke the force of the blow considerably.

Hinds is about 35 years of age, and came here from Peterborough, but his home is in Albion, Mich. He is doing as well as could be expected and will likely pull through.

Rainfall in July

The rainfall of July in Toronto is far above the average of the last sixty years, which is 2.918 inches. This month to date it has rained on sixteen out of the 28 days, and the total fall has been 4.335 inches. For the whole of July last year the fall was 3.376. The greatest rainfall in any July recorded was 8.150 inches, in July, 1841. A few other years when the rainfall exceeded that of this year in this month were: July, 1840, 5.27 inches; July, 1843, 4.905 inches; July, 1854, 4.865 inches; July, 1862, 5.344 inches; July, 1869, 4.610 inches; July, 1878, 5.63 inches; July, 1883, 5.57 inches; July, 1897, 5.24 inches.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

THE AUSTRALIAN DROUGHT MOST TERIBLE IN HISTORY

Australian Cattle Must Soon be Fed with Imported Fodder and Famine Prices will Result

London, July 30.—The terrible Australian drought is still the undisputed sovereign of the country, but more particularly in the eastern states. For eight long years this drought has continued, and it has not mitigated in force.

Many great station-holders and squatters of erstwhile princely fortune have already given up the struggle for want of funds. Million of acres of one magnificent grazing lands have been abandoned. Vast numbers of lambs are being killed every day to save the ewes, while the prospects of the forthcoming lambing are desperate in the extreme. Within a month, unless King Drought abdicates in the meantime, the miserable remnant of Australia's stock must be fed on fodders such as hay, corn, chaff, and molasses imported from New Zealand, New Caledonia and the Mauritius, for by then all home supplies will have been used up. The Commonwealth will then be confronted with famine prices for meat and food of every kind, and with hundreds of thousands of unemployed, work scarce and food dear, the winter has also to be reckoned with.

THE TALE OF WOE.

So much for the pastoral and agricultural industries. Australia's next best asset is her mining industry.

Of this nothing can be recorded that is not alarming and calamitous. Nearly all Australian mines are dependent upon the natural water supply afforded by rivers, creeks, and streams. The vast majority of the smaller water courses have already dried up, and even the largest rivers now present the spectacle of chains of bog-holes—having ceased to run. Without water very few mines can continue to work, and numbers have already shut down, turning adrift their workmen to swell the ranks of the unemployed. Numbers cease working day by day.

But not only on the country districts has King Drought set his seal.

The great centres of population, the larger inland towns and the coastal cities, the capitals of the states, have all reluctantly submitted to his sway. The banks and financial institutions, the great pastoral and wool-exporting houses, merchant firms of every description, and even the larger distributing retail dealers, have been obliged to enter upon a system of retrenchment. Employees who have spent their lives in the services of such establishments are being discharged in increasing numbers day by day. The inhabitants of most inland towns have already had to purchase water for domestic purposes. Brisbane is in the throes of a water famine, and Sydney —the premier city of the Commonwealth—has scarcely one week's supply by gravitation remaining in her reservoirs. The average annual rainfall for forty-three years has been 49.928 inches, but the total rainfall during the six months ending May 31 was only 8.309 inches.

BLOODSUCKER'S TOLL.

Australia was once a land, if not flowing with milk and honey, nevertheless self-supporting, rich, and prosperous. It is now an impoverished, debt-ridden country, and its always sparsely populated interior has been decimated of its human inhabitants, and turned into a sun-parched waterless, and barren desert.

During his dreadful reign King Drought has already claimed from New South Wales more than 20,000,000 sheep, from Queensland 7,000,000 and from Victoria 2,000,000 as well as countless numbers of cattle. The export of wool has shrunk from £11,000,000 in 1891 to less than £7,000,000 in 1901. These figures will be better appreciated on consideration of the fact that the pastoral industry is the very basis, not only of the prosperity, but of the financial existence of the Commonwealth.

Last year the export of pastoral products amounted to £8 2s per head of the entire population, while the value of all other commodities put together including even coal and silver, amounted merely to £3 18s per head of the population. But this was the state of affairs last year. Since then the ruinous progress of King Drought has proceeded at a pace so rapid that the pastoral industry, upon which the country's very life, as has been shown, depends, is now actually threatened with extinction.

A well-informed Englishman advises English capitalists and investors as follows: When Australia or any of her states, particularly the eastern states, approaches the English market asking for a loan, refuse to lend, unless substantial guarantees are given that the moneys asked for will be at least partially expended in safeguarding that industry which is your principal security for the advance. Such an attitude is more than justified by past and existing circumstances. Moreover, if you resolve upon it, you will have an undoubted right to be therefore considered merciful in the truest sense, if mercy, as Shakespeare declared, "blesses him that gives and him that takes."

IMMENSE LOSSES IN NORTH DAKOTA

Yesterday's Storm Created Widespread Havoc in the State

HAIL BELT 10 MILES WIDE

Insurance Men are Busy Figuring Out Their Losses, but Refuse to Hazard a Guess of Them

Special to The Times.

Grand Forks, N.D., July 30.— Late reports show that the storm yesterday was probably the most widespread and destructive of any that has ever visited the State. An immense wave seems to have traversed the northeastern part of the State, developing centres here and there which visited various localities with wind, hail and rain. Damage was done in Pembina, Walsh, Grand Forks, Ramsey, Traill, Nelson, and Cavalier counties. The losses being so numerous and so widespread that it is as yet impossible to give an estimate of their total loss. Hail belts varying in width and severity are scattered everywhere, and the damage by wind and lightning is considerable. The section which appears to have suffered most is that in a belt crossing the Great Northern line near Michigan City. Along the road a few miles east of Niagara to west of Mapes, the crops are literally pounded into the ground. The hail belt is fully ten miles wide. The insurance men are busy figuring out their losses, but refuse to hazard a guess at the aggregate. The storm will make a bad hole in the crop, and will materially affect implement dealers' sales.

An Empire Number

The August Canadian Magazine is an Empire Number. Lord Strathcona Sir Gilbert Parker, Professor Goldwin Smith, the Hon. J. W. Longley, Chancellor Burwash, Chancellor Wallace, Professor John Campbell, John Reade and others discuss the various phases of Imperialism. The views expressed vary, but one cannot read them all without securing much broader views of the great questions which are pressing for solution. Lord Strathcona's is the only long article, but it reviews in a masterly way, the growth of the colonial influence upon and within the Empire. The illustrations include some handsome views of Westminster Abbey and some royal pictures printed in colors. A. H. U. Colquhoun writes of the Seven Edwards and Margaret Sherrington of the Queens of Europe. Both of these articles are fully illustrated. Andrew Miller, of Strathcona's Horse throws some new light upon the Boer Government by outlining the career of General Erasmus, whom he calls "A Nero of the Transvaal." W. A. Fraser, the popular celebrated author of "Mooswa" tells one of his characteristic tales of India, a racing story with the title "My Friend, the Count." There is other fiction and the usual departments in this excellently printed periodical.

STRIKING MINERS DEMONSTRATIVE

Mob of 1000 Men and Boys Make a Hostile March

DAMAGE DONE BY STONES

Drove all Non-Union Men Away from Engines and Other Works of West Shenandoah Colliery

Special to The Times.

Shenandoah, Pa., July 30.—The attitude of the striking mine workers here is daily becoming more demonstrative. Last night a mob of fully 1,000 men and boys were on the march. They first visited the West Shenandoah Colliery and drove the non-union workmen from the engines, pumps and fire rooms. The workmen were compelled to seek refuge in the camp of the coal and iron police.

The strikers assailed the breaker with stones, doing considerable damage to window glass.

From the West Shenandoah mine the mob proceeded to Indian Ridge Colliery, where they were confronted by a body of special police, whose presence prevented violence.

Squads of strikers picketed the approaches to several mines where pumping is in progress, and urged the men employed to quit work. Deputy Sheriff Coombs, Union Organizer Ginley, and a posse of deputy sheriffs are here endeavoring to maintain order.

RIVER NOTES

The City of Peterborough made her usual weekly Thursday trip to Hastings yesterday. A large number of passengers enjoyed the trip.—It is one of the best.

The Gilmour's "Alligator" arrived in town last evening after their trip down the river with a tow of booms for several creeks, and also the bag for catching the logs in the east channel opposite Jubilee Point, where the Government dredge is at present working.

The crew of the Water Lily were engaged yesterday in making several improvements on their boats as suggested by the Steamboat Inspectors. The officials of the "Lily" are always willing to be up-to-date.

More "Head" Needed

Hastings Star.—The farmers along the Otonabee river who meet in Peterborough every spring and send a deputation to Ottawa to raise a kick about drowned lands will likely have opposition if the present system is kept up. The sluiceways at this point are kept open to allow the water to escape, and our manufacturers who use water power find there is not enough "head" for their use and something will have to be done to keep the machinery running.

MAILED FREE.

Our magnificent, authentic, 400 page, cloth bound, illustrated,

"Guide to Investors"

said to be the most detailed, complete work relative to Wall St. and its formalities ever issued; also our

"Daily Market Letter."

Your speculative or investment account solicited, be it large or small. Every facility to satisfactorily handle your business. If you are interested in any special stock, we will, upon request, supply full obtainable data relative to same which may prove of service to you. We maintain a statistical correspondence department, whose sole duty it is to so compile absolute facts, from the statements rendered from time to time, by various companies, as will best guide those interested in their stocks to digest the most favorable results.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1886. Main Office, 43 B'way, N.Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

Peterborough, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

COMMISSION ONE EIGHTH—The only licensed U. S. Stock Brokerage Corporation in business by permission of the Royal Government of the Province of Ontario.

W. F. NELSON, Peterborough.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	5.10 p.m.	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.28 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5.10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate	7.20 p.m.	1.12 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West	11.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	3.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	3.00 p.m.	5.20 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.25 p.m.	11.4? a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	3.20 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	6.65 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	4.20 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 10c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 1, 1902.

THE MOVEMENT OF POPULATION

The movement of population from the United States to Canada is dependent for its volume and continuity chiefly upon the movement of population within the United States itself. As farmers crowd up to the Middle States to the lands of the Northwestern States, the farmers in the latter have a chance to sell out at a good profit and invest in this even better and much cheaper lands in Canada. Every sign that points to activity in farm lands on the other side of the border is, therefore, of great interest in this country because of its relation to immigration into Canada.

In this connection the explanation given by the Des Moines Register and Leader of the unusual movement of currency during June and July from New York and Chicago to country points throughout the West is important. Never before has so great an amount of currency gone out at this season of the year. The phenomenon has excited a good deal of comment, and the following explanation commends itself as being probably correct. The Register and Leader says:

"The northwestern land boom has marched steadily on despite discouraging weather. There is every indication that it is absorbing the loose money and credits of the West, and the shipments of currency from Chicago and New York to the country banks have probably been wanted to finance land deals. These shipments occurring at this ordinarily dull season of the year have been puzzling the metropolitan authorities, who are not aware of the investment furore now prevailing west of the Mississippi. They have been attributing the movement to an early crop demand and to a corn deal in Chicago that is a small affair compared with the speculation they have overlooked. One of the great land movements of our history is under way. It has spread until nearly every little community in Iowa is infected. It was directed first to the Dakotas and Minnesota, but the United States is too small to contain it now. While it is accompanied by a heavy influx of settlers, experienced observers pronounce nine-tenths of the purchases to be for speculative purposes."

The Register and Leader recognizes that one of the great land movements in the history of the United States is under way. It recognizes, also, that "the United States is too small to contain it now"; that is, that it must overflow into Canada. The fact that land speculators are doing a large part of the buying of the lands in such States as Iowa does not necessarily mean that actual settlers will not soon follow. The present large companies dealing in land do not sit down to wait for purchasers. They get to work to secure them. And the same companies are probably buying land both in Iowa, for example, and in Canada. They buy out a man in Iowa in order to sell him land in Canada, and then they bring up a man from further south or east to take the Iowa land off their hands. These companies act as directors of the stream of migration, and they take a sort of commission for their work by buying and reselling land. As long as the present movement of population continues in the United States—and it should increase as years go by—so long will there be a surplus to be directed to Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Somebody in the House of Lords is anxiously inquiring about the American immigration to Canada. There seems to be a fear that if Americans buy up the Canadian lands in such large areas there will be a peaceful American conquest of the Dominion. In like manner some of our own people have frequently manifested fear of British investments in the United States, lest foreigners come to own the country. But these fears on both sides may as well be dismissed. The Americans who go to Canada or acquire interests there will be among the most effective developers of the country; and the foreigners who acquire interests in the United States will certainly have a stake in our prosperity. Let the star of empire, as directed by private enterprises, take its own course. That will give on the whole the most salutary results.

By the way, Who is Building Up Ontario these days?

Isn't it time that the council looked into the alleged assessment inequalities.

Now that both parties are stripped to the waist, the battle over the referendum will be a hot one.

Magnate Schwab, the head of the colossal steel trust in the United States, is suffering from nervous prostration. John Gruber, of the day laborers' brigade, after a hard weeks' work at $1.25 a day, slept like a child last Saturday night, spent Sunday with his family in the peace and quiet of his modest cottage, took them for a walk out to Jackson Park in the evening, and awoke next morning with his nerves in perfect condition and prepared to put in another week of hard work. He wouldn't trade places with Schwab for all the steel stocks in the world.

ANARCHISTS' WORK

Military and Naval Authorities are Terrorized By Their Plots

Special to The Times.

Paris, July 31.—A band of anarchists is worrying the harbor authorities of Brest by attempts at torpedoing warships, sinking torpedoes in navigable waters, shooting sentinels and threatening the ammunition magazines. The War Office gave orders to patrol the harbor day and night, and general alarm is felt. Some little time ago the Austrian harbor of Pola was terrorized by a band of Anarchists in the same way, doing much damage to war material, and killing and wounding several soldiers. The authorities think these attempts are organized by an international band of miscreants to test the defensive works, and strike terror into the ranks of the soldiery and marines.

All About Men.

One of the greatest advantages of the silent man is that he cannot be misquoted.

Men who ride hobbies would not be nearly so objectionable if they did not want all the road to themselves.

A man will often make small faults conspicuous in order to insinuate that he has no great ones.

Often the pleasantest memories men have are of events that never happened.

The things that come to the man who waits are generally the cast-offs of somebody else.

It is not always what a man does that goes against him, but what he happens to get caught in.

There are men who do not care to be judged by what they really are, but what they want others to think they are.

Nothing makes a man quite so angry as to realize that he has no just cause for anger and to realize that others realize it.

Some men's idea of a friend is someone who will stick to them through adversity, take their part against uncharitable neighbors, lend them his last shilling without security, and when Fortune smiles will take a back seat.

A wise man can find plenty of suggestions where fools have dropped them.

In Desperation.

The European king sighed and stirred uneasily. "My subjects," he exclaimed, "are getting so enlightened, so imbued with the ideas of democracy, that they no longer fawn upon me, toady to me. There's only one thing for me to do to relieve this monotony. I must visit America."—"Town Topics."

Mr. D. Speptic—My dear, I wish you would prepare something occasionally to tempt my appetite. His Wife—The idea! Why, you have not any appetite to tempt.—"Waverley Magazine."

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

For Duck-Keepers

The largest duck farm in America is located at Speonk, Long Island. Last year over 25,000 ducklings were hatched. Nearly every pound of the flesh was marketed in New York City.

Ducklings for Profit.

Ducklings are wonderfully hardy, and the death rate, even when large quantities are reared, is very slight when the duck raiser knows his business. They must, of course, be kept dry and sheltered from rain, and if their sleeping house is draughty they may get a touch of roup. This shows itself by a froth collecting round the eye, and can easily be got rid of with a little care, and taking precaution to prevent their sleeping in a draught. They fatten not only easily but quickly. In one big duck-rearing establishment no ducklings are kept over eight weeks old, but generally they are fattened for a fortnight longer.

During the last week of incubation the eggs need to be damped, as a rule, two or three times; in incubators they require rather more moisture than hens' eggs, and makers give instructions on the subject. When the stock ducks have their liberty and are strong, healthy birds, the eggs hatch well, and the twenty-ninth morning sees all the ducklings out that are coming. Like chickens, they need no food for twenty-four hours, but just sleep. By the expiration of that time they are thoroughly dried, and their abundant fluff no longer sticks to their skins, but stands out, making them look much larger than they did when first hatched. They are now ready for their first meal, which should consist of hard-boiled egg and breadcrumbs, damped with skim milk or water, given moister than to chickens; the food should be dropped on their backs; they huddle together in a heap when first collected for feeding, and, seeing the food, they peck at it readily enough.

A pan of water should be put down by them, and to let them see it, a few grains of coarse oatmeal should be dropped upon it. Then they peck at the oatmeal, find the water, and drink. It is necessary that at each meal they should have all the water they want, and they want a great deal, for they are thirsty creatures. Pure, fresh water, and plenty of it, is very necessary for successful duck-raising. The water should be supplied in shallow pans at first; as they get bigger it can be given in larger pans or troughs, but they should not have access to a pond. When they have never had the opportunity of swimming they do not pine for it, but if once they get the chance of swimming they fret for access to it.

For the first two or three days nothing should be given but the hard-boiled egg and breadcrumbs, or oatmeal may be substituted. The eggs should be passed through a sieve, the unfertile ones removed on the eighth day of incubation should be reserved for this purpose. They should be fed very frequently—every two hours, at least. It is a good plan, as in the case of goslings, to give them a little tender chopped grass mixed in with their food, but they are not large eaters of green foods, as goslings are. After the first three days the egg food can be dropped, though if there are unfertile eggs this feeding can with advantage be continued a little longer. Biscuit meal, scalded, is an excellent food for ducklings, and can be made the chief article of diet from a week to a month old. Boiled rice is also largely used by some breeders; others rely entirely on biscuit meal and ground meals. The rice should be thus prepared: To one quart of rice add six quarts of water, and let it simmer till the water is all absorbed. A little fat or greaves can be added. On rice thus boiled, biscuit meal and various ground meals, the ducklings can be quickly forced to maturity; meat and fat are also given more or less, and it hastens them on. The meals used are ground oats or oatmeal, maize meal and pollard.

After the first week the meals can be reduced to four a day, giving them all they will eat at a time, but permitting no food to lie by them between meals. The four can be reduced to three when they are seven or eight weeks old. Most fatteners have their own system, and differ in details of management, the object, in all cases, being to keep the ducklings in good health and appetite, so that they eat well, for the more they eat the better they grow. There are certain adjuncts that must be supplied if they are to keep in first-rate condition under the somewhat artificial mantion under the somewhat artificial manner of treatment they receive, and these are plenty of grit, a supply of green food, and strict cleanliness. For bedding them, peat moss can be highly recommended, and, failing it, straw, but straw is getting scarcer than it was. The peat moss, too, when it is finished with, will be a valuable manure for either the field or garden. Later in the season they can sleep on the ground without ill-effect, but not before it is dry.

It is very needful to protect the ducklings from rats, as they highly prefer them to chickens. They must be well netted in at night, and a few traps set near, for rats are sure to be attracted to the vicinity when ducklings are bred for market. It is also necessary to shelter them from the sun, as they get sunstroke very easily if exposed to it, but, of course, this means the July and August sun, when it is really hot.

In case of their going off their appetites when fattening a meal should be missed for a day or two, and the food changed. This will bring back their appetites. A little spice may with advantage be given at this time. Those ducklings intended for stock should be picked out at four or five weeks old, and have more liberty and a certain proportion of corn. Ducklings for table are fed entirely on soft food. They can have a swim just before being killed, as this washes their plumage.—Farm and Stockbreeder.

Hostess (to guests, who have to spend a few days)—We're so glad you've been able to come, Miss Gushington; but I do hope we are going to have better weather, or I am afraid you won't enjoy yourselves much.

Miss Gushington—Oh, but, my dear Lady Boreham, we didn't come here to enjoy ourselves. We came to see you.—London Punch.

Bridget and Pat were sitting in an armchair reading an article on "The Law of Compensation."

"Just fancy," exclaimed Bridget; "accordin' to this, whin a mon loses wan av 'is sinses another gits more developed. For instance, a bloind mon gits more sinse av hearin' an' touch, an——"

"Shure, an't it's quite thrue," answered Pat.

"O'i've noticed it mesilf. Whin a mon has wan leg shorter than the other, begorra the other's longer."—Philadelphia Times.

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO

PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850

15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 30 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnel and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON

500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

[illegible] of an issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company, on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No m[illegible]ge can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.

ALBERT C CASE, President WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres

HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr. Vice Pres & Treas THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss Fabyan & Co., N. Y.

JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.

Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston

Hon. DAVID R. FRANCIS, St. Louis

Senator JAMES K. JONES, Arkansas.

MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.

ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.

ALBERT C. CASE, New York

HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.

CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.

L. D. FLEMING, New York.

J. P. COOPER, Boston.

WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,

14 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.

45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

4 Hotels, both money makers.

1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.

A Barber Business, good trade.

Medical Practice, a bargain.

50 Houses in town, all prices.

47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.

See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.

Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co

LIMITED

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises,

ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000

Full-paid and non-assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10.

12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President
A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.

WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President
Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway, N Y

SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.

WILLIAM J. THOMPSON
Retired Merchant Hartford, Conn.

E. S. EVERITT
Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.

PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL
Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.

F. W. MESCHERT
Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers Trenton, N. J.

COUNSEL:

WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY owns a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through its reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs, pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one-fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company

20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

THE

ST. LAWRENCE SUGAR REFINING CO.

MONTREAL LIMITED

LABORATORY OF INLAND REVENUE,

OFFICE OF OFFICIAL ANALYST,

MONTREAL, April 8th, 1895.

"I hereby certify that I have drawn, by my own hand, ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's Extra Standard Granulated Sugar indiscriminately taken from ten lots of about 150 bbls. each, I have analysed same and find them uniformly to contain

99 $\frac{88}{100}$ to 100 per cent. of PURE CANE SUGAR

with no impurities whatever.

(SIGNED) JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, PH.D., D.C.L.

Prof. of Chemistry and Pub. Analyst MONTREAL.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make.

SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE.

ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 363 GEORGE STREET

America's BEST Republican ..Paper

EDITORIALLY FEARLESS.

CONSISTENTLY REPUBLICAN ALWAYS

News from all parts of the world Well written, original stories. Answers to queries on all subjects—Articles on Health, the Home, New Books, and on Work About the Farm and Garden:

THE WEEKLY INTER OCEAN

The INTER OCEAN is a member of the Associated Press and also is the only Western newspaper receiving the entire telegraphic news service of the New York Sun and special cable of the New York, World besides daily reports from over 2,000 special correspondents throughout the country. No pen can tell more fully WHY it is the BEST on earth.

52—TWELVE-PAGE PAPERS—52 One Dollar a Year

Brimful of news from everywhere and a perfect feast of special matter . . .

Subscribe for The WEEKLY TIMES and The Weekly Inter Ocean one year, both papers $1.25

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

To be had at all first-class dealers

STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you, you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor, Can. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX ST. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
C. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
Genera Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT
Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	[illegible]

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.
Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.
W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.
W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS
OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885
BANKERS AND BROKERS
4 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 500 Broad
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 30c cash, 31c, installment. Write for prospectus. JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 315 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.
Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS
Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits
The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.
GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co.
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.
OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME
Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHA

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas J. Rutherford & son 315 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA. ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

---

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS
Municipal & Corporation Bonds
Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Advertise in The Times.

STRIKE TO LAST TILL NEXT OCTOBER

That is the Outlook Now in the Mining Regions

COAL IS SURE TO SOAR HIGH

At the Same Time Disintegration Has Begun—Miners Have Many Reasons for Dissatisfaction, Not Least of Which is the Distribution of the Strike Fund

Special to The Times,

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 28.—Among those best informed as to the actual conditions existing in the coal region there is little or no hope of seeing an end of the strike before September at the earliest. The predictions of a resumption of coal mining early in August have no basis of fact on which to rest. It is believed, moreover, that it will be nearer the middle, or perhaps the last half of September, than the first of that month, that the collapse will come.

It will take from two to three weeks to get the miners and the machinery of mining in full working order after the men have signified their willingness to go back to work. In other words, a full restoration of mining in the anthracite region cannot be looked for much before the month of October. This is the best judgment of five or six representatives of the largest interests in the region, who are in a position to have an intimate and accurate knowledge of the situation.

There have been statements from time to time within the past few weeks to the effect that this, that and the other colliery had on its rolls the names of enough miners seeking employment to justify opening up the mines. The facts do not warrant such statements. So far as the big companies are concerned, there is none of them that could to-morrow open a single one of its mines. It is very doubtful if there is an individual operator who could begin mining coal now without making the effort so dismal a failure that the effect would put new heart into the strikers, and by just so much prolong the struggle.

Yet the evidences are on every hand that the process of disintegration is going steadily on in the ranks of the strikers. It began before the Indianapolis convention on July 17th, and was by that convention temporarily checked. There was disappointment that the bituminous miners were not ordered out. Mr. Mitchell was even accused of double dealing in this respect. It was said that at the outset of the strike he had, at least indirectly, held out the promise that the United Mine Workers of the bituminous region would rise up en masse and join the ranks of the strikers in the anthracite region, that the industries of the country would be paralysed for lack of fuel to keep them going, and that such a state of commercial chaos would be brought about that the anthracite operators would be compelled by sheer force of public opinion, to yield to the demands of their employees and sue the officers of the United Mine Workers of America for peace.

This was big talk. It caught the imagination even of some of those who were doubtful about the advisability of an anthracite strike at this time. Mr. Mitchell never said these things in so many words. He never said directly that the bituminous miners would be called out. But others said it all in his name and by the rank and file of the strikers it was believed to represent Mitchell's sentiments and his plan of action.

So when Mr. Mitchell at the Indianapolis convention took a stand of resolute opposition to a bituminous strike, there were many of the miners in this region who felt that in a measure he had betrayed them. They were consoled, however, by the promises of aid that the Indianapolis convention gave them. There was to be a brimming river of yellow gold poured into the anthracite country. Millions of money were talked about as though they were mere trifles.

The miner heard the big figures rolled from the tongue of his district leader and went away to his little home and his scantily fed wife and children with a feeling of affluence. The raising and distribution of $500,000 a week was a bagatelle, he was assured, that would give every miner now left in the anthracite region $5.00 a week. They could carry on the war indefinitely on that basis.

Now it looks as though this very money were to be the rock on which the great strike is to split and go down to ruin. Already there is wrangling and bickerings and out of the wrangling and bitterness the process of disintegration of the strike forces, which was temporarily checked by the hopes and the fair promises by the Indianapolis convention, has again set in.

To open a colliery now, in all human probability, would lead to a conflict and to bloodshed, and this would only intensify the bitterness and stiffen up those who are wavering in their allegiance to the union. At the same time were a mine here and there to be successfully opened and the strike thus broken—an impossibility at the present moment—the fact that the union had failed to give effective relief would be undemonstrated. On the other hand, if matters are allowed to take their course for a few weeks longer, it is believed that there will be brought home to the miner the conviction that it is his own work and that it is the employer who pays him for it that he must rely upon for support and that, as between the two, the employer is a better friend than the union.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers Fortune's Spor., Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

"I should like the explanation you promised," I interrupted.

"You can have that in your room as well as elsewhere if you choose. Shall I show you the way there?"

I assented, and she led me upstairs. Oddly enough, as soon as we had passed out of the great hall, the impression of having known the place faded. The corridors above, dimly lighted, and the bedroom into which I was taken at last, were all utterly strange.

The room was very pretty, and strikingly different from any other part of the house which I had yet seen. The hall downstairs, the corridors, and the glimpses of rooms I had gained here and there, through open doors, suggested antiquity. Nothing was new; everything solid, handsome and old-fashioned. But the room into which I was ushered with the information that it had been prepared for me gave the effect of having been newly decorated; and daintiness was the predominating feature. The walls were "distempered" in pink; the hangings were of chintz—white, with trailing roses; and the furniture was all of satiny-textured wood, stained green.

Over the foot of the bed was thrown a ruffly nightdress and a robe de chambre, so like garments that I had possessed in my palmy days in town that my eyes opened wide in surprise as I gazed at them. On the dressing-table were flowers, and a medley of pretty silver things, some of which appeared remarkably familiar. There was a jewel-case, too, that I seemed to know; but the climax of strangeness was reached when the woman in black threw open the door of a huge, mirror-fronted wardrobe.

"You won't want for frocks, I hope, while you stay here," she said. And there, in the different compartments, hung the dresses I had left in my boxes at Easel street, even those which on that last miserable day I had sold to the second-hand clothes dealer.

When I stared, speechless, my companion drew my attention to a chest of drawers in another part of the room. "Here is plenty of underlinen," she announced. Mechanically I moved nearer as she pulled out drawer after drawer. A fragrance of orris-root and violets came to my nostrils. In one drawer lay folded silk stockings with my monogram embroidered at the top. In another were petticoats, silk and lace. Nothing was strange to me; I had seen, and possessed, every article before.

"This jewel-case may interest you," the woman went on, crossing to the dressing-table. "There are no thieves here"—with a slight emphasis—"so it has not been locked."

She raised the lid; I peeped in, and saw the things which had been stolen from me in Easel street.

"Rather like a fairy-tale, isn't it?" said the woman in black.

"It is a trick—the strangest trick that was ever played upon me!" I exclaimed.

"At least, it relieves your mind, I should think, of any fear that harm is intended you. The—persons who have planned this surprise would hardly have taken so much trouble, you must see, if they had brought you here to murder you."

"There are other evils in the world beside murder," I answered. But my brain felt as if wheels were going round and round inside it. When they stopped turning, was the dim thought in my mind, I might be able to solve this puzzle, but not while they kept whirling round.

"Only good is intended for you," said the woman. "You are a very fortunate girl—or you will be."

"I shall certainly go mad, whatever else I am to do," I cried, "if I am not given an explanation of all these mysteries. You tempted me with that advertisement. Now I am sure that it was only a bait, and nothing more."

"I told you in the train that, in course of a couple of hours or so, I would explain as far as it was in my power to explain. That I will do now, if you will sit down. You are as white as death, and I don't want you fainting on my hands."

I sat down on a small sofa at the foot of the bed, and the woman in black took possession of a chair not far away. I watched her in silence, waiting, and presently, with the air of considering her words, she began:

"I have only been agent in this—last affair. Now that you are in this house, I am able to tell you what I could not tell before—there is a 'power behind the throne,' for which I have been acting. That power has been interested in your movements for some time, and you have done few things that have not been known at headquarters. The power has pulled the wires; you and other—shall I say 'puppets'?—have danced. Always you have danced a little nearer, and a little nearer, to—this. And now all your troubles are over. You may rest—rest."

I jumped up from the sofa. "You talk like a mad woman!" I ejaculated. "We are in real life, not in a play."

"The world's a stage; the men and women merely players," she quoted, calmly. "Why do you excite yourself? Why not, now that you've come into haven, do as I said—rest?"

"Who is the 'Power' you talk of?" I demanded, hotly, and scornfully, too. "Who are you? What is this house?"

"Too many questions at a time."

"Were you the agent of the same employer," I began, "on the night when you sat in the stalls at the Lyceum Theater and showed me the scar on your arm?"

Her face changed slightly. "No," she said. "I was not. Still, even then I did not act for myself, but for another."

"You shall tell me for whom you acted then, for whom you acted now!" I cried, passionately, stamping my foot. "I am not a child, but a woman, and I will not be cheated and played with."

The woman in black smiled. She had not a pleasant smile. And her big white teeth looked cruel. "You make me laugh," she drawled. "If you are not a child, you certainly behave like one. You say 'shall' to me. How do you expect to enforce your commands?"

"At least I can go away," I retorted. "Since you have been at some pains to bring me here, I suppose you would not like that?"

"You will not be so foolish as to leave this house when I tell you that it is your own—absolutely your own. The servants are your servants; the very plate on the sideboard in the dining-room is yours; and I may add that it is well worth having."

If I had never seen John Bourke her words might have fallen like seeds on barren ground. But I thought what it would be to have such a house as this for my own; what a different position mine would be—not in his eyes, for I knew him to be as far above mercenary temptations as the sun was above the [illegible]. (To be continued.)

THE VAST RESOURSES OF ABYSSINIA

Emperor Menelik's Minister of State Tells of His Country

RICHEST SOIL IN THE WORLD

A Country But Little Known in the World—The Great Buffer State

Zurich, July 21.— Dr. Ilg, Emperor Menelik's Minister of Staff, is spending his vacation at his old homestead in this city. In an interview with your correspondent he stated—'Abyssinia has probably the richest soil of any country in the world, it may beat even the United States. The climate is excellent and epidemics are unknown. The people are progressing steadily, and will soon be ready to buy industrial products of foreign countries. We have iron and copper, gold and coal, but mine only as much as we need ourselves. With proper machinery Abyssinia could be made one of the greatest gold producing countries.

"I have worked under Menelik 42 years, and now occupy the position of Foreign Minister and Governor. The Emperor is one of the busiest of mortals and works with his secretaries from morn to night, reading and answering reports, listening to deputations, his Ministers, representatives, and subjects. He decided everything quickly and never loses patience.

"We have an army of 350,000 men, equipped with the latest rifles, Gras or Mannlichter. The repeating rifle was tried, but found unsuitable. The troops are drilled according to Prussian tactics—the best in the world—and if any of our neighbors desire to expand in our direction they will have their hands full. Menelik has abolished the hereditary dignity of Ras or Viceroy.

FOR COWHIDING A MINISTER

Interesting Case Before the Courts at Richmond Va.

Special to The Times,

Richmond, Va., July 31. — At Amherst to-day Judge Clarence J. Campbell was arraigned for trial on a charge of felonious assault on the Rev. C. W. Crawford, whom he horsewhipped in front of the court house at the June term of his court. The case has attracted wide attention owing to the prominence of the parties, and the trial will be followed with much interest.

The Rev. Mr. Crawford is editor of the Christian Federation, a paper published in this city in the interest of the anti-saloon movement. Some time ago the Editor criticized Judge Campbell for dismissing the case against a man charged with selling liquor in Amherst. Mr. Crawford asked in his paper which was doctored the most, the whiskey or the Judge. Judge Campbell had the minister arraigned for contempt of court, but discharged him. Afterward the two men and Mr. Crawford held out his hand to Judge Campbell. The Judge drew a cowhide and struck the minister several blows about the head and face.

BIG G
CURE YOURSELF!
Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous.
Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

The Insane Philosophy of Tolstoi.

Tolstoi's book on the sex question, in which he advocates absolute chastity, even at the cost of the gradual disappearance of the human race, continues to arouse spirited discussion. "La Revue Blanche" (Paris) recently asked the opinion of several prominent Europeans regarding Tolstoi's views. Some of the replies are appended. Madame Judith Gauthier, a retired opera singer who is now a literary woman, was the only one to endorse Tolstoi's position.

Max Nordau—"Count Leo Tolstoi preaches absolute chastity. I wonder if he can convince Madame Tolstoi and the fine family she has raised! At all events, we should congratulate ourselves that his parents did not share his opinion. Otherwise we should have had no 'War and Peace' or 'Anna Karenina.' . . . Speaking seriously, it seems to me that the ideas of Count Tolstoi on the marriage question are absolutely delirious, and delirium can be diagnosed, but not discussed. It is useless to defend woman against the absurd lucubrations of a sick brain."

Enrico Ferri of Rome—"The affirmations of Tolstoi on the sexual question only confirm Lombroso's theory of the degeneracy of genius. The fundamental needs of humanity are bread to preserve life and love to preserve the species. To preach absolute chastity is as absurd as preaching absolute fasting. Marriage, whatever Tolstoi may say, is the ideal state of human life."

Emile Zola—"The idea of Tolstoi is not new. Marriage is legalised by society, but it exists in nature without laws. Christ did not get married, because he was too busy to think about it. I confess that I do not understand Tolstoi. . . . It is insane."

Madame Judith Gauthier — "I will limit my consideration of the problem to the question of birth. It seems to me an act of truest wisdom to prevent the unhappiness of existence, and many wise men, including Christ, have indicated the path which we have failed to follow. To give life and then inflict death would constitute the greatest of crimes, did not nature, in her search for victims, strike with blindness and unconsciousness those whom she allures into her snares."

Albert Reville—"Pascal said, 'Man is neither angel nor beast, and the man who wants to be an angel plays the part of a beast.' If the hope of a future life is reasonable, and I believe it is, we may be able one day to rise above the organic conditions of this mysterious life. But as long as we live on earth, we are bound to admit the legitimacy of the acts and functions without which our own life and the life of humanity would be impossible. To state that marriage is unchristian, because Christ was not married, is absurd. It is like reasoning that we could not go to heaven because we travel by rail and wear trousers, whereas Christ did neither. Christ himself said that marriage was a holy and divine institution (Mark x. 2-9).

Col. John C. Baskell of Columbia, S. C., has on his place an old negro woman who cares for her brother's motherless pickaninnies. One day the Colonel, after experiences of several small losses which had been fastened on the children, said to her:

"Rachel, I think those children are getting dishonest."

"Well, sah, dat's a fac'. I tell dere daddy he out'en let 'em steal. Children ain't got no judgment in stealin'. Wen dey do steal tings, jes as lakely dey'll tak' somethin' you'll miss!"

—New York Times

Wife—You haven't used any of those cigars I bought for you. Husband—No; I am keeping them for Tommy when he wants to learn to smoke.—Los Angeles "Times."

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature, Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.
Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")
Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.
Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")
This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.
Demy Octavo, 328 pages.
Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.
Demy Octavo, 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.
FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond
Demy 8vo., 168 pages.
Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis
FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.
Complete and Unabridged, containing 357 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.
Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair."
Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE
GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Carthagenian....................July 30
Sardinian....................August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt. T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.
For tickets and staterooms apply t V. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leav Toronto and Montreal daily excep Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY
(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION
SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.
CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and PENETANG at 3.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 8.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE
STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

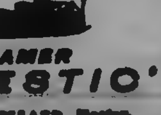
Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.
Trips Daily (Except Sunday
JOHN FOY, General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.
W. HARRIS, Master



STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"
CAPT. W. MCGRAND Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 2nd
On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes
On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.
Further particulars fro W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.
P. P. [illegible], Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

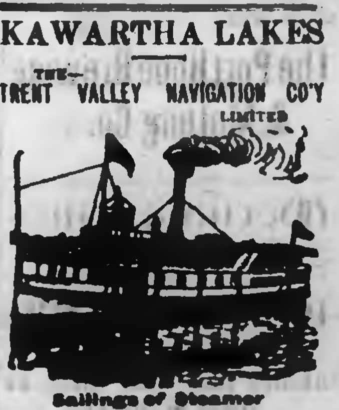
Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT, Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES
THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED



Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION
JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	"	6 30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p m.	"	7 40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Satu days boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA
JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por. Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"
JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board
For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON, Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.
COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER. N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.
Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.
Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets ...... [illegible] a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester...... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point in [illegible]. For further information apply to
H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston. James Brown, Agent Port Hope

---

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.
STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCUTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.
FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—FARE:—
$18—Belleville to Quebec, Return—$18
Including meals and berth on steamer
For further particulars, folders, etc., write
A. W. HEPBURN, [illegible]

FOOT ELM
POSITIVELY CURES

SWEATY FEET
SORE FEET
ACHING FEET
BLISTERED FEET
HOT FEET
INFLAMED FEET
SWOLLEN FEET

Shun any man who offers you a substitute simply because he can make a few cents more profit out of you by persuading you to take a cheaper article.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'
Celebrated Malt Extract
SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'
H. H. EDMISON
Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada
The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times
PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 1, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to contribute items of news to its columns, anything that is 'phoned or sent in writing to the office, of a nature suitable for publication will be received and published—[ED. TIMES.]

Bass for Stony Lake

The Ontario Fisheries Department propose to send a second lot of full grown Lake Erie bass to Stony Lake, where they will be turned loose. The fish are expected to arrive next week and will be conveyed in large tanks. Last year about a thousand of these fish were "planted" in Stony Lake.

The Corundum Mines

The work of installing machinery at Corundum Mines, north of Stony Lake, is about completed. It is expected that the steam drills will be in operation this week. There are twenty-six men employed at present, which number will be greatly increased as soon as the drill gets to work.

Sunday Sacred Concerts

Apropos to the proposal to have concerts on Sunday afternoon of sacred music the Hamilton Spectator says:—"The thousands who spent Sunday afternoon at Rockliffe Park and enjoyed the sacred concert, are as much entitled to be considered as the lone individual who enjoys its delightful air and scenery seven days in the week."

A Rapid Run

The drive of logs belonging to the Gilmour Company, were cut loose in the Little Lake in the afternoon, and the next afternoon they reached Rice Lake. This shows a tremendous current, as the distance is about twenty miles. The river below the locks and Rice Lake is now full of logs, although not sufficient to seriously interfere with navigation.

The Printers' Picnic

All arrangements have been completed for the Printers' excursion to Jubilee Point to-morrow afternoon. The steamer will leave at two o'clock sharp, returning at 9. There will also be an orchestra on board which will supply music at the down and up trips and also at the Point. An exciteing baseball match and other sports will be run off, and altogether a most pleasant afternoon is assured.

Warren Not Guilty

R. C. Warren, who was arrested at Lakefield on the charge of stealing a number of razors from Haskill's barber shop, came before Police Magistrate Dumble yesterday. The evidence for the prosecution was heard, but the defense was not called upon for any evidence. The accused was dismissed. Mr. E. B. Wood, Crown Attorney prosecuted, and Mr. O. A. Langley, of Lakefield, defended the accused.

Peterborough Turf Club No 1

The Peterborough Turf Club Association will hold a two days' meet on Monday and Tuesday, 15th and 16th of September, on the Exhibition Park track. The course is under preparation and will be in readiness for speeding inside of a week. A purse of $700 is being offered in prizes for the different events. The committee met yesterday afternoon and are putting forth every effort to make this one of the best meets ever held in Peterborough.

The Foes of the People

The other day a citizen told us that he was taken to task by a friend because he is a subscriber to The Times. The individual of the second part is one of those cormorants who live off the ratepayers without giving value in return. It is only such who have anything to say against this paper. The Times has always made war on men of his ilk, and their enmity is the best tribute we require.

Whose Business Is It?

Complaints have been made to the Times that when logs are being floated down the Otonabee river to Rice Lake, they are allowed to form in huge jams at the bridges. There is no one on hand to prevent them from doing so. The other day there was a huge jam at Hale's bridge, and the steamers had great difficulty in getting through. There should be men stationed at the bridge so as to prevent this obstruction. Mr. R. B. Rogers, superintendent of navigation, should, we think, take action to protect navigation.

Touring the Lakes

Lindsay Post—Last evening the steamer Alert arrived from Lakefield with a jolly party of tourists, intent on exploring the beauties of the Kawartha waters. Among the visitors were Dr. F. C. Bradd, R. B. McKee, G. B. Stevenson, J. A. Weller, W. H. Haynes, J. Conroy and W. Bunton, Peterboro; Charles Smith, Campbellford; Geo. A White and W. H. Matthews, Trenton. The party spent the night in town and left this morning for a run up Cameron and Balsam Lakes.

C. P. R. Officials

The general impression among C.P.R. officials, says a Toronto paper, is that early next week another shuffle will take place among the officials the most important one being the transfering of Superintendent Alfred Price to Winnipeg under general Superintendent, J. W. Leonard. Mr. Price, when asked about the matter, said that he was not aware of any order to that effect. Another subject discussed is the possible return to London from Toronto, of the Superintendent, L. W. Leonard.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Items of Local and General Interest to The Times' Readers

—Huckleberries are not so plentiful as usual this year.

—No Maud, dear; parasols do not all come from Paris.

—The passenger traffic on the river steamers is increasing.

—The harvest is now on in earnest and farmers are making the most of the fine weather.

—Dog poisoners have been operating on Gilmour street, where two dogs have succumbed.

—The Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. propose to close down for a couple of days during stock taking.

—The employees of the Cordage Company intend holding a pic-nic at Buckhorn at an early date.

—All the cheese boarded at the Campbellford cheese board last week 1500 boxes, were sold at 9 9-16 cents.

—The Town Council will doubtless be prepared to let some of the contracts for granolithic walks about the time the frost sets in.

—The Times has a letter on the school site question that cannot appear as the article does not bear the signature of the writer.

—The proprietors of lumber camps have announced that all men engaged by them the coming season must be vaccinated. This rule is being adopted in order to stamp out smallpox in this Province.

The foot passengers who have always enjoyed the privelages of the short cut provided by the construction of of the C.P.R. bridge across the Otonabee, will certainly appreciate the kindness of the Co. in providing a sidewalk for the safety of parties using the bridge.

—The education department has decided in the future not to publish the names of the successful writers on the first part of the leaving matriculation examination. Students anxious to know how they came out will henceforth have to apply for information to the high school principals, who may, if they think advisable, hand their lists to the local papers.

Hastings Star—While cutting hay with a mower on Friday morning last, Mr. Thos. Humphries, of Asphodel, met with a peculiar accident. The horses were working alright, until they ran over a hornet's nest, when the insects made it too interesting, and the team became frightened. The seat of the mower broke, throwing Mr. Humphries to the ground. The mower was slightly broken, and Mr. Humphries received several bruises.

Hastings Star—During an interview with an old resident he informed us that during his long residence in Hastings he never saw the river so high in July with the exception of the year 1879, and he believes that if the old dam was still here and the water was unable to escape as it does at present through the sluiceways, it would be running over the lock-yard and island and down Front street the same as in that year.

—Three large barns belonging to Mr. John Bell stock buyer, 1st. con. of Verulam, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. The barns contained 40 tons of hay, 1000 bushels of oats, wheat and barley, two horses, fourteen pigs, wagons and farming utensils. Mr. Bell's loss is heavy as he had very little insurance. One of the barns was erected over three years ago at a cost of $1200. It was 30 x 80 feet in size, and was one of the most modern buildings in that part of the country. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Dunne, Esq., Mayer.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rommel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Bunday, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill, Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wardle, Davis, and Birdsall, [illegible], Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. A. Stratford.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by 'phone or in writing—[ED. TIMES]

—Mr. A. F. Choate, Warsaw, was in town yesterday.

—Mrs. Ed. Brown is visiting relatives in Port Hope.

—Miss Violet Cameron is spending a short vacation in Bobcaygeon.

—Mr. Richard Purser, of Buckhorn, is in town on a week's vacation.

—Messrs. Farrer and Madill of Lakefield, were in town yesterday.

—Mr. J. M. Kilbourn, of Lakefield, passed through town yesterday.

—Mrs. Thomas Morrow and the Misses Morrow will occupy "Oakdene" during August.

—Miss McNeillie, of Toronto, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. (Dr.) McCullough.

—Mr. Wm. Snowden, of the Snowden House, went up to the city yesterday morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kerr have returned from a holiday trip to Bright and Drumbo.

—Miss White is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Hewett, Bridgenorth.

—Mrs. Ritchie and daughter spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mann, Bridgenorth.

—Dr. Moher left yesterday for Orillia, where he will at once enter on his duties in the Asylum there.

—Mr. Thomas Rutherford, one of the prominent contractors of town, who has the contract for enlarging the Bank of Montreal building in Lindsay, arrived in town last night on business.

—Mr. Wm. Madill has returned from Toronto, where he and Mrs. Madill have been visiting friends. Mrs. Madill and Master Stanley will remain for another week in the city.

—Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, Mrs. Miller and Mr. R. F. McWilliams went up to Stony Lake, where they will spend the month of August at their cottage on the Burleigh channel.

—Mr. J. W. Courtney, of Newburgh, passed through yesterday on his way home from a few days' visit with friends and relatives at Mount Pleasant.

—Miss Elva Best left yesterday on a visit to friends in St. John, New Brunswick. She will also visit Old Orchard Beach, Maine.

—Mrs. Jos. H. Cobb has returned home after a four months' visit with her son in Brockville. Her many friends will be pleased to hear that she is much improved in health.

—A party of Peterborough people left this morning for Montreal, where they will sail for the Old Country on the steamship Numidian. The party includes Mrs. George Pratley, Mrs. Jos. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Charles James and Mrs. Tovey. Mrs. Tovey will be joined in Montreal by her mother, who will acompany the party.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	5.10 p.m.	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.20 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston	6.10 a.m.	12.35 a.m.
West
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.35 a.m.	6.10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate	7.35 p.m.	1.13 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West	11.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.35 p.m.	11.45 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	1.30 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	2.35 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.35 p.m.
Lakefield local	8.00 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

J. J. TURNER & SONS
A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of HAMMOCKS
in town.
Prices from $1.00 to $6.00
J. J. TURNER & SONS

FOR A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

... BUY STOCK IN ...
La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
Mine Opened Up.
Ore in Sight.
Ore Vein 10 Feet Wide.
Values per Ton Average $24.75.
Hoist Pump, etc., Installed.

Mine in active operation 18 months. Now ready for concentrating mill, and for that purpose only we offer a small amount of stock at 20 cents per share for 30 days.

For prospectus and further particulars call or address—
La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
342 LUMBER EXCHANGE.
R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street,
AGENT AT PETERBOROUGH.

STOCKS SOLD ON INSTALLMENT

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky

Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.
THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watch this space for dates and particulars.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
$64.70
To Los Angles or San Francisco Cal., and return.

Tickets good going July 27th, 28th, 29th and August 1st to 10th, inclusive, 1902.

Valid for return until September 30th, 1902.

TOURIST RESORTS "WIDE OPEN"
Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on
W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.
JOHN KYLIE
Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.
A CALL SOLICITED
Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

WRITE FOR
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY
Tours to Summer Haunts
Describing the Summer Lands of
QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S West
William St., Toronto, Ont.

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL
GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN
And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is
AS FAR AS
they can go. They cannot produce the goods.
CANADA CAMERA CO.
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 359 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Help Wanted.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 711 41 and 45 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $24. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No 2 Asphodel, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to WM. W SMITH Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 294 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 294 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS, electricians, new 48 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

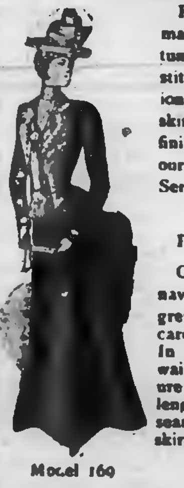
LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:
No. 381 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.
No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office
Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1895. Information respecting informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

$3.10 $3.10
THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.



Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

Model 160

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black. Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketchbook of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.
CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.
Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director
The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada
Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education
School of Literature and Expression
MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.
CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

RUBBER STAMPS
B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS
SEALS, PRICE MARKERS
10 King St West, Toronto

ARE YOU STOUT.
Edith Bordon, M. D., has the most [illegible]

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

APIOL & STEEL PILLS
for Ladies.
A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES
Superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

TORONTO EXHIBITION
Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back!

BABBIT
IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.
The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

THEY ARE PRETTY.
20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at 40c
Suspenders 15c
Overalls, with bib, at 48c
Smocks, at....................80c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway
Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH
Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales
FOR EVERYBODY
COAL: GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES
GET OUR PRICES
DIAMOND STEEL BEARING
C. WILSON & SON
81 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

THE MORNING TIMES PETERBOROUGH

Aug 2/02

LANDLORDS OF IRELAND CONDEMNED BY LEAGUE

Opposition to the Formation of a Trust for the Suppression of a National Organization

Special to The Times.

London, Aug.— A despatch from Dublin says the Nenagh Branch of the United Irish League in the County of Tipperary has adopted a resolution condemning the "hideous conspiracy of the landlords of Ireland in forming a trust for the suppression of the national organization of the country." The resolution also condemns the Privy Councillors, who, it says "have lent themselves to such vile and contemptible methods of trying to suppress the United Irish League." The resolution promises that the Privy Councillors will have more to contend with than they anticipate.

STUDENTS DEFEND PUBLIC MORALITY.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 1—An Athens correspondent says that the students of the University, encouraged by the successes of their efforts on behalf of the inviolability of the Gospel text, have entered on a defence of public morality, and have issued a manifesto demanding the suppression of certain theatrical performances. The correspondent suggests that the abolition of brigandage would be more useful, and that the watering of the streets would have more beneficial results.

BROAD JUSTICE DONE COURAGEOUSLY.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 1.—The Rome correspondent of The Times says that the verdict in the Mafia trial at Bologna deals a tremendous blow at the Mafia, high and low, and will greatly increase the prestige of Italian justice in the public eye. "The verdict and sentences are surprising," says the correspondent, "in view of the shuffling of intimidated witnesses and the testimony in favor of Palizzolo given by Sicilian magnates, but anyone watching the proceedings could judge what impression the attitude of Palizzolo and his family and counsel must have produced in the minds of the jury. The verdict seems to have been based on the general impression rather than on any special incident. But the conviction is irresistible that broad justice has been done courageously."

FRENCH PRESTIGE HAS SUFFERED.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 1.—The Vaterland, in an article quoted by a Vienna correspondent, describes the conflict between the Orthodox Monks and the Franciscan Friars at Jerusalem, and incidentally shows that Germany is ousting France from the latter's traditional protectorate over the Catholics in the Ottoman dominions. Thirty one Greeks, including twelve monks, were condemned by the Turkish court at Jerusalem to imprisonment for assaulting Franciscan friars. It is alleged the assault was incited by the Superior of the Orthodox Monastery of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. The conviction is a victory for the Catholic cause, as hitherto it has been found impossible to punish the Orthodox Monks. The French Government abandoned the prosecution at the request of the Russians, and the Franciscans appealed for aid to Germany and Italy. Justice was secured by the vigorous intervention of Germany, and Germans, both Protestant and Catholic are delighted, while the prestige of Germany has been enhanced and that of France has suffered.

DOUBTS SINCERITY OF THE EMPEROR.

Special to The Times.

Berlin, Aug. 1.—The pardon of Lieut. Hildebrand by the Emperor is universally disapproved outside of military circles.

Even the aristocratic Grean Bote says the attempt at discrimination between the duel and duellist is a mistake and leads to confusion between the public conscience and confidence in general. "The stability of the monarchy is shaken" says the paper, ..by this pardon, which is incomprehensible to the people's sense of justice, and which contradicts former Ministerial declarations. The thoughtful, serious, spirit of our people fails to understand these frequent changes of ideas and decisions. Moreover, the Christian conscience of the people is disquieted."

The popular idea of the significance of the pardon is that the Government's anti-duelling order was merely a matter of form to stop the moral pressure being brought against army duels.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

Strikers are Awed By State Troops

CONVICT TRACY AGAIN SEEN

Town Wrecked by Earthquake—Los Alamos California, Entirely Laid in Ruins

Special to The Times.

Ellensburg, Washn., Aug 1. — Sam Evans, who lives fifteen miles north of here, reports that Monday last a man came to his cabin and said that he was Tracy. He had a Winchester and two revolvers. He compelled Evans to furnish him with food. The stranger showed Evans a wound in the back of his head, and said that he was shot by a member of a posse on the West Side.

A Wenatchee special says—

From 10 o'clock yesterday until 9 o'clock at night Harry Tracy was an unwelcome guest at the ranch of W. A. Sanders, and S. J. McEldowney, six miles down the Columbia River. Tracy came out of the cascades riding one horse, packing another, and leading a third in reserve. He carried a Winchester and two revolvers. He took dinner and supper at the ranch, having the men well covered with his rifle. Toward evening he forced McEldowney to bring him two fresh horses, and turn loose his jaded animals. He went south.

Special to The Times.

Shenandoah, Pa. Aug. 1. —Twelve hundred State troops are camped tonight on a hill overlooking Shenandoah. Down in the town, where rioters and policemen fought the bloody battle last night, all is quiet, and the indications are that so long as the militia remains, the peace of the community will not again be broken. The thousands of idle men and boys in this vicinity who had been gathering in large numbers and marching from place to place did not repeat their demonstrations today, and the authorities consequently had little or nothing to do. The major portion of the population here is made up of foreigners, and, as a rule, they keep close to their homes during the day. It is claimed by citizens of the town that the foreign element was solely responsible for the trouble.

Shenandoah is not under martial law. The local authorities and the sheriff of the county have not relinquished control of the town or county, and they remain in as complete control of their respective affairs as they did before the troops reached here. The soldiers are merely in camp on the outside of the town. It was deemed advisable, however, by the brigadier-general to establish provost guard in certain parts of the town. So long as the situation remains as it is at present, there is no likelihood that the regimental companies will be scattered through the mining towns of Schuylkill County.

In an interview to-night General Gobin, who is in command of the troops, said:—"What I will do, depends largely upon what the sheriff is going to do. We are here to give him suppport in his efforts to enforce the civil law. We were ordered here because of his inability to do so."

Mine Workers Incensed.

The mine workers are greatly incensed over the calling out of the troops, and through their officials are making an effort to have the soldiers withdrawn. The first step in this direction was taken this afternoon, when a telegram was sent from here to Governor Stone, requesting him to send a personal representative to investigate the conditions.

Joseph Beddall died to-night. The policemen who were shot, and the strikers who were also hurt by bullets will recover. Several of the wounded strikers called at the Miners' Hospital today to have slight injuries dressed, and after the doctors got through with them they were arrested and taken to Pottsville Jail.

Riot has Depressing Effect.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 31.—The riot at Shenandoah last night has had a depressing effect at strike headquarters. President Mitchell was up early, and asked for the newspapers.

The 9th Regiment, N.G.P., with headquarters in this city, is under waiting orders.

TOWN WRECKED BY EARTHQUAAKE.

Special to The Times.

St. Luis Obispo, Cal., July 31— A strip of country, 15 miles long, by four miles wide rent with gaping fissures and dotted with hills and knolls that sprung up during the night as if by magic, a village in ruins and hundreds of people fleeing for their lives are the results of last night's seismic disturbance in the valley of Los Alamos, in the northern part of Santa Barbara, County. During the past four days that section of the country has been shaken by a series of earthquakes that is without precedent in the history or tradition of the Pacific coast.

The disturbances began on Sunday evening with a shock which caused several thousand dollars' worth of damage to property in the village and the surrounding country. The shock was followed by a number of disturbances less severe and less disastrous continuing throughout the remainder of the Sunday night and Monday. On Tuesday night, beginning at 12.10 o'clock there was another series of seven shocks, all of which were light. The most severe shock of the entire series occurred at 11.20 o'clock this morning. Hills were shaken and twisted to their foundations, and the valleys trembled and rolled. Great fissures were run deep in the earth, hills and knolls appeared in level valleys springs of water appeared in places that had been dry, and the general topography of the valley was greatly changed in many respects.

Inhabitants Fled.

With the first warning of the sound of the approaching disaster the terror-stricken people rushed into the streets and sought places of safety in vacant lots and roads, while many fled toward the neighboring hills. The first vibrations were similar to the preceding disturbance in direction and effect, but they were immediately followed by the most terrific shock ever experienced in this section of the State. The earth trembled and rolled and twisted until it was impossible for people to stand erect, and the inhabitants crouched together, fearful that the earth might open and swallow them. The terror inspired by the rumbling and trembling of the earth was increased by a sound of falling buildings, which gave some idea of the destruction that was being wrought. When the most serious shocks had passed and the rumbling sounds had died away, the people gathered about the ruins of their places of business, and when they saw the extent of the damage, many of them fearful of a repitition of this experience, immediately started on foot or by any conveyance that could be had, for places where the previous shocks had been less severe.

With the dawn of day the stricken village had the appearance of the ruins of a city long deserted. A church had been levelled to the ground, and not one brick building was left standing.

THE AMERICANS IN THE PHILLIPINES

Sweeping Charges Made Against the United States Army and Navy.

Special despatch to The Times.

Lake Orange, N.Y., Aug. 2—The committee appointed to investigate army conditions in the Philippines have reported and addressed their remarks in an open letter to President Roosevelt. The President's recent review of the courtmartial of Gen. Jacob H. Smith seemed to the committee to demand some reply, and at a meeting just held at Lake George an open letter to the President was adopted.

The letter is signed by Charles Francis Adams, chairman, Carl Schurz, Edwin Burrit Smith, Moorefield Storey and Herbert Welsh. It finds:

(1) Kidnapping and murder, under circumstances of aggravated brutality.

(2) Robbery.

(3) Torture, both of men and women, and assault of the latter.

(4) The infliction of death on other parties, on the strength of evidence elicited through tortures.

KITCHENER THE HERO NOW

England Goes Wild Over the Hero of the Boer War

He Is Looked Upon as Britain's Greatest Living Commander

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 2.—The people of England have gone wild over Lord Kitchener, who is everywhere regarded as the hero of the Boer war. Last night he was again entertained and enthusiastically cheered. His appearance on the streets is the signal for enthusiastic demonstration, no matter where it occurs. When presented with a sword of honor last night, at a public dinner, the outburst was tremendous.

When the enthusiasm had somewhat subsided for Lord Kitchener to make himself heard, he modestly returned thanks for the gift, and expressed the confident hope that, in South Africa, at any rate, the sword would not again be drawn from its scabbard.

Lord Kitchener eulogized Lord Milner, British High Commissioner in South Africa, and made an appeal, based upon his intimate and personal friendship with and knowledge of the South African administrator, that he be given the confidence and support of the British nation.

Referring to the mineral and agricultural wealth of the new territory, Lord Kitchener said: "You may assure yourselves that you have nothing less than the makings of a new America in the Southern Hemisphere."

He said the question who would supply the energy, brains and money to carry out this great development was one more for his hearers than for himself, but when, as in South Africa, patriotism was joined with self-interest, he was not afraid they would fail to sow the seed and reap the harvest for which he hoped that those who had recently been in South Africa had prepared.

A BIG DEMONSTRATION

The Labour Day Committee are Meeting With Great Success

Subscriptions are Rolling in Splendidly—The Committee to Meet This Evening to Take Further Action—The Demonstration Now Assured

Mr. Murty, chairman of the committee appointed by the Trades and Labour Council to make arrangements for a big labor demonstration in Peterborough on Labor Day, stated to The Times yesterday that he was meeting with great success in his canvass for subscriptions amongst the business men of the town. The success of the demonstration is therefore now assured.

The committee will meet this evening and will take further action in the matter. It is proposed to have excursions from many outlying points to Peterborough on that date, both on the railways and steamers.

The committee have in view the arrangement of a splendid programme of athletic sports, with band concert in the evening as a part of the attractions of the day. In the morning there will be an immense procession through the principal streets, headed by the band of the 57th regiment. This in itself will be a drawing card.

The citizens, we know, will give the committee every encouragement in order to make the event a success.

People with Bad Breath

Generally suffer from catarrh and should use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily, and be cured. The pleasant scented Catarrhozone vapour, spreads through every air passage of the breathing organs, and reaches the very root of the disease at once; it kills the germs, purifies and cleanses the mucous surfaces, and eradicates every vestige of catarrh in a short time.

Pure, sweet breath, free from headache, sneezing and discharge are quickly derived from the use of Catarrhozone Inhaler. Complete outfit, guaranteed to cure, costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver.

HE SEEKS CONNUBIAL BLISS

Illinois Man Travels to Haliburton In Quest of a Wife

Lindsay Post: About a year ago a man residing in Illinois, a few miles from Chicago, advertised in an American matrimonial paper. A few months ago a Haliburton woman answered the advertisement, saying that she was a widow in search of a husband. An exchange of photos followed, and an engagement was arranged by mail. On Tuesday the Illinois man passed through to Haliburton to marry his widow and take her back to Illinois.

On arriving at Haliburton he made known his mission to a couple of well known citizens. As the woman resided a few miles from the village, he was driven by one of them to her home. On reaching the house he inquired for the would-be bride, and was informed by the woman's daughter that she was not in, but that her father was. At this the American got disgusted, and returned to the village. Late that evening the woman walked into the hotel and inquired of the hotelkeeper if Mr. ——— was in, but was informed by the latter that he had retired. The next morning the Illinois man was surprised to find the woman waiting for him at the front door of the hotel, but before she could interview him he made his escape out of a back window, and made for the train which was just about to start on its trip to Lindsay. He locked himself in a small compartment of the car and remained there until the train pulled out.

The Illinois man passed through yesterday on the return trip. When interviewed by our reporter he said the woman had represented things in a much different light from what he had found them. He is a painter by trade, and has been in search of a wife for some time, and this is the second time he has been fooled in an endeavor to get a wife by advertising. A Kansas City woman took him in and he got into a heap of trouble with her from which it cost him considerable money to free himself.

As the train pulled out a couple of Haliburton gentlemen, in bidding the wife-seeker good-bye, wished him "better luck next time."

A Capital Cure for Sore Throat

Is to use as a gargle a few drops of Polson's Nerviline in sweetened water, and before retiring rub the throat and chest vigorously with Nerviline. By morning the soreness and inflammation will have disappeared entirely. Nerviline drives away the pain and cures sore throat and hoarseness quicky, simply because that's what it's made for. Buy a 25c. bottle from your druggist to-day.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver.

SHOT BY STRAY BULLET

Mrs. Wm. Gebauer Springfield, Ohio Dies Within Hour

Springfield, O., August 1—Mrs. William Gebauer, wife of a well known shoe merchant, was shot to-day and died within an hour, the result of a stray bullet fired by Homer Seckford, who was intent on shooting a Mrs. Fleck, whom he was following home from church. Seckford had fired two shots at Mrs. Fleck, neither of which struck her; the second struck Mrs. Gebauer in the back. There was much excitement after the occurrence. Seckford was rescued by the police from a crowd which was using threatening language.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

The Provincial Secretary Talks to the Press at Ottawa

He Says That One of a Majority Is Not Enough, But That Bye-Elections Will Put the Government in Good Shape

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, was in this city this week, and was interviewed by the citizen.

"Do you think that the government will be able to pull through with a majority of two?" queried the reporter.

"Well," said the Provincial Secretary, somewhat seriously, "we cannot expect to successfully carry on business with such a majority as that you know delicate questions are constantly arising upon which the parties come in conflict, and in order to tide over any difficulty which might arise, it is absolutely necessary to have more than one of a majority outside of the speaker."

"At the same time," proceeded Mr. Stratton, more hopefully, "the government expects to make up the deficiency in its majority when the bye-elections are held, in a number of Conservative seats which we expect to see opened."

"When are you going to bring on the contest in North Renfrew?" was asked.

"I presume it will occur simultaneously with any other bye-elections preceding the parliamentary session," was the reply; that, however, is my own impression. The premier, when he returns, may think it wise to bring on the contest earlier."

Hon. Mr. Stratton said that Premier Ross will be home about August 25th.

VENEZUELAN REBELS STRONG

Castro Expected to Give Them Battle at Valencia

Special to The Times.

Paris, Aug. 2.—A despatch to the Matin from Port of Spain says that the Venezuelan insurgents are well equipped. Numerous strong forts are in their possession. It is expected that President Castro will give battle to the rebels at Valencia, and that if he is beaten he will retire to Caracas.

COST OF THE BOER WAR

Britain Bore It Bravely, But National Expenditure Must be Reduced

London, Aug. 1.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the retiring chancelor of the exchequer, was the guest on Friday evening of the Lord Mayor and the city bankers and merchants at a farewell dinner at the Mansion House.

In an address dealing with national finance, the chancelor said that the Chinese and South African wars had cost Great Britain £228,000,000, of which amount the taxpayers had already willingly contributed £75,000,000. The expenditure had been borne without serious injury to commerce, and £150,000,000 had been borrowed on easy terms, which Great Britain's continental neighbors envied, but could not decline.

Next year, Sir Michael said, he looked for a remission of taxation, and he warned his hearers against the constant growth of national expenditure, urging that preparations ought to be made for a day of adversity, and that the revenue, though increasing, should not be impaired in time of peace.

LOOK OUT FOR ANARCHISTS

Immigration Officials Ordered to Watch for Three From Turkey

Special to The Times.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Frank P. Sargent, Commissioner-General of Immigration, to-day sent out to immigration officials throughout the country photographs of three Anarachists who have been expelled from Turkey, and who are reported to be on their way to this country. Accompanying the photographs were instructions from Mr. Sargent to investigate the charges against the Anarchists, and if found correct to return them whence they came. The names of the alleged Anarchists are D'Ignoti Genitori, 24 years old; Cassen Carmelo, 27 years old, and D'Apasquale, 35 years old.

THE MATRIMONIAL SALARY

Maybe Bank of Montreal Directors are Contemplating

If the Bank of Montreal directors are at all sensitive to criticism, they must have been having some bad quarter-hours during the past few days. Their decree that no clerk in the employ of the bank shall be permitted to marry until his salary has been advanced to $1,500 has been received with a storm of protest from press and pulpit. It is a premium on immorality, says the pulpit. It will further depress the birth rate, says the statistician. It is a piece of petty tyranny—another example of the growing arrogance of organized capital, says the man on the street. It's just real mean, sighs many a maiden.

But wait a little, it is possible that this unpopular decree may only be the prelude to something that will be distinctly to the advantage of the bank clerks. Surely the bank directors would not increase the matrimonial salary limit unless they intended to make a substantial general increase in the salaries of the clerks. Unless that increase is made, the directors deserve all the criticism which has been levelled at them, and more, too.

Hearts That are Diseased

will never be cured by the false, unnatural stimulation of liquor. First increase your vitality, build up the system, strengthen and purify the blood—then the heart will respond and grow strong.

Ferrozone is precisely what to take, it gives you an appetite and a digestion that will look after everything that is eaten. Ferrozone improves nutrition, makes rich, vitalizing blood, and is positively the most powerful restorative and strengthener known to science. It improves the nerve tone, regulates the heart's action, makes the feeble strong and the sick well. Ferrozone will do you untold good and costs only 50c., at druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver.

BRITISH SOVEREIGNTY IN HONDURAS ISLANDS

The Islands are no Longer a Part or Parcel of the Greatest Empire on Earth

THE INHABITANTS BECAME PANIC STRICKEN

Special to The Times.

New Orleans, La., August 2 — The steamer Condor arrived to-day from Puerto Cortez Honduras, and brings the news that the British Government has finally and officially withdrawn all claim to any soverignty over the Bay Islands of Utilla Ruatan, Bonacca or Guanaja Elena and Barburet, and formally acknowledge that they belong to the Republic of Honduras.

On July 17 the British cruiser Psyche, which was sent under sealed orders by the British Government from Havanna to Central America, reached Truxillo, Honduras. She was at once sent to Ruatan, where the people of that and the neighboring islands, nearly all of whom are British subjects, were assembled, and a proclamation was read to them by the captain of the Psyche declaring that under treaties made between Great Britain and the United States in 1850 and with Honduras in 1860, His Majesty's Government could no longer regard the islands as a crown possession, and would henceforth withdraw all exercised jurisdiction or claim to the allegiance of the natives.

At the same time a proclamation was issued by the President of Honduras announcing that the inhabitants of the islands would not be disturbed in the enjoyment of their property and would retain freedom of religious belief and worship. Henceforth, however, the islands would be subject to the laws of Honduras instead of those of Great Britain, and their people would be citizens of Honduras instead of Great Britain. Those wishing to withdraw would be at full liberty to do so, and to dispose of their landed property as they might see fit and to take the proceeds with them.

The proclamation caused the greatest excitement and indignation, and a panic has since prevailed within the islands which threatens to depopulate them. The Bay Islanders, from the wildest admiration for Great Britain, have turned to bitter hatred of the Government which they say has deserted them. The population is almost exclusively of British origin, coming from Jamaica, but there are some Americans from the Western States who have recently come in. English is the only language spoken.

Recognized originally as a part of Honduras, the islands were uninhabited save by pirates until sixty years ago, when colonists from Jamaica and the United States settled there. The Republic of Honduras formed the islands into a department known as Las-Islas and sent a Governor there, but he was expelled by the natives, and was left on the Honduras coast tied up in a sack. Honduras, having no navy, was unable to maintain its sovereignty. The natives declared themselves free, set up a government of their own, and asked British protection. A British man-of-war visited Ruatan, raised the British flag and made the islands a dependency of Jamaica. Great prosperity followed the development of the fruit trade.

Honduras has repeatedly protested against the occupation of these islands by Great Britain, and the United States has at all times upheld its claims. The quasi-jurisdiction of Honduras has latterly been recognized, but it has been merely formal, as the inhabitants remained British subjects, their houses all having the British flag and their boats had British registers. The proclamation read by the captain of the Psyche now declares that not only is Honduras entitled to the sovereignty of the islands, but that the descendants of the original settlers, who constitute three-fourths of the inhabitants, and all except the late immigrants, are Honduraneans, subject to the laws of Honduras.

It is this that caused the panic at Ruatan, where the natives fear the military and conscription laws of Honduras. The Jamaicans, who constitute the chief element of the population and who hate and have always hated Honduras, say they will drown their children before they will allow them to grow up subject to military service in the Honduras army. It is probable that the better class of British and Americans will leave the islands, not liking the change, and the impression is universal that the change means ruin.

The islands do a large fruit trade, mainly with New Orleans. The American Government is the only one having a consul in the islands. The United States have always maintained that the British claim was poor, being similar to the one on the Mosquito Coast of Nicaragua because of settlement by British subjects. The British protectorate over Mosquito was abandoned in 1866, but Prince Clarence, the claimant, is living in Jamaica under a British pension. In 1899 a revolution was started by Gen. Reyes at Bluefields to restore Prince Clarence and the British protectorate, but it was suppressed. The withdrawal of the British from Ruatan, Utilla and the other islands, following the other surrenders of the Mosquito Coast and the Corn Islands, leaves British Honduras now the only possession in Central American waters.

THE TIMES LETTER-BOX.

Letters from the People on Interesting and Timely Topics.

30 YEARS AGO

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir.—Several of the "Old Boys" happening to meet together a night or two ago, all hands decided that your items of "Thirty years ago," was one of the best published in town for a long time, and kindly request that you make some further extracts from your old fyles. Yours respectfully,

ONE OF THE OLD BOYS.

WHERE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE FAILED

To the Editor of The Times.

Sir,—There died recently in New York, after seven years of illness and of most intense suffering, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, "the feminine principle of the Messianic mission," otherwise known as Christian Science. Mrs. Mary Ann Baker was the widow of Mrs. Eddy's brother, Samuel, and the relations between the two women were most cordial and affectionate. Mrs. Baker's disease was cancer of the breast, and her suffering during the seven years of illness may be better imagined than described.

At Mrs. Eddy's request, Mrs. Baker had submitted to Christian Science "treatment," the "healer" having been selected by Mrs. Eddy, but without the slightest apparent benefit, and she died while in the care of Dr. H. S. Dearing, of New York.

Mrs. Eddy has, in express terms and to many people, put forth the claim that she herself has restored the dead to life, and in your columns, over her signature, she has said that she healed at one visit a cancer that had so eaten into the flesh of the neck as to expose the jugular vein so that it stood out like a cord.

Mrs. Baker, of whose suffering Mrs. Eddy was fully informed, is dead, and to "scientists" who retain any remnant of the power to reason, one of two things must be evident: either the "discoverer" of Christian Science could not or she would not, relieve and save the sister for whom she repeatedly expressed the most extreme affection. She hadn't the healing power or she hadn't the benevolent wish.

Perhaps some one of Mrs. Eddy's official champions, whose duty it is to affirm or deny, as the interests of their patron dictate, will tell us in just which respect the "successor to Jesus and perfector of his mission," was deficient.

ANDREW WALSH.

Peterborough, August 1.

TREED BY FLOODS.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. — No heavy rains fell in Texas yesterday, and the situation is vastly improved this morning. Traffic of all kinds is now being handled by Texas roads with perfect safety.

Many people spent Tuesday night in tree tops around Quinlan, and were rescued with difficulty the following morning by boats brought from Greenville and Paris for that purpose.

Rivers are falling everywhere except in the extreme southern part of the state, where the flood is being augmented by small tributaries.

TWO DAYS' RACES

A Big Meet to be Held in Peterborough Next Month

Yesterday morning a meeting of the Peterborough Track Association was held in the Little Windsor, when arrangements were completed for a two days' meet to be held on the race track on September 15th and 16th. It is proposed to make this meet a success and the co-operation of the citizens is desired.

The following splendid list of prizes have been arranged:

2.20 class, prize $125.

Gentlemen's road race, 1-2 mile heat, $50.

Three minute trot, 1 mile heats, $100.

On the second day there will be:

Free for all, $150.

Named race, $50.

Half mile running race, heats 2 out of 3, $50.

The officers of the Peterborough Track Association are as follows:

President—J. H. Brooks.

Secretary—Arthur Rountree.

Treasurer—R. J. Munro.

IT TASTES GOOD !

Has a Deliciousness Peculiar to Itself

APPETIZING AND NUTRITIOUS

Malt Breakfast Food

STANDS FIRST AS A HEALTH FOOD

It takes time to like some foods. The first meal of Malt Breakfast Food captivates the taste. It has a deliciousness peculiar to itself. No other food can taste like it, for no other is so carefully and scientifically made. Malt Breakfast Food is the most appetizing and nutritious of grain foods, and physicians give it first place as a health and strength giver. It is good for the young and old, for the weak and strong. All grocers.

JAMICA TALKS OF ANNEXATION.

New York, Aug. 1.—The Herald publishes the following —

Kingston, Jamaica, Thursday, July 31.—The Chamber of Commerce last evening condemned the British Government for its treatment of this colony, and urged that there be energetic agitation for annexation to the United States. A resolution expressing alarm over the situation and disappointment at the "utterly inadequate grant" to assist the sugar beet industry was adopted. Regrets that his Majesty's Government had failed to grasp the seriousness of the situation are heard on every side. Planters have agreed to take no notice of the British offer, and newspapers are printing articles on the annexation question. Most of the writers favor the step. Federation with Canada is also suggested.

Saturday—Fine and warm.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. L. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Bentley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Warde, Davis, and Birdsall · Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at [illegible] per month, and to outside points at $5 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 2, 1902.

A PERMANENT MOVEMENT

The West is undoubtedly attracting extraordinary attention at the present time, and it is almost impossible nowadays to pick up a paper published in Eastern Canada, British Columbia, the United States, or, indeed, Great Britain, without finding some reference to the wheat fields of Manitoba. The great inrush of settlers is causing astonishment, and, in some cases, it has been questioned whether it is not somewhat in the nature of a "boom," which may be followed by a period of depression. No one who knows the country to which the settlers are turning has any anxiety on this score, for those who know the West know that the movement is certainly a permanent one, fully warranted by circumstances. This fact is indeed widely recognized. The Vancouver Province, for instance, in discussing the question, points out that everything indicates that a permanent settlement is taking place. It says:

"Fears are expressed in some quarters that the inrush of settlers to the Northwest Territories will not only cease before long, but that to the period of depression and discouragement. It is said that some of the oldest settlers in the Northwest, who have seen one or two rushes to that great region express forebodings regarding the present one.

"We must remember, however, that the present immigrants are in the great majority of cases, actual farmers, who are seeking land on which to settle and they have neither the desire nor the intention of crowding into the cities and assisting in and taking advantage of the inflation of town lots. The discouragement which resulted from former rushes was owing not to the disappointment experienced regarding the fertility of the soil, but to the loss of fortunes in speculation in the towns.

"The value of the prairie country, as agricultural lands, its adaptability for raising grain and stock has been demonstrated beyond a peradventure, and those who go in and settle on the land are not making an experiment or taking chances. They know what can be done if they set rightly about doing it. All that is required in any settler is a small sum of money sufficient to tide him over his first season, and purchase his seed for his harvest, and an honest capacity for work. Anyone possessing these qualifications can very quickly make a home and gain a competency on the great fertile plains of Northwestern Canada.

"Among those who are crowding in in greatest numbers are practical farmers from the New England States, and from the Dakotas, English-speaking people of British descent, who have for years manfully struggled against great difficulties in their own country in the shape of poor soil and bad legislation, and who have at length decided to cast in their lot with a people whose laws are honestly made and justly administered, and the soil of whose country is unparalleled in its fertility. They are people who are not easily discouraged under any circumstances. Under the circumstances in which they will find themselves on their settlement in Canada they will discover anything but conditions which will create discontent.

"We may have little fear of the "rushes" such as the West is experiencing at the present time. They will bring nothing but increased prosperity to the country, and to the individuals who take part in them."

* * *

PROSPERITY IN IRELAND

John Redmond, chairman of the Irish Parliamentary party, in his speech in the House of Commons on Wednesday night last, said that the Irish problem is more dangerous to the Empire to day than it has been for a quarter of a century.

But John D. Crimmins, of New York, a prominent contractor, formerly Park Commissioner of New York, a Democratic Presidential elector and a member of the New York State Constitutional Convention, went back to the home of his fathers this spring and spent considerable time looking about, chiefly in the rural districts. He attended fairs, races and horse shows and talked with men whenever he could. The people of Ireland, Mr. Crimmins says, are a fairly prosperous people now and will be much more so soon. There is plenty of money in the banks, 7,700,000 acres of land are used in raising grass and 1,700,000 acres are under cultivation.

Mr. Crimmins quotes Mr. McCann, M.P., as to yearly income of the Irish people. Mr. McCann gives it as $200,000,000, and of this not less than $160,000,000 comes from agriculture. Irish farmers can get prices for their cattle and pigs, for one thing, and Irish butter is steadily gaining in popularity in the English market.

The great question in parliament is the question of ownership and rental of the land in Ireland. Sixty-three thousand farmers have solved the question for themselves by purchasing their farms, and new purchases by tenants are being reported daily. Farm laborers get four shillings and sixpence a day, or fifteen to twenty pounds a year, with board and lodgings. Moreover, Ireland resembles Kansas in this respect—that the farmers cannot find enough men to work during the busy season.

Horses Wanted

Mr. W. J. Pearson, the well known horse buyer of Montreal, is coming. He must positively secure this trip at least a car load of good sound horses for which he will pay the highest market price. The dates of Mr. Pearson's visits are as follows: Coulter's hotel, Pontypool, Tuesday afternoon, August 5th; White's Hotel, Peterborough, Wednesday, August 6th. Farmers and others having horses to dispose of cannot do better than enter into a deal with Mr. Pearson.

Farm Notes.

Care should be exercised in the use of poisoned solutions for spraying, as many insects that are friends of the farmer may be destroyed. Bees have been exterminated in some sections by spraying, though something depends upon the kinds of plants sprayed.

We clip from an exchange the following directions for killing lice on cattle—Dust the animals thoroughly with fresh insect powder; rub in well, or else part the hair so the powder will reach the pests. In about a week, dust again to kill any mites that might have hatched. The other is: Make a strong tea of cedar twigs; wash the lousy animal with this tea; this last is effectual in cleansing buildings, coops, roosts, poles, etc., of lice.

No greater mistake is ever made than to suppose that by selecting the largest eggs from the basket for hatching improvement of the poultry is sure to follow. There is no makeshift in this industry. Careful selection of the breeding stock, males and females, alone will insure that grading up so desired by every breeder. There is no room today for slipshod methods in poultry culture, and the breeder who does not select a breeding pen from his best birds and keep them by themselves does not deserve and cannot hope to maintain the quality of his stock.

More pigs are lost in the summer season from improper feeding than from any other cause. They are compelled to consume foods that are not conducive to thrift, and which lead to disease in the herds. Some feeders keep slop in barrels, which ferments until sour, having a very disagreeable odor, the pigs being fed largely upon the slop. This kind of food is more injurious in summer than in winter, as it induces bowel disease. The best slop is milk and bran, freshly made, with grass, vegetables and plenty of pure water, which will induce growth and keep the pigs in good condition.

Use a Good Sire.

If there is one thing more than another which pedigree breeding has taught it is the value of using a good sire. It takes a long time before this lesson can be universally appreciated. There are some breeders whom nothing but adversity will teach; others are willing to profit by the experience of the many, and are ready to adopt the lessons which can be obviously deduced. It is a pity that in these times of enlightenment and advanced ideas the simplest lessons cannot be absorbed by small breeders. It is with the small breeder that the future lies, and the sooner he adapts himself to a more successful policy the better will it be for himself and for the breed which he favors. It is not enough to have a well-bred sire. That certainly is a primary consideration, for, as every breeder knows, there is nothing more perplexing in breeding than the frequency with which atavism occurs. It is satisfactory to note, however, that when characteristics have become more fixed by years of registered breeding, breeders are more and more coming to regard it as essential that the trumpeted merits of good back breeding should be displayed in the animal itself. The old principle that like produces like is truer now than it was fifty years ago, because of the increased prepotency of line bred stock. Nothing condemns the policy of a breeder more effectively than the use of an indifferent horse on good mares, or, for that matter, moderate bull on better cows. As a rule, the farmer is not deficient in useful breeding mares or roomy cows, but it would form painful reading to learn how often he had missed his trust by the use of an indifferent sire. It is a very safe rule to patronize a sire better than the females. There is everything to gain and nothing to lose. The initial cost is a mere bagatelle, compared with the difference in price of the progeny. It is a misfortune that many farmers expect too much of their mares or their cows. This, at all events, seems a reasonable deduction from their policy when they use very indifferent sires. The point we wish to accentuate is that it pays to use a good sire. It is short-sighted policy to expect too much of the dams.—Farmer and Stockbreeder.

Sore Mouths in Horses.

A sore mouth in a horse is frequently the cause of his not feeding properly. In cases where a horse has lost his appetite or does not readily eat his food it is well to examine his mouth, if the fact of his being off his feed cannot be traced to any apparent cause. A sore mouth may be due to several causes. In young horses it is generally due to teething troubles, which make the mouth more or less tender and interfere with the feeding. In such cases the only thing to be done is to provide the food in a state which will permit of its being easily chewed and masticated. The oats should be crushed, bran mashes and roots should be given, and the hay should not be hard, and free from woody stems.

In older horses the permanent molars are sometimes the cause of a horse not being able to chew his food, and of his having a sore mouth. The molars sometimes have sharp edges and points which hurt the inside of the cheeks, and cause considerable pain when the horse is eating. In this case they require filing with a rasp, but this operation can only be performed by a skilful hand. At other times a horse may be prevented from masticating his food properly by one of the molar teeth being longer than the rest, which prevents the molars in the upper jaw from coming into contact with those in the lower jaw. In this case again professional advice is required.

Lampas not infrequently is the cause of a horse having a sore mouth. Lampas consists of an inflamed condition of the roof of the mouth or of the palate, and is caused by various means. In young horses it is due often to the growth of the teeth, while in older ones it is caused through indigestion or by irregularities of the molar teeth. The treatment accordingly varies and depends on the cause of lampas. Ignorant grooms and stablemen sometimes suggest burning as a remedy. This is of course a cruel and perfectly inadmissible remedy, and one which should not be adopted on any account.

Another form of inflammation of the mouth is known under the name of "stomatitis."—Farmer and Stockbreeder.

New and Aggressive.

Much knowledge of human nature is gathered up in the expression, "A new broom sweeps clean." The new bank, the Sovereign, which opened in Toronto last week in new premises, with a new staff, new officers, new issue of bills—everything new—is one of the financial brooms that is evidently going to make a clean sweep. The popularity of the new bank and of its management has been demonstrated daily since it opened its doors, by the large number of business men and people in all the walks of life who have transacted business over its counters. Centrally situated on the north side of King street, but a short distance from Yonge, and commodiously appointed to the smallest detail, the premises of the Sovereign Bank are amongst the most convenient and the most suitable for their purpose of any in Toronto. The financial status of the Bank is high; it starts on its career with an authorised capital of $2,000,000 and a subscribed capital of $1,300,000. The Board of Directors, upon which appear the names of Messrs. H. S. Holt, Montreal; Randolph Macdonald, Toronto; James Carruthers, Montreal; A. A. Allan, Toronto; Arch. Campbell, M.P., Toronto Junction; Hon. Peter McLaren, Perth; John Pugsley, Toronto; Hon. D. McMillan, Alexandria, Ont.; Henry R. Wilson, New York, is a list of gentlemen of recognized standing and proven capability as financiers. In Mr. D. M. Stewart, Canada has her youngest and undoubtedly one of her very ablest general bank managers. In addition to all the ordinary features of a banking business, the Sovereign will issue Travelers' Letters of Credit on J. S. Morgan & Co., London, and Morgan, Harjes Company, Paris. These credits are available in all parts of the world, and just the thing for persons contemplating a visit to Europe or to the coronation this summer.

* * *

Bridget and Pat were sitting in an armchair reading an article on "The Law of Compensation."

"Just fancy," exclaimed Bridget; "accordin' to this, whin a mon loses wan av his sinses another gits more developed. For instance, a bloind mon gits more sinse av hearin' an' touch, an——"

"Shure, an't it's quite thrue," answered Pat.

"Oi've noticed it meself. Whin a mon has wan leg shorter than the other, begorra the other's longer."—Philadelphia Times.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at	40c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	40c
Smocks, at	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements: also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUEL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY. 350 DAYS

This is over 9½ per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. To al amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest." WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1 00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc, a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises, ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000

Full-paid and non assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10.

12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President, A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President, Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J THOMPSON, Retired Merchant Hartford, Conn.
E. S EVERITT, Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL, Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N. Y.
F. W MUMMERY, Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers Trenton, N. J.
COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY owns a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one-fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No m[illegible]ag[illegible] can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C. CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr. Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R. FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington, D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P COOPER Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
94 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful. No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc., prevents and removes Freckles. At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co
156 YONGE ST., TORONTO

FOR A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

... BUY STOCK IN ...

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.

Mine Opened Up.
Ore in Sight.
Ore Vein 10 Feet Wide.
Values per Ton Average $24.75.
Hoist Pump, etc., Installed.

Mine in active operation 18 months. Now ready for concentrating mill, and for that purpose only we offer a small amount of stock at 20 cents per share, for 30 days.

For prospectus and further particulars call or address—

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
342 LUMBER EXCHANGE.

R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street,
AGENT AT PETERBOROUGH.

STOCKS SOLD ON INSTALLMENT

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS
SEALS, PRICE MARKERS
10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealers

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.
See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor, Can. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX ST. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
O. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT
Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165 856

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 3 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS
OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885
BANKERS AND BROKERS
4 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 567 Broad)
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 3c cash, 3½c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 215 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits
The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.
GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co.
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies Issued.
OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME
Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHA

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 10c Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas J. Rutherford & Son 215 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA — ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS
Municipal & Corporation Bonds
Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Advertise in The Times.

WEST INDIAN CRATERS ARE NOW QUIESCENT

The Recent Eruptions Were a Superficial Phenomena

A SCIENTIFIC SURVEY MADE

Professor Jaggar, of Harvard, Says Both Mont Pelee and the Soufriere Will Continue to Diminish in Activity Conditions in St. Vincent

Kingstown, St. Vincent, Aug. 1—The Soufriere volcano has been slightly in eruption twice since last Monday. A severe earthquake shock, accompanied by a tidal wave, affected the northeast point of the island, washing a fire swept estate, no further damage was done.

Many people, both of the wealthier classes and laborers, are leaving the island, fearing disaster. The Government is still feeding 6,000 persons. The settlement of refugees in huts on acquired lands in safe localities is progressing.

The Panama cable repair ship Newington, which is engaged in work eighteen miles north of St. Vincent, reports that the depth of the sea there has increased to a mile and a quarter. Attempts to pick up the cable have been futile, owing to unfavorable weather.

A SCIENTIFIC SURVEY

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, Monday, July 21—Dr. T. A. Jaggar, of Harvard University, representing the United States Geological Survey in the West Indies, arrived for the second time at Fort de France on June 24, and has since visited Mont Pelee twice. He has also made excursions to the southern end of Martinique and to the warm springs of the interior of the island. Dr. Jaggar came directly from St. Vincent.

As a result of recent examinations of the crater of Mont Pelee and exploration of the track of the devastating blast which destroyed St. Pierre, it appears that there is extraordinary similarity between the eruptions of the Soufriere volcano of St. Vincent and Mont Pelee. The products are the same, both are characterized by the absence of lava, and the work of destruction, both to inanimate objects and to mankind, was accomplished in much the same way. The destructive effects of the eruption in St. Vincent covered a much more extensive area, but the loss of human life was much less.

There has been no active eruption of Mont Pelee of importance since June 6. A great cone of boulders and volcanic combs, heaped within the fissure from which the explosion came, has grown in size since the middle of May, when Dr. Jaggar first saw it. Occasionally there are sudden slides of debris down this cone into the deep gorge of the Riviere Blanche. These slides produce great columns of brown dust, which resembles smoke that rises in billows from the mountain's flank and give the impression of an eruption when viewed from the sea. At night these slidings of red hot rocks make a glowing streak in the mountain's slope. This accounts for the many reports by passing vessels of eruptions, hot lava and dust-falls. The phenomenon is a merely superficial one. As at St. Vincent, the many mud spouts, steam jets and local craters that have been reported are all superficial, caused by rain water draining into the beds of hot, dry gravel.

The two volcanoes of St. Vincent and Martinique were in eruption in sympathy in May. Both have gradually become less active since, and it is probable they will continue to diminish in activity, to judge by the present signs. In this opinion the French scientific mission, headed by Professor Lacroix, of Paris, concurs. Dr. Jaggar is strongly opposed, however, to any rehabilitation of the devastated slopes of the volcanoes, until the respective Governments of the islands are willing to establish permanent experiment stations to protect and warn the inhabitants. In addition to his work on the islands of St. Vincent and Martinique, Dr. Jaggar has spent some time in Barbadoes collecting information and specimens relative to the spread of the dust fall, which appears to have been much greater from the Soufriere than from Mont Pelee.

Dr. Jaggar has been in communication with both the British and French scientific commissions now at work in the islands. Before returning to the United States he plans to visit the northern volcanoes in the Windward Islands, with a view to studying the conditions of vegetation and drainage on such mountains as Pelee, as they were prior to the eruption.

To Discuss Life Saving

Special to The Times.

Paris, Aug. 1—A despatch from Nantes says that several representatives of America are attending the international congress of life saving, preservation of health and maritime security, which opened in that city today under the auspices of the Society of Life Savers of Brittany. The congress will consider life saving in water and from fire, piloting in for, life saving on board steamships, the moral and physical development of sailors and fishermen, and several kindred subjects.

Santos-Dumont's Flight

New York, Aug. 1—New Yorkers are looking forward to seeing sights tomorrow when Santos-Dumont, the famous French aeronaut, will make his first flight in America. The ascension will be made at Brighton Beach, and if the weather conditions are favorable it is possible that M. Santos-Dumont may make his attempt to encircle the Statue of Liberty.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers
Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody,
Her Royal Highness Lady
Mary of the Dark
House, etc.

earth—but in the eyes of his world. And so again I was silenced, if not convinced.

"I have told you all now that I am permitted to tell," the woman went on, "except my own name. That you may know if you like. It is Leigh—Sintra Leigh. Did you ever hear it before?"

Her eyes pierced mine to find the truth in their depths, as if she doubted the evidence my tongue might give. But I thought for a moment, and then answered that the name was strange to my ears. It was so peculiar that I knew I could not have heard it and forgotten.

"When am I to hear the rest of this mystery of yours?" I asked, trying to put contempt rather than curiosity into my voice.

"Not of mine; of another's. My employer will see you to-morrow, probably in the morning, and I have no doubt the information which you lack now will be supplied."

"But you say you had a different employer at the time you went to the Lyceum?" I objected. "Above all things I wish to know the secret of that night. Why my moth—why Lady Cope was so affected when she saw the scar. Why she went away with you? What happened while she was away? Why the scar like yours on her arm was burnt, and the meaning of the words she tried so hard to make me understand before she died? It was these things which your advertisement in the paper led me to believe that I might expect to have explained."

Always the face of the woman in black changed when I brought up the subject of the heart-shaped scar. She looked away from me, as she had before, while she answered:

"I am not to be held responsible for all that you may have taken for granted from that paragraph," she returned, in the stilted way, without abbreviations, which I had discovered tonight was characteristic of her in speaking. "But my present employer knows as much as I know—at least, as much as I did know until this evening—and will decide how much it is best for you to understand. Can you be patient until to-morrow—since impatience will advance your interests not at all?"

"Needs must, when certain persons drive," I quoted, recklessly. For I had reflected that the shelter of this mysterious house was better than no shelter for to-night.

"I will bid you au revoir, then," said Sintra Leigh, with a look of relief. "Will you have supper sent up?"

I thanked her stiffly, refusing the offer, and in a moment she was gone.

Hardly had she closed the door when I ran to it, not only turning the key in the lock, but slipping a small bolt into place. Then I went to the windows, raising one and looking out to satisfy myself that it was high above the ground. Last of all, I set to work examining the walls. I had heard of secret ways of entering rooms in old-fashioned country houses, and weary and spent as I was I could not sleep until I was certain that there was no danger of being disturbed.

CHAPTER XX.

The Doorway With the Curtains.

I felt more than ever like a shadow-self in a dream, as I prepared for bed and brushed out the heavy waves of my long hair with my own old silver-backed brush. How had the people here managed not only to collect all my belongings from Easel street, but to retrieve the stolen jewels and the dresses I had sold?

I was desperately eager to know everything, but my weary body cried out for rest, and after a delicious bath in the bathroom adjoining my new bedchamber, I had no sooner laid my head on the pillow than I seemed to be sliding down, down steep, grassy banks of sleep.

I had had many things to think of during the day that was past, but I dreamt of John Bourke, and dreamt happily. For there was no Lady Feo Ringwood in the picture my sleeping mind painted; only John Bourke and I; and we loved each other.

In the vision which passed, panorama-like from scene to scene, I went to the House of Commons, and after we had had tea on the Terrace I sat in the Ladies' Gallery, listening to a speech made by John Bourke. I had typed the notes for it, and I seemed to know what words he would use almost before they had left his lips. Suddenly there was a loud noise—someone had thrown a dynamite bomb. A cloud rose before my eyes; I could see nothing, but I could hear among the shouts of excitement a man groaning in mortal agony. I tried to fight my way through the crowd, to find out if the one man I loved were hurt; but I could not, and the groaning went on, while a great pall of darkness fell. I heard my own voice calling his name, and the sound roused me.

For a moment the scene of my dream was still real for me. I was in the dark, and I heard the groans which had made the horror of the vision. But as I lay, staring into blackness and sobbing, I began slowly to realise that I was in bed; that I had just awaked from sleep. Then I remembered where I was—in the mysterious house where the woman with the heart-shaped scar had brought me. Had I dreamt the groaning, too? No, it was real.

The knowledge of this sent a shock of electricity from my heart to my head, creeping with a chill to my finger ends and down the tips of my toes. I sat up in bed, and there was a prickling at the roots of my hair. I had left a candle alight, but it had evidently had time to burn down, for the room was in total darkness. I would have given much if I could have remembered where I had put the matches.

Twice, thrice I had heard the groans since I had been sure that I was awake; and each time it seemed that the sound was more distinct. My heart beat like the resonant strokes of a hammer, and the blood pounded in my ears. Was I mistaken? Did it really come more clearly? Would I hear it again? I waited, and did not breathe.

Suddenly the sound thrilled out once more. I had not been mistaken. It had increased in distinctness because it was nearer. Someone was groaning just outside my door.

I had thought many times during the day lately gone (even as I had thought on Waterloo Bridge) that I need be afraid of nothing, because I had nothing to lose—that I could face death with a heart no heavier than I already carried. But now I knew differently.

I was as sick with horror and nameless dread, born of those ominous sounds in the darkness, as I would have been if I had possessed all that the world could give of happiness—any life a jewel to treasure.

I sat rigid and cold as ice. I could

(To Be Continued.)

THE
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

HEAD OFFICE AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS—59 YONGE ST., TORONTO
WINNIPEG BRANCH OFFICE—
BANK OF HAMILTON CHAMBERS, WINNIPEG, MAN.

CAPITAL - - -	$1,000,000
RESERVE FUND - -	270 000

President—JOHN HOSKIN, K. C., LL. D., Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Life Assurance Company and Vice-President Canada Landed and National Company.

VICE-PRESIDENTS { HON. S. C. WOOD, Director of The Western Assurance Co / W. H. BEATTY, Vice-President of The Bank of Toronto

AUTHORIZED TO ACT AS

Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Receiver, Committee of Lunatics, Guardian, Liqnidator, Assignee, etc.

WINNIPEG BRANCH.

The corporation has opened a branch of its busines in Winnipeg, and the attention of property owners executors, trustees, etc., and other residents in Ontario, who have interests in Manitoba, is called to the unusual facilities offered by the Winnipeg branch for effecting sales of property, prompt collection of rents, appraisement of property, and generally looking after the interests of non-residents, at most reasonable charges.

ADVISORY BOARD:

SIR D. H. McMILLAN, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.
D. W. BOLE, Wholesale Druggist; Chairman of The Winnipeg School Board.
A. M. NANTON, Messrs. Osler, Hammond & Nanton.
H. H. Smith, formerly Dominion Land Commissioner for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

J. W. LANGMUIR, Managing Director.
A. D. LANGMUIR, Assistant Manager
JAMES DAVEY, Manager Winnipeg Branch.

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, and save three Profits.
LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES & GENTS,
REAL SWISS, ROLLER BLINDS, BLOUSES, LOOM HOSIERY,
GUIPURE D'ART, LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, HOUSEHOLD LINENS

POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

LOT No. [illegible] CONTAINS:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Ecru if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $6.30, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability. First Prize Medals, Toronto 1892; Chicago, 1893.

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.
Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | send or JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 287 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 335 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

Advertise in the Morning Times.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian..	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian....	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian...	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Carthagenian....................July 30
Sardinian....................August 13
MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd —Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY
(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION
SS. BRITANNIC will leave Collingwood on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.
CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and Penetang at 2.30 p. m. daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. For Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2.30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gores Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. SCOLLA Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 24th
On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes
On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.
Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay

ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m. and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	" 4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	" 5.30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	" 6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	" 7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	" 8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.

MARITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por. Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.

"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER. N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ..... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets)..... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets) ..... [illegible] a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ..... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario..... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point in [illegible]. For further information apply to

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James [illegible], Agent, Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCUTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—FARE—
$18—Belleville to Quebec, Return—$18
Including meals and berth on boat

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

FOOT ELM

POSITIVELY CURES

- SWEATY FEET
- SORE FEET
- ACHING FEET
- BLISTERED FEET
- HOT FEET
- INFLAMED FEET
- SWOLLEN FEET

Shun any man who offers you a substitute simply because he can make a few cents more profit out of you by persuading you to take a cheaper article.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'

. H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Coronation Day

Saturday, August 9th, being Coronation Day and having been proclaimed a public holiday, Friday next will b observed as a market day. Business will be suspended on Saturday, and therefore, market day will be held a day earlier. This fact will be well advertised so that the farmers will govern themselves accordingly.

Peterborough Protestant Home

The committee of management of the Peterborough Protestant Home gratefully acknowledge the following donations for the month of July:—Mr. Johnston, clothing; League of Mercy, reading matter; R. J. Frost, 1 cwt. flour; Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham, Toronto, papers; Mr. George Might, quart of honey.

Took Up Land

Mr. McQuay, the well known local baker and confectioner, has returned from Manitoba, where he has been for the past few months. Mr. McQuay took up a section of land (620 acres) on which he has performed settlement duties. The land is situated in the very heart of the province, and is very rich and valuable. It is Mr. McQuay's intention to work the land and get it into a good state of cultivation. He will return again in the spring.

Nicholls Hospital Monthly

The following is the report of the Nicholls Hospital for the month of July—

No. of patients remaining in hospital	29
Treated	52
Pay patients	25
Free	27
From Peterborough	25
From other places	17
Cured	22
Improved	5
Died	2

MILITARY NOTES.

The following members of the 6th Regiment, arrived in town last evening:—Troopers Herb. Payne, Warsaw, Charles Gow, Warsaw, also Troopers, Forsythe, Plummer, Hartley and bandsman Hudson, of the 57th Regt. band; trooper J. M. Chapman, also of the 6th Regiment, a native of Lindsay district and formerly a Sergt. of No. 3 Co., 45th Regt., remained in town last evening, a guest of his 'comrades-in arms." The majority of the returned soldiers took in the band concert last evening and were the heroes of the hour.

The Late Mr. John Milne

It is with regret that we are obliged to announce the death of Jack Milne, which sad event occurred yesterday after a lingering illness. The deceased was taken ill last fall, while out hunting, and was for a time confined to Nicholls Hospital. The deadly germ of consumption was there, however, and could not be removed. He gradually grew worse until yesterday morning, when death put an end to his suffering. The deceased was of a lovable disposition, and was very popular with all who knew him. He was a member of the I.O.O.F and Relay Camp. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of his father, Mr. Geo. Milne, No. 176 Sherbrooke street.

A COAL FAMINE ON IN PETERBORO

Leading Local Dealers Expect Trouble In Filling Orders

Will Not Take Fresh Orders at Any Price—Little Chance of any Relief for Months to Come

Local dealers say that the people do not seem to realise the gravity of the situation, for if they did they would not lose a minute endeavoring to stack their bins with a good supply. All over the country the price of hard coal is steadily advancing. In Toronto it is $7, and in New York it is $10. There is no immediate prospect of the strike being settled, and prices must necessarily still further advance. The dealers in Peterborough say that coal may advance in price any day, and that it is owing to the poor demand that prices remain as low as they are. But the great danger is not in the advance of the price, but in the great shortage that exists in the supply.

It was stated yesterday morning by a prominent dealer that if he was called upon to supply all the coal that he sold in Peterborough last season, the stock he had on hand at present would fill only one-fourth the orders. Most of the dealers have enough coal on hand to supply the orders they now have in, and at any time they may stop taking orders at any price. They expect no further shipments of coal until the strike is settled, and of this there is no immediate prospect, and they point out that when the miners return to work the first coal will naturally be shipped to New York and other American cities, and none would reach here earlier than January.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Items of Local and General Interest to The Times' Readers

—No police court yesterday.

—The printers' excursion will take place this afternoon to Jubilee Point.

—It looks as though there is a coalition amongst the coal and wood men.

—The band concert at Victoria Park last night was largely attended.

—At a meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers' held in the pavillion, Juniper Island, on Thursday last, it was decided to hold the annual regatta on Monday, 18th August.

—A couple of juvenile burglars operated on the store of Mr. Wm. Collins, grocer, Ashburnham, the other night. They were observed, however, and their arrest will probably follow.

—The Jaffray island at Stony Lake which lies on the channel from Juniper, towards Burleigh, was sold yesterday to An American. The price is said o have been $700.

—Mr. Marvin Kennedy and a party went down to Jubilee Point yesterday for a couple of days fishing. They took their fishing rods with them as a sort of a cold bluff.

Notwithstanding that the river is full of logs, Capt. Maurice Lane pulled the City of Peterborough into port last evening on time, after the long run to Hastings. The Captain is keeping up his good record.

Lindsay Post: Mr. Bert Cranfield, of Peterborough, is visiting Mrs. Scott, Glenelg street. Mr. Cranfield is one of the Peterborough quota who returned with the Canadian Mounted Rifles from South Africa last week. He was in the Hart's River engagement and was standing sixth from Capt. Milligan, who was killed in that battle.

—It is said that the wild rice, which grows in abundance at Rice Lake, and is gathered in the Autumn by the Indians, requires rain just the same as crops on land. It is also said that should the lake rise after the rice has come above its surface, it is killed or smothered out.

—Mayor Denne has long had his place of business too far removed from the office of this great family journal ever to amount to much. Realizing this, he intends in a few days to occupy the handsome premises which are being prepared for him a few doors south of us, just below the Palace Cafe. This g. f. j. will always be prepared to meet the Mayor half way and consult with him on matters of state.

—Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell has notified Mayor Denne that he will bring a Toronto manufacturer to Peterborough on Tuesday next. The manufacturer is looking for a site for his factory, which, it is said, employs over fifty skilled workmen and only asks the "usual concessions."

Today is the long anticipated day of the season at Jubilee Point, and Manager Foley has made special arrangements for the requirements of the staff of the g. f. j., the bright and newsy daily that is eagerly looked for each morning by the guests at this well known resort. All hands are unanimous in saying that they would rather miss a meal than their morning paper.

—A practical joke was played upon a resident of Bewdley who had lately had erected upon the lawn in front of the residence a new flag pole, and on the glorious 12th of July before leaving for Lindsay to celebrate the 212th anniversary, hoisted a large flag, the grand old Union Jack, to float in the breezes over the home, while the owner was away. It was late when the return home was made, and the loyal soul went to bed without taking down the flag. But in the morning, and Sunday morning too—think upon the thoughts that were uppermost—when on going to pull down the favorite flag, a huge green flag was found flying from the pole, and the Union Jack nowhere to be seen.

Weak Babies Made Strong

Medical men emphatically declare that Lactated Food is the best nourishment for weak and sickly babes in the hot weather. It is the most easily digested, the purest and most nutritious infant food made. Babies regularly fed on Lactated Food are happy, bright, vigorous and strong. If your little one is not thriving, try Lactated Food.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by phone or in writing.—[Ed. Times]

—Miss Bella Morgan, of Toronto, is visiting friends in Ashburnham.

—Mr. Dan Dygne has returned from an outing at Jubilee Point...

—Mr. Wm. O'Brien, the efficient clerk of Douro, was in town yesterday.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Darcy, of Burleigh Falls, were in town yesterday.

—Dr. Boucher has returned from a pleasant two weeks' outing at Oak Orchard.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gibson, and family left yesterday to spend August at Boschink.

—Mr. Herb. Stinson, son of Mr. J. T. Stinson, is home from Boston on a holiday.

—Mrs. Peter Henselwood and daughter, of Winnipeg, are visiting friends in town.

—Mrs. John Lynch, of Rochester, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. James Lynch, No. 672 Stewart street.

—Mrs. Adam R. J. Hall and Miss Edith Russell left yesterday to spend a month in Montreal and Quebec.

—Mrs. W. H. Robertson leaves to-day on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Brandon, Fenelon Falls.

—Mr. John Crane is spending a few days at his pretty island home at Stony Lake.

—Word has been received that Lieut. O. E. Bradburn, who returned with the 3rd C.M.R., will arrive home this morning.

—A special meeting of the members of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F. was held last night, and arrangements were made to attend the funeral of the late Bro. John Milne this afternoon.

—Mr. J. W. Bennett, barrister, who has been spending the past five months in Muskoka, returned home last night, very greatly improved in health.

—Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Jessie Haughton Hill to Mr. John Alexander Culverwell, to take place in St. John's church, Port Hope, on Thursday, Aug. 14th.

—The Times had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. J. T. Robinson, Bobcaygeon's leading merchant, who was on his way home from a trip down to Hastings on the City of Peterborough. It was Mr. Robinson's first trip down the Otonabee River, and he expressed himself as being more than delighted with the sail and the beauties of the scenery. He returned to Bobcaygeon yesterday.

THE HEALEY FALLS POWER

Mr. J. Alex Culverwell is now the Proprietor

The Times received the following despatch, with a request to publish the same:

Campbellford, Aug. 1.

To Editor Times.—Have paid balance purchase money and secured deeds parts Healey's power, making me by far largest private owner of falls Have also claimed for damages against Dominion Government for diverting the water. Shall press for a departmental engineer's dismissal for trafficking in water powers. He also offerred to sell out his option to me, which is of but little value. What is more outrageous is that he never secured options until I had been to his department for information.

"J. ALEX CULVERWELL"

OVER TWELVE FEET LONG

Enormous Fish Seen in Sturgeon Lake Last Week

On Friday of last week, while the steamer Ogemah was carrying an excursion party from Bobcaygeon to Fenelon Falls, and when about a mile to the west of Sturgeon Point, those who were seated on the bow of the steamer noticed what they supposed to be a large sawlog directly in the course of the steamer. The wheelsman saw it, as also did several of the passengers. Just as the boat was about to strike, it turned over and with a tremendous flop of its huge tail disappeared.

The Times' informant states that at least a dozen passengers, besides the captain and pilot, saw the monster, which was at least twelve feet long.

The above is a genuine fish story, and is undoubtedly true. The Times has heard of this same fish, or its twin brother, before. It was first seen by Dr. Fidler, who discovered the lake away back in the 30's and who gave it its name.

It is known that sturgeon are to be found in Cameron Lake, above Fenelon Falls, for they have been frequently seen.

ILL IN SOUTH AFRICA

J. A. Crossland, of Peterborough Ill with Fever

A despatch has been received here from Capetown, South Africa, stating that Pte. J. A. Crossland, a member of the Third Mounted Rifles, is seriously ill with rheumatic fever in South Africa.

Pte. Crossland was at the time of his enlistment an employee of The Times office, and has many friends in Peterborough, who will regret to hear of his illness.

—A couple of local nimrods—a well known physician and a young druggist—drove out to Burleigh on Thursday and paddled to Buckhorn and back to Burleigh. They caught a 17 pound 'lunge on the way, besides a couple of smaller ones and ten bass—and it wasn't a good day for fishing either. The natural modesty of the fishermen prevents our revealing the names. This g.f.j. always respects this rare quality of virtue wherever found.

Song Service.

What is more enjoyable when properly rendered by a trained canary. Get a good German bird; feed it Patent Bird Bread with COTTAM Seed and with the slightest appreciation of music you must be delighted.

[illegible]

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.

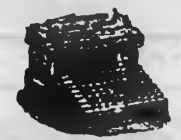
JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

TYPEWRITERS



I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go. They cannot produce the goods.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 39 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries, Office 417 Water Street Money to lend E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 204 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 48 page phamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 391 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

RETIRED MERCHANT, middle age, worth $60,000, seeks at once, poor but faithful wife. Address Mr. Hamilton, 403 Omaha Bldg Chicago.

HANDSOME, Intelligent American lady worth $60,000, will marry immediately and assist kind husband financially. Address Belle, 134 Van Buren St., Chicago.

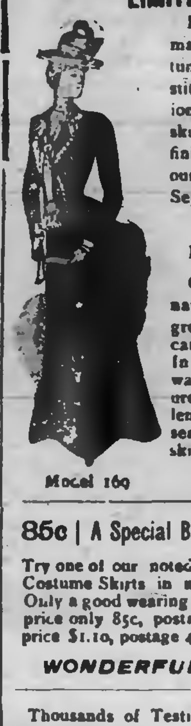
Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.



Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S West
William St., Toronto, Ont.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watc this space for dates and particulars.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO HON. G. W. ALLAN, PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALENDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

J. J. TURNER & SONS

A visit to our Showroom will convince you that we carry the best assortment of HAMMOCKS in town.

Prices from $1.00 to $6.00

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Write for the Booklet
IT'S FREE

Women should know the value of Powley's Liquified Ozone as a curative agent in diseases peculiar to them.

We can best explain it all in our private booklet, which will be mailed free to any address. Write today.

Permit us to refer you to the following Toronto women who have been cured by Ozone after drugs and hospitals failed:

Mrs. Harry Mason, 15 Blackburn Place.
Mrs. Kelly, 561 Church st.
Mrs. Cavan, 988 Dovercourt Road
Mrs. Black, 13 Irvine Ave.
Mrs. Jos. Blackburn, 11 Northview Terrace.
Mrs. Harry White, 327 Yonge st.

THE OZONE COMPANY
TORONTO, ONT

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE. ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE
GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$64.70

To Los Angeles or San Francisco Cal., and return.

Tickets good going July 27th, 28th, 29th and August 1st to 10th, inclusive 1902.

Valid for return until September 30th 1902

TOURIST RESORTS
"WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back!

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

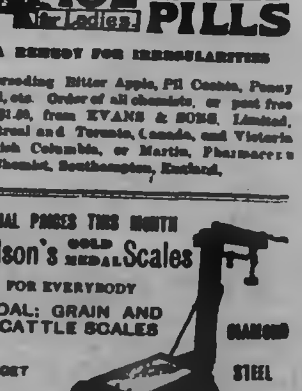
superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL, GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES



C. WILSON & SON
31 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

GOOD TEA

The Kind that makes you want a Second Cup, that's RED ROSE TEA

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL. 30 NO 32 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO MONDAY AUGUST 4 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

WAR SHOULD BE CHARGED ON FUTURE PROSPERITY.

Heavy War Tax at Present May Cripple the Development of South Africa

New Railway Routes are Proposed—Three Lines Selected—Crime Among Natives Decreasing—Serious Charge Against Buller

Special to the Times.

London, July 2.—A Johannesberg despatch says that public anxiety regarding the immediate imposition of the war tax has not yet been allayed by the published telegraphic summary of Chamberlain's speech in the Commons on Tuesday. Johannesburg thinks the war debt should be a charge on the future prosperity of South Africa, not on its immediate development, and if the Government permits any immediate heavy war tax, it may be anticipated that the mining industry will be crippled and the development of the country retarded.

SOUTH AFRICAN RAILWAY SURVEYS.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 2—"The Financial Board of Railway Control," says a Johannesburg correspondent, "has decided to push forward certain railway surveys in two colonies. Three lines connecting important points have been selected in each colony. Between the scheme and the construction of roads, however, looms up the labor question. Employment is being offered to ex-burghers, but the result is uncertain. To one man at Harrismith, who said he was starving, work of digging trenches at 30 cents a yard was offered. He expressed gratitude, then went to hire natives to do the work."

LESS CRIME AMONG NATIVES.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 2—"The annual Cape Colony Blue Book," says the Cape Town correspondent of The Times, "states there has been a remarkable decrease of all crimes among the natives during the period of martial law." The chief inspector says martial law has improved the moral tone of the natives. The latter, generally, have given less trouble during the war than at any previous period.

KING EDWARD LOOKS YOUNGER.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug., 2—A Brussels correspondent says King Leopold was surprised and pleased at King Edward's appearance when they met at Cowes. The Belgian King remarked that King Edward had grown ten years younger.

WENT 113 MILES IN 115 MINTUTES.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. —The Times says that last night all previous records in travelling between Birmingham and London were broken by a train on the London and Northwestern Railway. The train consisted of five large bogie carriages, and covered the distance, 113 miles, in 115 minutes, five minutes within schedule time. This was in spite of three slight checks, caused by heavy holiday traffic.

SAYS KOCH'S DOCTRINE IS FALSE.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 2—A Paris correspondent quotes Dr. Garnault as saying his self-inoculation with tuberculosis virus seems likely to lead to the infection of the ganglions of the armpit, if not of the whole organism. Dr. Garnault is certain Koch's doctrine is false, and intends to continue the demonstration till every scientist is convinced.

TRADERS RUSHING INTO CHINA.

Special to The Times.

London Aug. 2—"The abolition of Likin taxes," says a St. Petersburg correspondent, "will be followed by a great development of the Chinese market for European goods, traders penetrating into the most distant corner of the Empire. A leading Russian journal, however, is not sure that this is a matter for congratulation. It says the abolition of the Likin will not remove the causes which led to the terrible events of 1900, and to remove these causes and bridge the gulf between the Chinese and higher civilation is the first thing that ought to be done. Great Britain had no thought but of commercial advantages for herself, which she explained, but the most of foreigners who will now invade China may call forth fresh demonstrations of hatred. Europe has but taught China by cold considerations of profit annd loss. Chinese character is still a riddle, but Europe does not find time to worry about its solution, and may pay for this mistake in torrents of blood."

BULLER CARRIED AMMUNITION TO FRONT IN AMBULANCES.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 2.—Before a meeting of the British Medical Association at Manchester yesterday, Surgeon-General Hamilton definitely charged that during the Boer war of 1881 General Sir Redvers Buller "used army medical wagons with the red cross thereon for taking ammunition to the front, and armed the bearer companies, using them as escorts. The Surgeon-General declared his authority for the statement was the principal medical officer to whom the orders were issued. and he added the the British could not complain of the Boers doing what General Buller did twenty years previously.

SAILORS OF THE JEANIE FACED DEATH FOR 40 DAYS

The Gallant Little Exploring Steamer Drifted Helpless in the Ice Fields

Special to The Times.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 2—The thrilling experience of the crew and passengers of the long lost steamer Jeanie have just been learned. A letter received in this city tells of the awful hardships of the expedition. The ship was caught in the ice and drifted hopelessly. For forty days those on board faced death in many forms —starvation, freezing, drowning.

The letter, which graphically gives an account of the perilous journey, is written by one of the passengers, Jessie Hall, the young son of Dr. H. M. Hall, of Butte, Mont. In it he says:

"The steamer Jeanie, which left for Nome on May 1, has just arrived, after a long and perilous trip. The Jeanie, it will be remembered, was the first steamer to arrive in Nome, during the seasons of 1900 and 1901, and little doubt was entertained but that she would once more carry off the honors.

"The first two weeks after her departure from Seattle she experienced unusually fine weather, which gave promise of an early arrival in Nome. The first ice was encountered about 150 miles north of the notable fur seal islands in Behring sea, but ordinarily this time of year ice may be seen as far south as the Pribilofs. The steam whaler, Belvedere, which had been cruising about in the vicinity of St. Lawrence Island, was sighted and it was stated by her captain that the ice was comparatively thin and open water could be found direct to Nome. It appears that the captain of the Belvedere based his statements entirely on supposition, and two days later, following what is nautically termed a "blind lead,' the Jeanie was completely incircled by ice. A dense fog settled down, kaking it utterly useless to attempt to move. It was believed that a good wind from the north would separate the ice and enable her to reach Nome in due time.

DRIFTED NORTH.

"As the days flew by the Jeanie drifted north to within thirty-seven miles of Nome, but she was securely fast in the ice it was impossible to direct her course, she was thus placed at the mercy of the wind and tide. this was June 2.

"Believing that it might be possible to land the passengers on the ice, a party of five men were organized, the names of whom are Harry Iimmerly, Joe Horan, Tom Campion, James V. Harrison and W. S. Bliss, of the Leland, Bliss & Davidson Mining Company, the latter being chosen the leader. When within ten miles of Cape Prince of Wales these men started for land over the rough and broken ice, a most daring and tedious journey. When yet within sight of those aboard the steamer, one man was seen to fall through the ice into the freezing waters and was slowly drawn out by the remaining four by means of a rope which was taken along to be used in a case of this kind. Before going half the distance each in his turn met with a similar accident and narrowly escaped drowning. Finally, after running and jumping over miles of broken ice, the party came within one mile of shore, and found to their dismay that the broken shore ice was being carried off shore in an opposite direction at the rate of six miles an hour. The ice being separated and moving rapidly it was concluded that it would be suicide to attempt to make land, and with heavy hearts and weary limbs the brave party were forced to retrace their step to the steamer.

THE RETURN TRIP.

"Although the trip had thus far been made successfully, it was seen it would be much harder to return as the ice was separating and parting here and there are the utmost caution was used lest they should be carried away out of reach of the steamer. A small ten-foot board was taken from the steamer to be used in crossing from chunk to chunk over opening in the ice pack, and this, the men claimed, saved their lives. Many times the party stepped on small pieces of broken ice, and by means of the board, paddled across places which might otherwise never have been crossed. As the Jeanie was drifting away from the Cape the compass was unavailable in shaping their course, and had a fog settled down, their would have been no hope of their ever being heard from. Finally lame and foot-sore, the plucky party regained the ship, which since they had left, had drifted miles away from the Cape."

"The Jeanie, being still bound fast in the ice, was carried northward, around the Cape through Behring Straits to the Arctic Ocean.

"As hundreds of miles of ice remained in Behring Sea, and statistics showed the ice had drifted north into the Arctic Ocean for centuries, it was naturally to be supposed the Jeanie would have a long and hazardous cruise.

"For thirty days these steamers drifted around in the Arctic Ocean, surrounded by miles and miles of ice, with no chance of escape until the breaking up of the ice pack.

"Three days of hard bucking and no little credit to the Captain, Philip H. Mason, brought the Jeanie and Portland, as the other steamer proved to be, out of the solid pack into comparatively open water. The run from here to Nome was made without mishap."

BRITAIN TO FOLLOW THE SWISS MODELS

English War Office will make an Investigation into the Method of Training Marksmen in Switzerland

Geneva, Switzerland, August 2 — The English War Office intend sending some English officers to Switzerland this year to attend the grand manoeuvres, but chiefly to report upon the Swiss system of voluntary shooting, and to examine the new rifle butts near Zurich, and the artillery butts at Thoune.

These butts have been specially constructed to meet the requirements of modern warfare, and are said to be the best fitted ones in Europe; for every year officers from the European armies come to examine them, and the Austrian Government have recently constructed a good number on these models.

At the shooting ranges at Albisgutli near Zurich, the targets represent horsemen riding at full gallop, men hidden behind rocks showing only a part of their heads, others appearing for a second or two behind a ridge and then disappearing. Such are the targets that the Swiss soldier is being trained to shoot at, and this training he must undergo before obtaining the marksman's certificate. There is no volley firing or shooting in companies. Each man shoots independently, and chooses his own ground. The Swiss Government encourages shooting in every way, and a good marksman can obtain enough money in prizes at the various shooting competitions held throughout the country every year to live upon.

Last year a commission consisting of British officers came to this country, and made a report on the shooting system, etc., but the report was not complete, and many innovations have been introduced since then by the Swiss.

New butts after the Swiss models will, it is understood, be erected at Aldershot, and the chief military depots of regular regiments at first, and if the system gives satisfaction it will be extended to the militia and volunteer regiments.

Chinese Emperor Has Birthday

Special to The Times.

Pekin, Aug. 2—The Emperor Kuang Hsu was thirty years old to-day and the anniversary was elaborately celebrated in the capital and elsewhere throughout the empire. During the day the various foreign embassadors and ministers called at the palace and presented their congratulations in the name of their respective rulers.

THE AMERICAN 'INVASION' A HUGE BLUFF.

The Exports from the United States Declined $106,000,000 During the Past Fiscal Year While the Imports Increased Largely

Special to The Times.

The Times recently printed a despatch from Ottawa showing that exports from the United States had declined by about $79,000,000, while the imports of the Americans had increased Confirmation of that despatch comes today from Washington in the following:

Washington, Aug 2.—Figures given out by the Statistical Bureau of the Treasury Department today showing in detail the imports and exports of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, indicate unmistakably that America's commercial invasion of Europe has greatly slackened. The first startling revelation made by these figures is that the exports of the United States have decreased during the last year more than $106,000,000 as compared with the year previous, while the goods imported from foreign countries show an increase in value of more than $80,000,000 Although the United States has made slight gains in extending her commerce with North America, Asia and Africa, she has lost so much of her trade in Europe, South America and Oceania, that the balance is decidedly against her in the final summing up.

The principal item in the increased imports of the United States for the last year was under the head of raw material, which constituted $68,000,000 of the $80,000,000 total increase. On other hand the articles of export which have fallen off include the product of the American farm as the heaviest loser. There is a decrease of more than $92,000,000 in the export of agricultural products. Exports of manufactured articles have decreased nearly $10,000,000.

Perhaps the most significant figures in the whole collection are those relating to imports and exports of iron and steel. This country sold abroad in 1901 $117,319,320, including machinery. But in 1902 it sold only $98,5552,662.

Items of News

Special to The Times.

Windsor, Ont., July 31.—Mr. R. F. Sutherland, K.C., member of Parliament from North Essex, had an exciting experience with a burglar at an early hour this morning. He was awakened by a noise downstairs, and when he attempted to investigate he found himself looking into the muzzle of a big revolver in the hand of the early morning visitor. When he saw that Sutherland was unarmed the burglar ordered him to retire upon pain of being filled full of holes. Deeming discretion to be the better part of valor the member for North Essex beat a hasty retreat, but not before he had hurled a heavy chair at the intruder, who, however, managed to effect his escape.

Earlier in the evening the burglar visited the residence of Mr. O. E. Fleming and Dr. P. A. Ailmen, but secured little booty for his trouble. The police were at once notified and instituted a close search, but the burglar had made good his escape to the other side of the river, presumably upon one of the big car ferries which run all night. Detroit detectives arrested the man later in that city and brought him to Windsor, where he is now locked up under the name of Darby Travers. He had in his possession a hat that Mr. Fleming identified as that stolen from him and a light overcoat answering the description of one stolen.

Travers was arrested in Detroit and response to a communication from St. Thomas saying that a quantity of silver had been stolen there. The silver was found in a Detroit pawn shop, and the thief was arrested through the pawnbroker's description. Travers is believed to be the man who robbed the United States Consul at St. Thomas last Monday. United States Consul M. J. Burke lost his family silver service a fine 38-calibre revolver, and several dollars worth of Canadian postage stamps. When searched at Police headquarters Travers was found to have a loaded revolver, fifty bullets, and some burglar saws in his pockets. At St. Thomas the residence of Sheriff Brown was also entered. He refuses to talk, but demanded an examination within 24 hours. He is believed to be a veteran at the business.

Special to The Times.

JOHN MITCHELL, LETTER WRITER.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 1.—President Mitchell of the Miners' Union began a reply today in an open letter addressed to him yesterday by the Citizens Alliance of Wilkesbarre, an organization of business and professional men and others.

At a miner's convention at Nanticoke recently Mr. Mitchell criticised the Alliance because, he said, it was not consistent. It wanted to prosecute all miner who violated the law, he averred, but it overlooked the many violations of the law committed daily by the coal combination. The Alliance replied in an open letter, enumerating many alleged outrages by strikers and others in the coal region since the strike began. Mr. Mitchell was called upon to define his position, and to issue a proclamation to his followers, warning them to observe law and order. He did not answer the letter, and yesterday the Alliance addressed another open letter to him.

After consulting his advisers, he decided to answer it. In his reply he asserts that he has always been a staunch defender of law and order and that his followers know it. Mr. Mitchell would not discuss the suit in equity brought against him and other national officers of the United Mine Workers by a coal company in West Virginia.

All Quiet at Shenandoah.

Shendandoah, Pa., Aug. 1.—Shenandoah is quiet today and peace reigns everywhere in the region. The only thing now attracting attention hereabouts is the camp of the troops just outside the town. The soldiers have settled down to the full swing of camp routine.

Brigadier-General Gobin, who is making his headquarters at the Ferguson House, in the heart of the town, has not yet decided on going into camp with his staff. If he can find a favorable place near his command, he will

100 MINERS ENTOMBED.

Sidney, N.S.W., Aug. 1—An explosion, resulting in a heavy loss of life, has occurred at the Mt. Kimbla colliery at Wollongong, a port forty miles from here. Twenty-seven bodies have been recovered.

The buildings at the mouth of the pit were wrecked. One hundred and forty miners were rescued, but a hundred are still entombed. It is feared their release is hopeless. A portion of the colliery is on fire.

THE UNITED STATES FIXES COVETOUS EYES ON THE ISLAND OF JAMAICA

Botha Says They are Boers Yet.

Special to The Times.

Cape Town, July 30—Gens. Botha and Delarey, the old Boer leaders, in their speeches to their compatriots here have insisted upon the preservation of their nationality. Gen. Botha said that darkness was in front of them, but faith would carry them through. Africa was their fatherland, their birthright and inheritance.

Gen. Delarey said he respected his British opponents, but grieved when he thought of the burghers who surrendered and became national scouts under the British. The conduct of the Boer women throughout bitter struggle had made the fighting burghers taste many sweet drops

KAISER GOES TO COWES

The German Emperor to Visit the King of England

Special to The Times.

Berlin, Aug. 2—Though the visit of Emperor William to King Edward is declared to be without political significance, it is nevertheless attracting considerable attention in view of the interchange of courtesies which has marked their relations for some months past. The Emperor sailed from Kiel to-day on board the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern. He is expected to remain at Cowes during the regatta week, when his American built yacht Meteor III will compete for the King's cup.

TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Aaron Hall, the Girl Murderer, will Get no Respite

Special to The Times.

New York, August 4—After counsel had unavailingly exhausted every means know nto the law to save him from the electric chair, Aaron Hall, the murderer of Mamie Brannigan, will pay the penalty of his crime at Sing Sing this week. Though the customary secrecy is maintained regarding the precise time, it is thought probable the execution will take place to-night.

Mamie Brannigan was employed in a department store on Third avenue, and Hall, who was in love with her and jealous, walked into the store and shot her on May 10, 1900. On August 6, nearly two years ago, Hall was first sentenced to death. The case was appealed to the higher courts, which confirmed the judgment of the lower court. Another appeal was taken, this time to the United States Supreme Court, but that tribunal also reaffirmed the decision and an appeal to Governor Odell for clemency was likewise futile.

A Surprising Discovery

You will be surprised in trying Catarrhozone to find how quickly it cures cold in the head. The agreeable, penetrating vapor traverses every air cell and passage of the nose, throat and lungs. In one breath it carries instant death to the millions of germs infesting the respiratory organs and breaks up a cold in ten minutes.

A trial will convince you that Catarrhozone is the most potent, satisfactory and pleasant cure for colds, catarrh, deafness, bronchitis, asthma and lung trouble. Complete outfit $1.00, small size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure biliousness.

REFORM MEASURES FOR RURAL RUSSIA

Agriculture and Peasantry Exciting Czar's Attention

Efforts to Develop the Industrial Interests of the People—Plans Outlined by the Government

St. Petersburg, August 4—The Commission on the State of Agriculture and Peasantry is attracting more and more attention. Many opinions as to the cause of the existing agricultural depression and many schemes for its improvement have been published. Irrigation, cloud cannonading, reforesting, an increase of cattle, abolition of communal ownership, more railroads, development of rural industries, agronomic education, bimetallism, etc., etc., have all been warmly advocated, but it remains to be seen whether any practical result will be attained. On being interviewed regarding abolition of communal ownership, Minister de Witte, expressed himself as follows:

"I believe that for the present this institution is not threatened. No statesman in Russia is likely to raise the question of suppressing the village commune. It seems to me that without immediately raising this question the government will strive merely to remove the more undesirable features of communal ownership. For example, we have already been endeavoring to check further subdivision and repartitionment of the fields, and have considered abolishing mutual liability for taxes."

M. de Witte declared, also, that the Czar is deeply interested in the work of the Agricultural Commission, and wants the fullest freedom of expression given to everybody concerned. He defended his financial policy against the attacks of bimetallists, and characterized the legal organization of credit as one of the most pressing Governmental tasks in Russia. He laid particular emphasis on the necessity of cheap rural, in fact village, credit.

One of the crying evils at present is the practice of extortionate usury upon the peasantry, advances on crops being often made at from twenty to 60 per cent interest per annum.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

STILL LIVING IN HOPE

Peterborough Coal Men Looking for the End of the Strike

The article in Saturday's Times concerning the coal question had the effect of arousing householders to the gravity of the situation. Coal men report that they are being beseiged with applicants.

One dealer told The Times that an early resumption of mining operations is assured. He had studied the situation, and there was little doubt that the strike was now on its last legs.

In regard to the proposal to import Welsh coal, there was no reason why this should not be done. It was formerly quite a practice to import Welsh coal. In those days it was sold cheaper than any other. It appears that the kind of Welsh coal ordered is of a fine quality though not so well sized as the Pennsylvania product. It can, however, be well burned in cook stoves, ranges and the like.

Nerve Wracked and Sleepless

Everything goes wrong, head feels heavy and dull, mind is filled with forebodings, stomach is out of kilter. You need a good tonic like Ferrozone to bring back your lost appetite and digestion and cleanse the blood of all impurities. Ferrozone is a wonderful invigorant and strengthener that will banish gloomy depression and quickly restore you to a healthy, vigorous condition of mind and body. Nothing is so good for the sick, weary and debilitated as Ferrozone. Price 50c. per box, at druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston.

Hamilton's Mandrake Pills cure constipation.

PRINTERS' ANNUAL OUTING

Two Steamers Carry Down the River the Biggest Excursion of the Season

On Saturday afternoon the Printers held their second annual excursion to Jubilee Point under the auspices of Peterborough Typographical Union, No 248. The event was a huge success in every way and turned out to be the biggest excursion carried down the river this season. At five minutes to two o'clock the commodious steamer "City of Peterborough," had on board her full limit of passengers, and she accordingly pulled out from the wharf and steamed away for the mouth of the beautiful Otonabee. Quite a crowd of disappointed pleasure seekers were left behind, so the Committee chartered the Peterborough Navigation Co'., trim little steamer "Water Lily," which left the wharf at 3 o'clock sharp, having on board about a hundred excursionists. Ideal weather prevailed, and a truly delightful sail up and down the river was enjoyed by one and all. Both steamers made good time, and the courtesy of the officers and crew contributed in no small measure to the success of the event.

Good music for dancing on the "City" and at the Point was furnished by Cawthornes' orchestra, and vocal music was very much in evidence.

Pie-Eating Contest.

An amusing feature of the day was a "pie-eating" contest at Jubilee Point, in which three boys entered. The boys stood on the table each with an average sized berry pie on his right hand, and he who ate his pie first won the contest. Using the left hand was prohibited. Two prizes were given for this novel event, each a pocket-knife. The contestants were, Frank O'Brien of the Examiner, Chas. Elliott of the Review, and Joseph Brady, also of the Review. The Times boy said the task was too herculean a one for him to attempt; he wasn't partial to pies anyway. O'Brien finished his task first, before the other contestants were half through their "supper." Brady and Elliott found their appetite unequal to the undertaking and declined to finish their pies. Brady was awarded the second prize, he having been the last to succumb. O'Brien's method of getting away with his pie, without the use of spoon or fork, was truly original, and the rapidity with which the edible disappeared was marvellous. Much merriment was afforded the spectators by this event, and the Examiner people say they are willing to back their pie-eater against all comers.

The Sports.

The following programme of sports was run off on the grounds at Jubilee:

Boys' Race, under 15—1st prize, a ball, Fred. Conroy; 2nd price, baseball glove, J. Brady.
Girls' Race, under 15—1st, Fancy vase, Florence Mitchell; 2nd, jewel box, Vera Peters.
Young Mens' Race—1st, shaving mirror; W. R. Jackson; 2nd, necktie, W. S. Tefft.
Young Ladies Race—1st, jardiniere, Annie Ferguson; 2nd, fruit basket, Eva Whiten.
Married Men's Race—1st, hammock, Geo. Parsons; 2nd, pair suspenders, F. F. Garden.
Married Ladies' Race—1st, Mrs. Fredenberg; 2nd, breakfast cruet, Mrs. Cottingham.

Time would not allow of the baseball match being played, but the Review-Times team with the Examiner team to understand that they are ready to meet them as soon as convenient to all parties.

The Committee take this opportunity of thanking the public for their very generous patronage on this occasion.

An Attempt to Make It Appear That Anti-British Sentiment Existed

Agitation in Favor of the Annexation of Jamaica to U. S. A. is very General

The following despatch was delivered to the paper in Toronto on Thursday, by the Associated Press, an American news-gathering institution, which, of course, caters to an American public, and views things from an American standpoint:

Kingston, Jamaica, July 30. — Agitation in favor of the annexation of Jamaica to the United States is very general, and is becoming more pronounced, as a result of the smallness of the grant by the Imperial Government for the assistance of the sugar industry.

Prominent merchants have taken up the matter, and with members of the Executive Council are writing letters to the press deploring the present situation. One of the leading merchants of the city writes that for many years the colony has depended on America and Americans to save it from bankruptcy and ruin."

"It is true, even if a painful and disagreeable fact," he says, "that we will soon have to decide to starve under the Union Jack or seek prosperity and happiness under the Stars and Stripes."

It is not likely, however, that the people of Jamaica are quite so eager to be annexed to the States as would appear from the above. The report is much like many others which for years have been brought out of Jamaica by Americans—with such persistence, in fact, as to suggest the thought that the United States covets Jamaica.

Another View.

There are other considerations, also, according to Secretary J. F. M. Stewart of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which give a very different purpose to the agitation in Jamaica. Mr. Robert Munro of Montreal, president of the association, and Mr. Stewart, spent a considerable time in the West Indies this spring making investigations as to the possibilities of Canadian trade with the islands. They also went most thoroughly into this matter of dissatisfaction with British rule and the alleged eagerness to be annexed by kindly Uncle Sam. They found, says Mr. Stewart, that the very men who are at the bottom of the agitation are really loyal to the core. Their purpose is to drive the British Government to give them the subsidies they desire. The trouble is that beet sugar industries receive a bonus on every pound of sugar exported to England, and the English market is consequently closed to the West Indian planters. "Why," continued Mr. Stewart "when we were at St. Kitts, Mr. Adamson, one of the wealthiest planters in the island, told us that he had personally questioned all or nearly all the planters and nine-tenths of them were enthusiastically in favor of union with Canada, not the United States. Some such Government as we have in the Yukon would suit them admirably. On account of the large negro element in Jamaica, they would hardly be willing to have rule by manhood suffrage. And, by the way," he concluded, "it's not the negroes who want annexation; they are thoroughly loyal."

To Discuss Life Saving

Special to The Times.

Paris, Aug. 1—A despatch from Nantes says that several representatives of America are attending the international congress of life saving, preservation of health and maritime security, which opened in that city today under the auspices of the Society of Life Savers of Brittany. The congress will consider life saving in water and from fire, piloting in for, life saving on board steamships, the moral and physical development of sailors and fishermen, and several kindred subjects.

Santos-Dumont's Flight

New York, Aug. 1—New Yorkers are looking forward to seeing sights tomorrow when Santos-Dumont, the famous French aeronaut, will make his first flight in America. The ascension will be made at Brighton Beach, and if the weather conditions are favorable it is possible that M. Santos-Dumonty may make his attempt to encircle the Stature of Liberty.

TOWN WRECKED BY EARTHQUAAKE.

Special to The Times.

St. Luis Obispo, Cal., July 31— A trip of country, 15 miles long, by four miles wide rent with gaping fissures and dotted with hills and knolls that sprung up during the night as if by magic, a village in ruins and hundreds of people fleeing for their lives are the results of last night's seismic disturbance in the valley of Los Alamos, in the northern part of Santa Barbara, county. During the past four days that section of the country has been shaken by a series of earthquakes that is without precedent in the history or tradition of the Pacific coast.

The disturbances began on Sunday evening with a shock which caused several thousand dollars' worth of damage to property in the village and the surrounding country. The shock was followed by a number of disturbances less severe and less distressing continuing throughout the remainder of the Sunday night and Monday. On Tuesday night, beginning at 12.10 o'clock there was another series of seven shocks, all of which were light. The most severe shock of the entire series occurred at 11.20 o'clock this morning. Hills were shaken and twisted to their foundations, and the valleys trembled and rolled. Great fissures were run deep in the earth, hills and knolls appeared in level valleys springs of water appeared in places that had been dry, and the general topography of the valley was greatly changed in many respects.

MANY MEN

enter into Wall Street individually, not being fully posted in matters financial, or, regarding the security or commodity, in which they are trading; consequently have not been successful. Possibly the broker selected, did not supply, complete and detailed information, for benefit of the customer. The majority of houses, will not go to the expense of compiling and circulating the necessary data, for benefit of their clientele. To place in the hands of every operator, these useful adjuncts, we issue free one 60 page, cloth bound

"Guide to Investors,"

also a

"Daily Market Letter,"

enabling possessors to operate intelligently, thus increasing their chance for success enormously.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Established 1890. Main Office, 53 B'way, N Y.

STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.

Peterborough, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

CORRESPONDENT ONE EIGHTS—The only licensed M. S. Stock Exchange Corporation in business by permission of the Royal Government of the Province of Ontario.

W. F. NELSON, Peterborough.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Deane, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck, Stevens, M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Kearney, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill, Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wagle, Davis, and Birdsall, Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. A. Stratford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal
Portland, Boston ... 6.10 a.m. 12.25 a.m.

West

...ton, Montreal... ... 5.10 p.m. 11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood,
Norwood, Havelock, Ot-
[illegible]
Havelock .... 7.12 a.m. 7.20 p.m.

Canadian Pacific

Toronto, London, Detroit,
Chicago ... ... 11.25 a.m. 5.10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate...7.20 p.m. 1.12 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago ...... 12.25 a.m. 5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...11.25 a.m. 5.10 p.m.

Grand Trunk

Arrive Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto ... ...11.40 a.m. 3.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago 9.00 p.m. 6.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester
Cobourg, Belleville,
Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville,
Oshawa, Toronto and
west ... .5.25 p.m. 11.40 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg
Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal ....8.20 a.m. 8.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford,
Madoc ....8.10 a.m. 6.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal ....9.05 p.m. 2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local ....9.40 a.m. 8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local ....5.00 p.m. 12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local ....6.00 p.m. 5.00 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at $3 per annum, and to outside points at $4 per year Strictly in advance.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 4, 1902.

THE EFFECT OF RELEASED GOLD OUTPUT

The conclusion of the war in South Africa is being followed by the active resumption of gold mining in the Transvaal, and it is probable that soon South Africa will be adding to the annual gold supply of the world at as great a rate as was the case three years ago. This is causing much discussion as to the probable effect on prices which will follow. It is estimated that the world's gold production reached its maximum in 1899. Before the South African war commenced in October of that year, the Transvaal was producing gold at the rate of some $90,000,000 annually. During 1900 and 1901, its yearly production was cut down by the war blockade to less than eight millions annually. This would have caused a corresponding decrease in the world's yearly supply had production in other parts of the world remained stationary. But the output in Canada, the United States and India increased; the net result being a world's production in 1900 only $51,000,000 below 1899, with the difference even less marked in 1901. It is, therefore, probable that the resumption of even the past maximum output of the Transvaal will raise the world's annual supply beyond all records. And many experts believe that the annual production of the Transvaal will be increased in the next few years as rapidly as it was in the three years before the war began.

Among those who have studied the question of the probable effect of the expected increase of the world's gold supply is M. Paul Leroy-Beaulieu, the well known French statistician. He believes that in twenty-five years the stock of gold in the world will be doubled. But he points out that there are many ways in which the gold can be absorbed without causing any sudden fluctuation in its value and a consequent rapid rise in prices. Population is increasing and so is wealth and business activity among civilized people. New countries are being developed. Within a quarter of a century the two Americas alone will show enormous increase in their inhabitants. Even the Asiatic people will develop their own resources and will be able to absorb a certain quantity of gold. Finally, a number of states are still under the regime of paper money. These states, if they are well managed, will be able gradually to resume specie payments and the gold standard. "In short," he says, "it does not seem that there is reason to expect from this doubling in twenty-five years of the quantity of gold existing in the world any very sudden and perceptible movement of prices. But neither does this mean that the large and constant addition to the stock of gold will have no influence on business affairs or on the stock and commodity markets."

M. Leroy Beaulieu then traces the action of the increased gold supply. It falls first into the hands of people employed about the mines and of capitalists interested in them. The first result of a very large gold production manifests itself on the market for floating capital and on that for fluctuating values. The first effect, it seems, of a large and constant influx of gold ought to be to gorge the banks and the Bourse, and by consequence, lower the price of all floating capital — that is to say, the interest rate—and to raise by contrast the price of fluctuating value. The great influx of gold will also in a certain measure stimulate business and the spirit of enterprise. People will complain of a plethora of capital, and will seek everywhere for means of using it—sometimes, as always happens under such circumstances, in very absurd fashion. After fluctuating values, M. Leroy-Beaulieu says, "the class of merchandise which at first and most forcibly feels the effect of such an influx of gold is that which includes objects of luxury. Profits determined by a large influx of gold will first fall into the hands of a narrow circle of people—the large and small capitalists interested in mines, and perhaps even more to well posted operators who were able to reap a speculative profit from the rise of these fluctuating values. Whether real or only apparent, the increase in such fortunes will be very great, and one of the first uses which they will make of this betterment in their situation will be in purchases of articles of luxury. It is only gradually and more slowly that the effect of the new production will be felt outside of the cities and on the ordinary products of life. Will the two milliards of gold, coming regularly every year into the world, have the effect of raising the price of ordinary merchandise and the shares of companies which produce it? In a certain measure, such a result is not impossible, but probably only in a limited degree; for the output in well known markets usually expands at such a rate that, whatever the demand, the supply is rapidly pressing beyond it."

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

Strikers are Awed By State Troops

CONVICT TRACY AGAIN SEEN

Town Wrecked by Earthquake—Los Alamos California, Entirely Laid in Ruins

Special to The Times.

Ellensburg, Washn., Aug 1. — Sam Evans, who lives fifteen miles north of here, reports that Monday last a man came to his cabin and said that he was Tracy. He had a Winchester and two revolvers. He compelled Evans to furnish him with food. The stranger showed Evans a wound in the back of his head, and said that he was shot by a member of a posse on the West Side.

A Wenatchee special says—

From 10 o'clock yesterday until 9 o'clock at night Harry Tracy was an unwelcome guest at the ranch of W. A. Sanders, and S. J. McKldowney, six miles down the Columbia River. Tracy came out of the cascades riding one horse, packing another, and leading a third in reserve. He carried a Winchester and two revolvers. He took dinner and supper at the ranch, having the men well covered with his rifle. Toward evening he forced McEldowney to bring him two fresh horses, and turn loose his jaded animals. He went south.

Special to The Times.

Shenandoah, Pa. Aug. 1. —Twelve hundred State troops are camped tonight on a hill overlooking Shenandoah. Down in the town, where rioters and policemen fought the bloody battle last night, all is quiet, and the indications are that so long as the militia remains, the peace of the community will not again be broken. The thousands of idle men and boys in this vicinity who had been gathering in large numbers and marching from place to place did not repeat their demonstrations today, and the authorities consequently had little or nothing to do. The major portion of the population here is made up of foreigners, and, as a rule, they keep close to their homes during the day. It is claimed by citizens of the town that the foreign element was solely responsible for the trouble.

Shenandoah is not under martial law. The local authorities and the sheriff of the county have not relinquished control of the town or county, and they remain in as complete control of their respective affairs as they did before the troops reached here. The soldiers are merely in camp on the outside of the town. It was deemed advisable, however, by the brigadier-general to establish provost guard in certain parts of the town. So long as the situation remains as it is at present, there is no likelihood that the regimental companies will be scattered through the mining towns of Schuylkill County.

In an interview to-night General Gobin, who is in command of the troops, said:—"What I will do, depends largely upon what the sheriff is going to do. We are here to give him support in his efforts to enforce the civil law. We were ordered here because of his inability to do so."

Mine Workers Incensed.

The mine workers are greatly incensed over the calling out of the troops, and through their officials are making an effort to have the soldiers withdrawn. The first step in this direction was taken this afternoon, when a telegram was sent from here to Governor Stone, requesting him to send a personal representative to investigate the conditions.

Joseph Beddall died to-night. The policemen who were shot, and the strikers who were also hurt by bullets will recover. Several of the wounded strikers called at the Miners' Hospital today to have slight injuries dressed, and after the doctors got through with them they were arrested and taken to Pottsville Jail.

TOWN WRECKED
BY EARTHQUAAKE.

Special to The Times.

St. Luis Obispo, Cal. July 31— A trip of country, 16 miles long, by four miles wide rent with gaping fissures and dotted with hills and knolls that sprung up during the night as if by magic, a village in ruins and hundreds of people fleeing for their lives are the results of last night's seismic disturbance in the valley of Los Alamos, in the northern part of Santa Barbara County. During the past four days that section of the country has been shaken by a series of earthquakes that is without precedent in the history or tradition of the Pacific coast.

The disturbances began on Sunday evening with a shock which caused several thousand dollars' worth of damage to property in the village and the surrounding country. The shock was followed by a number of disturbances less severe and less disastrous continuing throughout the remainder of the Sunday night and Monday. On Tuesday night, beginning at 12.10 o'clock there was another series of seven shocks, all of which were light. The most severe shock of the entire series occurred at 11.30 o'clock this morning. Hills were shaken and twisted to their foundations, and the valleys trembled and rolled. Great fissures were run deep in the earth, hills and knolls appeared in level valleys springs of water appeared in places that had been dry, and the general topography of the valley was greatly changed in many respects.

St. Jacobs Oil

The grandest remedy in the World for pain it never fails to cure

RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA
SCIATICA LUMBAGO
PLEURISY
HEADACHE
TOOTHACHE
FACEACHE
EARACHE
BACKACHE
STIFFNESS
SORENESS
SPRAINS

And all Bodily Aches and Pains. It penetrates and removes the cause of pain.

Conquers Pain

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at	40c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	40c
Smocks, at	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUEL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050
or $2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest." WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1 00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises, ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000

Full-paid and non assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President, A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President, Prop Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON, Retired Merchant Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT, Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL, Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N Y.
F. W. MERCHANT, Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers Trenton, N. J.
COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY owns a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6 25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

$1,050,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an Issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905
Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.
INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No m[illegible]g can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C. CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Vice Pres
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr, Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R. FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington D C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P. COOPER Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful. No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips, cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc., prevents and removes Freckles. At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co
305 YONGE ST., TORONTO

FOR A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

... BUY STOCK IN ...

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.

Mine Opened Up.
Ore in Sight.
Ore Vein 10 Feet Wide.
Values per Ton Average $24.75.
Hoist Pump, etc., Installed.

Mine in active operation 18 months. Now ready for concentrating mill, and for that purpose only we offer a small amount of stock at 20 cents per share, for 30 days.

For prospectus and further particulars call or address—

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
842 LUMBER EXCHANGE.

R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street,
AGENT AT PETERBOROUGH.

STOCKS SOLD ON INSTALLMENT

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

To be had at all first-class dealers

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.

See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Penny royal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

NERVOUSNESS

Or despondency caused by weak unhealthy nerves, are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease. If you have a secret drain from early abuse, later excesses or exposure, you cannot expect healthy nerves while your vitality is being wasted. Do not eke out a miserable existence on account of your follies, you are not safe until cured—nature never excuses—no matter how young, old or innocent one may be.

KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Have you pain in the back, a dull feeling in the region of the kidneys? At times your water comes freely, a large quantity light in color, while at other times you do not make it quite so freely, it is dark in color, you make a small quantity, or you may have a mucous deposit or brick dust colored sediment; give your condition immediate attention or more serious complications will set in. My treatment guaranteed as a positive cure for such conditions, and remember you

PAY WHEN CURED.

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. Surely this is fair, as you run no chances. CONSULTATION FREE. If you cannot call, write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. Medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor—All duty and transportation charges prepaid—Everything confidential—No names on envelopes or packages—Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., Cor. Wilcox Street, DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
O. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165 356

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1898.

MONEY TO LOAN

ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members (Consolidated Stock Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade.) Est. 1886

BANKERS AND BROKERS
4 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 360 Broad
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal, copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 25c cash, 26c installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 715 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms

Interest Allowed on Deposits

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c Par $1.00. Prospectus Jos. J. Rutherford & Son 715 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS

Municipal & Corporation Bonds

Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Advertise in The Times.

To Invade the United States.

A recent issue of The Philadelphia Press contained an account of an interesting enterprise undertaken by Mr. Alfred Mosely, an Englishman, who has gained great wealth in South Africa. The Press says:—

In November next by the best of ocean steamships, and at the most luxurious of American hotels, and on the finest of special trains, there is to be made out of England an invasion of the United States. At the personal expense of Alfred Mosely this invading force is to be organized, maintained and transported, a force of 120 leaders, forty of them conspicuous in the world of educational affairs, forty more being men of authority in the trade unions of Great Britain, and forty more being capitalists. The visit will be prolonged until January of next year, and when this company returns to England it is expected that their fellow-citizens will be enlightened as to those mystic influences which have made it possible for the United States to gain equal rank with other nations in world affairs and in many things preeminent rank.

Mr. Mosely was one of the invited guests at the installation of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler as President of Columbia University last Saturday. He met with that representative and distinguished group, which, as a whole, was a composite representative of all the intellectual and material influences that have made the United States what the nation is to-day. He was peculiarly impressed by the ceremony, and especially by the presence, in enthusiastic accord and sympathy, with all that the election and installation of Dr. Butler means, of men of affairs, men of distinction in commerce, in manufacture, in applied science, and in finance. That was something to which celebrations at English or European universities, of which Mr. Mosely has had knowledge, can offer no counterpart. In the presence and in the enthusiasm of these men he discovered one of the reasons why the United States has been and is now passing by unconscious promotion from the rear rank of nations to a place of supremacy.

He was reminded of the attempt made by the Duke of Devonshire a few years ago when one of the ancient and most famous of the English universities, finding itself in some pecuniary need, made appeals for help. The Duke undertook to raise a considerable fund, having in mind as much as $300,000, American money. But when he turned to the men of commerce he found them deaf. When he appealed to the financiers he discovered that they looked upon the university as something apart in all its influences and scope from their vocation. When he approached the manufacturers he learned that even Oxford with its venerable traditions was for them a mere incident in the national life of Great Britain. So that, having at last secured a scanty $50,000, the Duke abandoned his undertaking. And Mr. Mosely, after he had identified the various personalities prominent in finance and in all material activities who shared in the installation ceremonies of last Saturday, discovered one of the reasons why Oxford and Cambridge are, comparatively speaking, dead, so far as their influence upon the prosperity and advancement of Great Britain are concerned. Nor was he surprised when he was told that had an American prince of finance been appealed to as the Duke of Devonshire was some years ago, he would have, and many times in recent years he has within a day or a week or a brief time, secured the hundreds of thousands, and even millions, that the university needed. Columbia itself had an experience of that kind last winter.

Mr. Mosely might have been told—perhaps he was—of a recent experience of Yale's young president. It seemed to Arthur Hadley that there ought to be raised for Yale, so that administrative and other convenient buildings might be constructed, $1,000,000, and he hoped that it would be possible for him to announce at the bi-centennial that this money had been pledged. He had not then learned the art of approach, however, or the manner by which rich men make up large funds, so that he began to despair of success. Then one day he met an alumnus of Yale, M.C.D. Borden, a man of wealth, and to him Mr. Borden said in effect; "You are not doing this the right way. What you want first is a nucleus of, say, $500,000, secured from a few men, and when you have got that there will be no trouble about the rest."

"But who is to form this nucleus?" President Hadley asked; and Mr. Borden replied, "I will. I will begin it with $100,000. To-morrow I will see Mr. Vanderbilt and one or two others." And on the next day in less than five minutes' chat with Frederick W. Vanderbilt Mr. Borden had secured his pledge of $100,000, Mr. Vanderbilt's only comment being, "It will give me great pleasure to do it," and a day or two later two others were secured pledging a like amount, and at last James J. Hill, and thus President Hadley had his nucleus of $500,000, and it was a mere detail to secure the rest.

Such an experience, according to Mr. Mosely's view, would have been impossible in Great Britain, even for Oxford or for Cambridge, and these institutions staggering under hard poverty and the indifference to them of the powerful men of material affairs in Great Britain cannot in Mr. Mosely's view, or in that of American educators, even though stimulated by the endowments made possible by the will of Cecil Rhodes, give to American youths that training, experience, and character which they may obtain at home, and which they need, if they are to be of service in their day and generation. In fact, the American youth would probably do better were they to attend some of the universities in the greater cities of England, for some of the quickening influences of modern times has been felt in these institutions.

Advertise in The Times.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers Fortune's Spor, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

have prayed for the groaning to cease if my mind had been capable of formulating a prayer. But it came again, and something else with it; a dragging noise, as if some heavy thing were being slowly drawn along the floor.

If I had been a really brave woman, no doubt I should have sprung up, rushed to the door, and looked out into the corridor. I had sometimes thought myself brave, and I had delighted, in my childish vanity, to be called so; but, after all, I was a coward, for I remained frozen; desperately, selfishly thankful that my door was locked, horribly afraid lest after all it should be forced.

My whole being listened; and from far away my ears, unnaturally sharpened, caught a separate sound. A door opened and shut in the distance. Muffled footsteps came hurrying. Something brushed against the handle of my door; something fell with a soft thud and another groan. There were whisperings, followed by a struggle, with a plunge against my door that made it rattle.

I half sprang out of bed, shaking, despite the warm June night, as if in an ague fit. But suddenly stillness fell. There was not a sound. I waited again, my heart ticking the seconds. A long time—or what seemed to me a long time—passed, and nothing more happened.

"Thank Heaven, whatever it was—is over," I panted. But as the hopeful thought formed in my mind, a word was cried shrilly—"Ermyntrude! Ermyntrude!"—once, and again. Before the last syllable had been completed for the second time, a door slammed loudly.

Ermyntrude had been my adopted mother's name.

The door that shut upon the voice was the last sound that night. By contrast, the silence of the house seemed deathly, and I slept no more until the faint, pearly dawn turned the curtained windows of the room to eyes that awoke and opened.

While they awoke, mine might close. I let my lids droop wearily, hardly expecting to sleep; but I knew nothing more until I was roused by a persistent tapping at the door. For an instant I was frightened, each nerve still tingling from my experience of the night, but for an instant only. I realized that the morning must be far advanced, and, springing up, I ran to the door and unlocked it, peeping out.

There stood the woman who called herself Sintra Leigh. She was still a "woman in black," but seen by morning light without her bonnet and veil, neatly dressed for the house, with a plain white collar fastened by a queer brooch at the neck of her alpaca gown, she appeared more like an ordinary human being.

"I have been knocking for some time," she said, as quietly as if the night had been passed in peaceful sleep. "I began to be rather alarmed when you did not answer, for it is long after ten o'clock. I thought that you would be glad of the extra rest. How are you feeling?"

"I scarcely know," I said. "I didn't sleep much until after it was light. Since then I must have slept like a log. For Heaven's sake tell me what awful thing happened in the house last night."

Sintra Leigh opened her great eyes at me. "Awful thing?" she echoed, as if utterly perplexed.

"Don't say that you don't know what I mean!" I exclaimed, impatiently. "The groans of someone in agony; the horrid dragging sound, as of a heavy body being drawn along the corridor out there; whisperings, and a fall against my door. A voice that cried my adopted mother's name. Oh, the noise was loud enough, and horrible enough, to wake the dead!"

"You must have dreamt it," said the woman in black.

I was standing at the door in my nightdress, she in the corridor just outside. The sunlight filtering through the curtained window in my room, opposite the door, fell upon her face, and I searched it for the slightest change of expression; but it remained stolid, absolutely impassive.

"It all happened, and you know it," I insisted.

"If it happened, no doubt it was one of the servants either in a nightmare, or—intoxicated. I only know that I heard nothing. But to satisfy you, I will enquire in the servants' hall and let you know when I have had a report."

"Why should one of the servants in this house cry out the name of Ermyntrude?" I incredulously demanded.

"Ah, there's a partial explanation of the seeming mystery! I thought it would be simple enough. The housekeeper's daughter, who is paying her a visit, is called Ermyntrude. Not a very suitable name for a young woman of her class, perhaps; but we have nothing to do with that. I shall now know where to begin my enquiries."

She had me at a disadvantage and she knew it. I could not prove that her story was false, and that she was well aware of its falseness. If I should describe the sounds to some outsider, who had not heard them, appending Sintra Leigh's suppositions, her explanation would probably be accepted, unless contradictory details should actually be forthcoming.

"I have no doubt that your explanation will be simple enough!" I exclaimed, with meaning. "And now, unless you have anything else to say, I will dress."

"Your breakfast will be sent up to you in about half-an-hour," she announced, calmly, without appearing to notice my sneer. "After that, I shall have some interesting news for you."

As if desiring to avoid further questioning, she walked away, leaving me to stare after her a minute and then retreat into the room, once more bolting the door.

By the time I had bathed, and brushed my hair before the mirror—where my eyes met other eyes, with question to question—I had to answer a second knock at the door. This time it was a servant with the promised breakfast-tray—an elderly, grim-featured woman, whose long, flat lips, shut tightly together, seemed to say that they were locked and padlocked.

If I had had the impulse to ask questions concerning any of the matters which perplexed or alarmed me, the impulse would have died at sight of that hatchet-face. I thanked the woman for bringing my breakfast, otherwise letting her depart in silence.

There was delicious coffee, which might have been made by a French chef, crisp brown toast, a delicate little omelette, and a dish piled high with strawberries, heaped on their own green leaves. John Bourke had brought the strawberries one day, carrying the little basket in his own hand, because

(To be continued.)

THE
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

HEAD OFFICE AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS—59 YONGE ST., TORONTO
WINNIPEG BRANCH OFFICE—
BANK OF HAMILTON CHAMBERS, WINNIPEG, MAN.

CAPITAL	$1,000,000
RESERVE FUND	270 000

President—JOHN HOSKIN, K. C. LL. D., Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Life Assurance Company and Vice-President Canada Landed and National Company.

VICE-PRESIDENTS { HON. S. C. WOOD, Director of The Western Assurance Co
W. H. BEATTY, Vice President of The Bank of Toronto

AUTHORIZED TO ACT AS

Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Receiver, Committee of Lunatics, Guardian, Liquidator, Assignee, etc.

WINNIPEG BRANCH.

The corporation has opened a branch of its business in Winnipeg, and the attention of property owners executors, trustees, etc., and other residents in Ontario, who have interests in Manitoba, is called to the unusual facilities offered by the Winnipeg branch for effecting sales of property, prompt collection of rents, appraisement of property, and generally looking after the interests of non-residents, at most reasonable charges.

ADVISORY BOARD:

SIR D. H. McMILLAN, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.
D. W. BOLE, Wholesale Druggist; Chairman of The Winnipeg School Board.
A. M. NANTON, Messrs. Osler, Hammond & Nanton.
H. H. SMITH, formerly Dominion Land Commissioner for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

J. W. LANGMUIR, Managing Director.
A. D. LANGMUIR, Assistant Manager
JAMES DAVEY, Manager Winnipeg Branch.

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, and save three Profits.
LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES & GENTS,
REAL SWISS, ROLLER BLINDS, BLOUSES, LOOM HOSIERY,
GUIPURE D'ART LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, HOUSEHOLD LINENS

POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

LOT No. 307 CONTAINS:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Ecru if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $6.30, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability.
First Prize Medals, Toronto 18[illegible], Chicago, 18[illegible].

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.

Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 330 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 160 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 367 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 336 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tailpieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

Advertise in the Morning Times.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE

LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.

Carthagenian	July 30
Sardinian	August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to
W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to:
W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to
THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave Collingwood on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and Penetang at 2.20 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 6.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. For Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.
[illegible] Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. [illegible] Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 28th
On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes
On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave [illegible] of [illegible]
Further particulars [illegible] W. Bunton
G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. [illegible], Proprietor

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning. will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	"	5.30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	"	7 40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N.St. Paul & Main Streets) ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N.St. Paul & Main streets) ...... [illegible] a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] a.m
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which tickets reads. For further information apply to
H. H. Gildersleeve, [illegible]
General Manager, Kingston [illegible] Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leave Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leave Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.
FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—FARE—
$15 Belleville to [illegible]

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

FOOT ELM

POSITIVELY CURES

- SWEATY FEET
- SORE FEET
- ACHING FEET
- BLISTERED FEET
- HOT FEET
- INFLAMED FEET
- SWOLLEN FEET

Shun any man who offers you a substitute simply because he can make a few cents more profit out of you by persuading you to take a cheaper article.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'

H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Returning Soldiers

The streets for the past few days are dotted here and there with boys in khaki, returning from South Africa. They are being welcomed by their friends as they arrive, and lionized afterwards. Quite a number arrived on Saturday, and others yesterday.

Directors' Meeting

A meeting of the directors of the Central Exhibition was held on Saturday afternoon when the business connected with the forthcoming fall fair was advanced a stage. There is every prospect that the exhibition this year will be the best ever held in Peterborough.

An Irishman's Wit

"I hear you're calling on the old man Cassidy's daughter; I suppose you've met your fate?" humorously remarked Contractor Jack Hayes to one of his men, the other day. "Sure, sor, the only thing I can think of this day is that Oi met one of her father's fate there laaht noight."

Wants to be Free

Minnie Crowley, who was convicted of keeping a disorderly house, and who was sentenced to three months in jail, is already longing for liberty. Her solicitor, Mr. D. O'Connell, has secured a writ of haebeas corpus, and under this will ask for the woman's discharge on the ground that the conviction is bad. It is understood that the appeal to quash the conviction of the Police Magistrate will be on the ground that the latter had not jurisdiction, and should have allowed the accused to elect how she would be tried.

A Fast Horse

Lakefield News:—Mr. Wallace Calder of the Palace livery made a startling discovery the other day. He had long suspected one of his horses whose name is "Jim" of possessing considerable speed. One day he took him down to the Peterborough track and nearly fell of his sulky when he found "Jim" had done the mile in 2.30. Needless to say Jim will not be a livery horse any longer, and the farmers who own fast horses had better be getting them in shape soon for the fall fairs.

Religious Frenzy

Lancaster, Pa., August 3—Wonderful scenes of religious enthusiasm were witnessed at the closing session of the seventh annual convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, composed of the districts of Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Two volunteers for the mission fields of Japan and China were enrolled and nearly $40,000 was contributed to the mission services, three contributions of $1,000 being received.

In their religious frenzy men gave their watches and women tore off their jewels and almost threw them into the contribution boxes in their excitement. Ten thousand people attended to-day's services.

BIRTHS

HENRY.—At Peterborough on Friday, Aug. 1, to Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Henry, a son.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by phone or in writing.—[Ed. Times]

—Mr. A. L. Davis returned from Kirkfield on Saturday.

—Mr. W. H. Meldrum went up to Stony Lake on Saturday.

—Mr. John Nugent was down from Stony Lake on Saturday.

—Miss May Eakins is holidaying with a jolly party at Rice Lake.

—Mrs. A. Fergus…n is down from Stony Lake for a few days.

—Mr. S. Dickson Hall, is spending Sunday at the Lakes.

—Mrs. W. H. Robertson, is holidaying at Fenelon Falls.

—Miss Quirk has returned after spending a brief holiday at Jubilee Point.

—Mrs. Charles Blyth, of Toronto, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clemince, Walton street.

—Miss Bella Morrow is in Toronto, visiting Mrs. Ames at her summer home near the city.

—Miss Georgie Smith leaves today to spend her vacation with her sister, Mrs. Crompton, in Brantford.

—Mr. George Sterne, of the Best Stove Co., has gone to Brantford, to spend a few days with his family.

—Miss Margaret Wedlock, of Cleveland, Ohio, is in town, the guest of Miss Wade, London street.

—Mrs. M. A. Ross and children, of Pembroke, are visiting Mrs. Ross' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wrighton.

—Mr. and Mrs D. O'Connell and family will spend two weeks' vacation at Chemong Park, where they will occupy Miss McCarthy's cottage.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Creasman and children leave Tuesday morning for Grimsby Park, where a couple of weeks will be spent in a pleasant outing.

—Miss B. Halpin, who has been spending her vacation with relatives here, has returned to St. Margaret's Hospital, where she is employed as nurse-in-training.

—Miss S. E. Watts, graduate nurse of State Hospital, Buffalo, has returned after a pleasant visit with friend Miss Mary Akey, 471 Sherbrooke street.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kavanagh and child, of Toronto, arrived in town last evening and this morning went up to spend a holiday at "Glenwood" Ald. Shortly's Stony Lake cottage.

—Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Kennedy went up to Stony Lake on Saturday for a couple of weeks. They are the guests of Mrs. Donell, "Kilkenny cottage."

—Mr. J. A. Sutcliffe, senior member of the enterprising local firm of Sutcliffe & Sons, arrived in Liverpool, England, on Wednesday. He will spend several weeks in the old land, purchasing fall and winter goods.

—Mr. Charles Tucker, who is one of the Sherwin-Williams Company's popular representatives has returned from a business trip to Cuba, Jamica and other West India Islands. He will remain in Peterborough the guest of his father, for a month and then start on a trip to South America.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

—The Town Council will meet to-night.

—The Cheese Board will meet on Wednesday.

—Have you ordered your winter's coal yet?

—Fishing is said to be unusually good at Burleigh just now.

—Miss Laura Morris has returned after spending her vacation in Lindsay.

—The market on Saturday was not largely attended, the farmers being busy with their harvest operations.

—Can these giddy young things who are getting married these days know anything about the price of coal?

—About 450 people accompanied the Oddfellows on their excurhion from Toronto to Peterborough on Saturday evening.

—Mr. Bloomfield, of Lakefield, has resigned the Indian Land Agency and Mr. M. W. Graham of that village, has been appointed in his stead.

—What's the use to worry about the price of coal now when the chief concern of the household is the manufacture of currant jelly and the prospects of peaches for canning?

—Posters are being issued from the Times job rooms advising the farmers that the market next week will be held on Friday instead of Saturday, the latter being a public holiday.

—Complaints are again made regarding the conduct of a number of people at the band concerts in Victoria Park. It is time that something was done to put a stop to the boisterous conduct of a certain element.

—The town of Lindsay has recently suffered from a serious outbreak of scarlet fever, during which eleven deaths occurred. An attempt to secure a conviction against a doctor for failing to register cases has failed, but a second charge is pending.

Does Your Baby Cry at Night

If so, it is well to know the great value of Polson's Nerviline, a household remedy for stomach pains, cramps, toothache, sick headache, and the manifold ills peculiar to children. A few drops of Nerviline in sweetened water makes a pleasant drink and never fails to quickly relieve. Nerviline is as good as the doctor in emergencies and costs only 25c a bottle. Get Nerviline from your druggist to-day.

Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake Pills for headache.

Miss Taylor Remembered

On Friday last Miss Ida Taylor, of Gilmour street, received very pleasing testimony of the affection and regard in which she is held by the members of the Murray-st. Baptist church choir, of which she has been a valued member. Miss Taylor, who will be one of the principals in a happy event this week, will be leaving town, and she received a letter, accompanied by a very handsome dinner and tea service. The letter expressed the high regard in which she was held by the members of the choir, and wished her a long and happy life.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayer.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Bromley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. H. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
Ottawa, Montreal... ...	5.10 p.m	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Norwood, Havelock, Ot.
Arrive Depart
Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.35 p.m.
Canadian Pacific
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	6.10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate...	7.35 p.m.	1.13 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.25 a.m.	6.10 p.m
Grand Trunk
	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	1.00 p.m.	6.35 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.35 p.m.	11.42 a.m
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	6.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	5.10 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	6.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m
Lakefield local	3.00 p.m.	12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.00 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

Navigation

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S. S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 6.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

BOOTS & SHOES

—FOR—

Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.

Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature [illegible]. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court Buildings.

Help Wanted.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $30 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 711 14 and 16 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $15 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstrother, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W. SMITH Sec.-Treas., Chandos, P. O.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 28 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS For Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

Song Service.

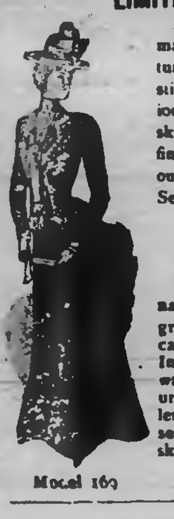
What is more enjoyable when properly rendered by a trained canary. Get a good German bird; feed it Patent Bird Bread with COTTAM Seed and with the slightest appreciation of music you must be delighted.

[illegible]

$3 10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.

LIMITED.



Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC

NEW BRUNSWICK

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)

NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S. West
William St., Toronto, Ont.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Cheap Farm Laborers' Excursions will run by Canadian Pacific Railway during August to points in Manitoba and Canadian North-West. Watch this space for dates and particulars.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 204 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 40 page phamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 231 George St., now occupied by Henry Best

No. 72 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE.

ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE

GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go. They cannot produce the goods.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Pure Silk Flags

For Cushions

Size, 16x16

A limited number at 15c each Regular price, 50c.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ...ARCHITECT..
450 George Street

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL, GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

GET OUR PRICES DIAMOND
STEEL BEARING

C. WILSON & SON
81 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

$64.70

To Los Angles or San Francisco Cal., and

Tickets good going July 27th, 28th 29th and August 1st to 10th, inclusive 1902.

Valid for return until September 30th 1902.

TOURIST RESORTS "WIDE OPEN"

Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Georgian Bay, Magnetewan River, 1000 Islands, Quebec, Portland, Me., Old Orchard, St. John and St. Stephen, N. B.

For tickets and further information call on

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Agent

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back

RED ROSE TEA pleases most people, it might please you

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL. 30 NO 178 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO TUESDAY AUGUST 5 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

SOUTH AFRICA WILL BECOME A GREAT COLONY

An Immense Boom Set in and Everything in the Country Looking Up.

A Great Future Now Developing for the Colonies—Every Ship Brings Immigrants of the Better Class

Special to The Times.

Johannesburg, Aug. 4.—One might almost imagine that we are the center of the Promised Land and that a new Canaan had been born within the borders of the new century. The long promised boom has come and it would seem that railroads and everything in the way of development could not be provided fast enough for new requirements.

Every steamship from whatever quarter of the globe it hails, seems to bring us immigrants, —many of them apparently people of substance, who seem to believe that since peace has been declared there is a wonderful future ahead for South Africa.

That they are not deluded seems probable as the activity which is apparent at the mines indicates an unprecedented area of prosperity for the Transvaal.

In spite of a little feeling in regard to the settlement of the question, which may merely be considered as an undercurrent now, the Boers are returning to their homes, and are delighted to do so.

They are not feeling a bit as badly about things as some people would imagine, for they consider that, having acquitted themselves bravely, that they have done the best they possibly could under the circumstances, and look forward to an ultimate independence through the development of a genuine South African republic. Their feelings are shared largely by the Dutch element at the Cape, and it is probable that they will be gratified at the earliest possible moment by the formation of a constitution here very much on the same basis as that of Canada.

Of course the Uitlander element is destined to play a large part in the new formation of things, the incoming element being very little interested in Dutch ideals, merely seeming to be seeking new outlets for enterprise, such as are looked for generally in new countries.

The policy of the Government seems to meet favor on all sides and it looks extremely doubtful if the few "kickers" would be able to maintain their ground in face of a general prosperity.

The most disgruntled people of all are the stockholders in the Rand mines who expected that after all the fight was accomplished they would be able to reap an enormous harvest, exclusively to their own benefit.

That this is not to be so seems apparent from the new system of taxation which has been formed for the Transvaal.

The owners of the big Rand mines are not particular in the way that they sum up the new order of things. "We are a cinch," they say. We own the most valuable properties in the world, and are expected to pay for the discovery as well as to prove it. Leave use alone and we will some day talk of putting the Boer republic on its feet again." Of course they talk widly, for they are well able to pay the additional tax proposed, in view oft he fact that they are relieved from the old taxations and are not called upon to increase unnecessarily the initial capital expenditure, or augment the cost of working.

According to the government plans which are pretty sure of being adopted individual enterprises will now be encouraged and the poorer mines will not be called upon to bear an unfair proportion of the fiscal burden. As a consequence of this, it is proposed that the revenue be raised by a tax levied, not on gross returns, but upon the net profits.

Other steps are being taken beyond this, favorable to the mine owners and workers in various ways which will cause them to regard the change of government favorably.

The idea of the entire taxation scheme seems to be that individual enterprise should be fostered and the poorer mines not be made to bear an undue financial burden. To this end the tax should be levied, not on gross returns, but upon net profits. The proposition is that steps should be taken to benefit mine owners and mine workers in such a way that they shall be financially benefitted. Important features of the new regulations are: The abolition of transit dues upon goods brought through the southern colonies, an equitable adjustment of colonial railway rates, a reduction of the excessive freight charges made by the Netherlands railway, which is the short cut to Delagoa Bay, and the sweeping aside of the dynamite monopoly which has existed for the interests of a purely selfish corporation and will mean a clear saving to the colonies of three million dollars a year.

In fact, the economies to be brought about by the changes in fiscal policy here will amount collectively to not less than $1.25 per ton of ore mined.

A prominent capitalist here assured me here the other day that the working cost at the mines will be reduced practically 25 per cent., amounting to $1.75 per ton, and a financial authority here asserts that we may estimate for the coming year, on these proportions, a net gain (taking the year 1899 as the most recent calculable basis) after paying the new profit tax of, at least a million and a half sterling per year.

Basing the calculations upon this arrangement and probable production it is estimated that within three years the net saving from the Rand mine will amount to three and a half million sterling. Beyond these net gains in profits the mines will benefit from the utilization of low grade ore which will now be rendered available for exploitation.

It is evident from these figures that the new tax of ten per cent. upon net profits can really be increased for the general benefit, if necessary, and that the Transvaal can bear the taxable burden of the entire confederation, if necessary, with profit to itself, and a general amelioration of conditions all round.

In fact, it seems impossible to suggest that the new system will not benefit the many, and result in a largely increased sphere of prosperity for all credentials in the colonies.

J. D. JONES.

MILLENNIUM ALMOST DUE

Its Arrival in Three Years Predicted by a Three Months' Old Warsaw Baby

Special to The Times.

Washington, Aug. 5.—A letter has been received by Solomon Berlin, a Seventh street merchant of this city, conveying the information that the millennium will come in 1905.

Mr. Berlin's letter came from his father, who lives in Russia. It relates that a child 3 months old living in Warsaw recently began to talk. The child was left by its mother in charge of the seven-year-old daughter. The daughter became frightened at something and began to cry, when the baby startled her by exclaiming:

"Don't cry; mamma will be back soon."

This speech from a child 3 months old scared the girl extremely and she summoned her mother. When the mother arrived the child said:

"Send for the rabbi."

To the rabbi the precocious infant uttered clearly a prophecy to the effect that in one year from that time there would be a great war between the world powers and that in three years the millennium would arrive. The letter related that this prediction has created great consternation among the Jews of Russia.

Several Hebrews were interviewed by a Washington Star reporter this afternoon in regard to the above prophecy. They said that according to the Torah, the millennium is due in about three or four years, and they consider the Warsaw child's prophecy as a reminder of the approaching reign of the Jews.

The Penalty of a Fast Life

Is paid for by an irritable condition of body and mind, by exhausted energy, poor digestion, unstrung nerves and broken sleep. If you must and will live the killing pace, better keep in mind the sustaining powers of Ferrozone, a wonderful tonic and reconstructor. Ferrozone is a blood maker, a nerve strengthener, a heart and brain invigorator. It creates appetite, insures perfect digestion, and undisturbed sleep, restores the vitality and strength lost by excessive living very quickly. Ferrozone will do you inestimable good. Try it. Price 50c., per box or two boxes for $2.50, at druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure headache.

A Word To The Great Army of Summer Toilers

If You Are Not as Robust Vigorous and Happy as Others in August, a Bottle or Two of

Paine's Celery Compound

Will Give You Health, Full Energy and Happiness

Many men toiling in offices, stores and workshops during this hot summer weather, and women weighed with the works and cares of home, are critically near the breaking down point. The symptoms of coming sickness and disease are manifested in sleeplessness, nervousness, tired feelings, languidness, irritability, failing appetite and poor blood circulation.

Paine's Celery Compound is a precious boon to the ailing, sick and rundown in this August weather. A bottle or two used at once will quickly bestow the needed strength to battle against the weakening and enervating effects of the oppressive heat, and will enable men and women to go through the necessary routine of daily toil with heart, soul and energy. Paine's Celery Compound is distinguished for its ability to build up rundown systems in hot weather. Mrs. Mossop of Mimico, Ont., says:

"I have much pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Paine's Celery Compound. I was entirely broken down by hard work, anxiety and sleeplessness, and had pains all through my body. Doctors' remedies had no effect, and nothing met my case until I used Paine's Celery Compound. This medicine has done wonders for me, and I would strongly urge all sufferers to use it, as it is the best in the world."

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply to W. H. Robertson, at The Times [illegible] place.

The Governments South African Policy

Special to The Times.

London, August 5—Some newspapers have characterized Mr. Chamberlain's announcement touching the Imperial Government's policy in South Africa as weak and disappointing. Needless to say, they are in the mood for fault finding, and would have found any speech he might have made disappointing. The endorsement which his policy received, not only from his friends but from his political opponents, is, however, sufficient to show the impression which it produced in the House of Commons. It was the embodiment of common sense, and the most hostile critic on the opposite benches had no opportunity to cavil at it. The Secretary avoided the mistake of promising too much at the beginning. Reconstruction will precede the restoration of privileges temporarily suspended because of the war. The probation period is neither to be unduly extended nor unduly curtailed. The terms of the banishment proclamation will be rigorously enforced against those known to be disturbers of the peace, and whose presence in the country is neither desired by the British nor desirable to the Boers. Stern notice is served on the irreconcilable members of the Africander Bund that their machinations against British authority will not be tolerated, and that if they remain in the country it must be as loyal and peaceful citizens. There is no harshness in the announcement, but it breathes throughout a spirit of calm strength and the purpose to put down with a strong hand the efforts of the enemies of peace to disturb the harmony which the Government is attempting to bring about between the English and the Dutch in South Africa. It was a speech which should inspire confidence among all parties and which should certainly enhance Mr. Chamberlain's reputation for sound statesmanship.

A PATHETIC STORY OF MAN'S DUPLICITY

A Young Lady Who Has Had a Sad Experience

MARRIED TO A MARRIED MAN

He is Discovered and Sent to Prison, and Wife No. 2 Now Weds.

Special to The Times.

New York, August 5—The happy sequel to the sorrowful romance of Miss Helen P. Hawkes, a well known society woman of Brooklyn, has just been made public. Miss Hawkes will soon wed Mr. William D. Melane, of Syracuse.

Behind the announcement of this betrothal there lies the pathetic story of a romance that once promised happiness, but which culminated in a domestic tragedy, and which found a climax in the civil annulment of the marriage of Miss Hawkes to George Howard and of the banishment of her self-confessed bigamist husband to Sing-Sing prison.

Last week Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn returned to Rome, bringing to Miss Helen Hawkes the papers containing the papal decree which declared her marriage to Howard "void from the first." Then followed the announcement of her forthcoming marriage to Mr. Malane.

Miss Helen Hawkes is the daughter of Mr. Henry Hawkes, superintendent of distribution and repairs in the Brooklyn Water Department. He is a wealthy and influential resident of that borough, residing in a handsome stone front mansion in Prospect Place.

Miss Hawkes has for some years moved in the exclusive social set of Brooklyn. Two years ago George Howard appeared on the social horizon of this particular set and immediately became an ardent admirer of Miss Hawkes. Howard was an electrician, with a salary that did not seem at all commensurate with his expensive tastes. He dressed in the height of fashion. Automobiles were then the possession of the very wealthy only, but Howard was the fortunate possessor of one and in it he and Miss Hawkes were conspicuous figures about the boulevards.

When Miss Hawkes' engagement to George Howard was announced all Brooklyn society looked upon it with congratulatory approval, all save the brother of Miss Hawkes, who disliked and distrusted his dashing prospective brother-in-law.

On September 17, 1900, Miss Hawkes became Mrs. Howard, and after an extended honeymoon the couple settled down to housekeeping in Brooklyn. The suspicions, however, of young Mr. Hawkes regarding Howard grew, and he began to make unpleasant enquiries about his brother-in-law's career. He engaged a private detective, and in East Cambridge, Mass., they found a Mrs. Howard No. 1 and two children.

Howard at first stoutly denied his marriage to the woman in Cambridge, but there was convincing evidence against him and at last he confessed. He was arrested on New Years' Eve, 1900, a little more than three months after his marriage to Miss Hawkes.

An interesting feature of the case was the attitude taken by wife No. 1. The first Mrs. Howard stood by him, and although she had been grossly deceived and wronged by Howard she firmly refused to come to Brooklyn and testify against him and would give no aid in the prosecution. Howard pleaded guilty and was given an indeterminate sentence. Some months ago he was paroled and is now believed to be living in Boston with the wife who stood by him in his trouble.

The marriage of Mrs. Howard No. 2 was annulled in the Supreme court eight months ago and she was given permission to resume her maiden name. It was at this time that Mr. Malane became acquainted with Miss Hawkes. It was a mutual attachment apparently from the first, but the tenets of Miss Hawkes' church forbade a public announcement of their engagement without the papal decree. Bishop McDonnell took the papers of the Howard case to Rome. Two audiences with the Holy Father finally resulted in the ecclesiastical tribunal pronouncing the decree declaring the Howard marriage void.

The Bishop's return brought the eagerly looked for news to the young couple. The wedding of Miss Hawkes and Mr. Malane will be a quiet event of early fall.

EFFECTS OF WAR ON BRITAIN AND GERMANY

Estrangement of the Two Great Nations One Result

A GROWING HATRED EXISTS.

Count Bernstorf Thinks Britain and Germany Should Stand Together

Special to The Times.

London, August 5 — Count Bernstorff says that it has been a cause of natural sorrow to English Christians that the war has greatly estranged from the people of England the hearts of their continental brethren; but we certainly hope that after the conclusion of peace the mutual understanding will be restored.

The estrangement between English and German Christians was always looked upon by the writer as a great misfortune. He thinks the two nations ought to stand together in true friendship, and this view is not only the result of a personal sympathy which his relations with British Christians and a long stay in England have brought about.

It is also his opinion that, politically, it is required by the true interest of both countries. The German press has been very hostile to England during the war, but a fairer view of the matter will undoubtedly be taken now, and we venture to hope that the British press will also hope to forget the past.

POLITICAL DIFFERENCES.

The consideration which led to the postponement of the international conference of the Evangelical Alliance, intended for this month, shows how sadly political differences of opinion can endanger the unity of Christians. But these expressions of refusing fellowship to British Christians, wherever they did not publicly state their disapproval of the war, were after all not general. At the Blackenburg Conference, but also at several others, speakers from England were heartily welcomed.

People begin to feel now, continues the Count, that when a nation is at war all party strife must remain silent. It is an unfair demand, especially when it is to take place under pressure from abroad, that Christians should in such times publicly disapprove what their country does. It would be unfair, even if all the reports spread about South Africa were true; but one begins to feel that a great deal was exaggerated or misrepresented.

RECONCILIATION DESIRED.

We hope—and this seems to be the wish of English Christians as well—that Great Britain will try to reconcile the feelings of those who have at all events, been valiant foes, and if this is the case, it will do away with the last remnant of bad feeling in other countries. It is not forgotten in Germany how much we owe in impulses of practical Christianity to British Christians, and the fact that we serve the same Master, and pray for the advancement of the same glorious kingdom is a bond which is, thank God, after all stronger than temporary political misunderstandings. We hope the conference of the alliance will be possible in Germany next year; but even if it should be considered wiser to wait a little longer, the day will soon come when it can take place without any difficulty.

A PRONOUNCED VERDICT

"I LOVE MALT BREAKFAST FOOD"

Young and Old Who Have Used This King of Foods Say It is The Most Delicious of All Cereals

Malt Breakfast Food, delicious, appetizing, easily digested, rich in nourishing properties for blood, flesh and brain, is the chosen breakfast food of all who prize good health. The pronounced verdict of each man, woman and child is "I love Malt Breakfast Food." No other grain food has had such a welcome into the homes of all classes; no other is now so popular at the morning meal. If you would be strong, vigorous and happy use Malt Breakfast Food. Do not be induced to take a substitute from any grocer. Insist upon having Malt Breakfast Food every time. All progressive grocers sell it.

THE TOWN COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION

Retail Grocers' Petition for an Early Closing By-Law

REFERRED TO THE LEGAL COM.

Property Committee will Advertise for a Boiler to Heat The Town Buildings—Communications and Accounts

The Town Council met in regular session last night, when there were present Mayor T. H. G. Denne and Ald. Edgcombe, Roger, Rush, McGregor, J. J. Turner, Clinkscale, Batten, Corkery Best and Morrison.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed.

The Mayor, in a short but appropriate speech, welcomed Ald. J. J. Turner back from the Old Country, and hoped that his trip had been both a pleasing and profitable one.

Ald. Turner thanked Mayor Denne for his courtesy, and said that although he had been, with thousands of others, keenly disappointed in not witnessing the coronation, still his trip had been a very pleasant one. He had seen many grand sights, including reviews before the royal family and the homecoming of Lord Kitchener, the hero of the Boer war. He had also brought back with him from England recruits for Peterborough.

Communications.

From Alex. Klitenbeck, T. A. Redner, G. Mowatt, M. Butler, Patrick Lynch, W. Menzies, E. Archambault, Annie Sheppard, M. Staunton, John Sullivan, asking for remission of dog taxes.—Court of Revision.

From the American Cereal Company, saying that they are about to arrange for the permanent laying of the railway sidings at their works, and wished permission to fill in the culvert of flume which crosses Hunter street, near the Otonabee bridge.

The Co. were authorized to proceed with the work under the supervision of the town engineer, the company to assume all risks.

May Finn applied for remission of taxes.

T. Maldon applied for remission of statute labor tax, he having been a house holder since August, 1901.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Minicolo Bros., saying that they have paid $30 for a peddlar's license and asking the town to have $20 of the amount refunded them, as the town has done for several years.—License Committee with power to act.

—From Thos. J. Wilson, saying that the sidewalk at the corner of Aylmer and London streets, on the London st. front, is in a very bad state of repair, and asking that it be raised and moved out in a line with the walk to the east of it. He also requested that the street be graded and water-tabled.—Board of Works.

From Elizabeth B. Kennedy, Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, asking for remission of taxes on the property occupied by the association.—Court of Revision.

From Stratton & Hall as follows:

"The Peterborough Underwear Co. have consulted with us respecting the taxes upon the property assessed to them. The factory and lot are assessed for $5,000, personal property $5,000, total assessment $10,000. They have received a bill for taxes of $180. The taxes they formerly paid were only $68. The company have been unfortunate in their operations, and are still endeavoring to get further capital to go into the Company, and are also negotiating with some parties for the sale of the plant. In any event we expect the Company very shortly to be gotten into operation. We submit that under the circumstances the Council might reasonably accept payment of their taxes at their former rate, namely, $68.—Court of Revision.

From Adele Forcier, asking for remission of taxes.—Court of Revision.

From John McGrath offering to sell that portion of his lot at the corner of Harvey and Antrim streets, required by the Town for the diversion of Antrim street, for $200. Referred to the property Committee.

William Pilling and Wiliam Hutchinson complained that they are troubled with water on Bolivia street, and asked to be given an opportunity of explaining the situation before the proper committee.—Request was granted and the matter referred to the Board of Works.

From Dr. Moher, tendering his resignation as chairman of the Board of Health, and conveying to the members of that Board his most sincere thanks for their kind consideration during his term of office.—Dr. Moher's resignation was accepted.

The Mayor here remarked that the town loses a very efficient officer in Dr. Moher, who was always prompt and attentive to his official duties. He felt sure that in regretting the resignation of so capable a chairman of the Board of Health, he was expressing the sentiments of the whole Council.

Mr. A McCarthy petitioned the Council to have Murray street from Rubidge to Reid street, cleaned up and graded.

—Mr. Anglesea addressed the Council on this subject, and said as he was going to improve his property in this locality, which would mean an increase of taxes to the Town the street should be put in good condition. This could be done at but little expense.

The above matter was referred to the Board of Works.

Accounts.

The following accounts were referred to the Finance Committee:

Thos. Williams	$ 2 50
Wm. Hetherington	3 90
J. W. Metharal	21 00
Times Printing Co.	4 00
P. Grady	2 50
Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co.	31 00
Stevenson Coal Co.	41 75
Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co.	4 00
Walter Stocker	10 00

Ald. Best moved, seconded by Ald. Corkery, that the Treasurer be authorized to issue monthly checks in payment of the Stevenson Coal Co'. contract with the Town, on certification of the Town Engineer.—Carried.

Legal Committee's Report.

Ald. Edgcombe submitted the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1 That no action be taken in the letter of Mr. P. Sims, of the British American Assurance Co., and Mr. W. H. Hill in regard to injury caused to windows by fire on the street at, the time of the celebration of peace in South Africa.

2. That the Board of Education be requested to let the matter of the election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. W. B. Bamford stand until the time of the January elections.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted as read.

Early Closing By-law.

A largely signed petition was received from the retail grocers asking that a by-law be passed to compel the closing of all grocery stores in town at seven o'clock each evening the year round, excepting on Fridays and Saturdays, and two weeks before, and one week after, Christmas; each evening before a holiday also to be excepted.

This matter was referred to the Legal Committee with power to act.

Boiler Wanted.

Ald. Clinkscale moved, seconded by Ald. Batten, that the Chairman of the Property Committee be authorized to advertise for tenders for a suitable boiler, with which to heat the town buildings.—Carried.

Council then adjourned.

JAPAN IS PREPARING TO ATTACK RUSSIA

The Eastern War Cloud Suddenly Becomes More and More Threatening.

Russia Not Withdrawing from Manchuria—Her Failure to Do So Means War—Japan Preparing for the Conflict

Special cable to The Times.

London, Aug. 5—A special despatch confirms the report of Major General Dorward, that the war between Japan and Russia is a certainty, unless the latter power withdraws her forces from Manchuria, according to the terms which the Anglo-Japanese agreement forced that country to make with China. If Manchuria is not evacuated, and Japanese correspondents at Pekin say that there are no signs of withdrawal, although the time for retirement is approaching, it means war. Japan will fight, there is no doubt of that, if Russia does not go. Both nations are well aware of this, and Russia is rapidly strengthening her garrisons and points of vantage, while Japan is quietly preparing to strike a blow if necessary. If Russia does not go from Manchuria, and it is war, the first thing this continent would hear of would be the blowing up and destruction of the big Russian railway, for even now there are points of vantage. Japanese engineers who are versed in explosives, ever ready for the signal that war has been declared. The war, if it came to war, would have its scene of action on both land and sea, beginning no doubt in a naval war in the Yellow Sea and being concluded on land. Russia has now 80,000 men in the garrisons of Manchuria. Great Britain has her strongest garrison in North China at Shan Hai Kwan, the coast terminus of the railway to Pekin, there being but 250 men at the Chinese capital, says the British general. The force at Shan-Hai-Kwan will likely be augmented to five regiments, probably mostly Indian troops. The Germans have about 800 men, and the French and Japanese about 500 men each. It may be that eventually since the Anglo Japanese agreement regarding an Eastern policy, Britain and Japan will maintain garrisons in both stations. Major-General Fukushima, who was in charge of the Japanese forces during the North China campaign, is now in London, it is said, making arrangements to this end. Among other things, Major-General Dorward says the situation is unchanged in China, the Boxer and other rebel disturbances which are heard of from time to time, being more or less overdrawn, as it is to the interest of the Russians and Germans to magnify these disturbances, which they do, to give excuse for the maintenance of their troops in China.

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED

How a Peterborough Man Fared with His Stenographers

A good story is being told of a local business man, who advertised in The Times for a young man as typewriter, and when asked by one of his acquaintances why he did not employ a girl, he replied:

"I've had three or four and they don't turn out well. The first one was with me about a month when a theatrical company came along and was going to skip their date because Little Eva was sick. My typewriter heard of it, and offered her services, and she played the part so well that the company took her along and in four weeks she married the manager and run the whole show. The second one got a little too fresh after a week or so and came to me and said:

"'Mr. Blank, you haven't got but one 'f' in coffee, while you've put an 'h' in sugar and left out an 'e' in sheeting.'

"'Do you object to my way of spelling?' I asked.

"'I do,' she replied, 'I don't want folks to think I'm typewriting for a sawmill.'

"As I wouldn't change, she did and number three was all right till a young farmer walked in and gained her love while she was typewriting an order for six grindstones and a bale of bed blankets.

"Number four was the best looking girl of all, and she hadn't been in the store three days when my wife says to me across the breakfast table:

"'Silas, I think I'll go home on a visit.'

"'Yes?' says I.

"'And take our seven children.'

"'Yes?'

"'And stay a year or two.'

"'What's the row?' says I.

"'Nothing' says she, 'only that when a man of your age has to put on a clean shirt and collar every morning, it's time he got a homely typewriter or a new family.'

"The girl went," continued the merchant, "and I don't think I'll try any more. I'll get some young man who wants a chance to work up, and when he ain't typewriting I'll hoist him upstairs to barrel up beans and sack up wool!"

QUEEN VICTORIA'S DRESS

One Which She Had Worn Was Made Over for Coronation

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 5.—One of the ladies of the coronation was to have worn a gown composed of a robe that once belonged to the late queen. The garment is of cloth-of-gold, with a tiny short-waisted bodice. The back part of the skirt is whole all in one, with no seam. The skirt opens in front over gold colored tulle. It seems a real sin to cut up this interesting apparel, which would in time be almost priceless as a relic and for which many American enthusiasts would not be unwilling to pay a large sum. But the recipients of these royal gifts are never allowed to sell them, and it would have been foolish to leave cloth-of-gold lying around, when such a pageant as the coronation was in view.

A JOLLY PARTY

Are Spending a Week in Camp Down the River Otonabee

A jolly party of young people, composed of Misses Lucy, Ada, and Maggie Sabin, Maggie Morrison, Birdie Straive and Florence Dormer, and Messrs. Ed. Davis, Charlie Sabin, J. Howard, H. Roberts, and Master Percy Johnston, are spending a week camping on the banks of the grand Otonabee, near Jubilee Point.

—Mr. J. Alexander has his trim little yacht Echo in splendid working order, and has placed it at the disposal of the young people.

Mrs. Alexander is kindly performing the duties of chaperon for the occasion She is accompanied by her three children, Master George and the Misses Maggie and Martha.

Needless to say all are enjoying themselves to the utmost and some of the gentlemen are proving more than capable of providing amusement for the crowd.

THE VILLAGE COUNCIL

Ashburnham Public School Assessment is Five Mills

A regular monthly meeting of Ashburnham council was held last night with Reeve Smith in the chair and all the members present.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting accounts to the amount of $220.20 were ordered to be paid.

A statement of receipts and expenditures from July 7 to August 2 was received, the former amounting to $98.98 and the latter $719.98.

A communication was received from the Ashburnham School Board stating that a levy of 5 mills on the assessment for 1902 will be required, and also from the Separate School Board, requesting the collection of $417.60 from supporters of the Peterborough Separate School who are rated in Ashburnham, as taxes for the current year.

After consideration of a communication from a number of the ratepayers the council decided to have a new sidewalk built on Driscoll Terrace from Elizabeth street to Douro street, and to have the same four feet further from the fence than the present one.

On motion of Messrs. Johnston and Adams, the clause in by-law No. 57, regarding licenses for retail butchers, was amended by reducing the cost of a license from $25 to $12.

A motion was passed referring the matter of granolithic sidewalks on Elizabeth street for consideration at a special meeting of the council to be held next Monday, the 11th inst. Estimates will be prepared in the meantime and the question will be thoroughly discussed.

The question of extending the water mains was placed in the hands of a special committee to report at the next meeting.

KAISER GOES TO COWES

The German Emperor to Visit the King of England

Special to The Times.

Berlin, Aug. 2—Though the visit of Emperor William to King Edward is declared to be without political significance, it is nevertheless attracting considerable attention in view of the interchange of courtesies which has marked their relations for some months past. The Emperor sailed from Kiel to-day on board the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern. He is expected to remain at Cowes during the regatta week, when his American built yacht Meteor III will compete for the King's cup.

Tracy well Heeled

Spokane, Wash. Aug. 5—Harry Tracy, the fugitive desperado, is now in Eastern Washington, unwounded, in good health, armed with four guns, and 200 rounds of ammunition, provisioned for five days and equipped with two horses. Tracy crossed the Columbia river early yesterday and is now supposed to be headed toward the Idaho line. Tracy declared he wanted to hold up a bank or rob an express car. He says that he has promised to give the sum of $5,000 within one year to the parties who helped his escape from the Oregon penitentiary. He is making his way to the "Hole in the wall" country in Wyoming. When there he declares, he will be a thief among thieves and thinks he will be [illegible].

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill, Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal
Portland, Boston ... 5.10 a.m. 12.25 a.m.

West

Ottawa, Montreal... ... 5.10 p.m 11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood.
Norwood, Havelock, Ot-
[illegible]
Havelock .... 7.15 a.m. 7.25 p.m.

Canadian Pacific

Toronto, London, Detroit,
Chicago ... ... 11.25 a.m. 5 10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate...7.30 p.m. 1 12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago ...... 12.25 a.m. 5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...11.25 a.m. 5 10 p.m

Grand Trunk

Arrive Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto ... ...11.40 a.m. 8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago 9 00 p.m. 6.25 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west ... .5.25 p.m. 11.41 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal ....2.30 a.m. 5.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc ....1.10 a.m. 8.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal ....2.05 p.m. 2.05 p.m
Lakefield local ....9.00 a.m. 2.20 a.m
Lakefield local ....5.00 p.m. 12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local ....6.30 p.m. 5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 5, 1902

THE KING IS POPULAR

The progress of the King has been remarkable, and in all human probability the coronation will take place at the new date appointed. Much of the splendor will be missing, yet there will be an added note of solemnity which will impress the world quite as much as the gauds of power. The humble recognition that we derive all all our satisfaction from the Divine Being, and that we are dependent upon Him for the event in which we had promised ourselves should stun the world, will make for the general wholesomeness, although, theologically, too much was made of the King's illness—that is to say, too much was attempted to be proved from a natural occurrence which was the operation of well known law. The illness of the King, however, has had all hearts drawn towards him, and even the continental press, which was so virulent in the closing days of his august mother's life, has modified its tone, and speaks with sympathy. The press of the United States has been most friendly, and there is a decidedly better feeling between England and the great republic than has existed for many years. The sorrow of England over the death of President McKinley, the sending home of the body of Lord Pauncefote in an American warship—these incidents produced a good feeling which was generally felt by the two countries.

Of course, high diplomacy is not in any immediate way influenced by personal incident, but a general tendency which affects both peoples will also unconsciously influence diplomatic relations. Upon the whole, the sickness of the King has disclosed the fact that His Majesty is well liked the world over;—that he is regarded as being eminently qualified for the high office which he has been called upon to fill; and that even the proverbial enemies of England regard him with esteem and respect. This is of great value, the more especially at the present time, when England is just emerging from a long and exhausting war. We may hope for His Majesty length of days, a prosperous and happy reign, and the realization of something of the character of her who was a pattern for sovereigns in all that makes for moral greatness, which is the only thing that can endure in this or any other world.

—The market on Saturday was not largely attended, the farmers being busy with their harvest operations.

A COAL FAMINE ON IN PETERBORO

Leading Local Dealers Expect Trouble in Filling Orders

Will Not Take Fresh Orders at Any Price—Little Chance of any Relief for Months to Come

Local dealers say that the people do not seem to realize the gravity of the situation, for if they did they would not lost a minute endeavoring to stack their bins with a good supply. All over the country the price of hard coal is steadily advancing. In Toronto it is $7, and in New York it is $10. There is no immediate prospect of the strike being settled, and prices must necessarily still further advance. The dealers in Peterborough say that coal may advance in price any day, and that it is owing to the poor demand that prices remain as low as they are. But the great danger is not in the advance of the price, but in the great shortage that exists in the supply.

It was stated yesterday morning by a prominent dealer that if he was called upon to supply all the coal that he sold in Peterborough last season, the stock he had on hand at present would fill only one-fourth the orders. Most of the dealers have enough coal on hand to supply the orders they now have in, and at any time they may stop taking orders at any price. They expect no further shipments of coal until the strike is settled, and of this there is no immediate prospect, and they point out that when the miners return to work the first coal will naturally be shipped to New York and other American cities, and none would each here earlier than January.

KAISER GOES TO COWES

The German Emperor to Visit the King of England

Special to The Times.

Berlin, Aug. 2—Though the visit of Emperor William to King Edward is declared to be without political significance, it is nevertheless attracting considerable attention in view of the interchange of courtesies which has marked their relations for some months past. The Emperor sailed from Kiel to-day on board the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern. He is expected to remain at Cowes during the regatta week, when his American built yacht Meteor III will compete for the King's cup.

Items of News

Special to The Times.

Windsor, Ont., July 31.—Mr. R. F. Sutherland, K.C., member of Parliament from North Essex, had an exciting experience with a burglar at an early hour this morning. He was awakened by a noise downstairs, and when he attempted to investigate he found himself looking into the muzzle of a big revolver in the hand of the early morning visitor. When he saw that Sutherland was unarmed the burglar ordered him to retire upon pain of being filled full of holes. Deeming discretion to be the better part of valor the member for North Essex beat a hasty retreat, but not before he had hurled a heavy chair at the intruder, who, however, managed to effect his escape.

Earlier in the evening the burglar visited the residence of Mr. O. E. Fleming and Dr. P. A. Ailmen, but secured little booty for his trouble. The police were at once notified and instituted a close search, but the burglar had made good his escape to the other side of the river, presumably upon one of the big car ferries which run all night. Detroit detectives arrested the man later in that city and brought him to Windsor, where he is now locked up under the name of Darby Travers. He had in his possession a hat that Mr. Fleming identified as that stolen from him and a light overcoat answering the description of one stolen.

Travers was arrested in Detroit in response to a communication from St. Thomas saying that a quantity of silver had been stolen there. The silver was found in a Detroit pawn shop, and the thief was arrested through the pawnbroker's description. Travers is believed to be the man who robbed the United States Consul at St. Thomas last Monday. United States Consul M. J. Burke lost his family silver service a fine 38-calibre revolver, and several dollars worth of Canadian postage stamps. When searched at Police headquarters Travers was found to have a loaded revolver, fifty bullets, and some burglar saws in his pockets. At St. Thomas the residence of Sheriff Brown was also entered. He refuses to talk, but demanded an examination within 24 hours. He is believed to be a veteran at the business.

Special to The Times.

JOHN MITCHELL, LETTER WRITER.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 1.—President Mitchell of the Miners' Union began a reply today in an open letter addressed to him yesterday by the Citizens Alliance of Wilkesbarre, an organization of business and professional men and others.

At a miner's convention at Nanticoke recently Mr. Mitchell criticized the Alliance because, he said, it was not consistent. It wanted to prosecute all miner who violated the law, he averred, but it overlooked the many violations of the law committed daily by the coal combination. The Alliance replied in an open letter, enumerating many alleged outrages by strikers and others in the coal region since the strike began. Mr. Mitchell was called upon to define his position, and to issue a proclamation to his followers, warning them to observe law and order. He did not answer the letter, and yesterday the Alliance addressed another open letter to him.

After consulting his advisors, he decided to answer it. In his reply he asserts that he has always been a staunch defender of law and order and that his followers know it. Mr. Mitchell would not discuss the suit in equity brought against him and other national officers of the United Mine Workers by a coal company in West Virginia.

All Quiet at Shenandoah.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 1.—Shenandoah is quiet today and peace reigns everywhere in the region. The only thing now attracting attention hereabouts is the camp of the troops just outside the town. The soldiers have settled down to the full swing of camp routine.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
THE GREAT REMEDY FOR PAIN

"The Umbrella."

An English exchange makes the following remarks with reference to the umbrella:

"It seems that the same Sherlock Holmes-like instinct which is prepared to reconstruct a man's whole mode of life from a study of his cigarette ends has now been brought to bear upon the umbrella, and the expert umbrellist is prepared to give a complete character-sketch of any individual, with the principal events in his past and future history, after a critical survey of his behavior with an umbrella. For instance, if a man is observed carrying an umbrella over a lady's head in such a way as to preserve her Bond street hat from the rain, while a little stream trickles softly down the back of his own neck, it is pretty safe to prophesy that she is his Best Girl. If, on the other hand, it is his own gasometer which is kept dry, while the trickle is reserved for the lady, it is a safe thousand-to-three on that she is his wife. When a man carries an umbrella horizontally under his arm, it is generally a sign that someone is shortly going to have his, or her, eye put out. When a brand-new umbrella is deposited with a lot of others in the umbrella-stand of a club, it is frequently a sign that it is about to change owners. There are many other ways in which the umbrella may be taken as an indication either of coming events or of character, but the Best Girl, who has been running her eye over the above, says emphatically that it is perfectly absurd to judge any average man from his umbrella. When pressed for a reason she explains sarcastically, 'Because it so seldom belongs to him!' And there is something in that."

Dooley on the Romantic Novel.

But lithrachoor is th' gr-reat lifewurruk iv the modhren woman. Th' conthrol is passin' into th' hands iv th' fair sect, an' th' day will come whin th' wurrud book will mane no more to an ablebodied man thin th' wurrud gusset. Women write all th' romantic novels that ar-re anny good. That's because iv'ry man thinks th' thrue hayroe is himself an' ivry woman thinks he's James K. Hackett. A woman is sure a good, sthrong man ought to be able to kill anny number iv bad, weak men, but a man is always wondherin' what th' other la-ad w'u'd do. He might have th' punch left in him that w'u'd get th' money. A woman niver cares how many men are kilt, but a man believes in fair play, an' he'd like to see th' polis intherfere about Chapter Three.

Woman writes all th' good romantic novels, an' reads thim all. If anny proud la-ad in th' gum business thinks he riprisints th' ideal iv his wife's soul, he ought to take a look at th' books she reads. He'll l'arn there th' reason he's where he is because he was th' on'y chanst, not because he was th' first choice. 'T w'u'd humble th' haughtiest prince iv thrade to look into th' heart iv th' woman he cares most f'r an' thinks last about, an' find that, instead iv the photygraft of a shrewd but kindly man with a thriflin' absence iv hair on his head an' a burglar-proof safe on his watch charm, there's a pitcher iv a young la-ad in green tights playin' a mandolin to a high front stoop. On th' stoop, with a rose in her hand, is his lawful-wedded wife, th' lady Annamariar Huggins iv Peetone. Ye can't keep her away fr'm a romantic novel. No matther what Edward Atkinson, tells ye, she prefers "Th' Age iv Chivalry" to th' mos' atthractive housewurruk. — "Century Magazine."

A Different View.

"I never like to go to the theater with Fred. He always goes out between the acts." "You mean he comes in between the drinks."

Very Little Difference.

"Is that an historical novel you're reading?" "That's what they called it at the library, but it seems to me to be more hysterical than anything else."—Chicago "Record-Herald."

An Esquimaux Tradition.

There is a remarkable tradition amongst the Esquimaux which explains why the women in the north are deft with the needle while those of the south dance nimbly. Long ago the northland was inhabited by men only, and no woman had ever come among them. It was noised abroad that far away in the south one woman dwelt alone, and one of the northerners set his face southward and journeyed until he reached the woman's dwelling. In course of time he married her, and rejoiced that he had a wife while the son of the headman of the north was still a bachelor. But meanwhile this same bachelor was traveling southward with the same object in view, and, coming to the house while the man was within, hid himself and waited until night fell. Then he forced his way in, and, seizing the woman, began to drag her away. The noise, however, woke the husband, who grasped his wife's feet, and both tugged violently, with such effect that the poor body was torn in twain, the robber going off with the upper half only. The rightful husband carved a body of wood and fastened it to his wife's legs, while the other man completed his half in a similar manner, each addition receiving life as soon as finished, two women being thus made out of one. But, although the woman of the south could dance nimbly, her wooden fingers prevented her from embroidering, while the woman of the north excelled only in needlework, and thus originated the characteristics of the women of the south and north.

Edward Everett Hale said at the celebration of his eightieth birthday last month, "I never had but one enemy, and last week, when I was trying to think of his name, I found I had forgotten who he was." This is better than keeping him in mind by making plans every day for "getting even."

"There, now, Clara, how would you like to be those people who can't get home from Paris because their funds gave out?" "Well, dear me, Clarence, they are better off than we, whose funds gave out before we got started."—"American Register."

Advertise in The Times.

—Fishing is said to be unusually good at Burleigh just now.

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of he United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced he cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO

PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00..........................$1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.....Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is onethird of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest." WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1 00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc, a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON

500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises, ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000

Full-paid and non assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President, A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President, Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J THOMPSON, Retired Merchant, Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT, Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL, Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. [illegible], Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers, Trenton, N. J.
COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY own a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one-fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $4.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

$1,500,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER Jr, Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P COOPER Boston.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the bond without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co.,
24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful. No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc., prevents and removes Freckles At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co
185 YONGE ST., TORONTO

FOR A SAFE AND SURE
INVESTMENT

...BUY STOCK IN...

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.

Mine Opened Up.
Ore in Sight.
Ore Vein 10 Feet Wide.
Values per Ton Average $24.75.
Hoist Pump, etc., Installed.

Mine in active operation 18 months. Now ready for concentrating mill, and for that purpose only we offer a small amount of stock at 20 cents per share, for 30 days.

For prospectus and further particulars call or address—

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
342 LUMBER EXCHANGE, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street,
AGENT AT PETERBOROUGH.

STOCKS SOLD ON INSTALLMENT

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

R-I-P-A-N-S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealers

A Few Snaps for our Patrons

2 Hotels, both money makers.
1 Blacksmith outfit, a good one.
A Barber Business, good trade.
Medical Practice, a bargain.
50 Houses in town, all prices.
47 Farms from 50 to 300 acres, and lots of lots for all who want to buy them.

See us quickly if you want anything in above.

T. HURLEY & CO.
Peterboro's Real Estate Hustlers

APIOL & STEEL PILLS
for Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

VARICOCELE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you, you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients ship from Windsor, Ont. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
C. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT
Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets.
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	[illegible]

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange N. Y. Produce Exchange Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
4 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 480 Broad
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 8c cash, 9c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 715 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME
Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 715 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS
Municipal & Corporation Bonds
Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

The Toreador's Rose.

Whenever I hear the "Toreador's March" from "Carmen" — that gay, devil-may-care melody, with its undertone of tragic sorrow, recalling a picture I once saw of a rose in a skull—I think of Jose Silverio. It was in old Madrid, the romantic city of guitars, dark eyes, love, and bull-fights; where the statue of the Virgin stands in the public square with the late King Alfonso's fatal sapphire burning blue on her carven finger. To the light lilt of merry music Jose Silverio, the handsome toreador, idol of all the young bloods and beloved by half the fair women of Madrid, rode into the ring. A murmur of admiration greeted him—he was splendid in spangles and mounted on a magnificent white horse. After him came his scarlet-cloaked matadors on foot, armed with light lances fluttering with streamers of many-colored ribbons. The bull's hoarse bellow struck into the music like the deep, mellow note of a bass viol. He was already in the ring pawing up the sawdust defiantly, a superb animal of the best breed of Andalusia, with delicate hoofs, curving horns, and a skin like black satin, under which the fierce muscles constantly rippled. The toreador lifted his dark, passionate eyes to a box above, where eyes equally dark, equally passionate, answered his mute, adoring message. The senorita was in black, the usual dress affected in public by Spanish women of high degree. A diamond star sparkled on her full bosom, and a crimson rose caressed like the lips of a lover the black, silken masses of her hair, over which a fold of the lace mantilla was coquettishly thrown.

An hour before he had passed the flower between her window bars, and he thrilled with exquisite joy to see it glowing in her dusky braids. The perfume of the rose, already wilting in the hot amphitheater was wafted to his nostrils with the woody smell of fresh sawdust and musky odors from hundreds of constantly moving fans. Its fragrance led him back in sweet retrospection to a walled garden, dim paths, checkered black and silver in the moonlight, the pressure of a soft breast, braceleted arms, and red lips yielding kiss for kiss, while his blue-ribboned guitar lay silent in the dew at his feet. Then the bull, goaded to splendid ferocity by the torturing banderillos, made his mad charge. The ring became an inferno of hoofs and horns, out of which flashed the keen lightning of the toreador's sword in a cloud of dust. No one could tell afterward exactly how it happened, though every eye was riveted on the arena, but the white horse rolled over in his death agony, disemboweled by one swift stroke from those terrible twin sabres fixed in the bull's powerful forehead. By the fraction of a second Jose failed to slip his feet from the stirrups in time to escape the second charge. His body described a glittering arc in the air, and fell lifeless in the sawdust. The sword, sent spinning from his hand, was caught by a matador, who delivered the coup de grace to the bull by a feat of nimble cunning that elicited a thunder of applause. Even the senorita clapped her little jeweled hands. She leaned over the edge of her box to look down at the limp, inert figure so full of proud courage and virile grace a moment ago.

"Dios! poor fellow," she said. Then, turning to a young man leaning over her chair, "Don Felipe, you may have the rose, though it is wilted now."—Minna Irving, in "Leslie's."

The Fable of Matsukata.

Count Matsukata, former Prime Minister of Japan, who is known in America as "the father of the gold standard," was asked during his recent visit to New York whether "Captains of Industry" in the Mikado's Empire were getting control of the country's trade and resources.

"Not to the same extent as in—more advanced lands," answered Count Matsukata with a smile. "Perhaps we are influenced by the old 'Myth of the Gold Man,' handed down from the ancient days of Sin Mu."

The count was requested to tell the legend, and he said:

"In the dim historic dawn a merchant eager for great wealth heard of a strange grove of wild lemon trees whose fabulous fruit, when eaten, would convert the hand that plucked it into gold.

"So the merchant journeyed to the grove, where the God of Riches, with a great sack on his shoulders, bade him help himself. He did so, and his arm was converted into gleaming gold. This he had amputated, and, though bereft of an arm, became a man of wealth.

"A banker, hearing of the strange case, determined to secure the total produce of the miraculous lemon trees. To that end he bought out the right of the guardian deity; but that shrewd being exacted so great a price that the covetous banker found his fortune depleted. To secure ready money he determined to eat of the fruit and sacrifice an arm.

"Raw lemons, however, was too astringent for his pampered palate, and so he sweetened the juice of several lemons, and, adding thereto wine of rare vintage, drank greedily of the potent and tempting beverage.

"In a few minutes he had turned into a pillar of gold.

"Then his heirs melted him down, coined him into convenient cobangs, and, turning their backs bravely on the grove of golden lemons, proceeded with free hands to spend and enjoy their bountiful inheritance."

"What became of that lemon grove?" enquired a vigilant New Yorker who had listened eagerly to the story.

"There is no record," replied Count Matsukata, smiling, "of its having been destroyed, but happily our fortune-hunters have not been able to locate it.

—Have you ordered your winter's coal yet? § §

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers
Fortune's Spor, Miss Nobody,
Her Royal Highness Lady
Mary of the Dark
House, etc.

he would not wait to have it sent; and Mrs. Jennett had informed me that they were forced—it was too early still for strawberries to grow out of doors in England. Somebody in this house, therefore, appeared also desirous of offering me luxuries.

It would have been more Spartan in me to refuse the food prepared in a house which might be that of an enemy. But I was not Spartan, and being very hungry, I half-shamefacedly ate.

I was too excited to linger over the meal, however, and as soon as I had finished I put on the black dress which I had worn last night. It was a temptation to fling that aside, and choose a white frock from among those which had so mysteriously made their appearance in the big wardrobe. But I resisted; and I had only just fastened the last hook when Sintra Leigh asked to be admitted.

She looked me over from head to foot. "It is fortunate that you are pretty in anything," she remarked bluntly, "for it can't be concealed that that frock is exceedingly shabby. I hoped that you would have dressed yourself in one of the charming gowns which Lady Cope gave you, and—friends of yours imported to this house."

"You forget that I am in mourning," I said. "And, even if I were not, why should I take particular pains to make myself attractive?"

The woman in black shrugged her shoulders. "Luckily Nature has done that for you, so we will talk no more about it. Are you anxious to hear the news I promised you?"

"If I say that I am anxious, you will probably not tell me."

"You misjudge me, my dear young lady. The news is this: that the employer whose agent I have been—the 'power behind the throne' of whom I spoke—is ready to see you if you are willing to be seen."

"At last!" I ejaculated.

"You are in just the proper mood for such an occasion. I will show you the way."

We went downstairs as we had come up last night. From the great hall, with its ugly marble pillars and its crowding portraits, a number of doors opened out. My guide led me to one at the back, and then paused, grasping the handle. "A word of advice," she said, in a low voice; and I thought that her face showed a certain excitement. "Just a word before you go into this room alone. You are not a bad sort of girl, and you have suffered a great deal—as much in these two past months, perhaps, as many women suffer in a whole lifetime. For my part in your troubles—I admit that I have indirectly had a part—I am sorry, for I had no grudge against you—I have none now. But certain things were inevitable, and the pawns had to be swept off the board with the queen and the castles. You happened to be one of the pawns. But now you are back on the board again, and instead of being a pawn, as you were before, you are a queen—or it is in your hands to be one if you choose. I have done my work, and brought you to this place for a motive with which you yourself have nothing to do. Last evening when I met you it was absolutely without feeling either for or against. But you are a plucky girl; and I admire pluck. You are a beautiful girl; and I admire beauty. Therefore, I am now more your friend than your enemy, though you may not credit it. And with an honest wish for your welfare, I advise you, when you have crossed this threshold and learnt what you will soon learn after the door has been opened and closed, to guard your tongue well. Listen, before you speak. Do nothing, say nothing, on the impulse of the moment. Reflect that you have everything to lose on the one hand, everything to gain on the other—and be wise. That is all."

In spite of myself and my strong prejudice, amounting to repulsion, I was impressed. A feeling of solemnity fell upon me, cooling the heat of excitement. "Thank you," I said, more gently than I had spoken yet. "I will remember."

She opened the door, looked me in the eyes, and I passed into the room beyond. The door was softly closed again.

In speaking of her "employer," of the "power whom she served," Sintra Leigh had never used the word "he" or "she." Nothing that she did seemed to be done carelessly, therefore I believed that the omission was by design. She did not wish me to know, until I should see for myself, whether the person unknown were man or woman. I expected, however, as I entered, to see someone rise or come forward; but apparently the room was empty.

It was a handsome library, old-fashioned, like everything else in the house, save only the room allotted to me. Two of the walls were lined with tall bookcases. A third showed a wide doorway, covered with green velvet curtains; and above and on either side were portraits. They were three in number, all strikingly well painted. The face over the door I instantly recognized as that of Sir Vincent Cope, whom I had once supposed to be my father. Evidently the picture had been painted in his early youth, before the one with which I was familiar at Arrish Mell Court.

On the right side of the door was a portrait of Sintra Leigh, many years younger, but much the same in feature as now. On the left was the face of a man so like her that only the hair and the clothing showed that the two portraits had not been painted from the same model.

As I looked at these things, wondering, the velvet curtains over the doorway moved.

CHAPTER XXI.
The Power Behind the Throne.

I caught my breath. In an instant I had forgotten the portraits, and had only eyes for what should come out from behind the curtains.

Then they were swept aside; and I saw the man whom I might perhaps have expected, yet had not dreamt of seeing—Roger Cope.

Our eyes met. Instantly all impression of mystery was gone. I felt that I should have known from the first that it would be explained in this way.

"My darling—at last!" he exclaimed, and came towards me quickly, with both hands held out. But I put mine behind my back.

"So you are the 'employer' of whom that woman spoke!" I said, viciously; "and this is your house."

"I thought you might have guessed by this time whose place it was," Roger answered. "Many things might have told you, even if you had forgotten seeing the old photographs of the house taken from the outside, and the great hall with the pillars, which Aunt Ermyntrude kept. It was my Cousin Vincent's place, you know, until on his

THE
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

HEAD OFFICE AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS 59 YONGE ST., TORONTO
WINNIPEG BRANCH OFFICE—
BANK OF HAMILTON CHAMBERS, WINNIPEG, MAN.

CAPITAL	$1,000,000
RESERVE FUND	270 000

President—JOHN HOSKIN, K. C., LL. D., Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Life Assurance Company and Vice-President at Canada Landed and National Company

VICE-PRESIDENTS { HON. S. C. WOOD, Director of The Western Assurance Co. / W. H. BEATTY, Vice-President of The Bank of Toronto

AUTHORIZED TO ACT AS

Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Receiver, Committee of Lunatics, Guardian, Liquidator, Assignee, etc.

WINNIPEG BRANCH.

The corporation has opened a branch of its business in Winnipeg, and the attention of property owners executors, trustees, etc., and other residents in Ontario, who have interests in Manitoba, is called to the unusual facilities offered by the Winnipeg branch for effecting sales of property, prompt collection of rents, appraisement of property, and generally looking after the interests of non-residents, at most reasonable charges.

ADVISORY BOARD:

SIR D. H. McMILLAN, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.
D. W. BOLE, Wholesale Druggist; Chairman of The Winnipeg School Board.
A. M. NANTON, Messrs. Osler, Hammond & Nanton.
H. H. SMITH, formerly Dominion Land Commissioner for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

J. W. LANGMUIR, Managing Director.
A. D. LANGMUIR, Assistant Manager
JAMES DAVEY, Manager Winnipeg Branch.

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, and save three Profits. LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES & GENTS, ROLLER BLINDS, BLOUSES, REAL SWISS, LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, LOOM HOSIERY, GUIPURE D'ART, HOUSEHOLD LINENS

POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

LOT No. 397 CONTAINS:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Ecru if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $6.30, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability. First Prize Medals, Toronto 1892; Chicago, 1893.

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.

Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP
WORKS OF
Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.
FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE
An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 168 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 169 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 337 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 338 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tail-pieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

Advertise in the Morning Times.

Navigation

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.

Carthagenian	July 30
Sardinian	August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes.

THE WELL and favorably known S. S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 14th and 28th July; 11th and 25th August, 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY.
(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION
SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.
CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.55 a. m. and Penetang at 2.30 p. m. daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 8.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2.30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS,
Master

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"
CAPT. W. [illegible] Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 24th. On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars from W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

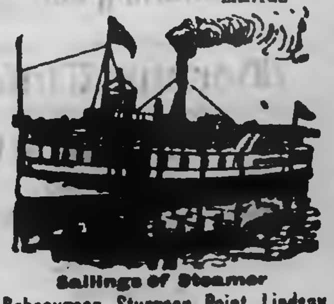
Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED



Sailings of Steamer
Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION
JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	"	6.30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	"	7 40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA
JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"
JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.
Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets)...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.
Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets ...... [illegible] a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester)...... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to official ticket reads. For further information apply to.

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James Sevens, Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.
FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—FARE:—
$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18
Including meals and berth on route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

Foot Elm.

This is the original and reliable remedy for feet that are blistered, hot, feverish, swealy, tired, aching, etc.

It gives immediate relief.

It preserves the leather

It is the cheapest because the best. All honest druggists sell it. If any man offers you a substitute for the sake of making a little extra profit out of you, write us about it, giving the name. We will send you the name of some honest dealer in your vicinity who will give you what you ask for.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'

J. H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Tax Collections

Mr. W. J. Green, the efficient collector, passed over to the credit of the town at the Ontario Bank, on account of the first instalment of taxes, the sum of $58,652.42. This beats the record by some seven thousand dollars.

Coronation Service

St. John's church on Saturday next, the day on which (D.V.) the King and Queen are to be crowned at Westminster Abbey, a coronation service will be held at St. John's at 11 a.m., when the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke's, will preach the coronation service.

Contractor Bogue's Good Work

Mr. James Bogue, the well known contractor, in addition to extensive sewer work which he has in Lindsay, is putting up a handsome new block for the Bank of Montreal. Mr. Bogue has the reputation of doing good work, and his fame in this regard is rapidly spreading.

Stony Lake Improvements

The Siche Gas Company, whose head office is 83 York street, Toronto, has installed gas plants in Burleigh Falls Hotel, and this popular house is now brilliantly illuminated. "Viamede," and the store on Juniper Island are also having the new light installed. It is altogether likely that many of the cottages will also adopt this illuminant, which is specially suited for this purpose.

The Cause of Dyspeptic Pains

Improperly digested food usually forms gases that cause a painful distention of the stomach and pressure against the heart. This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for dyspepsia, indigestion, cramps, summer complaint and all stomach and bowel troubles. No household is complete without Nerviline. Try a 25c bottle.

The New Channel

The Government dredge will complete the opening of the new channel into Rice Lake, at the mouth of the Otonabee river, about the end of the month. This is what is known as the eastern channel. By the latter route the distance to points eastward on Rice Lake will be shortened two miles and three quarters. The dredge has been steadily employed here since August 4th, and is doing a first class job. The new channel will lie from eight to nine feet deep at low water, and about 125 feet wide.

Glance Booms Needed

Complaints are constantly being heard regarding the absence of glance booms at Bankfort Bridge, on the Otonabee river. The bridge in its present shape is not only dangerous to navigation, but there is a great risk of having the bridge injured. A steamer or scow, swing to the swift current, is liable to knock the swing portion of the bridge into the river at any time. Substantial glance booms should be placed in position at once and the municipalities interested should see that this was done without a particle of delay.

LAKEFIELD.

A party of young people from town drove out to Mr. Dennis Garvey's residence near Lakefield, last night, where they enjoyed themselves immensely in dancing, etc. The party was in charge of Mr. John Garvey, while Mr. Harvey Garvey acted as floor manager and Mr. Patrick Kane supplied the music in his well known form.

A Peterborough Contractor Abroad

Mr. Richard Sheehy, the well known local contractor, spent Sunday in town with his family. Mr. Sheehy has the contract of building the new post-office and customs' building at Deseronto. The work is well advanced, the roof being on, and work on the interior progressing. The building is a long way superior to any post office between Toronto and Ottawa. Mr. Sheehy has also the contract of building the new Roman Catholic church at Warkworth, which is also to be a very fine structure. Fact is when a first class job is required Peterborough men are in demand every time.

The Late Mrs. Redding

The death occurred on Sunday afternoon of Mrs. George Redding, Downie street, in the 58th year of her age. The deceased had been in poor health for some time, being a sufferer from rheumatism, but no apprehension was felt that the trouble would prove fatal. The disease, however, affected her heart, and death came quite unexpectedly, as above. Her demise was a great shock to her many friends. Mrs. Redding's maiden name was Annie Graham. Mrs. Jas. Wharton and Messrs. Geo. and Alex. Redding, of town, are children. The funeral will take place from the family residence, Downie street, this afternoon. The Times extends condolence.

They Take Weeks

Ordinary remedies sometimes take weeks to even relieve cases that Catarrhozone cures at once.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes now and again and it cures a cold.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes four times a day and it cures stubborn coughs.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes every hour and we guarantee it will cure any case of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, lung or throat trouble, deafness. It is very pleasant and convenient to use, quick to relieve and certain as the hereafter to cure. Large size, complete, price $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure headache.

WEDDING BELLS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday morning by the Rev. J. Bastow, when Miss Lillie Jones and Mr. Charles F. Browne were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The event took place at the residence of the bride's father, College street. The bride looked charming in a dress of white silk. She was assisted by her sister, Miss May, and Mr. James Browne performed similar duties for the groom. After the ceremony, the wedding party sat down to a dainty dejeuner, after which the happy couple departed for Rochester and other points on a honeymoon trip. The Times joins in extending its hearty congratulations.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

—The Peterborough cheese board will meet tomorrow evening.

—The big drive of logs which have been running the Otonabee river, are now nearly all in Rice Lake.

—The advance guard of the Y.M.C.A. boys' camp will leave for Cedar Lake this morning.

—Yesterday was Toronto's civic holiday, and many city people spent the day in town and vicinity.

—The business and stock of Mr. Haskill barber, on Simcoe street, has been purchased by Mr. Joseph Williams, of Port Perry. Mr. Williams will take possession at once.

—A blaze took place yesterday morning in a portion of the works of the Canadian General Electric Company. The fire was extinguished before any serious damage was done.

—On Thursday last, Mrs. Richard Hall hooked a fine 'lunge about ten pounds weight while trawling at Stony Lake.

—Mr. Frank Farren, of the government dredge, was in town over Sunday. Frank told The Times that the summer resorts at Rice Lake are having a splendid season.

—The water in the Otonabee is rapidly falling. The stop logs at Hastings have been removed in order to get it down so as to give the contractor for the new dam at the lower lock a chance to get along with his work.

—Little Flossie, who lives with her parents in Ashburnham, had been sent over town to the store to get some dyestuff and forgetting the name of it she asked: "What is it folks dye with?" "Oh, various things," replied the druggist. "Heart failure; for instance." "Well," said Flossie, "I suppose that will do. Give me three cents' worth, please."

GRANNY DID IT

Knew the Food That Furnished Power

A grandmother, by studying the proper selection of food, cured herself of stomach trouble and severe headaches. Later on she was able to save her little granddaughter because of her knowledge of food.

She says, "When baby was five months old she was weaned because of the severe illness of her mother. She was put on a prepared baby food but soon lost flesh and color, became hollow eyed and fretful. We changed her food several times but with no permanent benefit. At last her stomach rebelled entirely and threw up nearly everything she took. She would be wet with a cold perspiration after feeding and would cry piteously with pain. That is a dangerous condition for a small baby and in this extremity I remembered how beautifully Grape-Nuts had agreed with me, and suggested we try the food for baby.

We began very carefully with it, giving two small teaspoonfuls at a feeding, softened with boiling water and fed in sterilized milk, warmed. The experiment was a perfect success. She has been on the food five weeks and can now eat other food for the change in this brief time is wonderful. She has gained over three lbs. in weight, has rosy cheeks, bright eyes and she has the appearance of a satisfactorily nourished and thriving child."

The reason that Grape-Nuts will agree with adults and babies is that the starch of the cereals is transformed into grape sugar during manufacture, and when introduced into the stomach it is ready for immediate assimilation and does not tax the powers of the organs of digestion. The result is always beneficial and the food has saved thousands of lives.

Recipes for many easy hot weather dishes in each package of Grape-Nuts.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by 'phone or in writing.—[Ed. Times]

—Mr. Dan DeVine has returned to Toronto.

—Mr. John Crane returned from Stony Lake yesterday.

—Mr. Dickson Hall came down from Stony Lake yesterday.

—Miss M. Carmichael, of Toronto, is visiting her cousin, Miss Eva McCullough, McDonald street.

—Mrs. C. B. McAllister ran down from Stony Lake yesterday for the day.

—Mrs. W. J. Paterson, wife and family, of Toronto, are visiting friends in town.

—Misses Jessie and Johan Irvine, of Toronto, are visiting their sister in town.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fowler, left this morning for Jubilee for a week's outing.

—Mrs. (Dr.) Greer and Miss Gertrude Thompson are holidaying at Gore's Landing.

—Miss Hettie Crowe, of Toronto, is spending a few days with her parents in Ashburnham.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs, of British Columbia, are the guests of Mrs. Jas. Shook.

—Mr. J. B. McWilliams is spending a few days with his family at their Stony Lake Cottage.

—Mr. James Bogue came down from Lindsay on Saturday and spent Sunday with his family at Chemong Park.

—Miss Marguerite Callin, of Canisteo, N.Y. is spending a few days, the guest of Miss Estella McFadden, of town.

—Mr. Walter Phelan, of Toronto, who spent Sunday in town with his father, Mr. Ed. Phelan, left for the city yesterday.

—Prof. Silberg, the well known optician, passed through yesterday on his way from Lakefield to Fenelon Falls

—Miss Carrie Dunnigan, of Warkworth, has returned home after spending two weeks with her aunt, Mrs. J. M. Cunningham, Aylmer street.

—Mrs. W. J. Hopkins, Ontario st., Toronto, accompanied by her friend, Miss Helen Leigh, are the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace, Water street.

—Mr. J. H. McClelland returned to town from Montreal on Saturday, where he spent three weeks in connection with the new device for measuring electricity which has been patented by the Gowland Company, of Toronto, of which Mr. McClelland is General Manager.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. Reilly and family leave this morning for New York, en route for the old country, where Mr. Reilly goes to seek renewed health. His many Peterborough friends wish bon voyage and hope that the salt water and a sojourn in his native land may have the effect of restoring him fully to health.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Creshman, with their two young sons, Masters Harry and Fred, and their charming little daughter, Miss Jessie, will leave today for Grimsby, for a two weeks' outing. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson who have been the guests of Mrs. Creshman, since their return from Europe will accompany them to Grimsby.

A Hot Weather Life Saver

Lactated Food saves babies' lives in the hot summer weather. It is the most perfect substitute for healthy breast milk ever devised by medical science. It saves infants from cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, and other hot weather dangers. If your baby is cross and fretful, try what Lactated Food will do for it. Ask your druggist for Lactated Food.

General - Sports

The T.A.S. Lacrosse Club has chartered the fast little steamer Water Lily for a trip to Hastings on Saturday next, Coronation Day, when they play the Hastings team a friendly game. The boat will leave the Wolfe street wharf at 7.30, and as only about 60 more tickets are to be disposed of before the limit is reached, those requiring same can obtain them from the secretary of the team, Mr. T. J. Begley, or at the rooms of the T.A.S.

Huntsville cinched Orillia out of the C.L.A. running on Friday by a score of 2—0.

Mickey O'Connor of the Orillias, applied for reinstatement in the C. L.A. on Friday

The T.A.S. Lacrosse team defeated the Orillia team yesterday afternoon by a score of 4 to 3.

—Have you ordered your winter's coal yet?

—Fishing is said to be unusually good at Burleigh just now.

Song Service.

What is more enjoyable when properly rendered by a trained canary. Get a good German bird; feed it Patent Bird Bread with COTTAM Seed and with the slightest appreciation of music you must be delighted.

BEWARE of inferior imitations. [illegible] COTTAM [illegible]

House Renters & House Buyers

We wish to remind you that Fall and Winter will soon be here, and all who intend to buy Homes this year should lose no time now. Do not delay; come in this week and select a house. We may have to give a tenant a month's notice from Sept. 1st, that means October before you can move, and that is late enough. We make buying easy for our patrons. Ring up phone 376.

T. HURLEY & CO.,
136 Hunter, Ground Floor.

BOOTS & SHOES
—FOR—
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and sty- footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD, K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY
OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

CANADIAN PACIFIC

20,000 Harvesters Wanted In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSIONS

Will be Run From Stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell.

—To— WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th For $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific Station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or South-west or North-west of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 30th, 1902, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS, and are not good on "Imperial Limited," and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation in Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt.,
1 King Street East, Toronto

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—: FARE :—

$18 - Belleville to Quebec, Return - $18

Including meals and berth on route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager,
Picton, Ont

COBOURG AND PORT HOPE TO TORONTO

STR. "ARGYLE"

(Commencing Thursday, May 22)

EVERY THURSDAY

Leaves Cobourg at	7 00 a m
" Port Hope at	8.00 a m
Arrive Toronto at	12 30 p m
Returning, leaves Toronto at	5 00 p m
Fare continuous round trip	$1.00

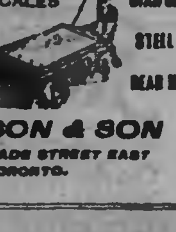
Extension return 30 days, 25c extra, from Purser on board

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES



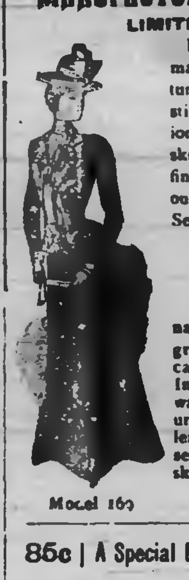
GET OUR PRICES

C. WILSON & SON
81 ESPLANADE STREET EAST
TORONTO.

—Our agricultural readers will please to remember that the market will be held on Friday instead of Saturday.

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.



Model 160

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

Boarding

LADIES DESIRING A COMFORTABLE quiet home at reasonable rates can be accommodated at the Y. W. C. A. Boarding Home on Brock St.

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

FRY, 304 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 304 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 48 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENSION step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 221 George St., now occupied by Henry Best.

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1895. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m. 4 to 5 p.m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

Help Wanted.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 711 11 and 13 Broadway, New York.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W Smith Sec.-Treas., [illegible], P. O.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Coronation Day Saturday, Aug 9th

Single Fare between all Stations in Canada Good going Aug. 8th and 9th. Returning good until Aug. 11, 1902.

SPECIAL EXCURSIONS

$64.70

To Los Angeles or San Francisco Cal., and Return.

Good going Aug. 1st to 10th, inclusive. Valid until Sept. 30th.

Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Glenwood Springs, Colo.; Ogden, Salt Lake, Utah; Deadwood, Hot Springs and Custer, South Dakota. Return ticket at Single First Class Fare. Good going Aug. 1st to 14th. Good for return until Oct. 31st, 1902.

Tickets and information from

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Ticket Agent

Advertise in The Times.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE

ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE

GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go. They cannot produce the goods.

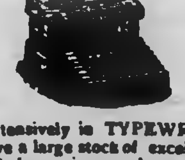
CANADA CAMERA CO.
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

TYPEWRITERS



I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Pure Silk Flags

For Cushions

Size, 16x16

A limited number at 15c each Regular price, 50c.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ...ARCHITECT..
450 George Street

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY

WM. ROBINSON
10 King S. West

William St., Toronto, Ont.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL. 30 NO 179 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO WEDNESDAY AUGUST 6 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

BANDS OF ALBANIANS MUTILATE BULGARIANS

One Leader Slit Open the Cheeks and Cut off the Ears of a Resident

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 5.—A Vienna correspondent relates accounts of numerous outrages committed by Albian bands on Bulgarians. The leader of one band slit open the cheeks and cut off the ears of a resident of Monastir, then obliged the victim to proceed to the local Cadie, and lay the severed ears before him. Similar mutilation was inflicted by another Albanian upon two prominent persons near Prilep, who were forced to deliver the severed ears and noses to Kaimakan. A third Albanian leader held a Bulgarian peasant hostage for £150. Neighbors collected fifteen pounds which he accepted. Then he murdered the prisoner because the whole sum was not paid. Three communes were blackmailed for £120, the villagers being threatened with death if the money was not paid in fourteen days. On the pretext of searching for revolutionists, a band attacked a village in Okhrida Sanjak, killing a school boy and wounding five other persons. The wounded included ex-Prof. Haschow, who afterwards died, and Prof. Scheinow.

SCARCITY OF NATIVE LABOR.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 5—A Johannesburg correspondent says the scarcity of native labor has caused some mining houses to contemplate the introduction of Chinese. The correspondent also says that from a mere money making point of view there is much to be said in favor of the employment of hard-working Chinese, but in every other aspect the scheme is pernicious in the extreme, and if the attempt is seriously pushed the Government will have to intervene in the interests of the community at large. South Africa is to be a white man's country, and every effort must be made to promote British immigration, which would transform the whole of the political aspect of South Africa and secure its permanent prosperity of a British colony.

WOMEN FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 5.— The Government has taken up the scheme, started by private enterprise, for promoting the immigration of women to South Africa. Arrangements have been made for the despatch of the first party, comprising fifty domestic servants and six dressmakers. The Government provides five pounds of the cost of each woman's passage, and free railway transportation to the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies. The current wage of domestic servants in South Africa is $25 a month.

JAPANESE INFLUENCE IN SIAM.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 5.—Reports from a French source tell of the efforts of Siam to emancipate herself from Europeans. Japanese influence is said to be rapidly extending, and many persons assert that negotiations are in progress for an alliance between Siam and Japan. Since the conclusion of British-Japanese alliance French colonial circles have feared Siam's foreign affairs would be guided by two allied powers. The Japanese are now supplying arms and munitions of war to Siam.

ROYAL VISITORS IN FRANCE.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 5— A Paris correspondent says France is having numbers of Royal visitors. There is a constant succession of grand dukes. The King of Greece is now at Aix, the King of Portugal is about to arrive in France, and the Kings of Spain and Italy may be seen in Paris before long.

HONORS FOR THE BOERS IS PRESENT POLICY

Chamberlain Keen to Create Feeling of Personal Friendliness with the Boers

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 2—Diplomacy, aiming to maintain a policy of conciliation in South Africa is taking a rather primitive form. The Government sent a luxuriously fitted saloon carriage to Southampton yesterday morning in the hope of bringing Mr. Steyn, the former President of the Orange Free State to London. It was furnished with recumbent couches and invalid comforts of the same character as the coach which took King Edward to Portsmouth a fortnight ago.

The car remains unoccupied, however, for Mr. Steyn has gone direct Holland with some Boer friends. His physician explained that there was no intention of offering an insult to the British people by refusing to disembark from the Cape steamer and take the train to London as had been suggested. The truth of the matter is that Mr. Steyn could not stand the fatigue of the journey to London, so a boat had been engaged to convey him to Holland. Afterwards he will come to London in an ambulance coach.

It cannot be doubted that Mr. Steyn is afflicted with the gravest symptoms of a physical breakdown, which must preclude his personal participation of any South African schemes. He is still suffering from paralysis.

Meyer Visiting Aristocratic.

The only other Boer leader in Europe, General Lucas Mayer, has already succumbed to the danger the Boer leaders chiefly fear for the fighting commanders who are coming to Europe, namely, the social blandishment of the fashionable world of London. The chief aristocratic daily newspaper announces that "Gen. and Mrs. Lucas Meyer returned to London last evening from a visit to the Earl and Countess of Onslow at Clandon Park, Guildford." Their movements throughout the week included a dinner by Alfred Rothschild and various society receptions. Yet when Gen. Meyer arrived here a week ago he intended to go direct to Dresden to join his family and rest for a few months, while a settlement of the South African matter was proceeding and then return to his home in that country.

The offer of the King to receive Generals Botha, Delarey and De Wet as his guests is part of the same policy of personal friendliness of which Colonial Secretary Chamberlain is now the most ardent exponent. If they remain at Southampton the day they are due to arrive from South Africa, and accept the King's hospitality, their first experience of England's European standing will be as witnesses of the great naval review in the Solent.

A definite statement comes from a well-informed source that the three Boer generals are coming here in pursuance of a distinct understanding had with Lord Kitchener at the Vereeniging conference that it would be resumed in London, when they could see how the terms of settlement would work out. This means that if Lord Milner's administration is objectionable, they will offer Colonial Secretary Chamberlain the alternative of ratifying a set of more favorable conditions or they will go to the Continent as active Anglophobes. It is part of Premier Balfour's policy to prevent the latter contingency at any possible cost.

It is not easy, however, to extract any fixed meaning from the expressions of Boer sentiment, whether from their leaders, preachers or private burghers. A Conservative paper points out:—

Prosperity Means Coalescence.

"We have three distinct documents to compare, the letters of Mr. Schalkburger, written during the war, and not intended for British eyes the blue book containing the decision of the Vereeniging peace conference, just published, and, lastly, the text of the speeches of the Boer generals. Schalkburger's letter advised, without any pretence, a policy of laying low and waiting for the chance of getting their own back. The conference puts the sentiment of that letter in rather more diplomatic terms. The Boer leaders, while expressing pathos at the compulsion of surrender, advise making the best of a bad job and substituting loyalty for liberty.

"We also know the bitterness of the women, the ignorance of some of the men, the dislike for the National Scouts (former burghers who fought with the British), and the dissatisfaction at the grant of territory in Natal; yet, when all has been said, there has been no one who has been through this war who wants another. The South African fight will now be for political influence. How quickly the people will coalesce will depend chiefly on the prosperity of the country."

Disastrous to Share Market.

For causes chiefly arising from the labor question in Johannesburg and misgivings about the Government's proposals in regard to the taxation of the mines, the acceptance of the peace propositions up to the present time has had a disastrous effect on the prices of South African shares. The settlement of the war has had however, a most softening effect on Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's policy. In his speech in the House of Commons outlining the future of the country, he destined to be hustled into framing a scheme of self-government until he saw how the system developed, but he promised the utmost brotherly treatment of the former enemies of the British.

Quoting a conversation with General Lucas Meyer, Mr. Chamberlain asserted that the Boers who fought to the end did not want as yet the experience of the present government of men of their race with whom they probably differed politically. He said:

"Give us Englishmen, provided they are sympathetic. We would rather have them than men of our own blood and race, whom we shall distrust if they take office in the new administration."

Retains Free Hand.

On the financial side of the question Mr. Chamberlain retained an equally free hand. He refused to sanction severe taxation of the mines on the ground that it would not fall on the mines, but upon the shareholders, who had bought their stock at a premium. Therefore the taxation of the mines for some time to come would, he said, be limited to 10 per cent of their dividend, while in regard to the new mines, he indicated a scheme of intercepting some portion of the profits of the promoters. He also said there would be a new customs tariff and a revision of freights.

An indication of how completely Mr. Chamberlain retains control of the South African policy of England was shown when the Opposition in the House of Commons did not challenge for a division after his speech.

At the South African dinner in Kitchener's honor a flashlight photographer appeared and asked him to stand up so as to make the most striking figure in the picture. Lord Kitchener bluntly refused. The Lord Mayor begged him to stand, but he would not do so, and word was sent to the photographer who took an undramatic picture with everybody seated.

STIR ROMAN CATHOLICS

Union of all Leading Catholic Societies in United States

OVER A MILLION MEMBERS

County and State Federation in Every Part of the American Republic

The Aim of the Movement Said to be a System of Separate Schools Such as Are to be Found in Ontario.

Special to The Times.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 5.—The American Federation of Catholic Societies, which was permanently organized at Cincinnati last year, began its second meeting in Chicago today. Aside from the general interest attached to the federation and its objects the gathering is of importance as being the largest and most representative meeting of Catholics ever held in America. Those in attendance represent a score of the foremost Catholic societies with an aggregate membership exceeding one million. While the federation is a lay organization and does not concern itself with clerical questions the Catholic clergy, as represented by priests and prelates of prominence, is taking an active interest in the movement.

Today was occupied with the formalities attendant upon the opening of the convention. The business sessions will be held tomorrow and Thursday with T. B. Minahan, of Columbus, O., presiding. At 9 o'clock this morning the delegates assembled at Holy Name Cathedral, where pontifical high mass was celebrated. Bishop Muldoon was the celebrant, assisted by Bishops Messmer, of Green Bay, and McFaul, of Trenton. To the latter belongs the credit of having conceived the federation and of working in the face of innumerable difficulties before it became an assured fact.

Following the religious service the gathering was formally opened with addresses of welcome from Mayor Harrison and representatives of the leading Catholic societies of Chicago. The roll call by Secretary Anthony Matre of Cincinnati, developed the fact that every State in the Union was represented at the meeting. Following the brief addresses explaining the purposes of the federation and drawing attention to its rapid spread, a cablegram was read from the Pope granting the apostolic benediction. This message was read by Bishop McFaul and was received with cheers followed by continuous demonstrations. Congratulatory messages were received also from Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Elder and other prelates of distinction.

One of the main purposes of the present convention is the formation, through the National Executive board, of county and state federations in every part of the country. Questions pertaining to religious affairs in the Philippines will, it is reported, come in for a large share of consideration, especially with regard to the appointment of teachers in the schools. At the last meeting of the executive board, held in Cleveland last June, resolutions were adopted and transmitted to President Roosevelt, bearing upon this subject. They were accompanied with a letter, and as a result, in part, of this action, the recent investigation of charges that Catholic applicants were discriminated against was ordered by Secretary of War Root and subsequently denied by officials at Manila. Relative to the friars there will also be discussion, but what action, if any, will be taken, has not been intimated.

But the chief object is to secure for the Catholics of the United States a system of separate schools, such as exist in Ontario. This can only be done by union of Catholics and the ballot box. The great federation will soon be a powerful factor in American politics. That it will be offset in some way by a purely Protestant organization, is almost assured.

TROOPS HASTEN MINING

A Prospect That Work will be Resumed This Week

THINGS COMING TO A HEAD

Opening of Oxford and Cayuga Mines Regarded as the Opening Wedge

Operators Say that the Strike is Virtually Over—The Total Loss Amounts to Nearly Seventy Million Dollars

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 6.—The great question the presence of troops in the mine region has raised is whether under their protection there will be made an effort to resume the mining of coal. There is no doubt that the fact that the troops were out hastened the opening of the Oxford and Cayuga mines today, the former with a force of 120 men and the latter with sixty.

President Crawford of the People's Coal Company, operating the Oxford mine, gave notice several days ago that all who wished to go to work in the mine must report by tomorrow evening. It was generally supposed that the Oxford would not be started up until Monday, but the arrival of the troops seemed to put a spur upon the operators' movements, and coal was mined both in the Oxford and Cayuga mines all day without opposition. The miners are kept within the company's premises and are well guarded by deputies. Crowds gathered about the mines, but there was no offensive demonstration.

With the troops remaining at Shenandoah it is very probable that mining will be begun in that vicinity in the early part of next week. Preparations to that end are now under way and the details as to providing the men protection have been under consideration for the past twenty-four hours. The disposition of the operators seems to be not to rush matters, but at the same time to open up mines just as fast as men come forward and offer to work in sufficient numbers to make the effort at mining a success and not such a failure as would tend to give the strike agitators something to make capital of.

Here in Hazleton today there has been little or no talk of reopening mines, but it is believed here that there is a good prospect of such attempts being made all along the line next week. The Scranton region is particularly promising in this respect. The opening of the Oxford and Cayuga mines as an entering wedge has been very successful. President Crawford, at the close of work to-day said that his force of men had received very considerable accessions since beginning work. The men who are at work are miners from various parts of the coal region who have become sick of the strike.

The advent of the troops is merely an element in the situation calculated to make things move at a swifter pace. The weakness of the mine workers' union in furnishing relief to the unfortunate ones who are suffering severely from the strike is every day undermining the strength of the opposition to a return to work. The amount of money allotted to a man and wife is $1.50 a fortnight, or 75 cents a week; for a family of three, $1.85 a fortnight; for a family of four, $2.25; of five $2.55; of six $2.90; of seven, $3.25; of eight, $3.60; of nine, $3.95; of ten, $4.30. As has been already announced, those who own their homes or who have saved a little money ahead will get nothing.

In the present temper of fully 80 per cent. of the strikers this state of affairs, if continued, would be sufficient to cause the strike to crumble to pieces of its own weight by the 1st or, at the very outside, the middle of September.

The petition circulated by the strikers in Shenandoah requesting the Governor to withdraw the troops was quite generally signed. There is politics in the air of Pennsylvania, and the strike leaders are clearly hopeful of turning that fact to account in some way. Nobody believes, however, that Gov. Stone will be induced to withdraw the troops until he is convinced that the danger of violent outbreaks similar to that on Wednesday night is over. Were the troops withdrawn from Shenandoah now it is a matter of conviction among those who best know the population that the ignorant, turbulent foreigners of which that population is composed would regard such an act as a sure sign of weakness and would break out in disorder tenfold more violent than any which has yet occurred.

With a full understanding of the situation nobody believes Gov. Stone would take such a step. Gen. Gobin, in command of the military forces at Shenandoah, in speaking of the signing of the petition for the removal of the troops by so many business men of the town, said:

"They would sign a petition to abrogate the Ten Commandments if a committee of the strikers asked them to do so, for that element dominates the town. I have no doubt Gov. Stone understands the situation. There are about 1,200 Anarchists and Nihilists among the foreign population of the town. I am informed. They recognise no religion and no authority, and impress their doctrines upon others, for, as a rule, they are superior in point of intelligence to many of their fellow workers."

A coroner's inquest on the death of Joseph Beddall, who was murdered by strikers in the riot of Wednesday night, was begun in Shenandoah today, but was adjourned after two witnesses were examined until the presence of Dr. Biddle of the Miners' Hospital at Ashland, where Mr. Beddall died, can be secured.

From Australia to Transvaal

Special to The Times.

Perth, West Australia, Aug. 5.—Sir Arthur Lawley started today for South Africa to assume the duties of Lieutenant-Governor of the Transvaal Colony. He will assist Lord Milner, the British High Commissioner, whose work since the close of the Boer war has become too burdensome for one

CHINESE EMPEROR IMPROVES

Foreigners who Have been Him Say He is Now More Alert

Pekin, Aug. 6.—The people have made no demonstration in honor of the birthday of the Emperor. The foreigners who have had audiences with the Emperor recently say that his health has improved and his mind is alert. His birthday has not been recognized outside the palace.

The English, who are ready to restore 14, the day preceding the transfer of the government of Tientsin to the Chinese, say that they do not apprehend any further French opposition to the transfer of the line. The French declare that the situation is changed.

VETERANS NOW NUMBER 18,000

But All These Applicants will Not Receive Lands

The Crown Lands Department, Toronto, is still laboring manfully with the soldiers' claims to land grants. The enormous number of 18,000 claims have been received from ancient and modern veterans, and it has kept a staff of five clerks busy in weeding out the unworthy and preparing documents for the deserving. The veterans who bore arms during the Fenian Raid days have all sent in claims, but only those who went on active service to the front will be given land. It is expected that 2,000 deeds will be issued by the department in a few days, this number of documents being now ready for signature. Along with the deeds the deserving veterans will receive much literature and useful information concerning the new country in which their farms are to be located.

Speedy Cure for Cramps and Colic

The most reliable cure for Cramps, Colic, Dysentery, and Summer Complaint is ten drops of Polson's Nerviline in a little sweetened water. Nerviline removes the pain and distress at once, insures prompt relief and a speedy cure in every case. Nerviline is an excellent remedy for all pain, whether internal or external, and should be in every household. All Druggists sell and recommend Nerviline. Price 25c.

MR. DIXON JEWETT HONORED

By His Brethern of Otonabee Lodge I.O.O.F.

On Monday evening the members of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F., assembled in large numbers at their spacious and commodious hall to bid a formal farewell to Mr. Dickson Jewett, who for many years be has been a faithful member of the lodge, and who has assumed the proprietorship of the Bennet House, Cannington. Mr. F. D. McKay read the following address:

To W. Dixon Jewett, Past Grand:

Dear Sir and Bro.,—The officers and members of Otonabee Lodge desire to take advantage of this flying visit you are making to the old town and the old lodge, to do what they did not have the power of doing before you left, and give expression to their appreciation of your good work in the interests of Oddfellowship in general, and Otonabee Lodge in particular and to let you know how keen is the regret felt at your departure from amongst us. As a member of Otonabee Lodge, you have been most active, serving with credit and ability in all offices of the lodge, including a most successful term as its presiding officer. And in the other work in connection with our social gatherings and annual outings you have done more than your share in the practical hard work, and we would indeed be ungrateful if we did not express our appreciation of the important part you have played in the success of Otonabee Lodge. Your departure from Peterborough will be a serious loss to this lodge, and while we all regret your removal, we one and all wish you success in your new home.

As a small mark of the lodge's appreciation of your past services we ask you to accept this Past Grand Jewel, and it is the earnest wish of Otonabee Lodge, that you may long live to wear it with credit, and to give the Order, wherever you may be, the benefit of your assistance.

The members of the lodge with whom you have been more intimately associated also desire you to accept this ring as a token of their friendship and their esteem of your many good qualities and genial disposition hoping that it will be the ring that will wed you in pleasant and neverdying memories to your associations in the old lodge.

Once more we wish you health, happiness, and prosperity.

Mr. Alex. Rutherford then presented Mr. Jewett with a Pathmaster's Jewel, and Major Miller presented him with a handsome ring that came from a few of Mr. Jewett's personal friends in the Lodge.

Mr. David Hall, from another section of Mr. Jewett's personal friends, presented him with a bird cage and a pretty little canary.

Mr. Jewett fittingly and feelingly replied thanking the members of the lodge for their magnificent evidences of good will. He would never forget his friends in Peterborough, more especially among the Oddfellows.

Refreshments followed and a most enjoyable time was spent, during which Mr. Jewett was overwhelmed with good wishes for his future prosperity.

Unmistakable Signs of Catarrh

If you have a ringing in the ears, dropping in the throat, bad breath, headache, morning weakness, bad taste in the mouth—then it's catarrh. Use Catarrhozone inhaler four times daily and eradicate this awful disease from your system. Catarrhozone quickly remedies the head noises and deafness, prevents dropping and is warranted to absolutely cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Troubles. Two months' treatment costs $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply to W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

RUSSIA'S BLOW TELLING ON THE UNITED STATES

Big Factories Leave the States for Canada--Alarm Felt in Chicago

Special to The Times.

Chicago, Aug. 5—The Record-Herald says:

Is the ominous delay of Congress in ratifying the reciprocity treaty with France, coupled with the still unamended reprisal of Russia in the matter of American machinery and the threatened discrimination against all our exports that is now pending in the Reichstag, going to drive into exile the great industries that have been built up under the very system that now seems about to lay them low?

That is the serious question propounded by the National Reciprocity League, which numbers in its membership some of the best known and most conservative men of the country, and which intends to sound an alarm in the ear of our dallying legislators before it is too late.

The League point to the significant fact that one great industry after another is moving its plant, or a large part of it, into the jurisdiction of some other flag, on the ground that it is no longer possible to continue its foreign trade under the conditions that now obtain at home.

Big Plants Moved.

The Westinghouse Company of Philadelphia has moved much of its plant to Russia; the Ingersoll Sargent Drill Company of New York, The Port Huron Threshing Machine Company, of Port Huron, Mich., the Deering Harvesting Company, of Chicago, and the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., have transferred or are about to transfer a substantial share of their substantial facilities to Canada.

To this list rumor insistently adds the names of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, the John Deere Plow Company, the Studebaker Wagon and Carriage Company, the Republic Steel and Iron Company, and about thirty others of equal importance.

Not all the firms joining in this extraordinary exodus are members of the Reciprocity League. Some of them have been members and have grown discouraged in the effort to get the ear of Congress, and others are not, for reasons similar to those outlined in a letter written by the president of the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Company to the secretary of the Reciprocity League:

Lawmakers Attacked.

This is the document:

Gentlemen,—Replying to your letter of the 27th ult., which came to hand during the writer's absence, we desire to say: We are not at all interested in the work of your League; we do not desire reciprocity, and we are perfectly indifferent as to whether the duties are raised or lowered on goods coming into this country. We have felt it to be much more to our interest to stand on our own bottom in this and collateral questions, rather than to wait the slow movement and whimsical fancies of the low-grade talent we send to Washington to make laws for us. It is high time that the business people repudiated the lawmaking powers as an adjunct to their business. We have recently purchased a large plant at Toronto, which we have started up for the manufacture of our line of goods to be sold in Canada. It is our purpose to greatly enlarge this plant to accommodate our export trade, as we can export goods from Canadian ports on much better terms than we can from the United States ports, particularly for the Russian trade. In the opinion of the writer, it is only a question of time when other manufacturing concerns in our line will be compelled to manufacture their goods in Canada, in order to place themselves on an equal footing in the general trade. I do not think that people who remain in the United States to manufacture will be able to get any relief from existing conditions until such time as we find ourselves face to face with a large product and no sale for it.

Yours truly,
F. B. Kenaston.

June 5, 1902.

HIBERNIANS OF OHIO

The Tail Twisters Still at Work in Some Parts of the Union

Special to The Times.

Springfield, O., Aug. 5.—The Ohio division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians began a convention here today, which in point of attendance is the largest gathering ever held by the order in the state. The business sessions were preceded by the celebration of mass at St. Raphael's church. At 10.30 the convention was called to order by the state president, Thomas S. Hogan, of Wellston. After an address of welcome by Mayor Milligan, and the appointment of committees a recess was taken until tomorrow morning. This afternoon the annual convention parade was held, several hundred delegates representing all parts of the state being in line. There was strong language used by several of the speakers. Patrick Killen urged the society to affiliate with the Irish League, who were trying to strike for Irish independence.

The Y. M. C. A. Camp

The annual camp of the boys of the Y.M.C.A. will open this morning at Sandy Point, Clear Lake. The camp promises to be as successful and largely attended as in former years, and the boys are anxiously looking forward to the outing. Those who will go to the camp are, Geo H. Williamson, Horace E. Ayers, Archie Froude, B. Gillespie, Charles Kingan, Walter Gordon Wesley Erskine, Jas. Downing, Gordon Fitzgerald, Wilbert McIntosh, Ed Jobe, Jack Rush, H. F. Williamson, Melville Hartley, Chas. Ackerman, Arthur Wood, W. H. Daly, Ed. Daly, Wallace Armstrong, Max Dobbin, Arthur Greer, Robinson, Galley, Harrison, Morden, Brown, Norman Jolliffe, C. Osborne, F. Turner, M. Miller and C. Froude.

Accidents will Happen

So think some of the members of Eko Camp, who, owing to the pressure of business were unable to take the train with the bunch on Saturday evening for Stony Lake, proceeded to reach there by the light of the stars and the legs of Bob Leary's team.

Beefy Higgins, who runs the tinker shop on Hunter street, up forninst the Bank, and who has had considerable travelling through the back country with his tinker van, was to pilot the crowd safely through the terrors of the night. After a stupendous supper and strong breaths (from onions) they started on their way rejoicing and nearly reached their destination, when some of the party thought of the lonesome Sunday their fair admirers would have to contend with, as they were all away, and there would not be the usual hand-holding contest.

Worrying and the strength of onions on his brain, made friend Higgins very drowsy and notwithstanding all his knowledge of the country he lost the way, and terminated in a complete standstill on the back of a cow. When he recovered consciousness Rolly was sitting on the horns of a cow, writing an article for Monday's Examiner. Poor Jerry was badly twisted and Bob was trying to Matchett. Enquiring friends will receive further information at the Examiner office.

Drives a Pair at Age of 102

Special to The Times.

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Deborah Stillman of Easton reached the age of 102 years and 6 months today, and in honor of the occasion she gave a party.

Mrs Stillman owns a pair of horses, which she drives frequently although she has a coachman she says she will not let him drive until she has to

CHINESE EMPRESS AND BOXERS

Will Henceforth Give no Aid to Anti-foreign Campaign

Special to The Times.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 6.—Late Eastern advices say that the Dowager Empress of China is said to have recently expressed radical distrust from the Boxer propaganda and from the Anti-foreign campaign. Only a small span of life remained to her, she said, and during that time it was her determination not to involve her country in trouble for the sake of avenging personal wrongs.

Because the Magistrate of Tang Hsien would not give them permission to destroy the Christian churches in that town, some 6000 Boxers attacked the village. They were met by the troops, and twenty of them were killed and their bodies displayed in public places. One of the leaders, who was captured, was tortured and executed in public.

Now it is the Christians who are causing trouble in China. The converts of Shan Si and their priests complain that the indemnity paid on account of the Boxer outrages was not great enough and the converts have attacked villages for the purpose of indemnifying themselves.

No More Well Digging

Toronto, Aug. 5—Dr. Dunton, of Paris, who administered restoratives to the imprisoned Joshua Sandford, and John Penman, also of Paris, who supplied the funds for the rescue work which resulted in the release of the young man, were both in Toronto today. They said that Sandford was slowly improving, but that the shock sustained by his nervous system had been hard to overcome. The young well digger, Dr. Dunton said, would be yet able to earn his livelihood, although he would have to learn some new occupation and would begin it practically penniless.

SWEET BREATH

When Coffee Is Left Off

A test was made to find if just the leaving off of coffee alone would produce an equal condition of health as when coffee is left off and Postum Food Coffee used in its place.

A man from Clinton, Wis., made the experiment. He says: "About a year ago I left off drinking coffee and tea and began to use Postum. For several years previous my system had been in wretched condition. I always had a thickly furred, bilious tongue and foul breath, often accompanied with severe headaches. I was troubled all the time with chronic constipation, so that I was morose in disposition, and almost discouraged.

At the end of the first week after making the change from coffee to Postum I witnessed a marvellous change in myself. My once coated tongue cleared off, my appetite increased, breath became sweet and the headaches ceased entirely. One thing I wish to state emphatically, you have in Postum a virgin remedy for constipation, for I certainly had about the worst case ever known among mortals and I am completely cured of it. I feel in every way like a new person.

During the last summer I concluded that I would experiment to see if the Postum kept me in good shape or whether I had gotten well from just leaving off coffee. So I quit Postum for quite a time and drank cocoa and water. I found out before two weeks were past that something was wrong and I began to get costive as of old. It was evident the liver was not working properly, so I became convinced that it was not the avoidance of coffee alone that cured me, but the great value came from the regular use of Postum."

"Market Opinions"

of people long trained in financial matters, are of utmost value. They better determine the course of values, from news and existing conditions, than will those who have not made a long study of the matter. In all lines of business, the experienced expert excels the novice. Our

"Daily Market Letter,"

is compiled each afternoon by such experts, outlining with unusual accuracy the market's probable movements. We mail it free, upon request, also our handsome, cloth bound, 400 page, illustrated

"Guide to Investors"

conceded by press, exchanges, and Boards of Trade, to be an absolute Wall Street authority on all points pertaining to the business.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.
Established 1880. Main Office, 53 B'way, N.Y.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Peterborough, Ont.

"Determining the character and financial responsibility of your Broker, is as important as the selection of right stocks."

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayer.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rennel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.
Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Jeanney, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Weeds, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. A. Sandford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal Portland, Boston ...	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
town, Montreal... ...	6.10 p.m	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.28 p.m.
Canadian Pacific
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	6.10 a.m.
Toronto & Intermediate...	7.28 p.m.	6.12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	6.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.25 a.m.	6.10 p.m
Grand Trunk	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	2.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9.00 p.m.	6.00 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.25 p.m.	11.4[illegible] a.m
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	2.30 a.m.	6.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	2.10 a.m.	2.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	2.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m
Lakefield local	8.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m
Lakefield local	2.00 p.m.	12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.00 p.m.	6.00 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Oshawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 6, 1902.

DEVERY'S CAMPAIGN

A notable illustration of the way in which electoral campaign work is carried on in the great city of New York was given on Wednesday, when William Stephen Devery, the ex-Chief of Police, entertaining the people of the Ninth Assembly District to an excursion up the Hudson River. Upwards of twelve thousand men, women and children—principally women and children—were conveyed in a flotilla of steamers and barges bound together in one huge raft, a brass band and vaudeville troup on each barge and steamer. The host had three hundred assistants to help him handle and care for his guests, besides doctors and nurses in case of illness. He stuffed his guests full of provisions, and sent the women all home after the picnic with a hunk of corned beef and a cabbage a piece, and the children laden with candy. The feeding appears to have been on a most elaborate scale, but with strong waters "cut out" as the chief himself put it.

There was not the slightest pretence that the event was any other than a piece of political campaigning on the part of the chief. He made a speech to his guests, in which he told them it was; that this was his idea of the "way to play politics." This, while the forces which won the last election—hailed as a triumph of good over the blackest corruption—are disappointing even their warmest friends the forces which were defeated are being filled with food and enthusiasm and organized to strike reform a crushing blow at the earliest opportunity. Incidentally, a lot of women and chiuldren are being given a good time. Even the worst of the old-time highwaymen were made the heroes of the mob, by lavish displays of generosity, the recipients of the bounty asking no questions as to the source whence the means came.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Coronation Day, August 9th, has been proclaimed a public holiday throughout Canada. God Save the King.

Cuba is souring on Uncle Sam. The refusal of the sugar lords to permit the granting of tariff concessions has roused a bitter feeling, and retaliation by refusal to grant a coaling station is talked of. So soon!

Lord Kitchener and Gen. Lucas Meyer, the famous Boer leader at a banquet together given by Alfred Rothschild, is something noteworthy. To make the remarkable scene complete, the Boer commander will lunch with Lord Roberts and will meet Colonial Secretary Chamberlain for an exchange of views.

Germany is aroused over the Kaiser's pardoning of a duellist murderer who had served only seven months of a two-years' sentence. The pardon is accepted as an indication of a desire to negative the anti-duelling order of some time ago. It is felt that the irrational and uncivilised practise is a disgrace to Germany, and there is great indignation at the pardon of the brutal officer in the present case. The hanging of all connected with a few duels would have a good effect.

The bank clerks are very popular socially, especially in the smaller towns, from many of which there has been an exodus of native young men. But we fancy the young ladies do not regard the bank clerks seriously as raw material for husbands. They are all right to practise on, to dance with, flirt with and talk to, when the real Sandy MacKay is awa'. The new $1,500 regulation will not bother the girls, who would just have as much fun if Lord Strathcona raised the limit to $15,000.

It doesn't pay to trifle with Miss Kathleen Smith, a fair but determined stenographer of St. Louis. Four weeks ago a man telephoned an insulting message to her and day before yesterday she located him in the street. She promptly knocked him down with a piece of rubber hose and lashed him right and left with a Mexican quirk, one of those keen cutting, insinuating whips that get clear under the skin every time the lash is laid on. That's nearly as good a remedy for these contemptible creatures who prey upon self supporting women as a stout, quick tempered brother.

EFFECTS OF WAR ON BRITAIN AND GERMANY

Estrangement of the Two Great Nations One Result

A GROWING HATRED EXISTS.

Count Bernstorf Thinks Britain and Germany Should Stand Together

Special to The Times.

London, August 5 — Count Bernstorff says that it has been a cause of natural sorrow to English Christians that the war has greatly estranged from the people of England the hearts of their continental brethren; but we certainly hope that after the conclusion of peace the mutual understanding will be restored.

The estrangement between English and German Christians was always looked upon by the writer as a great misfortune. He thinks the two nations ought to stand together in true friendship, and this view is not only the result of a personal sympathy which his relations with British Christians and a long stay in England have brought about.

It is also his opinion that, politically, it is required by the true interest of both countries. The German press has been very hostile to England during the war, but a fairer view of the matter will undoubtedly be taken now, and we venture to hope that the British press will also hope to forget the past.

POLITICAL DIFFERENCES.

The consideration which led to the postponement of the international conference of the Evangelical Alliance, intended for this month, shows how sadly political differences of opinion can endanger the unity of Christians. But these expressions of refusing fellowship to British Christians, wherever they did not publicly state their disapproval of the war, were after all not general. At the Blackenburg Conference, but also at several others, speakers from England were heartily welcomed.

People begin to feel now, continues the Count, that when a nation is at war all party strife must remain silent. It is an unfair demand, especially when it is to take place under pressure from abroad, that Christians should in such times publicly disapprove what their country does. It would be unfair, even if all the reports spread about South Africa were true but one begins to feel that a great deal was exaggerated or misrepresented.

RECONCILIATION DESIRED.

We hope—and this seems to be the wish of English Christians as well—that Great Britain will try to reconcile the feelings of those who have at all events, been valiant foes, and if this is the case, it will do away with the last remnant of bad feeling in other countries. It is not forgotten in Germany how much we owe in impulses of practical Christianity to British Christians, and the fact that we serve the same Master, and pray for the advancement of the same glorious kingdom, is a bond which is, thank God, after all stronger than temporary political misunderstandings. We hope the conference of the alliance will be possible in Germany next year; but even if it should be considered wiser to wait a little longer, the day will soon come when it can take place without any difficulty.

The Despot of Vienna.

The citizen of Vienna who does not wish to be out of pocket must keep early hours, for after ten o'clock he is taxed on entering his own house, or, for the matter of that, any house. The "sperrgeld," or door-opening tax, is peculiar to Vienna, as the London "Express" explains. The entire population of that city, numbering nearly two millions, are practically imprisoned in their houses from ten o'clock in the evening until six the next morning. They can go in or out only by paying at least four cents to the janitor or "house-master," as he is called.

Vienna is built on the "flat" or apartment-house plan. Millionaires and working people alike live in houses of this description. The houses are large, having five or six floors, with four flats on a floor, so that it is not unusual to find a hundred persons living under one roof. There is one common entrance from the street, and after ten o'clock at night this door is bolted and barred. From ten until twelve all who go in or out must pay four cents. After twelve the charge is doubled.

The tax must be paid every time one passes through the doorway, without exception. If a man has occasion to go in and out half a dozen times, he must pay every time. One who has dined with a friend must, if he stay late, pay four cents to get out of his friend's house, and four more to get into his own. A telegram in the night necessitates the payment of the tax before the boy can enter.

The house-master also collects and keeps duplicate copies of the forms on which every individual in the house must report to the police his age, birthplace and religion, his exact occupation, and other personal details which the Austrian authorities insist upon knowing. Nor does the power of this important personage end even here. From the little guard-room which he occupies at the foot of the stairs he sees every one who goes in or out. He ascertains with amazing accuracy the amount of each tenant's income, the events of his family life, and the character of his visitors. His far-reaching power enables him to terrorise every servant in the house into entering his intelligence department, and thus he spies on the innermost life of the subjects in his five-storey kingdom.

In some cases the house-master is more powerful than in others. An English resident was obliged to move from an apartment that he particularly liked because he could not venture to speak with any degree of sharpness to the man at the door, even when the man was remiss in his duties. The flat was owned by a railway belonging to the State. This made the house-master a State official, an insult to whom is a very serious offence in Vienna. A reprimand for delaying letters would be construed into an insult, and the Englishman deemed it wise to move to other quarters.

Thousands of people in Vienna live in such terror of the house-master that, it is said, they never make an apple-tart without giving him half.

Buried by a Cougar.

A hunter who was trailing after bear meat in British Columbia reports to the "Western Sportsman" an experience which he calls a "narrow graze." If the incident happened as the hunter tells it, it was indeed a narrow graze; but one cannot help suspecting that some of the invigorating ozone of the North-West has got into the story. Nevertheless, it is worth hearing.

"It was warm and dry, and along in the middle of the afternoon I began to pine for rest and a pipe. It was all quiet and no traces of game, and so when I'd had a comfortable smoke I stretched out for a nap.

"It must have been an hour later that I woke up and found myself covered with two feet of leaves snug as the babes in the wood. I was all tucked in that cosy that nobody else could have done it but a cougar, and most likely a female cougar at that. It occurred to me with some force that I'd been filed away for future reference, and that I hadn't waked up any too soon. It didn't soothe me to figure on that cougar stowing me away as a dog hides a bone.

"It seemed that the best thing for me to do was to countermine that cougar's mine, as it were. So I hunted up a log about my size and covered it with the leaves—a nice fat hump on the ground. Then I shinned a tree close by, assuring myself beyond any doubts or peradventures that nobody had meddled with the working of my repeater.

"The cougar came in such a short time as to show how fortunate it was that I had waked up when I did, and with her, as I had calculated, were a choice lot of young ones. She had left a dinner located and had been off to get her family.

"Well, that cougar circled around the pile of leaves for a matter of minutes, crouching and picking a nice select place to spring from. When she got satisfied and made the leap she went through the air tremendous, throwing the leaves in a whirlwind and scratching and snarling. It was some of a shock when she found the log, but she didn't display any disappointment. She just took the scent and came to the foot of my tree and looked up, real venomous.

"It seemed to her an awkward job to handle, I having my gun ready so, and the cougar had an inspiration. She went to a tree about ten feet away and started to go up. She was after that meal and not to be discouraged by any trifles. It was her idea to climb up above me on the other tree and then bring me down with a flying leap.

"I didn't lose any more time with experiments or speculations, but let her have it the first time she came round the tree. The ball went through her jaw and breast, and the varmint went to the ground. The young ones were running around, and I knocked them over, too, with the gun.

"Since then I haven't gone to sleep in the woods so careless and casual like."

"Have the letters been duly examined by the hand-writing expert?" "Yes, your honor." "Very well, let the hand-writing expert now be examined by the insanity expert."—"Ohio State Journal."

—Our agricultural readers will please to remember that the market will be held on Friday instead of Saturday.

A GOOD RUBBING WITH ST. JACOBS OIL WILL CURE CHEST COLDS.

Sold in 25c. and 50c. Sizes.

ST. JACOBS OIL, LTD., BALTIMORE.

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of the United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced the cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN, Secretary

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO

PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON

500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises, ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000

Full-paid and non-assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President, A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President, Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON, Retired Merchant Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT, Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn.
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL, Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. [illegible], Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers Trenton, N. J.

COUNSEL: WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY own a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines surveying the reservoirs pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one-fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $5.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

$1,500,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER Jr, Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P COOPER Boston.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the [illegible] without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices.

W. O. Gay & Co., 44 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co. 45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealers

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful. No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc., prevents and removes Freckles. At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co
[illegible] YONGE ST., TORONTO

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co. Milwaukee, Wis.

FOR A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

...BUY STOCK IN...

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.

Mine Opened Up.
Ore in Sight.
Ore Vein 10 Feet Wide.
Values per Ton Average $24.75.
Hoist Pump, etc., Installed.

Mine in active operation 18 months. Now ready for concentrating mill, and for that purpose only we offer a small amount of stock at 20 cents per share, for 30 days.

For prospectus and further particulars call or address—

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
342 LUMBER EXCHANGE, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street,
AGENT AT PETERBOROUGH.

STOCKS SOLD ON INSTALLMENT

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

ARE YOU STOUT. [illegible]

Electric Lamps 25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

House Renters & House Buyers

We wish to remind you that Fall and Winter will soon be here, and all who intend to buy Homes this year should lose no time now. Do not delay; come in this week and select a house. We may have to give a tenant a month's notice from Sept. 1st., that means October before you can move, and that is late enough. We make buying easy for our patrons. Ring up phone 376.

T. HURLEY & CO.,
136 Hunter, Ground Floor.

VARICOCELE AND STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my Latest Method Treatment will cure you that you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each time you call you see me Personally,

or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country.

The Latest Method Treatment Guaranteed to Cure

Varicocele and Stricture without cutting, stretching or loss of time; also Blood Poison, Chronic, Private Nervous, Impotency, Kidney, Liver, Bladder, Stomach, Female and Rectal Troubles. CONSULTATION FREE. Call; if you cannot call write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor. All duty and express charges prepaid.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 Woodward Ave., Cor. Wilcox St.
DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
C. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165 456

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO

SAVINGS & LOAN

COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN

ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building
Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
4 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 800 Broad
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.

TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 20c cash. 25c installment. Write for prospectus. JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 715 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.

26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms

Interest Allowed on Deposits

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS

WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto.
Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHA

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 15c Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 715 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR

Mara & Taylor

Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS

Municipal & Corporation Bonds

Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.

HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Alligator Stories.

The game books kept by all the principal hostelries at Tampa Bay make exciting reading for the gentle stranger, in whom the various entries conjure up vivid reminiscences of Indian jungle or African river, where one goes

A-swimming in the muddy Nile,
And swims into a crocodile.

And while there is great excitement in playing a 150-pound tarpon, in netting a big catch of mullet, or in bringing down an Imperial eagle, the sportsman who goes after alligators feels he is really emulating the hunter who returns from the jungle laden with tiger skins and elephant tusks, and this thrill can be experienced by anyone who finds his way to Tampa Bay, where alligators of seven, nine and eleven feet are continually bagged.

The belief was long current that the only vulnerable spot in an alligator was the eye, and that a rifle ball would glance from the skin of this tropical armed cruiser, but a modern rifle ball will penetrate his hide anywhere, though it is not always immediately fatal. Apropos of Florida alligators, here is an amusing record from one of the game books at Tampa Bay. Someone wrote: "Killed the largest alligator seen this year. Found in his stomach a book, a piece of pinewood, a fisherman's float, and some small fish!"

Right under this another sportsman wrote: "Killed a much bigger alligator. The stomach contained a gold watch, ten thousand dollars in Government bonds, and a cord of wood." Not to be outdone, a third hunter wrote: "Shot the biggest alligator ever killed in Florida. In the stomach were found the remains of a steam launch, a lot of old railroad iron, a motor car, and a quantity of melted ice, proving that it existed during the glacial period!"

Safe to Say.

For the benefit of those who are at a loss to know just what to say on seeing a new baby for the first time, and who naturally feel that they must say something, we give the following list of expressions, any and all of which are commonly used, there being no patent or copyright on them. Whether you shall offer to kiss the infant depends somewhat on its age and appearance, and the extent to which you are willing to sacrifice yourself in order to please the baby's mamma. The baby itself doesn't care a button for your feelings or your kisses, but you are expected to say: "What a pretty little thing!" "Bright-eyed little fellow, isn't he?" "Why, how large he is!" "I don't think I ever saw so young a child take so much notice of his surroundings." "He's the image of his father." "How much does he weigh?" "What lovely, silky hair!" "Looks very like you." "What a little rosebuddy of a mouth!" "Do let me see his little toes!" "How very wise he seems." "I really believe the little thing understands every word we say." "Oh, what a splendid big boy he is!"

A Dramatic Moment.

At the close of the Crimean War the Duke of Cambridge, who had taken command in the absence of Lord Raglan, went in person to Marshal Canrobert to invite the French officer to review the English troops. It had not occurred to His Highness that the date fixed for the review was June 18, the anniversary of Waterloo. Nor indeed at the moment did Marshal Canrobert pay any heed to the date.

At the time agreed upon Canrobert was on the ground in full parade uniform, accompanied by his staff. The English army was drawn up in long file; to the right, the Guards, with their long, hairy head-gear; then the Highlanders, with their feather-trimmed caps, their strange costumes and their bagpipes, and with sounds stranger still; and last the infantry, with their turfed shakos and their red tunics with white girdles. The sun was beaming brightly, causing the arms to glisten, and the flags waving in the wind were all covered over with names embroidered in gold. It was a superb spectacle.

The Duke of Cambridge asked the marshal to take the right of the line of battle—it was the Guards who occupied it—and reviewing officers began to move along in front of their ranks. Having got level with the first battalion, Canrobert saluted it. At the same moment the flag was lowered to return his salute, and on the unfolded tissue he read, in large letters:

"Ramilies, Malplaquet, Los Arapiles, Vittoria . . . Waterloo."

Those were precisely the most disastrous days of the history of France that Canrobert, a French general, was thus compelled to salute on the anniversary of Waterloo, in the midst of English generals who had fought there. He was unable, do what he could, to repress the emotion that was shaking him during that second. Cold shivers ran through his body; the hand with which he held his hat while saluting trembled like a dead leaf.

Still, anxious to let nothing of all that appear, he went on saluting, one after the other, down to the very last of them, the colors on which he could always read:

"Los Arapiles, Vittoria . . . Waterloo."

As may be imagined, Canrobert's emotion was all the more powerful that he was constrained to keep it down. When it was all over he was obliged to pull himself together in order to shake hands with the Duke of Cambridge, to tender him thanks, to offer him congratulations.

His Highness was far too quick-sighted not to have noticed what he had gone through, and far too tactful to make the faintest allusion to it. But from that day onward, whenever French officers were invited to review the English army, the colors remained under cover, and neither Saint-Arnaud, Pelissier nor Canrobert had in the future a similar ordeal to go through.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers, Fortune's Sport, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

death it came to me with the title."

Now I understood why I had felt last night that I had lived through the scene of my arrival before; why I had known where to look for the staircase, and why, when I had passed out of the hall, the impression of familiarity disappeared. I had seen the photographs of which Roger spoke, but so long ago that my forgetfulness was scarcely surprising.

"And then, all your pretty gowns and your silver things, and jewels," Roger went on; "who but one who loved you would have thought of having them ready for your arrival? And who on all this earth loves you as I do? I was half afraid, half anxious that you should guess before seeing me whom you were to meet to-day. Oh, Sheila, you don't know what pleasure I took in securing all your things for you—even in the jewelry which the wretched girl Fanny Newlyn confessed to having pawned, and the new clothes which your mother told me you had taken away to sell. And the room where you slept last night; I had everything that was there taken out and new things put in—things which I hoped you would like. You can never doubt my love for you after to-day."

I was bewildered still by the far-reaching cleverness of the trick which had ended by bringing me here. It seemed impossible to me that love, and only love, had prompted a man of Roger Cope's type to such desperate measures; and I understood neither the means by which he had succeeded in carrying out his purpose, why it had been necessary to carry it out at all, nor what he intended to do with me now that I was here. But I wished to understand, and I controlled the angry words that rushed to my lips, meaning to keep them back until I had found out how far Roger was ready to explain. It even entered my mind that Roger might be mad; and the thought added to the need for caution.

"Yours is very strange love," I said, quietly, though my voice was unsteady and a slight trembling shook my body. "And you have taken a strange way of showing it. I don't understand exactly what the way has been, even now."

"You shall understand if you like," he returned, "though there are other things of which I would rather speak, things which I have been waiting impatiently for a long, long time to say."

"I should like to understand," I repeated, ignoring his last words.

"Sit down, then, by my side, on this sofa. Oh, don't look frightened. I don't mean to force you. But if you won't do what I ask, you can't expect me to give up my will to yours."

Without further objections I sat down and Roger sat beside me. I saw him glance at my hands as if he contemplated possessing himself of one; but hurriedly I clasped them together in my lap, and Roger attempted no more aggression.

"Now catechize me, if you choose," he said, "and I will do my best to answer. Afterwards—but there will be time to talk of the 'afterwards' when it has become the present. Begin, my little cousin. I am in a mood to be frank, now that luck has turned my way at last."

I hoped that he might prove mistaken in believing himself so favored, as far as his boasted luck had to do with me. But I did not stop to contradict him, for I was anxious to come at the truth which lay at the bottom of so dark, so deep a well.

"Did you know where I went after I left Easel street?" I asked.

"Not at first. I only wish that I had known. I called at Easel street on the evening of that most eventful day because I couldn't help it, because I couldn't keep away from you. And I had to hear that hardly an hour before you had gone. You can guess a little of what I felt. And I assure you that Mistress Fanny was obliged to listen to some home truths for her brutality."

His words convinced me that John Bourke had been right in his conjectures. Roger had set fire to the train; but the result, just as Mr. Bourke had thought, had come sooner than it was expected. Roger had called, but had been too late to prevent me from leaving the home where I was not wanted.

"I believe that Tom Stephens, Fan's pretended lover, was a tool of yours," I exclaimed, echoing the suggestion that had come from John Bourke.

Roger smiled. "Rather clever for a child like you to have thrashed that out in your mind," he said. "I don't mind saying that you are right, because no woman ever thought the less of a man for employing any means in his power—even means that would be called unscrupulous—to win her for himself. Yes, Tom Stephens was a 'tool' of mine, as you put it."

"He spied on me, and prejudiced the managers of employment agencies against me so that I was unable to get work?"

"Yes. For if you had found work the end would have been delayed. I was cruel only to be kind. Tom Stephens managed matters very well, and though they went rather further than I expected that was hardly his fault."

"Was it he who discovered where I had gone after I left Easel street?"

"No, poor Tom was not skilled detective enough for that. I had to get another man. It took him three days to find you out. Mr John Bourke, M.P., has my gratitude for saving you—for me. I should never have forgiven myself for what I had done, if you had succeeded in destroying your precious life. But my gratitude to him ends with that episode. His later acts towards you were those of a villain; and it was all I could do not to go myself to his house and snatch my innocent white dove from the claws of the hawk."

The blood sprang to my face and burnt there. "It is like you to speak of him so!" I exclaimed, fiercely. "He was an angel to me, while you—oh! I don't yet half understand what you have been or may be. I only know that you are not worthy to be spoken of in the same breath with John Bourke."

It was Roger's turn now to flush, which he did, slowly, and with tightening lips. "It would please me best if you need not speak of him at all or think of him," he said, evidently controlling himself with an iron hand. "Is there any more catechizing to be gone through, or are you ready to give me the chance which I have earned?"

"There are many questions yet," I hurriedly returned, "and I can think of nothing else till you have answered them. Tell me, since it seems to have distressed you so much that I should be at—at Mrs. Jennett's, not Mr. Bourke's, house, why you did not come yourself and show me reasons for leaving there?"

"Because I was sure that, feeling to-

THE

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

HEAD OFFICE AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS—59 YONGE ST., TORONTO
WINNIPEG BRANCH OFFICE—
BANK OF HAMILTON CHAMBERS, WINNIPEG, MAN.

CAPITAL	$1,000,000
RESERVE FUND	270 000

President—JOHN HOSKIN, K. C., LL. D., Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Life Assurance Company and Vice-President Canada Landed and National Company.

VICE-PRESIDENTS { HON S. C. WOOD, Director of The Western Assurance Co. / W. H. BEATTY, Vice-President of The Bank of Toronto

AUTHORIZED TO ACT AS

Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Receiver, Committee of Lunatics, Guardian, Liquidator, Assignee, etc.

WINNIPEG BRANCH.

The corporation has opened a branch of its business in Winnipeg, and the attention of property owners executors, trustees, etc., and other residents in Ontario, who have interests in Manitoba, is called to the unusual facilities offered by the Winnipeg branch for effecting sales of property, prompt collection of rents, appraisement of property, and generally looking after the interests of non-residents, at most reasonable charges.

ADVISORY BOARD:

SIR D. H. MCMILLAN, Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba.
D. W. BOLE, Wholesale Druggist; Chairman of The Winnipeg School Board.
A. M. NANTON, Messrs. Osler, Hammond & Nanton.
H. H. Smith, formerly Dominion Land Commissioner for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

J. W. LANGMUIR, Managing Director.
A. D. LANGMUIR, Assistant Manager
JAMES DAVEY, Manager Winnipeg Branch.

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, and save three Profits.

LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES & GENTS,
ROLLER BLINDS, BLOUSES,
REAL SWISS, LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, LOOM HOSIERY,
GUIPURE D'ART, HOUSEHOLD LINENS

POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

Lot No. 307 contains:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Ecru if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $6.30, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability. First Prize Medals, Toronto 1892; Chicago, 1893.

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.

Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper

MARVELOUSLY CHEAP

WORKS OF

Dickens and Thackeray

JOHN DICKS | 313 STRAND, LONDON, ENG. | Send for JOHN DICKS complete catalogue of Cheap Literature Plays, etc.

NOVELS BY CHARLES DICKENS.

The Life and Adventures of Martin Chuzzlewit.

Demy Octavo, 324 pages, and all the original illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ.")

Also at Sixpence a complete and unabridged edition of

Dombey and Son.

Demy 8vo., 328 pp., with all the Original Illustrations by H. K. Browne ("PHIZ") This is the largest Sixpenny worth ever offered to the public. The Work is Complete and Unabridged, with Portrait and Autograph of the Author.

David Copperfield.

Demy Octavo, 328 pages.

Beautifully Illustrated, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Complete and Unabridged Edition. Price SIXPENCE.

Bleak House.

Demy Octavo, 320 pages, with all the Original Illustrations by "PHIZ" (H. K. Browne). Price SIXPENCE. A Marvel of cheapness.

NOVELS BY WM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY.

FOR THE FIRST TIME AT SIXPENCE

An Illustrated Edition of

The History of Henry Esmond

Demy 8vo., 169 pages.

Complete and Unabridged Edition printed in clear type, on good paper, and bound in an attractive and colored wrapper. Price Sixpence. 169 Illustrations.

The History of Pendennis

FACSIMILE OF THE ORIGINAL EDITION.

Complete and Unabridged, containing 337 pages and all the Original Illustrations by the author. The Work is an exact reproduction of the First Edition. The Edition is also the largest and most fully illustrated Sixpenny worth ever offered to the Public.

Price Sixpence. Complete and Unabridged.

"Vanity Fair.

Containing 328 pages, with all the Original Illustrations, tailpieces, and especially all the famous Vignette Initials.

Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers, LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

Advertise in the Morning Times.

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8 30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld, 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5 00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer

Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION

JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv	6.15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	"	7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar	8.40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv	11.00 a.m.	"	6 30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	"	12.10 p m.	"	7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar	1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA

JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"

JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to

W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG. PORT HOPE. ROCHESTER. N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... 2.00 p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... 3.50 p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester)...... 6.45 p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets...... 8.00 a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester)...... 8.45 a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... 1.00 p.m.
Arrive Port Hope Ontario...... 2.30 p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which ticket reads. For further information apply to,

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James Swan, Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"

EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M

Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.

EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M

Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports

RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.

FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT

—FARE:—
$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18

Including meals and berth en route

For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

Navigation

COBOURG AND PORT HOPE TO TORONTO

STR. "ARGYLE"

(Commencing Thursday, May 22)

EVERY THURSDAY

Leaves Cobourg at	7 00 a m
" Port Hope at	8.00 a m
Arrive Toronto at	12 30 p m
Returning, leaves Toronto at	5 00 p m
Fare continuous round trip	$1.00

Extension return 30 days, 25c extra, from Purser on board

ALLAN LINE

LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.

Carthagenian.................... July 30
Sardinian.................... August 13

MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT.

Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd

River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity, and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 11th and 25th August; 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO

NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to: W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY

(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)

GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAO

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION

SS. BRITANNIC will leave Collingwood on Mondays and Thursdays at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.

CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and Penetang at 2.30 p. m. daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to Parry Sound, arriving there at 5.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. For Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9 00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4 45 p. m.

5 Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer

NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11 55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at [illegible] tickets 50c; return, good [illegible] good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, [illegible]

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By the wages we mean $50 to $60 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Moore & Co., Room 711 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

50 Doses for 25c

IF THEY CURE YOU.

50 Doses for Nothing

IF THEY DO NOT CURE YOU

These are the terms upon which we will mail you a full size box of either

Dr. Dean's Nerve & Blood Builder

—OR—

Dr. Dean's Kidney Pills

We know you never tried the equal of these wonderful remedies and that's why we can offer to send back your money if you buy them and are not perfectly satisfied.

Send 25c. in stamps and get a box by return mail.

STOTT & JURY,
Bowmanville, Ont.

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'

J. H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Peterborough Bob Dead

"Peterborough Ben," the famous dog, who went to South Africa with the Strathconas is dead. He succumbed to a dose of poison, administered by some unhung villian, on Monday evening, and was buried in the garden of Mr. W. W. Johnston's residence.

Banking Hours

We understand that a movement is likely soon to be made among the bank managers of the town to have an agreement reached whereby all the local banks would close at 12 o'clock on Saturdays, the year round, instead of at 1 o'clock, as is now the rule. The 12 o'clock closing rule is in force in all the banks of Manitoba, and in Toronto and Montreal, and there is no reason why it should not be obtained in Peterborough.

Death of Mrs. N. R. Willoughby

Mrs. Willoughby, wife of Rev. N. R. Willoughby, D.D., of Elora, a distinguished minister of the Methodist church died suddenly on Sunday evening last at the residence of her son, Dr. J. H. C. Willoughby of Saskatoon, N.W.T. The body will be interred in Toronto on the arrival of the train from Winnipeg on Friday at 8.45 p.m. Rev. Dr. Willoughby was at one time pastor of the George street Methodist church.

Nervous, Sleepless and Exhausted

Not sick enough to lay up, but you are out of sorts, blood is weak, nerves unstrung, kidneys deranged, vitality is low. You should take Ferrozone at once; it will enrich, strengthen and purify the blood, invigorate and pacify the nerves, and increase your energy, vitality, and power. Ferrozone will renew your appetite and digestion, make you sleep soundly—in fact will make you well. Try Ferrozone. Price 50c. per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50; at druggists, or Ormond & Walsh.

Busy Kawartha

The large influx of tourists to the Kawartha Lakes reminds us of its growing popularity as a summer retreat. Each day the G.T.R. depot and T.V.N. wharves present a busy scene. Tourists arrive daily bound for the several resorts on the lakes. Indications point strongly to a general increase in the tourist trade this season. A much improved boat service has been inaugurated between Chemong and Lakefield. A daily service is given which enables Toronto passengers and others arriving by the Kawartha G.T.R. 7.50 a.m. train, to reach points on the lakes the same day, while close connection is made with all out-going trains by Lindsay. The natural beauty of the Kawartha lakes is much admired by those who are visiting them this year for the first time. Undoubtedly the lakes possess more natural scenic grandeur than any other place in Ontario, and it is a source of more than satisfaction to know that recognition of that fact is becoming apparent.

—Our agricultural readers will please to remember that the market will be held on Friday instead of Saturday.

DOUBLE DROWNING ACCIDENT

Young Lady well Known in Peterborough One of the Victims

Yesterday's Toronto papers published the details of the drowning of Miss Ruby Adams, the 16 year old daughter of Mr. Allan Adams, of Toronto, formerly proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, who is known to many of our readers.

It appears that Miss Adams and Dr. Gray, of Toronto, the other victim, were out for a pleasure trip on the Niagara River with the Outing Club of Tonawanda. The party were aboard the yacht Ella H. and were making stops at all the summer resorts on the river. When the boat neared Tonawanda Ferry Miss Adams and Dr. Gray, who were on the upper deck, started to descend. Miss Adams, who was in the lead down stairs, fell on reaching the last step and plunged into the river. Dr. Gray, who followed, jumped into the water and attempted to save Miss Adams, but in doing so both lost their lives.

Dr. Gray graduated from the University of Buffalo, and is 21 years of age. As yet no trace of the bodies has been found.

Miss Ruby Adams resided at 33 Bellevue-avenue, Toronto, with her parents. Five weeks ago she and her mother went to visit deceased's uncle, Dr. Clendenning, at Tonawanda. Miss Adams was attending St. Margaret's College during the past session. Much sympathy will be felt for the bereaved family by their many friends in this locality.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by 'phone or in writing.—[Ed. Times]

—Miss Annie Cromie has returned from Norwood.

—Mr. H. S. Roseves, of Port Hope, was in town yesterday.

—Miss A. Merks, of Toronto, spent Sunday in town.

—Mr. A. L. Davis came down from the lakes yesterday.

—Mr. Harry E. Buck, of Norwood, was in town yesterday.

—Mr. McMullan, of Toronto, spent Sunday in town.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Henry, of Havelock were in town yesterday.

—Messrs. Herbert Edmison and Harry Thompson spent Sunday in Montreal.

—Mr. Walter Nicholls of the C.G. E., has returned to Toronto, where he will reside.

—Miss Annie Spence, of Toronto, was the guest of Mrs. R. Spence, Water street, on Sunday.

—Mrs. R. A. Fife, has returned from a three weeks' visit with friends in the East.

—Mr. Jos. Hopkins, of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. Cath, North Monaghan, on Sunday.

—Mr. Fred. Tully, of Messrs. Ormond & Walsh's, is holidaying in Muskoka.

—Messrs. D. Flynn, Thos. Gorman, and M. McNicholl, of Havelock, are on a business trip to Peterborough.

—Miss Ethel Thronton left on Tuesday evening for a visit with her sister Mrs. E. W. Wood, Toronto.

—Rev. W. S. Blackstock, of Toronto, was in town yesterday. He is well known as an old resident of Cavan.

—Mr. Wesley Milburn, is for a short time attached to the staff of Messrs. Ormond and Walsh.

—Miss Nellie Halpin, of Toronto, is spending a few days with her cousin, Mrs. W. J. Devlin.

—Miss Jean Cameron has returned from a visit at "Rocklands" Stony Lake.

—Rev. O. C. Elliott, of Belleville, is spending a few days with friends in town.

—Miss Lucy Curtis has returned to town after an enjoyable visit with her sister in Buffalo, N. Y.

—Mr. Charlie Stone, son of Mr. E. B. Stone, is attending a small-pox patient at Bolton, Ont.

—Rev. P. O. O'Boyle, of the University of Ottawa was in town yesterday He is on his way home from Lindsay.

—The Misses Lightfoot left on Saturday for Aurora, where they will visit their grandparents, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell.

—Miss Lillian Hurley, is going to McCracken's Landing this afternoon, and is to provide music for the dance tonight at the Victoria House.

—Mr. George C. Burnham, of Pittsburg, returned home yesterday, after spending his holidays in Peterborough and at Stony Lake.

—Miss B. Halpin has returned to her duties in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, after a pleasant visit with her parents, Lake street.

—Miss S. E. Watts, graduate nurse of State Hospital Buffalo, has returned home after a pleasant visit with her friend, Miss Mary Akey, 471 Sherbrooke street.

—Miss Maggie Reid, of London, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. R. Plummer, left for home yesterday. She will spend a short time in Toronto on her way.

—Mrs. Wm. Batten and family, left for Mount Pleasant yesterday, where they will be the guests of Mrs. J. Simson.

—Miss Nellie Courtney, Ashburnham, has returned from New York, where she was the guest of her uncle Hon. W. H. Pendry.

—Mr. W. G. Hall of St. Catherines, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hall, Simcoe street.

—Mr. Wm. Baly was in town yesterday. He is on his way home to Toronto after a very pleasant visit at upper Stony Lake.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chatman, of Toronto, spent a few days in town and vicinity last week. They were the guests of Mrs. Chatman's sister, Mrs. Dickson, of Otonabee.

—Messrs. Marvin Kennedy and Herb. Clegg returned on Monday evening from a fishing trip to Jubilee Point. Marv. caught a huge catfish and Herb. caught a bad cold.

—Miss Barbara McNabb, of Orillia, is visiting Mr. S. McElroy's, Bethune street.

—Mr. A. J. McPhee, representing Frost & Wood Co., Smiths Falls, was a guest at the National Hotel yesterday.

—The Port Hope Guide says: Miss L. Perrin, Peterborough, has returned from a trip to Montreal and Quebec, per line boats Spartan and Hamilton. She is the guest for a few days of Mrs. W. T. Greenway, Barrett's Terrace.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

—The Cheese Board meets this morning.

—We want a good smart boy to learn press work. Apply at The Times office.

—The water in the river is falling, but is still a long way above the normal condition.

—Nine and a half cents was paid for best selections at the Lindsay cheese sale on Monday.

—Mr. Elcome, the local taxidermist, received a black bass for mounting. The fish weighed 6 lbs. 2 ounces, and was caught in Rice Lake.

—The Ontario Government has appropriated $500 to assist in discovering oil at Melrose, Hastings County. We know that oil or gas, or perhaps both, exist here, and an effort should be made to sink a test well.

—At the Police Court yesterday Walter Young was fined $5 for being drunk. Three hotel men, who were charged with supplying Young with liquor during prohibited hours, were discharged. No evidence being forthcoming against them.

—Lindsay Post: Peterborough Ottawa and Kingston and some other cities are discussing the question of having band concerts in the public parks on Sunday, at which only sacred music should be played. Great stress is laid upon the elevating and solemnizing effect of sacred music when rendered by a good band. Lindsay hasn't reached that point as yet—we have the park and may secure a band in the sweet by-and-bye.

—Messrs. Madill Bros., of Lakefield, have decided to close out their dry goods business at Lakefield, after having conducted it very successfully for quite a number of years. The firm contemplate opening up business in a large eastern town. The News says their leaving Lakefield will be greatly regretted by their large number of friends in business and social circles.

WANTED

Wanted —A lad to go to Webwood to assist baker. Appply to Wm Irwin Box 528, Peterborough.

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at	40c
Suspenders	15c
Overalls, with bib, at	48c
Smocks, at	90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"

CAPT. W. McOLLA Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 2th?

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars fro W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

F. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

to King St West, Toronto

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH

Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales

FOR EVERYBODY

COAL GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES

DIAMOND STEEL BEAM

GET OUR PRICES

C. WILSON & SON
81 ESPLANADE STREET EAST TORONTO.

BOOTS & SHOES

—FOR—

Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD, K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

CANADIAN PACIFIC

20,000 Harvesters

Wanted in Manitoba and Canadian North-west

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSIONS

Will be Run From Stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell

—To— WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th

For $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific Station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or South-west or North-west of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificate which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov 30th, 1902, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS, and are not good on "Imperial Limited," and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation in Tourist Cars

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt.
1 King Street East, Toronto

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transient guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Coronation Day Saturday, Aug 9th — Single Fare between all Stations in Canada Good going Aug. 8th and 9th. Returning good until Aug. 11, 1902.

SPECIAL EXCURSIONS

$64.70

To Los Angeles or San Francisco Cal., and Return.

Good going Aug. 1st to 10th, inclusive. Valid until Sept. 30th.

Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Glenwood Springs, Colo.; Ogden, Salt Lake, Utah.; Deadwood, Hot Springs and Custer, South Dakota. Return ticket at Single First Class Fare. Good going Aug. 1st to 14th. Good for return until Oct. 31st, 1902.

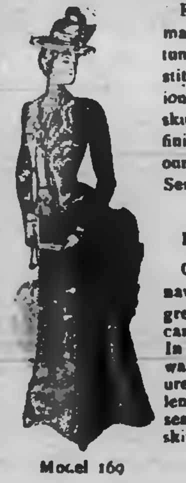
Tickets and information from

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Ticket Agent

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.

LIMITED.



Model 160

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketchbook of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

Help Wanted.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Androther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W SMITH Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

Boarding

LADIES DESIRING A COMFORTABLE home at reasonable rates can be accommodated at the Y. W. C. A. Boarding Home on Brock St.

For Sale

PLEASURE YACTS FOR SALE. THE UNdersigned has for sale three first class pleasure yachts, from 18 to 20 feet in length, all in first class order. Apply at Times office to R J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

STEAMER "BEAVER" FOR SALE. THE steamer Beaver is compact and serviceable steam launch, 75 feet long, 12 feet beam would make a splendid private pleasure launch. Fastest boat on inland lakes. Licensed to carry passengers Will be sold at a dead bargain.

For full particulars apply to Capt. Barrie Gores Landing, or at the Times Office to R. J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISters and Solicitors, 370 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street Money to lend E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $30 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 711 14 and 16 Broadway, New York.

FRY, 304 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 304 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 48 page phamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 321 George St., now occupied by Henry Best

No. 23 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary Office Division Court Buildings.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS For Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES

superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victor British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical Chemist, Southampton, England.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

WEDDING FORMS AND DAINTY CARDS

THE pearly, white translucent paper of the Times wedding invitations is a rich background for the velvety black ink impression of the suberb printing.

While the paper is specially imported, the remainder of the work is done in the Times Job Rooms.

The uniquely attractive results will be gladly shown to those desiring wedding forms printed.

STATIONERY

The Times Book Store stationery is prettily boxed and includes all the popular shades of papers.

Special Attention to Mail Orders

THE TIMES BOOKSTORE

GEORGE ST. PETERBOROUGH.

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

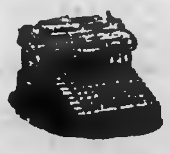
And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go. They cannot produce the goods.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

TYPEWRITERS



I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Pure Silk Flags

For Cushions

Size, 16x16

A limited number at 15c each Regular price, 50c.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

Leave Your Money in Peterborough—

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS NEW FEATURES NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S West
William St., Toronto, Ont.

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

RED ROSE TEA

is composed entirely of the delicious Teas of India and Ceylon.

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL. 30 NO 180

PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO THURSDAY AUGUST 7 1902

PRICE TWO CENTS

INDIAN PRINCES WISH TO SEE THE KING.

Correspondet Suggests Why the Corontion of His Majesty Has Been Hastened Along

Chinese Students Unable to Secure Admission to Japanese Military Schools

CAN BEAT THE WHOLE WORLD

Special Cable to The Times.

Johannesburg, Aug. 6—The report that the Boer leaders, headed by Kruger, are conspiring against British rule in South Africa is not believed here. The great accessions that are constantly being made to the population of the South African colonies will soon render the Boer harmless, even should a spirit of rebellion exist. The fact is, the Boer is likely to become a loyal and patriotic Britisher. This is everywhere apparent. A prominent Boer stated at a meeting held here last week, that the Boer and Briton could beat any nation or combination that could be formed against them.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6.—The Times publishes an article on the coming coronation by a special correspondent, who suggests that the reason for the precipitate performance of the ceremony is in order that the Indian princes may be able to say they have seen King Edward when they return home.

CECIL RHODES' WILL PROVED.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6.—A Cape Town correspondent says the will of Cecil Rhodes has been proved there. Letters of administration were granted to L. L. Mitchell, the right being reserved to absent executors to prove later. The delay is due to legal complications, because all the executors are not domiciled in Cape Town.

CALLS STORY "HOLIDAY POLITICS."

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6.—A Paris despatch says few persons take the latest rumors concerning the Czar and his disarmament project seriously. The Temps calls the story "holiday politics."

PROTECTING THE MACCEDONIANS.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6.—A Vienna correspondent of The Times says he has received trustworthy information regarding aambiguous relations between the Macedonian Committee and the Bulgarian authorities. It appears Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is secretly protecting the Macedonian Committee because he dare not do anything to discourage national aspirations. The Bulgarian Ministry is somewhat similarly situated.

RUDENESS OOF CHINESE STUDENTS.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6.—"The Chinese Minister to Japan," says the Tokio correspondent of The Times, "has invoked police protection because of the alleged rudeness of Chinese students who were unable to secure admission to the Japanese military schools without a prescribed guarantee. The students urged the Minister to become security for them, and when he delayed replying they proceeded in a body to the legislation, expressing the opinion that he should resign unless he explained the delay satisfactorily. Newspapers suspect the Chinese Minister of placing fictitious obstacles in the way of Chinese education in Japan. There are already 600 Chinese students in Japan. Others are going there, and it is much regretted that a project so promising should encounter difficulties.

INCIDENT ABOUT KING EDWARD.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6—"The Marquis de Gallifet, in memoirs which he is publishing," says a Paris correspondent, "relates an incident about King Edward, who when Prince of Wales was dining with Gambetta in 1880. De Gallifet was present. The Prince asked why there were no nobles in the Government. Gambetta explained that, though they had neither estates nor influence, they did not wish to be employed. They only sulked. The Prince then asked why literary and commercial celebrities were not ennobled, as in England. Gambetta said this would be impossible for some time to come. He added that the only aristocracy in the republic was one of merit, which needed no titles. His Royal Highness rejoined: "You are a real Republican, Gambetta," Gambetta replied: "Monseigneur, I think it logical you should be a Royalist."

THE REAL CAUSE OF CHINESE ANIMOSITY

Natives Told That Foreigners are Responsible for Taxation

MORE TROUBLE BREWING.

Antipathy to Foreigners Steadily Growing through the Whole of the Land

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6.—Advices from Pekin have no doubt of a revival of the animosity toward foreigners that preceded the Boxer outbreak. The present feeling of antagonism and resentment is due chiefly to the means taken by the Government to raise money to meet the foreign indemnity. It is but fair to the Chinese to say that they propose to meet the indemnity by raising the tariff on imports. To this the Powers objected, thus compelling the Chinese to increase a most obnoxious tax called "likins," and also to increase the tax on land.

These increases fell readily on the industrious Chinese, who till the soil, the mechanics and the like, and the authorities are not slow to explain to them that the foreigner is the cause. The vast mass of Chinese had nothing to do with the Boxer movement. It is a well established fact that the majority know nothing about the war with Japan. But every Chinaman in every village wants to know why the land and grain taxes are higher and thus they learn, even in the remotest provinces, that the foreigners have made life harder to the natives who have not harmed them.

Consequently there is throughout China an anti-foreign sentiment growing stronger every day compared with which the Boxer agitation was trivial. While the Chinese people are learning to hate the stranger, the Chinese Government is sparing no effort that its means will permit to improve the discipline of its army and create a military force after the European and Japanese models.

China is in no hurry to quarrel. For the present China will fight her own battles with diplomatic weapons until ready to hold her own on the field of warfare.

THE PRINCESS CHIMAY

She Smashed a Mirror Instead of Her Husband—Expelled from Hotel

Special to The Times.

Paris, August 7.—Count Rigo has been ousted from a hotel at Enghein, Les Bains, because he gave violin lessons to a young divorced English woman in her own apartments after midnight, contrary to the rules of the establishment.

Ex-Princess Chimay, Rigo's wife, was aroused from her peaceful slumber by the noise of the expulsion and created a still more violent scene. She tried to brain her husband with a heavy bronze candlestick, but only smashed an expensive mirror.

DRIFTED IN FOG WITH YELLOW JACK ON BOARD

Two Dead Buried in Bay when the Steamer Anchored.

Special to The Times.

Bangor, Maine, Aug. 7.—After three days of aimless drifting in the fog the British bark, Hiram Wood, Captain Swatridge, from Rio de Janeiro, June 19, for St. John, N.B., in ballast, has arrived in little Machias Bay, on the eastern Maine coast, and anchored close to Old Man Ledge, off the Cutler shore.

Signals of distress were flying and a boat from the shore learned that the vessel had yellow fever on board, and that three of her crew, including the second mate had died. Two of the dead were buried in the bay after the boat came to anchor. Capt. Swatridge and the cabin boy are both sick with the fever, but are expected to recover. No other cases have developed.

The bark will be held in quarantine and will be fumigated, after which she will be towed to St. John.

BIG APPLE ORDER FROM BRITAIN

One House Asks for a Million Barrels—Bumper Crops in Ontario

A million barrels of apples is the order which one Belleville dealer has received from an English house, and he has started buyers out to get the goods.

The significance of this can be seen when it is remembered that a million barrels of apples would in most seasons in the past equal nearly the whole of Canada's export. This order, is, therefore, far and away in excess of any order ever received before by a Canadian dealer. It indicates the high value placed upon Canadian apples and the possibilities of increasing the trade in this fruit.

Mr. G. C. Creelman, Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, who has been travelling through the province lately reports that there will be a good crop of apples all over. Farmers who have been spraying their orchards will reap the benefit this year as the Fruit Marks Act for No. 1 fruit calls for apples which are 90 per cent. free from scab. The orchards that have been sprayed will be the ones which will fulfil this condition. Great interest is being aroused by the work of the three men the department now has out giving practical demonstration in spraying and thinning.

The past week of warm, dry weather has been of immense benefit to the framers who have got in all their hay and in the western part of the province, which Mr. Creelman was over last, the wheat is practically all cut, and a start made on oats and barley. In that part of the province west of Toronto there have not been such crops for twenty years. Another week of hot, fine weather, such as last week will see the great bulk of the grain crop of the province saved, and if it is saved it will be a bumper one.

Irritating Pimples and Disfiguring Blotches

They place many young girls at a great disadvantage in life. The only cure is a blood purifier like Ferrozone. It cleanses the crimson flood of poisons and impurities, renews and strengthens it, and makes lots of red corpuscles that manifest their presence by a ruddy, healthy glow in the cheeks and lips. Ferrozone quickly masters all skin eruptions, builds up broken-down constitutions, and gives to weak, sickly women an abundance of spirits, vitality, energy and beauty. Try Ferrozone, it's all right. Price 50c. per box or 6 boxes for $2.50, at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston Ont.

TO VISIT THE COLONIES

EX-BOER PRISONER EN ROUTE FOR CANADA.

Will Study the Latest Scientific Methods of Agriculture — Return of Prisoners to Their Former Homes is Proceeding Rapidly

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 7.—The Times correspondent at Johannesburg writes:

Some time before the end of the war the Home Government propounded a scheme for enabling a certain number of prisoners of war to visit Australia, the primary object being that they might acquaint themselves with the latest scientific methods of agriculture. As might have been expected, the Boers in Bermuda, St. Helena, and Ceylon readily fell in with the proposal, and some difficulty was experienced in making a selection from among the numerous applicants. With the declaration of peace many of those who were anxious to go decided that their presence was required at home. The scheme, however, was not abandoned, though it will no longer be a case of Boer prisoners on tour. The Government has decided to select a few prominent agriculturists from among the Boers who might willingly make a study of modern scientific methods of agriculture with a view to putting them into practice on their own farms and imparting their knowledge to their neighbors. The first party, which comprises Mr. Wooste, a large landed proprietor in Orange River Colony, his wife, and two others, under the guidance of Captain Godson of the Constabulary, is expected to leave for Canada in a week, probably returning via Australia. A second party will be made up in Ceylon, and under the guidance of the censor in the prisoners camp will leave the island next month for Australia and New Zealand. Every care will be taken in the selection of willing and intelligent men. I understand that it has been arranged that one member of each party, at least shall have a knowledge of photography and be provided with a camera. The scheme, which has secured cordial co-operation, is both interesting and unique. Though some will deplore the extent to which we carry the principles of conciliation, it is certainly an earnest of the desire of the British Government to leave nothing undone which may promote the welfare and secure the good-will of our fellow-subjects.

Meanwhile every effort is being made to bring back the prisoners of war as quickly as possible. A uniform rate of 1,000 a week will be attained by the end of the month, and will be increased in a few weeks to 2,000, so that it is anticipated that all the prisoners will have returned by the end of November. No doubt it is desirable to effect the return of the prisoners as soon as possible, but it must be remembered that most of these men have families and rely on waggon transport for reaching their farms. Of this there is a great dearth at the present moment, and it is an open question whether the repatriation boards will be able to cope with the rapidity with which the prisoners can be landed in South Africa. Preparations are being made for passing 80,000 people through Harrismith during the next six or eight weeks on their way to their farms. They will probably be conveyed by train to Elands River, which is now the railhead of the Harrismith-Bethlehem line, and thence by ox or mule transport to the Bethlehem, Reitz and Senekal districts.

RESTORED TO LIFE AFTER BEING DROWNED

ORILLIA LAD UNDER WATER FOR TEN MINUTES

Sank in Seven Feet of Water and had to be Scraped Up from the Bottom of the River with an Oar

Special to The Times.

Orillia, Aug. 6.—A remarkable case of restored animation is being discussed here. George Haggard, a youth of 15, employed to do chores around Fern cottage, Mr. John McLain's summer resort on the Narrows, had a very narrow escape from drowning. In fact he went so far through the gates of death that life was supposed to be extinct, and it was with much dificulty that he was resuscitated.

In company with John and Cornelius Galivan, sons of a neighboring farmer young Haggard had gone down the shore about a quarter of a mile from Fern cottage for a swim. He could swim only indifferently, while the Galivans could swim scarcely at all; but in a spirit of bravado Haggard "stumped" the others to go out some distance from the shore and jump out of the boat. They refused to go beyond their depth but Haggard went by himself.

He sprang into the water where it was about seven feet deep, but on coming to the surface and finding the boat some distance from him, he became frustrated, lost his head, and shouted to his companions that he couldn't swim any further. The younger lad at once set off for Fern cottage and gave the alarm Frank Shilling, of Slama, quickly started in a boat, whilst the other members of the household ran along the shore Meantime the elder Galivan had carefully marked the spot where Haggard had gone down for the third time, and on reaching it Miss Constance Churchyard, a young lady who is one of the guests at Fern cottage, and who is a strong swimmer, at once plunged in, and swam out to where Galivan said his companion had sunk. Meantime Shilling had come up in the boat and had no difficulty in locating Haggard, who was stretched out on the bottom. With the help of an oar he got him to the surface and into the boat.

The boy gave no signs of life, but a book was obtained giving instructions as to the measures to be taken in such cases, and while one read it the others put the directions into practice. It was some time before any result was noticeable, but their efforts were at last rewarded by signs of life, and by the time Dr. A. E. Ardagh, who had been telegraphed for, arrived, very shortly after the accident, the boy was in a warm bed and out of danger.

All concerned in the rescue seem to have acted with most commendable promptitude and good judgment. Had there been any delay, Haggard would undoubtedly have succumbed. His successful resuscitation after being under the water for ten minutes is an object lesson which should stimulate effort in similar cases for the future.

FOOD TREATMENT

Old Stomachs Made Over

Improper medicine knocks out as many stomachs as bad food, but proper food will nearly always restore the health that nature intended.

"I suffered with chronic constipation for a long time, and two years ago became an invalid, being unable to retain anything on my stomach," says Mrs. F. M. Buss, of Millersburg, Ky.

Physicians pronounced it catarrh of the stomach and bowels. In fact the entire alimentary canal was involved, caused, they said, by continued use of purgatives. For several weeks I could not retain more than a teaspoonful of any kind of fluid at any time and at this stage of my illness a friend suggested that I try Grape-Nuts.

I commenced by taking only a teaspoonful at a time of the water poured, while boiling, over two teaspoonfuls of the Grape-Nuts. In five days was able to digest a teaspoonful of the Grape-Nuts themselves, and in less than a month could digest an ordinary meal. I can eat anything now, after having used Grape-Nuts for nearly two years, and am entirely cured of constipation. It is a wholesome, pure, and inexpensive food."

TRACY, THE OUTLAW, HAS KILLED HIMSELF

After Eluding the Officers of the Law for Over Two Months, He is Penned

He was Surrounded by the Deputies—Saw That There was No Possibility of Escape and Killed Himself.

Special to The Times.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 6. — Harry Tracy, the outlaw, who was surrounded by the officers of the law, killed himself in a wheat field near Fellower at 4.30 a.m. this morning. The death of Tracy by his own hand, closes one of the most notable criminal careers in the history of the West.

In a fight with the sheriff's posse last night Tracy was wounded in the right leg between the knee and the thigh. Twenty minutes later, knowing that capture was certain, he killed himself with a revolver. His body was found in a wheat field this morning.

Convict Harry Tracy began his career of crime in Colorado in 1897 by killing Deputy Sheriff Valentine Hay. In 1899, after he had been sentenced to the Oregon Penitentiary, he attempted to escape by seizing a railroad locomotive, but the engineer outwitted him and he was captured. In the scrimmage he wounded Detective Rainer, of Portland

On June 9, 1902, with David Merrill, Tracy escaped from the penitentiary at Salem. His record from that date to July 11 follows:

June 9—Escaped, with Merrill, at 7 a.m. killing Guard Jones, Ferrill, and Tiffany, and wounding Guard Ingram.

June 10 —Returned in the darkness of the early morning to Salem, where the men held up J. W. Roberts, whom they stripped of clothing, and then stole a team of horses, and made their way to Portland. Near Gervais they held up two members of the posse in pursuit, and took a horse and buggy.

June 11—Fired on pursuers from ambush near Gervais.

June 12—Broke through cordon of 250 militia and made their escape.

June 14—Stole two horses and rode through Portland suburbs.

June 16— Forced two men to ferry them across the Columbia River.

June 17— At Salmon Creek exchanged shots with a posse, and Tracy wounded Deputy Sheriff Biesecher. At Ridgefield the men stole horses and continued their flight.

June 22.—Robbed the house of Matrick McGuire at Alacenter.

June 25—Stole breakfast near Kelso, Mont.

June 28.—Stole two horses, but gave them back.

June 29—Slipped through a strong posse guarding the road.

July 1— Seen forty miles from Tacoma. Tracy left Merrill, saying later that he had killed him in a duel. Tracy rode through Olympia.

July 2.—Tracy held up six men at South Bay, near Olympia and forced four to embark with him on Puget Sound. Landed at night at Seattle and started north.

July 3.—In an encounter with a Seattle posse near Bothell, Tracy shot and instantly killed Charles Raymond, a deputy sheriff, and dangerously wounded John Williams, another deputy sheriff. Carl Anderson and Louis Seefrit, newspaper men, were both wounded.

July 4—Tracy was located in a house in the city limits of Seattle. Surrounded by a cordon, he deliberately fought his way through the guards, killing Policeman Brees and mortally wounding Guard Rawley.

July 6—Tracy entered the home of Rancher Johnson, near Madison Point and forced the family to give him bundles of blankets, clothing and hats, and six days' supply of food. Before leaving he bound and gagged the whole family. He then made their hired man, Anderson, carry the bundles to Johnho's rowboat, put Anderson in the boat at the oars and started down the Sound. Fifteen hours elapsed before the sheriff's posse was able to start in pursuit.

July 6—Tracy next appeared in a private house near Renton. While the house was being surrounded, the convict quietly slipped away through the woods, binding Anderson in the back yard before leaving.

July 9 —Bloodhounds were set on Tracy's track, but were disabled by cayenne pepper sprinkled in the outlaw's footsteps.

July 10—Tracy broke into the house of E. M. Johnston near Kent. He sent Johnson to Tacoma to purchase a revolver and ammunition for his use, threatening to kill the man's family if he gave the alarm. Johnston made the long journey to Tacoma and returned with the revolver. Before leaving the house Tracy obtained enough provisions to last a week.

July 11.—Tracy was penned at the mouth of Sluice Creek and guards were stationed every fifty feet; but he escaped into the woods in the darkness.

Since July 11 Tracy has performed numerous escapades of the same character as those above mentioned.

RESULTS OF CONFERENCE

Preferential Tariff Treatment by the Colonies

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 6—The Daily Chronicle says:—The three definite results of the colonial conference will probably be in the direction of preferential tariff treatment by the colonies; an increased subsidy to the navy, and an arrangement for periodical Imperial conferences.

In connection with the first of these proposals it should be explained that the utmost the Colonial Premiers will do is to ask their respective Parliaments to give British goods the benefit of differential treatment under the customs tariff, and in such other ways as may best suggest themselves. It does not necessarily follow that this preference will solely take the form of reduced customs duties. There are other ways, which need not be now specified in detail, which may be safely resorted to for the purpose of developing trade within the Empire, without unduly handicapping necessary of profitable trade with foreign countries. Such methods may, generally speaking, take the form of increased mail subsidies for British-built and British-owned ships; the remission or reduction of duties on goods of British origin carried in such ships; the remission of harbor and other dues upon such goods and such shipps and the granting of special facilities for docking, repairing, coaling, etc. It is not intended that there should be any disabilities placed upon foreign ships or foreign trade, but that whatever concessions can legitimately be made shall be in favor of British ships and British trade. It is essential that it should be understood that the term "British includes everything appertaining to the British Empire, and that such increased tariff facilities as may be agreed upon shall include, for instance, the tariff between Canada and Australia, and between Australia and Great Britain.

Will not Reverse Fiscal System.

The conference was confronted in its initial discussion of these questions by two difficulties: (1) England was not prepared to reverse its established fiscal system of free trade with the world, and (2) the majority of the colonies were not prepared to sacrifice indispensable revenue by an all-round reduction or remission of customs duties in favor of British goods.

Mr. Chamberlain was exceptionally guarded in his opening speech on this subject. As a member of the conference put it, "he did not think it possible that a hard-headed business-minded man like the Colonial Secretary could speak so long without saying anything." The fact was that Mr. Chamberlain had practically nothing to offer but good wishes and a continuance of the favors already given in the way of free ports. He was handicapped by the declaration made only a few weeks before by the Chancellor of the Exchequer to the effect that the only form of Imperial Customs Union which the Government could entertain must be based on free trade. As that meant the colonies must fiscally line-up with England before any Customs Union could be established, and as the financial and political conditions of the whole of the colonies render such a course impossible just now and Chamberlain adroitly avoided any attempt at advocacy of his pet theory of an Imperial Zollverein or Customs Union. He, however, made it clear, as the conference proceeded, that whatever concessions might be possible in connection with any existing or prospective English duties, or in connection with the mail and cable subsidies, etc., would be most favorably considered by the Imperial Government.

Preferential Treatment.

The second difficulty referred to above affected all the colonies, but Canada more particularly. Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave the conference to understand that Canada could do nothing more than it already had done in the way of tariff concessions. It, however, appeared in the course of discussion that there was a possibility of beneficially altering the all-round reduction of 33 1-3 per cent, now conceded by Canada in the direction of a greater reduction of duties on a smaller list of specified goods, so that Canada's revenue would not be affected prejudicially while Imperial trade might be promoted.

The general opinion among the delegates appears to be that the other colonies will be pledged—subject to the appproval of their respective Parliaments to extend the "most favored nation" treatment to British trade and traders when and how they best can do so. Anything like a general scheme has been found impracticable owing to the varying conditions and conflicting interests of the different parts of the Empire, but that there will be a general agreement in favor of the principle is a foregone conclusion.

Contributions to Navy.

The first step towards extending the range of colonial participation in Imperial defence will depend to some extent upon the results of a conference now proceeding between the First Lord of the Admiralty and the Australian Premier (Sir Edmund Barton), the New Zealand Premier, Mr. Seddon), and the Australian Minister of defence (Sir John Forrest.)

London, Aug. 6—The conference of colonial Premiers with Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, discussed army and navy supply contracts, the reduction of Imperial postage rates, and the exclusion of Canadian live cattle from Great Britain today. No definite conclusion was reached on the last mentioned question, which it is understood the Canadian Ministers will take up with Robert W. Hanbury, the president of the Board of Agriculture.

A Great Sufferer Cured

Mr. Benjamin Dillon, of Leeds, Ont., was cured of muscular rheumatism by Polson's Nerviline, and says, "I feel my duty is to proclaim Polson's Nerviline as an infallible cure for rheumatism; it cured me after thirty years' suffering, and nothing I know of can equal its penetrating power. Nerviline simply has no equal in quickly relieving and curing rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. A trial will convince anyone. Price 25c.

MIGHTY BRITISH CANADIAN COMBINE TO FIGHT THE U. S. STEEL TRUST

Well-Known English Corporation to Join Hands with the Dominion Steel Co. and the Nova Scotia Steel Co. and Produce Manufactured Steel More Cheaply Than Ever Produced Before

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 6. — The Herald publishes the following which could not be confirmed as Messrs. Ross, Angus and Forget left today for Sydney: The Hon. Senator G. A. Cox, who has just returned from England and Mr. James Ross, the managing director of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company who has just come back from Cape Breton, had a conference this forenoon at the offices of the Dominion Coal Company, in the Street Railway building, and a question of momentous importance regarding the future of the allied steel and coal companies was, it is understood, the subject of their deliberations. It was nothing less than the formation of a gigantic British and Canadian steel combination, which will enter into competition with the American Steel Trust, not alone for the control of the steel markets of the world, but for production of manufactured steel products cheaper than they have ever been produced before.

The Dominion Steel Company and the Nova Scotia Steel Company are the Canadian factors in this combination; but the most important factor is a well-known English corporation which has works established in all the principal English mining areas—in the Midland, in Lancashire and in South Wales. This corporation, whose name is withheld from publication, at the moment for tactical reasons, stands in influence and prestige second to none in the British Isles. It was part of the mission of Senator Cox to the Old Country to confer with the principals of this great undertaking, and it is understood that matters have reached a position which renders a powerful combination a probability of the near future.

It is not easy at the present time to get the steel directors together to take up a question of this magnitude, but it is not entirely new to the boards of the coal company, for representatives of the British corporation have been over the works of both the steel companies mentioned. The one difficulty which at the present moment stands in the way of carrying through this gigantic amalgamation is the valuation of the respective concerns, whose properties would form the trust. The value placed upon the English undertaking is very considerably higher than that of the two Canadian undertakings put together. It is the central organization of diversified industries which in the different parts of England named produce machinery and other products from crude steel and iron.

THE KAISER DENIES

That He Has Any Intention of Annexing Brazil

Special to The Times.

Cologne, August 6.—The Cologne Volkszeitung prints a remarkable letter from Rio de Janeiro, characterizing as lies the statements in American papers intimating that the Kaiser wants to have a finger in the Brazilian pie.

"The new German Minister, Von Treutler, himself went to Rio Grande do Sul to tell the Germans there that His Majesty has no intention of annexing the State," says the Volkszeitung, and continues: "There is much dissatisfaction among the Germans citizens of Rio Grande do Sul because some of them were forced to pay double for the lands they bought from the State. Our Minister did not touch upon this question in his public utterances, but assured the Germans privately that he would see to it that they receive full redress."

It will be seen that the paper admits that the Kaiser's Minister proposes to meddle in the affairs of the Brazilian Government, as the American press has repeatedly pointed out.

GIRL WHO DIED FOR LOVE

Austell, Rich Student, at Miss Cook's Funeral

Special to The Times.

New Haven, Aug. 6.—The funeral of Miss May Cook, the factory girl, who committed suicide and died in the arms of her sweetheart, Alfred Austell, a wealthy Yale student, was held on Tuesday and the body of the young woman was laid at rest beside that of her mother in Evergreen cemetery.

Hundreds of friends of the dead girl gathered in the cemetery. There were also many wealthy young men present, friends of young Austell. The casket, a costly one, covered with silver-gray velvet and tipped with old silver knobs and ornamentation, was furnished by the rich young student, and twenty carriages which he supplied conveyed the relatives and friends of the dead girl to the grave.

A handsome tombstone will be raised above the grave. Costly flowers were laid upon the suicide's coffin by her workmates in the Winchester Repeating Arms factory, and by the friends of the young student. Austell sent a beautiful wreath of lilies and roses, and there was a of lilies and roses, and there was a handsome pillow of carnations and lilies from the girl's brother and sister.

Young Austell attended the funeral at the home of the dead girl's brother and sister, No. 88 Newhall street, but was overcome at the cemetery gates and ordered the driver of his carriage to turn back. Over the gates was the inscription, "Blessed Are the Dead Which Die in the Lord." It was apparent that this sentiment had a profound effect on the young Yale student.

Miss Lucy Cook, sister of the dead girl, swooned at the grave.

The poor factory girl fell in love with the rich collegian and left her home just at the time her mother died. He lavished money upon her and for a time caused her to forget that she was only a little factory girl.

She was one of the best dressed girls in New Haven. Young Austell is very rich. His father established the First National bank, of Atlanta, Ga., and owned thousands of acres of land around that locality before the city began to flourish. A princely fortune fell to his children by reason of Atlanta's growth. One of the sons married a daughter of Judge O. A. Lochrane, chief justice of Georgia. The family is intimately connected with the Swanns, and James Swann, formerly of the firm of Inman, Swann & Co., of New York, has always taken a deep interest in young Austell.

Austell was popular at Yale. About a year ago he met the factory girl, and they were often seen in the streets riding in his automobile. After the last commencement Austell remained in New Haven. He lived at No. 117 Wall street, near the university buildings, and kept two negro valets whom he had brought from the south.

The two were at the Double Beach hotel on the sound on the night of July 25th. Austell told the girl that he must leave her forever. He was about to return to his home in Atlanta, he said, and was going to make a long distance record in his automobile. The girl could not bear the idea of being deserted by him and drank carbolic acid. She died in Austell's arms.

Catarrhozone

An instant relief and perfect cure for colds, coughs, catarrh, deafness, asthma, bronchitis lung trouble and consumption.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes any time and it kills a cough or cold in the head.

Inhale Catarrhozone five minutes four times daily and it permanently cures chronic catarrh, deafness, asthma and hay fever.

Inhale Catarrhozone ten minutes every hour and it cures pneumonia, consumption, lung trouble, and prevents all contagious diseases. Complete outfit $1.00, trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston Ont.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Peck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J.C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wardo, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bradford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal
Portland, Boston ... 6,10 a.m. 12.25 a.m.

West

Ottawa, Montreal.., ... 6,10 p.m 11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood,
Norwood, Havelock, Ot-
Depart Arrive Depart
Havelock .... 7,12 a.m. 7.32 p.m.

Canadian Pacific

Toronto, London, Detroit,
Chicago ... ... 11,35 a.m. 6 10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...7,33 p.m. 1 12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago ...... 12,35 a.m. 6.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...11,35 a.m. 6 10 p.m

Grand Trunk

Arrive Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto ... ...11,40 a.m. 8.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago 9 00 p.m. 6.32 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west ... .6,35 p.m. 11.4½ a.m
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal ....8,30 a.m. 8.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc ....8,10 a.m. 8.35 a.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal ....9,05 p.m. 3.05 p.m
Lakefield local ....9,40 a.m. 8.30 a.m
Lakefield local ....5,00 p.m. 12.35 p.m.
Lakefield local ....8,00 p.m. 6.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 3c per month, and to outside points at $3 per year strictly in advance

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 7, 1902.

HEROES OF PEACE

It is a mistake to suppose that acts of heroism are confined to those who exhibit exceptional valor in war or who risk their lives in moments of excitement to save others from death by accident. Examples of other forms of heroism as exalted come to light daily that are worthy the highest admiration. Indeed, many of the chief actors are the truest heroes, because their performance are deliberately planned a long time before, and with a full consciousness of a possible fatal outcome. A conspicuous instance of this form of self-sacrifice is furnished by the case of Dr. Garnault, a French physician, who is believed to be dying of tuberculosis, contracted voluntarily in the interests of humanity.

Some time ago Professor Koch, the eminent German bacteriologist, declared that human beings are not susceptible to infection from bovine tuberculosis. This was in direct contradiction to general belief and former teachings. Hence, notwithstanding the admittedly high standing of Dr. Koch many medical men refused to accept the new doctrine. Dr. Garnault is one of these; but in order that the question might be definitely settled he inoculated himself with bovine tuberculosis. The result apparently supports his contention against Dr. Koch, for he has contracted the disease in virulent form, and, in all likelihood, has but a few weeks to live.

The case of Dr. Garnault is one of heroic self-sacrifice for the benefit of mankind, and it must challenge general admiration. Yet he does not stand alone in self-forgetfulness in the interests of medical science. Hosts of physicians risk their lives without hesitation in the cause of humanity, and do it as deliberately as their medical brother in Paris. They are among the heroes of peace, as worthy of the world's respect and applause as those who perform deeds of valor in any event where instant, unusual courage and action are required.

◆

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY

Some references to the Alaska boundary matter which appear in Harper's Weekly show how little desire there is on the part of United States papers to treat the incident with judicial fairness or from the point of view of right. The Weekly directs attention to the alleged support that Russia gave to the United [illegible] [illegible], notes the [illegible] the Russian Bear "feels dyspeptic every time the Bear gobbles something," and that there is growing up on the U.S. coast of the Pacific a trade with Siberia which tends to make the Russians more kindly disposed towards the United States. The argument is then put forward that as the Alaskan territory was bought from Russia, if there is to be arbitration at all the matter should be left to the Czar! The logic of such a proposal is very crude. Russia sold to the United States some territory; the seller should be allowed to say what he sold. That is very simple, of course; but it quite overlooks the fact that the seller could not sell more than he owned; and it will be conceded that it would be a very irregular thing to leave to him to say where the line between his and another's property should be drawn, while the applying party boasts that he is prejudiced in its favor in the dispute. The question of the line is one to be settled by the records, line is one to be settled by the helping to a settlement, but he is not the one to act as an arbitrator. We do not think he would accept the task, under the circumstances; and we are sure also that he would not take the proposal as made by Harper's as a compliment to his character as a man or as a statesman.

◆

EDITORIAL NOTES

So far Lord Dundonald has not been ordered home by some Canadian militia department clerk.

It seems like a foretaste of the Millenium. Lord Kitchener is going to Southampton to meet Generals Delarey and De Wet. The King is to receive the Boer generals with Generals Roberts and Kitchener. The German Emperor has sent a pressing invitation to Lord Kitchener to visit Germany, declaring that the entire German army will esteem it a privilege to be allowed to welcome so distinguished a soldier. Now, if Mr. Kruger, Mr. Labouchere and Mr. Stead would only smoke the pipe of peace with John Bull, how happy we might all be!

◆

SHIPS SUNK BY DEWEY ARE NOW TO BE RAISED

Contracts Awarded by the American Navy—Three of the Vessels are Being Repaired

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 6.—The Navy Department has awarded contracts, through the Commandant of the navy yard at Cavite, to the Philippine Engineering and Construction Company for raising the Spanish warships which Admiral Dewey sunk in the famous battle of Manila Bay. The contractors have associated with them the Philippine Lumber and Development Company and the Pacific Oriental Trading Company. The contract includes the wrecking and dismantling of such of the ships as are unfit for further use, but it is expected that three of the vessels will be raised and repaired. Nine of them are so badly damaged that they are not worth saving. The work has already begun, and under the terms of the contract will be completed within a year. There are eleven gunboats and one transport to be removed, so that the contractors will have to raise one boat every month in order to keep their agreement. A large force of American divers is already at work on the wrecks, but none of the boats has been raised. It is proposed to save everything that is available. All the steel plates will be removed and sold intact. Most of the guns have been taken off the vessels, but such as remain become the property of the wrecking company. The company agrees not to sell any part of the available material of the ships to any foreign Government. Arrangements have been made to work up a large part of the brass and woodwork into souvenirs, which will be turned loose on the market next winter.

◆

SUITS AGAINST CROWS' NEST COAL COMPANY

They Arise Out of the Disaster in May Which Resulted in a Number of Deaths

Special to The Times.

Nelson, B.C., August 6.—Seven writs were issued yesterday at Nelson, claiming damages against the Crows' Nest Coal Company. Twenty-five more are to be served tomorrow, making a first batch of thirty-two claims, amounting to $240,000. Lawyers are acting for the widows and orphans of the victims of the disaster at Coal Creek last May. Altogether eighty-four suits are to be brought amounting to over half a million dollars. The suits commenced yesterday were by the following persons: Louisa Stephens, for $12,000, loss of husband; H. Dockson and wife, $4,000 each, son; Kate Ba,ayll, widow, $4,000, son; J. Hogan and wife, $4,000 each, son; Mary Pastek, $12,000, husband; B. Chamarro, aged 78, $4,000, only son; M. Robertson, widow, $4,000, son. The cases are to be tried before the Supreme Court.

◆

DOUBLE DROWNING ACCIDENT

Young Lady well Known in Peterborough One of the Victims

Yesterday's Toronto papers published the details of the drowning of Miss Ruby Adams, the 16 year old daughter of Mr. Allan Adams, of Toronto, formerly proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, who is known to many of our readers.

It appears that Miss Adams and Dr. Gray, of Toronto, the other victim, were out for a pleasure trip on the Niagara River with the Outing Club of Tonawanda. The party were aboard the yacht Ella H. and were making stops at all the summer resorts on the river. When the boat neared Tonawanda Ferry Miss Adams and Dr. Gray, who were on the upper deck, started to descend. Miss Adams, who was in the lead down stairs, fell on reaching the last step and plunged into the river. Dr. Gray, who followed, jumped into the water and attempted to save Miss Adams, but in doing so both lost their lives.

Dr. Gray graduated from the University of Buffalo, and is 21 years of age. As yet no trace of the bodies has been found.

Miss Ruby Adams resided at 23 Bellevue-avenue, Toronto, with her parents. Five weeks ago she and her mother went to visit deceased's uncle, Dr. Clendenning, at Tonawanda. Miss Adams was attending St. Margaret's College during the past session. Much sympathy will be felt for the bereaved family by their many friends in this locality.

The Passing of the Horse.

Very early in the development of electric traction it was predicted that the use of the horse would ultimately decrease and perhaps disappear. Electric traction has now, however, been brought to a high degree of perfection, and yet the horse is still with us. Notwithstanding this, statistics show, we are assured editorially by the "Electrical Review" (April 19), that the horse is going—slowly, perhaps, but none the less surely. Says this paper:

"Some interesting statistics lately published by our lively French contemporary, 'La Locomotion Automobile,' show that in Europe the horse is rapidly disappearing in the various large cities. For example, in Paris the total number of horses in 1901, according to a municipal census of these animals, was 96,008, while this year it is only 90,796, a falling-off of about six per cent. In London, in the same period, the equine population has decreased ten per cent., while in Berlin, Vienna, and even in St. Petersburg, the same falling-off exhibits itself. This is partly due to the new trolley-roads, and very largely to the numerous and continual increase in the number of automobiles used both for pleasure and business.

"In this country the supersession of the horse by the trolley-car has been absolutely astonishing in its extent. Probably to-day in New York there are not more than two-thirds as many horses employed as were used twenty years ago. So far, the automobile appears to have made no great inroads into the horse business, and it is likely that the extension of the use of automobiles will have to wait upon the growth of more scientific ideas regarding street-paving and road-making. However, the decadence of the horse is upon us, and his disappearance may be looked for sooner or later.

"As certainly as anything can be predicted the progress of engineering advance will totally extinguish the horse as a beast of burden. We may look forward with certainty and satisfaction to the day when cities at least will be horseless and when we will be removed from the tyranny of this animal, which has imposed upon us stone-paved streets, unending dirt, and, curiously enough, the house-fly—an insect dependent upon the existence of stables for its birth and breeding. What the future of the horse will be is hard to say. It is likely that horses will continue for centuries to come to be used as instruments of sport and pleasure, but the day of their emancipation from hard labor in the streets and roads is not far distant."

◆

Earthquakes and Causes.

One of the most disastrous earthquakes of recent times is that reported from Russian Transcaucasia. The town of Shamaka has been practically destroyed, only a dozen houses being left standing, while a population of 25,000 has been rendered homeless. The number of fatalities is as yet unknown. Over 800 bodies had been recovered at the latest accounts.

To the student of seismic phenomena, says the San Francisco "Chronicle," the interesting and suggestive feature in the Shamaka earthquake is that it has occurred in the neighborhood of the Baku oil district—the most productive field in the world, not excepting that of Beaumont, in Texas. It is, furthermore, a section of the world which has hitherto been exempt from these phenomena. The scientific enquirer will naturally search for a cause, for cause and effect go together in the scientific analysis of all phenomena. Is the great natural oil reservoir tapped by the oil wells of Baku, on the shores of the Caspian Sea, located under the site of Shamaka, and has the tremendous drain of mineral oil from the same caused a void and a subsequent shrinkage in the earth's crust in that neighborhood? The enquiry is not far-fetched. It is usually assumed that water takes the place of the oil withdrawn from the measures, filling the vacuum created by the latter's withdrawal, but if the water, being more tenuous, should find an independent vent elsewhere, the vacuum created by the draining of the mineral oil would remain, and a shrinkage of the unsupported crust of the earth would naturally follow sooner or later.

It has been suggested that the tapping of the oil measures in the southern part of California has relieved the mineral oil-bearing formations from the pressure of the gas created in them, and the possible subterranean gas explosions produced by excessive pressure, and thus removed one of the supposed causes of earthquakes in that section. There may be nothing in the theory, but it has been observed that the Los Angeles district has been notably exempt from seismic disturbances since the oil measures were tapped and vent given to the gases generated in them. Likewise, the theory that the Shamaka earthquake was due to the drain on the petroleum reservoirs in the Caucasus by the Baku wells may be entirely at fault. But the two phenomena seem to invite the attention of the scientist, and open a new field for the study of seismic disturbances.

◆

Bees in War!

We do not know that bees have ever been recognized as among the accessories of war, but there is an old army story current in the Southern States of a party who were out scouting or foraging, probably both, one morning, and saw a much larger party of the enemy's cavalry riding down on them. It was useless to retreat across an open plain, for the horses could go faster than they, while to surrender meant a fate but little better or perhaps a little worse than death. They gathered behind a wall or embankment, resolved to sell their lives as dearly as possible, when one of their number spied a stand of beehives a little way behind them. Quickly he communicated his idea to his comrades, and enough ran back to each to seize a hive and throw it over the wall in front of them. Very quickly those bees were at work as busily as if they had been sworn into the service, and while the riders might have faced them, the horses would not, but were soon in full retreat a half mile away. Some of the boys got stung in trying to send missiles more powerful than bee stings after the enemy, but they all reached camp again soon without needing the surgeon's care.

◆

—Lindsay Post: Peterborough Ottawa and Kingston and some other cities are discussing the question of having band concerts in the public parks on Sunday, at which only sacred music should be played. Great stress is laid upon the elevating and solemnizing effect of sacred music when rendered by a good band. Lindsay hasn't reached that point as yet—we have the park and may secure a band in the sweet by-and-bye.

Mining Stock for Sale.

COPPER AT THREE AND HALF CENTS A POUND

George A. Treadwell Mining Company

27 WILLIAM STREET, NEW YORK. JEROME, ARIZONA.

Capital - - - - $3,000,000.

PAR VALUE OF SHARES $10.

In a suit recently tried in the New York courts it was proved from the books of he United Verde Copper Company and the sworn testimony of the bookkeepers that the cost to that company of producing copper was only three and a half cents a pound, not counting the gold and silver values, which—allowed for—reduced he cost to a still lower figure.

Nowhere outside the Verde Copper Belt in Yavapai County, Arizona, is copper produced in quantities for less than twice this cost.

The United Verde has about two hundred acres on the north end of the Belt and the George A. Treadwell Company has several times as much in the central and southern parts of the Belt. The conditions along the whole Belt are entirely similar. We already have three mines developed—the Cliff, Brookshire and Iron Queen—one of which, the Cliff, seems to be larger and better than the United Verde, and the other two at least approach it in magnitude and value, while we have several others, including Badger, Pastime, Green Monster and Spoke and Stonewall, which, though less developed, are equally promising.

Professor Treadwell believes we have at least half a dozen United Verdes within the broad and extensive limits of our holdings.

As soon as our smelter plant which is now in process of erection, is completed, we can certainly produce copper as cheap as our rich neighbor on the north.

The United Verde for several years has produced one-tenth the copper of the world. When our plants are fully installed we expect the Verde Belt to produce one-half the copper of the world, and the George A. Treadwell Mining Company will be prepared to do more than its full share.

Before investing in copper in unproved localities, consider the stock of the George A. Treadwell Mining Company, named after the great pioneer and explorer of the Verde Belt and owning the largest and best aggregation of properties on it.

The price of the stock is $11 a share. Make checks payable to The order of the company and send them to 27 William Street New York

MYRA B. MARTIN. Secretary

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises, ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

CAPITAL STOCK—$250.000

Full-paid and non-assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12.500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital,

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President, A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President, Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON, Retired Merchant, Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT, Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL, Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. MINCHERT, Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers, Trenton, N. J.
COUNSEL: WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY owns a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30 000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO

PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average .... Profit $1,050

or $2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,001,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. No amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest." WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

$1,500,000

The American Cotton Co.

3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905

Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1st AND OCTOBER 1st IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.

Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr, Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS

Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Washington D. C.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
Hon. WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Boston
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
L. D. FLEMING, New York.
J. P COOPER Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the issue without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices,

W. O. Gay & Co.,
24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON

Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Pure Silk Flags For Cushions

Size, 16x16

A limited number at 15c each
Regular price, 50c.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go. They cannot produce the goods.

CANADA CAMERA CO.,
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

To be had at all first-class dealers

FOR A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

... BUY STOCK IN ...

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.

Mine Opened Up.
Ore in Sight.
Ore Vein 10 Feet Wide.
Values per Ton Average $24.75.
Hoist Pump, etc., Installed.

Mine in active operation 18 months. Now ready for concentrating mill, and for that purpose only we offer a small amount of stock at 20 cents per share, for 30 days.

For prospectus and further particulars call or address—

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
342 LUMBER EXCHANGE, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street,
AGENT AT PETERBOROUGH.

STOCKS SOLD ON INSTALLMENT

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own [illegible] of a woman whose clear complexion [illegible] beautiful [illegible]

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc. At drug stores—25c bottle.

Hutchings Medicine Co
105 YONGE ST., TORONTO

R-I-P-A-N-S

There is scarcely any condition of health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R-I-P-A-N-S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

Electric Lamps 25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co
LIMITED

House Renters & House Buyers

We wish to remind you that Fall and Winter will soon be here, and all who intend to buy Houses this year should lose no time now. Do not delay; come in the week and select a house. We have properties to let for occupation from Sept. 1st, that means a month's notice before you can move, and that is all. We make buying easy for our patrons. Ring up phone 376.

T. HURLEY & CO.,
136 Hunter, Ground Floor.

—We want a good smart boy to learn press work. Apply at The Times office.

STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you, you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor, Can. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX ST. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
O. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)

HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	165 886

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, payable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT
STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS
OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members (Consolidated Stock Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade.) Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
4 New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 589 Broad
LIST OF DESIREABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 30c cash, 25c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 215 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.
Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence Invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS
Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits
The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN.
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.
GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies Issued.
OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME
Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 5c Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 215 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

---

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS
Municipal & Corporation Bonds
Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

A German Court Martial

A court-martial which has aroused an immense amount of interest in Germany has been brought to an end. For over a year two non-commissioned officers named Marten and Hickel have lain under the charge of having murdered their commanding officer, Captain Von Krosigk. The trial, which has just ended in their acquittal, was the third to which they have been subjected. Late in the afternoon of January 21, 1901, Captain Von Krosigk was shot dead by an unknown hand through an embrasure in the wall of the riding school, where he had been superintending the riding exercise of some of his troopers. The murdered officer had a reputation for extreme severity in his dealings with his men, and had at least on one occasion been punished for exceeding the legitimate dictates of military discipline. The elaborate investigations which were instituted at Gumbinnen and which were partly conducted with the aid of a detective from Berlin laid bare the whole domestic economy and the daily life of the barracks. They showed that among those who had suffered most from the excessive harshness of Captain Von Krosigk was the non-commissioned officer Marten, as well as his father, a senior sergeant who had formerly served in Von Krosigk's squadron, but had obtained his transfer to another in order to escape the persecution to which he had been subjected by that officer. Hickel was the brother-in-law of the younger Marten and was involved in the suspicion which fell upon him, as he had been in Marten's company a few minutes before the murder. Both in the former trials and in that which, lasting ten days ended recently the evidence was chiefly furnished by dragoons of the squadrons who attempted, so far as their somewhat hazy memories served, to give an account of what they had observed during the half-hours and even the minutes which preceeded and followed the crime. One witness maintained that he had seen Marten near the carbines' stand a few minutes before the murder, while another had seen two persons with stiff caps like those of non-commissioned officers near a peep-hole in the low of the riding school. On the other hand, Marten and Hickel, it was proved, had both been in the house of the parents of the former no later than ten minutes before the fatal shot was fired.

At the first trial last June Marten and Hickel were both acquitted. At the second trial in August Hickel was acquitted, while Marten was condemned to death, an attempt to escape from a military custody which according to his own account, was almost intolerable, having weighed heavily against him. The Supreme Military Court, however, quashed the second verdict in the case of both of the accused, on the ground of a technical flaw in the proceedings. The final trial brought to light no fresh evidence of importance but the sensation excited by the case had apparently inspired a number of uneducated people to come forward with stories equally sensational, but unsupported by any corroborative testimony. Thus a woman in Gumbinnen declared that on the afternoon of January 21 she had heard a shot fired in the barracks and had immediately afterwards seen in the moonlight two civilians running out of the gates. It was proved, however, that on that evening the moon did not rise till three hours later than the hour of the murder. A good deal of evidence was adduced regarding previous attacks under cover of night upon the house and the property of Capt. Von Krosigk and it was testified that he himself had attributed these outrages to civilians.

The close of the final trial was rendered dramatic by a declaration made by Marten on the invitation of the Court. He said:—

"I only ask leave to say as a last word in my defence what I feel in my inmost heart. To my great grief I have heard the prosecutor propose that punishment should be inflicted upon me. The whole nation must know, and I declare with a loud voice—as sure as there is a God in heaven I can swear from the depth of my heart that I am innocent. My words are no mere phrase, they are the very truth. At the close of the investigation the Kriegsgerichtsrath said to me: 'If You are condemned you can appeal to the mercy of his Majesty.' If I were guilty I should be ashamed to ask mercy of my Kaiser. I have always been heart and soul a soldier, like my father. Now I am only a shadow of what I was, and I have been dragged through the mire before the whole world. I ask the Court to give me justice."

In declaring its verdict the Court admitted that there were strong grounds for the suspicion which had been entertained regarding Marten and Hickel but that, on the other hand, part of the circumstantial evidence was utterly untrustworthy and part of it of doubtful accuracy. There was nothing to show that the enmity of the Marten family against Captain Von Krosigk was of such a deep-seated and permanent character as to have driven the younger Marten and Hickel to commit this terrible crime.

The story is told of the present Archbishop of Canterbury that, upon a candidate for ordination essaying to read a chapter of the Bible before him to test his elocutionary powers, he was stopped with the abrupt comment, "Ye're inaudible!" "But, my lord," said the discomfited youth, "I've read the lesson in a big church, and been told that every word could be heard." "Who told ye—a lady? Are ye engaged to her?" The candidate owned the soft impeachment. "Then, don't believe a word she says—until ye're married to her," was the ungallant reply.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers Fortune's Spor. Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

wards me as you did, anything which I could say would be in vain. I called you 'cousin' just now, as of old. But we are no longer cousins. I have no guardianship, no authority, no tangible right to command your actions; at least, I had none until you came to this house. I could not force you to break with John Bourke against your own will, and, therefore, for your good, I was obliged to proceed in a more subtle way."

A new thought was born in my brain. "Was Lady Feo Ringwood another tool of yours?" I demanded.

"She was not aware of being such. Nevertheless, I used her. You ought to be grateful to me, Sheila, for saving you. The way I chose was a clever one, I think, and cost me a day or two of thought before I hit upon it. Yet, once seen, it was obvious, for everyone who knows Lady Feo well, knows that she is in love with Bourke and he with her—or, at all events, that he will marry her."

I started slightly at the words, and blushed because I knew that Roger had seen the start. "I had never heard of your acquaintance with Lady Feo," I said, quickly, to hide what I felt.

"I have known her, more or less, for years; and though I have never met Bourke we have mutual acquaintances. I had but to call on Lady Feo, hint that enemies of Bourke's had got hold of a scandal connecting him with a mysterious girl who had been seen at his house, to set the machinery working. I knew that she would go to him; indeed, I suggested that it would be well if some true friend of his should do so without a moment's delay, lest his career should be hopelessly ruined by an adventuress. Of course, she was to suppose me ignorant of the girl's identity, and no doubt she thought the denouement all the more dramatic because the information on which she acted had come from me. When I was sure that she would go to Bourke's house, a telegram was sent, calling him out, leaving you at Lady Feo's mercy. I thought the rest might be trusted to her. And my only other act of interference was to request that she should take with her a certain newspaper, to be left at the house when she went away. I alleged, as an excuse for this suggestion, a paragraph which I had inserted, through the influence of a friend, mentioning Bourke name and a rumor regarding him. That was for Lady Feo Ringwood's eye. The advertisement in the 'personal' column was for yours, and I hoped that, if you had not seen it before, you would see it then. As it turned out, my wish was granted."

"Yes, I walked into the trap," I answered, bitterly. "I knew well enough that there might be a trap when I went to the Marble Arch, but I did not guess that your hand had set it. There is just one thing, though, which I can now be thankful for. Your confession has shown me that I haven't really injured Mr. Bourke. The enemies of whom Lady Feo spoke, and the scandal, existed only in your mind. I thank Heaven for that."

"Then you are premature in your gratitude," Roger retorted, the angelic cast of his features betraying the emotion of anger for the first time. "Scandal was busy enough; and Bourke has many more powerful enemies than friends, if only he knew it. As a matter of fact, I have saved him as well as you—though he owes me no thanks for that, since all I did was done for you, with no thought of his salvation."

"It seems to me that all you did was for yourself, with no thought of anyone else's welfare," I cried. "You have been very wicked, very cruel, Roger—even more cruel and wicked than I dreamt."

"That is not a gracious speech, considering that my 'confession,' as you call it, has been made to please you," Roger responded. "It is incorrect to speak of it all as a 'confession.' I have told you the truth, answering with complete frankness every question you have asked, because I chose to do so, not because I was compelled to it by any sense of shame. On the contrary, I glory in what I have done—glory in each step that has brought me to success at last."

"It has not brought you to success, if you mean by that brought us nearer together," I protested. "Though I am in your house, and you could touch me with your hand—if you wished to offend me even more deeply—I was never further from you really than at this moment."

Roger gave a smile meant to be patient and pathetic. "That would sound very well," he said, "if you were the persecuted heroine in a melodrama and I the villain of the piece. But as you are actually a human girl, who has made a great many mistakes, and been at last brought into a safe haven against your obstinate little will by a man who worships you and has worked only for your good, the sentiment is florid rather than theatrical. You were all alone in the world, darling, and your poor little boat was on the rocks; I waded out into the deep water, and risked a great deal to bring it safely off again. Now, here you are in your own house, which is mine as well, and here you will stay until your name is the same as one which once was dear to you."

"What do you mean?" I stammered, between fear and anger.

"I mean, until I have the right to call you wife, the world to speak of you as Lady Cope."

I sprang up from the sofa where I had resigned myself to sit questioning the enemy.

"That will be never!" I cried. "Roger, if you want me ever to forgive you, you won't speak of that again; and you will tell me the things you have so far carefully left untold." I pointed to the portraits that framed the curtained doorway—above and on either side. "You are in the mystery of the heart-shaped scar!" I went on. "I believe now that you have always known. Perhaps, though that woman, Sintra Leigh, says you did not employ her then, you really sent her to the theater on the night when my adopted mother died. You must tell me the truth."

Roger had risen when I rose, and we stood facing each other.

"Do you think," he asked, with aggravating slowness, "that you have taken the wisest way of dealing with me, Sheila? When a woman of tact desires something from a man, she doesn't demand it with blazing eyes as her right; she softly begs it as a favor, showing that she may be ready with rewards."

"You certainly deserve a reward," I retorted, "but not such a one as you mean. And the truth is my right. I do demand it. I came to this house because it was promised to me."

"Not without conditions. Listen, Sheila. There is a mystery. So much

THE
Toronto General Trusts Corporation

HEAD OFFICE AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS—59 YONGE ST., TORONTO
WINNIPEG BRANCH OFFICE—
BANK OF HAMILTON CHAMBERS, WINNIPEG, MAN.

CAPITAL	$1,000,000
RESERVE FUND	270 000

President—JOHN HOSKIN, K. C., LL. D., Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Life Assurance Company and Vice-President Canada Landed and National Company.

VICE-PRESIDENTS { HON. S. C. WOOD, Director of The Western Assurance Co. W. H. BEATTY, Vice-President of The Bank of Toronto

AUTHORIZED TO ACT AS

Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Receiver, Committee of Lunatics, Guardian, Liquidator, Assignee, etc.

WINNIPEG BRANCH.

The corporation has opened a branch of its business in Winnipeg, and the attention of property owners executors, trustees, etc., and other residents in Ontario, who have interests in Manitoba, is called to the unusual facilities offered by the Winnipeg branch for effecting sales of property, prompt collection of rents, appraisement of property, and generally looking after the interests of con-residents, at most reasonable charges.

ADVISORY BOARD:

SIR D. H. McMILLAN, Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba.
D. W. BOLE, Wholesale Druggist; Chairman of The Winnipeg School Board.
A. M. NANTON, Messrs. Osler, Hammond & Nanton.
H. H. SMITH, formerly Dominion Land Commissioner for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

J. W. LANGMUIR, Managing Director.
A. D. LANGMUIR, Assistant Manager
JAMES DAVEY, Manager Winnipeg Branch.

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, and save three Profits.
LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES & GENTS, REAL SWISS, ROLLER BLINDS, BLOUSES, LOOM HOSIERY, GUIPURE D'ART, LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, HOUSEHOLD LINENS

POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

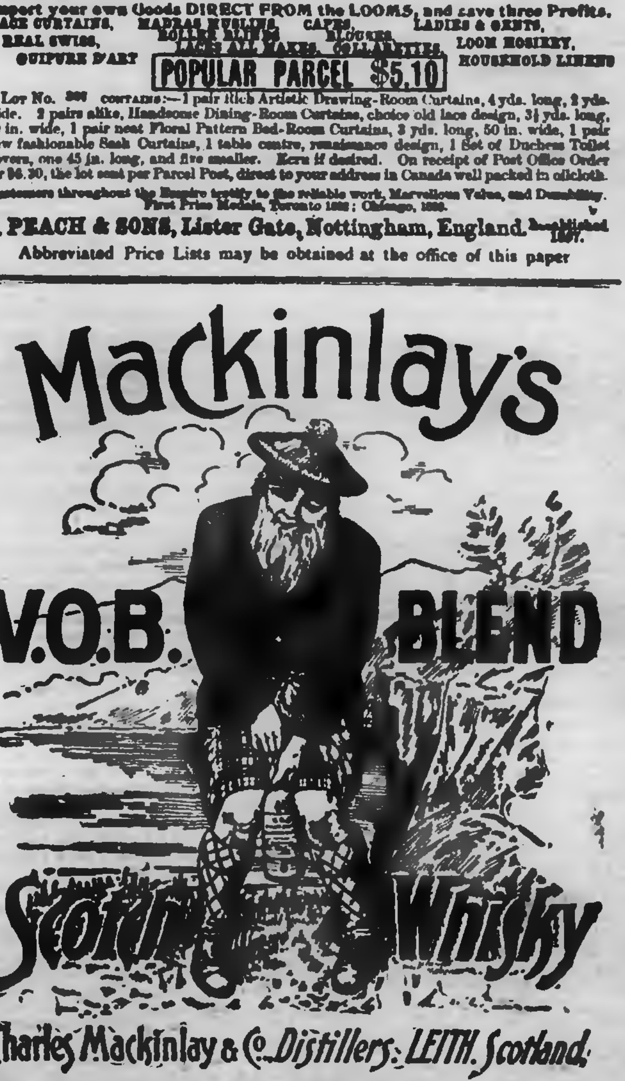
LOT No. 360 CONTAINS:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Ecru if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $6.30, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability. First Prize Medals, Toronto 1892; Chicago, 1893.

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.

Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper

---



Mackinlay's
V.O.B. BLEND
Scotch Whisky
Charles Mackinlay & Co. Distillers: LEITH, Scotland.

THE JOHN TAYLOR IMPORTING CO., Ltd
AGENTS, MONTREAL.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which a a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"
CAPT. W. SCOLLARD, Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 2th
On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes
On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.
Further particulars fro W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1883.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 3 Rae St., Binghamton, N. Y.

RUBBER STAMPS
B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS
SEALS, PRICE MARKERS
10 King St West, Toronto

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH
Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales
FOR EVERYBODY
COAL, GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES
DIAMOND STEEL BEAR INC
GET OUR PRICES
C. WILSON & SON
91 ESPLANADE STREET EAST TORONTO.

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8.30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyl' 50c, good for return same day only Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5.00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer
Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION
JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8 40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	"	6 30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	"	7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Satu days boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA
JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"
JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Bur'eigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board
For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt, G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.
COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND,
Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... 2.00 p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... 2.50 p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... 6.15 p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N.St. Paul & Main Streets) ...... 6.45 p.m.

NORTH BOUND,
Leaving Rochester (Cor. N.St. Paul & Main streets ...... 8.00 a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... 8.45 a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario ...... 1.00 p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario ...... 2.30 p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which ticket reads. For further information apply to
H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James Swain, Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.
STR. "ALEXANDRIA"
EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.
EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports
RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.
FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT
—: FARE :—
$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18
Including meals and berth en route
For further particulars, folders, etc., write
A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

Navigation

COBOURG AND PORT HOPE TO TORONTO
STR. "ARGYLE"
(Commencing Thursday, May 22)
EVERY THURSDAY

Leaves Cobourg at	7 00 a m
" Port Hope at	8 00 a m
Arrive Toronto at	12 30 p m
Returning, leaves Toronto at	5 00 p m
Fare continuous round trip	$1.00

Extension return 30 days, 25c extra, from Purser on board

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
Carthagenian .... July 30
Sardinian .... August 13
MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT.
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd —Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes

THE WELL and favorably known S.S Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity, and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 11th and 25th August; 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN, Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to:
W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav.; Peterborough, Ontario, or to
THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY
(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)
GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE, ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION
SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.
CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.45 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 8.30 p. m., returning leave at 5.45 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9.00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.20; Jubilee Point at 11.35, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15, returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 50c; good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS, Master

—Nine and a half cents was paid for best selections at the Lindsay cheese bale on Monday.

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH

J. H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Coronation Day Trip

The steamer North Star will leave Peterborough at 6 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. on Saturday next, Coronation Day. Fare for round trip, 50 cents.

To-Morrow is Market Day

Saturday next, Coronation Day, having been declared a public holiday, the usual market will be held to-morrow (Friday). By remembering this those who come to market regularly will avoid disappointment.

Was Sick in Bed

County Constable Moore returned yesterday from Harvey where he went to arrest a man named James Bell, who was charged with intimidating a resident of that township from his regular employment, by means of a rifle. When the constable got there he found his man ill in bed.

Bass for Stony Lake

Yesterday Ald. Shortly, of the executive of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, received word from Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, that a consignment of parent black bass would leave Toronto at 2 o'clock today. They will arrive on the 5.30 G.T.R. train, and will at once be forwarded to Lakefield and thence to their destination.

New Broker's Office

Mr. E. M. Pousett, who for ten years has been connected with the office staff of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., has resigned his position and will open a broker's office in a few days. It will be a branch office of the well known firm of McIntyre & Marshall, of New York. Mr. Pousett's many friends will wish him every success.

Horsemen Meet To-Day

The Peterborough Track Association will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Little Windsor Hotel, Brock street, to complete arrangements for the big autumn meeting which is to take place next month in the driving park. It is requested that there be a large attendance of members, as the final revision of the programme and prizes is to be made.

Coronation Day

It has been suggested to The Times that something should be done in Peterborough to mark the coronation of the King which takes place on Saturday. The time, we fear, is now too short to accomplish anything worth while. The Times would suggest, however, that the churches be decorated with bunting and flags, and that special thanksgiving services be held on Sunday.

AFTER 50 YEARS

Visit of Mr. E. M. Taylor to Town After 50 Years Absence

Mr. Edward M. Taylor, of St. Louis Mo., who left Peterborough about 50 years ago, is in town renewing old associations. Mr. Taylor is the son of the late Rev. J. C. Taylor, who was principal of the first grammar school in Peterborough, and who was also the first regular incumbent of St. John's church. He attended school when Messrs. Harry Strickland, W. H. Wrighton, Harry Winch, Rev. A. Morrow, and a few others were boys.

He says there is little to connect the Peterborough of the olden days with the modern town. Mr. Taylor will remain in town a few days only.

DEATH OF MISS CALLAHAN

Result of an Accident Which Occurred Monday Night

A very sad accident occurred on Monday evening last, by which a young lady, Miss Maud Callahan, lost her life. It appears that a number of young people drove out to Mr. Garvey's North Smith, for the evening. Miss Callaghan, who had become somewhat heated with dancing, went outside to enjoy the cool air, and was sitting on a railing that surrounded an open cellar way. The railing broke and the young lady fell with great force into the opening. When picked up she was unconscious and remained in this condition until last evening, when the end came. Dr. Fraser, of Lakefield, and Dr. Scott of town, attended the young lady, but the symptoms from the first did not hold much hope of recovery, and pointed to a serious injury to the spine.

The deceased is the daughter of Mrs. John Callahan, Elm street, and was well known and very popular, especially with the young people. Much sympathy is felt for her mother and family.

WANTED

Wanted —A lad to go to Westwood to assist baker. Apply to Wm. Irwin Box 505, Peterborough.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by phone or in writing.—(Ed. Times)

—Mr. John Crane spent yesterday at the lakes.

—Miss M. Finnie is visiting friends in Lakefield.

—Miss Bella McConkey, of town, is visiting her brother, Selwyn.

—Mr. Albert Warne went up to the lakes today for a week's holidays.

—Miss Eva Elliott of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Robt. Fitzgerald, George street.

—Mrs. Hall, and her daughter, Mrs. McKeown, of Waterford, are visiting friends in Brockville.

—Mrs. Andrew Jordan and Mrs. Jordan, of Brampton, are spending a short time in town.

—Miss Bertha McConkey, of Toronto, is visiting her mother and father, London street.

—Miss Lillie Day, of Rochester, is in town visiting her sister, Mrs. Arthur Head, Bethune street.

—Mrs. J Roberts and Mrs. M Wright of Toronto, are visiting their sister Mrs. M. Succee, Rubidge street.

—Mr. Percy Graham, of Toronto, has been visiting friends in town and Ashburnham during the past week.

—Mr. Sargent, of Virginia City, Montana, is on a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. B. Nayler, 89 Aylmer street.

—Dr. Victor McWilliams, of Orillia, passed through town on Tuesday on his way to spend a week or two at Stony Lake.

—Mrs. W. H. Hill and children are spending a month with Mrs. Hill's mother, Mrs. (Dr.) Taylor, Niagara Falls, Ont.

—Miss Sheppard, of Toronto, is a guest at Tecumseh Lodge, the summer cottage of Mr. J. B. McWilliams, at Stony Lake.

—Miss Nellie Pilling, Peterborough, is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. Winterb, Smith street, Port Hope.

—Miss Annie Bryans, who was visiting Miss M. Dunford, was called home through the illness of her sister, Miss Eva Bryans, Havelock.

—Mrs. W. J. Green and the Misses Cavanah, are at Stony Lake for a few days, the guests of Mrs. J. R. Stratton.

—Mrs Thos. Conley and son, Michael, of Oswego, N.Y., are in town, the guest of their cousin, Mr. Peter Simmons, No. 311, Rubidge street.

—Miss Minnie Bogan, formerly of Peterborough, who has been spending the last two months with her parents in Cleveland, Ohio, is enjoying a short vacation in town, before leaving to resume duties as teacher near Ottawa.

—Mrs. D. McMartin, of Deseronto, formerly of Peterborough, is here on a visit to her brother, Mr. Joseph Naylor, of the Grand Trunk. She is accompanied by her son, Master Bruce Mrs. McMartin will visit friends in Lindsay and Fenelon Falls before returning home.

LIVE ASHBURNHAM LOCALS

Grist of News from Over the River by Times' Reporters

—It may not be generally known over here that Ashburnham contributes no less a sum than $417,00 to the Peterborough Separate schools.

—Work on the lift lock is progressing, and the contract is approaching completion.

—There is a strong feeling over here that the Canal Company's tracks on the Peterborough side of the bridge should be in some way protected. Scores of farmers coming into town from the east will use the locks bridge in order to avoid the danger of crossing these tracks.

—The Calcutt Brewing Company are doing a good business these days. The invigorating lager made here is rapidly becoming famous the county over.

—Fishing in the Little Lake is quite good these days. Some of the disciples of Izaak Walton catch bass others lunge and some catch cod.

—The Times is in almost every home in the village, so that Ashburnham news is always in order.

—Who will be Mayor of Ashburnham next year? will soon be the question. This g.f.j. holds up both hands for Smith. While the name itself is somewhat common, the chief magistrate who carried it around with him is no ordinary man. As a guardian of the people's interests he is all wool and full yard wide. By all means, let us re-elect Mr. Smith.

—The Council acted wisely in reducing the butcher's licenses from $20 to $12 per year. This should have been done long ago when possibly Sam Bickell would have remained in the business as Teller of the ox.

—Granolithic walks on Elizabeth street will soon be an accomplished fact. We are safe in predicting that there will be none of the crookedness that characterized the building of the Peterborough pavements. We will have a man to look after the work who won't stand in with the contractors.

A CANADIAN HEALTH PRODUCT

Malt Breakfast Food

The Popular and Appetizing Breakfast Food

Highly Recommended by our Ablest Physicians for the Banishment of Dyspepsia and Stomach Derangements

Malt Breakfast Food is a Canadian health food scientifically made from the choicest Canadian cereals, and as much superior to imported foods as the diamond is superior to cheap glass. It is free from all starchy particles, easily digested and assimilated, and agrees with the weakest stomach. Each package contains one and a half pounds of concentrated nutriment and makes twice as many meals package for package than any other foods can furnish. It is recommended by our ablest physicians for dyspeptics and those troubled with weak digestion. Your grocer sells it.

Not Much Difference

Our respected friend, Dr. Maher, has removed to Orillia to take care of the idiots in that town. The Dr. was a prominent member of the Board of Health here, and he was afraid he might feel lonely after leaving his associates on the Board, but he is reported as saying that he does not see much difference.

PETERBOROUGH 30 YEARS AGO

Interesting Items Culled from the Times of April, 1872

—The first issue of the Toronto Mail came to hand this week.

—Mr. John E. Belcher submitted plans to the Council for the Bradburn opera house block.

—Mr. T. M. Fairbairn, M.P.P., returned to Peterborough to practice law.

—The Canadian Express Company gave the town a daily express instead of tri-weekly, as heretofore.

—Mr. J. A. Rosborough opened a dry goods store in a part of the building now occupied by Mr. R. Neill as a shoe store.

—Mr. Thomas Bradburn, having retired from business, will now be succeeded by the firm of Mason & Bradburn. The firm will consist of Mr. W. J. Mason and Mr. T. E. Bradburn.

—At a meeting of the Maple Leaf Cricket Club, the following officers were elected: Wm. Spence, Captain; George H. Johnston, President; T. Quincey, Vice-President; W. S. Johnston, Sec.-Treas.; Committee—T. Rutherford, J. Montgomery and J. W. Green.

—Personal — The friends of Mr. John Clark, of Ashburnham, will be pleased to learn that he has graduated in medicine with highest honors. Dr. Clarke was a student in Dr. Kincaid's office in this town.

Married—At St. Peter's church, Peterborough, on the 23rd inst., by Rev. Father Lynch, Mr. B. Morrow, of the firm of Wm. Harty & Co., to Miss Eliza, second daughter of Mr. John O'Brien, of this town.

—At a meeting of the Council held on April 20, a letter was read from Commodore Calcutt, stating that the new steamer which he was building would make connection between Cobourg and Peterborough. Mr. Calcutt pointed out the advantages to merchants and others, in the shape of freight transport, offering to carry firewood at 2s. 6d. per cord. He thought he was entitled to a bonus of $1,500 as well as a new wharf at Parnell's Mill.

—The young men of our good town have started a lacrosse club. No doubt the game is a healthy one, but it is, next to football, the roughest game we know of, and requires that the players should be possessed of excellent tempers, for when a man gets a whack over the head, if he is not of a peaceful disposition, he will most likely hit back, and then follows a row. The Court House field we should think would be a better place than the market square, for this reason, —that it is the largest place and there are not so many windows west. It would not take a very great effort to send a ball through the top window of the Custom House from Water street.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

—There will be a big rush to Stony Lake on Friday and Saturday next.

—The dog poisoner is now at work on Gilmour street.

WThe report of the Peterborough Cheese Board meeting will appear tomorrow.

—Work has begun on the extension of the water mains on Charlotte street, west of Park.

—A new cinder path is being laid across Victoria Park from the north-east to the south-west corner.

—All interested will please remember that to-morrow will be market day in consequence of Saturday being a holiday.

—The employees of the Matthews Company at Ottawa recently held their annual excursion, and a very successful affair it was.

—Complaints have reached The Times office regarding the bad condition of George street, between Smith and London streets.

—Lindsay Post:—Farm laborers are in great demand. $30 a month and board was the sum named by a local farmer on Saturday for a good farm hand.

—The suggestion made a few days ago in the Hamilton Times that the names of the streets should be stamped in cement walks at the intersections contains a good idea for the authorities in Peterborough.

—Mr. J. W. Pearson and Mr. Percy Pearson, the well known horse buyers of Montreal, were in town yesterday, and purchased a load of fine horses which will be shipped east today.

—A gentleman who resides in Otonabee, called on The Times yesterday and told us that he has been taking a number of papers, but The Times was his choice of the lot. He accordingly renewed his subscription and stopped some of the others.

POLICE COURT NOTES

At the police court this morning, Mrs. Sweeney had her husband, John Sweeney, up for non-support. He was allowed at large on his own recognizance to appear on Friday.

A woman was charged with stealing a hat. She was allowed out on bail, to appear today.

SUITS AGAINST CROWS' NEST COAL COMPANY

They Arise Out of the Disaster in May Which Resulted in a Number of Deaths

Special to The Times.

Nelson, B.C., August 6.—Seven writs were issued yesterday at Nelson, claiming damages against the Crows' Nest Coal Company. Twenty-five more are to be served tomorrow, making a first batch of thirty-two claims, amounting to $240,000. Lawyers are acting for the widows and orphans of the victims of the disaster at Coal Creek last May. Altogether eighty-four suits are to be brought amounting to over half a million dollars. The suits commenced yesterday were by the following persons: Louisa Stephens, for $12,000, loss of husband; H. Dodson and wife, $4,000 each, son; Kate Hayall, widow, $6,000, son; J. Hogan and wife, $4,000 each, son; Mary Pastek, $12,000, husband; D. Camarro, aged 75, $6,000, only son; M. Robertson, widow, $6,000, son. The cases are to be tried before the Supreme Court.

—We want a good smart boy to learn press work. Apply at The Times office.

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wardo, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Portland, Boston ...	6.10 a.m.	12.35 a.m.
West
Ottawa, Montreal... ...	5.10 p.m.	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Norwood, Havelock, Ot- ... Havelock	7.13 a.m.	7.33 p.m.
Canadian Pacific
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.35 a.m.	5 10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...7.33 p.m.	1 13 a.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.35 a.m.	5.10 p.m.
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...11.35 a.m.	5 10 p.m.
Grand Trunk
	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	9 00 p.m.	5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Rochester Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.35 p.m.	12.41 a.m.
Port Hope, Cobourg Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	3.30 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	9.10 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	9.05 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	8.20 a.m.
Lakefield local	5.00 p.m.	12.35 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.30 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

SHIPS SUNK BY DEWEY ARE NOW TO BE RAISED

Contracts Awarded by the American Navy—Thee of the Vessels are Being Repaired

Special to The Times.

Washington, July 6.—The Navy Department has awarded contracts, through the Commandant of the navy yard at Cavite, to the Philippine Engineering and Construction Company for raising the Spanish warships which Admiral Dewey sunk in the famous battle of Manila Bay. The contractors have associated with them the Philippine Lumber and Development Company and the Pacific Oriental Trading Company. The contract includes the wrecking and dismantling of such of the ships as are unfit for further use, but it is expected that three of the vessels will be raised and repaired. Nine of them are so badly damaged that they are not worth saving. The work has already begun, and under the terms of the contract will be completed within a year. There are eleven gunboats and one transport to be removed, so that the contractors will have to raise one boat every month in order to keep their agreement. A large force of American divers is already at work on the wrecks, but none of the boats has been raised. It is proposed to save everything that is available. All the steel plates will be removed and sold intact. Most of the guns have been taken off the vessels, but such as remain become the property of the wrecking company. The company agrees not to sell any part of the available material of the ships to any foreign Government. Arrangements have been made to work up a large part of the brass and woodwork into souvenirs, which will be turned loose on the market next winter.

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful. No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips, cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc., prevents and removes Freckles. At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co

100 YONGE ST., TORONTO

—Nine and a half cents was paid for best selections at the Lindsay cheese sale on Monday.

Help Wanted.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt, Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to WM. W SMITH Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

Boarding

LADIES DESIRING A COMFORTABLE home at reasonable rates can be accommodated at the Y. W. C. A. Boarding Home on Brock St.

For Sale

PLEASURE YACHTS FOR SALE. THE UNdersigned has for sale three first class pleasure yachts, from 18 to 20 feet in length, all in first class order. Apply at Times office to R J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

STEAMER FOR SALE. THE STEAMER Beaver is compact and serviceable steam launch, 75 feet long, 12 foot beam. Would make a splendid private pleasure launch. Fastest boat on inland lakes. Licensed to carry passengers. Will be sold at a dead bargain.

For full particulars apply to Capt. Harris Gores Landing, or at the Times Office to R. J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISTERS and Solicitors, 379 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $10 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mason & Co., Room 711 41 and 45 Broadway, New York.

FRY, 204 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 68 page phamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 221 George St., now occupied by Henry Best

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill-treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1895. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m., 4 to 5 p.m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back

WRITE FOR

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts

Describing the Summer Lands of

QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S West
William St., Toronto, Ont.

APIOL & STEEL PILLS
For Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited, Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make.
SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE
ALL FURNISNINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

BOOTS & SHOES
-FOR-
Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish footwear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

The Best Equipment and Facilities and Strongest Faculty in Canada

Offers unequalled Advantages for an Artistic Musical Education

School of Literature and Expression

MAUDE MASSON, Principal.
Expression, Pedagogy, Physical Culture.

CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

THEY ARE PRETTY.

20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at 40c
Suspenders 15c
Overalls, with bib, at 45c
Smocks, at........90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

Peterborough Radial Railway

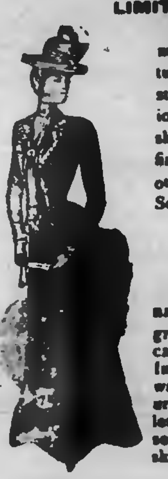
Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333,
Peterborough, Ont

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.



Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

CANADIAN PACIFIC

20,000 Harvesters

Wanted In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSIONS

Will be Run From Stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell.

—To— WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th For $10

One way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific Station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or South-west or North-west of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 30th, 1902, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS, and are not good on "Imperial Limited," and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation in Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt.
1 King Street East, Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Coronation Day Saturday, Aug 9th

Single Fare between all Stations in Canada. Good going Aug. 8th and 9th. Returning good until Aug. 11, 1902.

SPECIAL EXCURSIONS
$64.70

To Los Angeles or San Francisco Cal., and Return

Good going Aug. 1st to 10th, inclusive. Valid until Sept. 30th.

Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Glenwood Springs, Colo.; Ogden, Salt Lake, Utah.; Deadwood, Hot Springs and Custer, South Dakota. Return ticket at Single First Class Fare. Good going Aug. 1st to 14th. Good for return until Oct. 31st, 1902.

Tickets and information from

W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Ticket Agent

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.

The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL. 30 NO 181 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO SATURDAY AUGUST 9 1902 PRICE TWO CENTS

TRANSPORT OVERCROWDED FIVE AUSTRALIANS DIED

Russia will Not be Received by Germans--Emperor Menelik May Tour Europe

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 8.—A despatch to The Times from Melbourne states that the army transport ship Drayton Grange has arrived there with two thousand troops on board. The men are said to have been greatly overcrowded, and illness was widespread, the sanitary provision being deficient. Five deaths occurred during the voyage and ninety men are now in the hospital. The War Office will be asked to make a searching enquiry into the matter.

EMPEROR MENELIK'S INTENTION.

London, Aug. 8.—A Vienna correspondent hears that Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia told a friend recently that he would soon make a tour of Europe, but had not decided on the date.

DASHES ABOUT TOWN

STORIES OF LOCAL INTEREST WORTH READING

How a Newly Wedded Couple Surprised the Conductor of the Lakefield Lightning Express—A Hungry Tramp

The newly wedded couple boarded the train at Lakefield the other day. He was a strapping young fellow and she was a buxom "gal," and they had no sooner taken a seat than he put his arm around her and began to caress one of her hands. There were whispers of "spoons" behind them and the bridegroom rose up and looked around to say:

"We are married. It was a case of luv. We sparked for seven years. She's my violet, and I'm her towerin' oak. We've started for Peterborough on our tower, and we are goin' to 'spoon' every rod of it, and if ther's any critter whothinks he can't stand it he kin git out and walk!"

The oration, delivered with emphasis, nearly took the breath away of those who were in the car, including the "con," who was so rattled that he forgot to call out Nassau station.

• • •

"I am not taking the census, exactly," he said, as the lady of the house on Sherbrooke street found him at the side door with note-book and pencil in hand, "but nevertheless the statistics will be of value to mankind. Will you kindly answer a few questions?"

"Perhaps" she replied, looking upon the man with suspicious eye.

"Thank you in advance. Question No. 1: Have any persons called at your house within the last year to ask for food or old clothes?"

"About a thousand!" replied the lady.

"Ah! I will make the number 1,000. Question No. 2: Did you respond to the calls of the distressed in each and every instance?"

"No, sir, in no instance. I got through with dead beats a year ago."

"Ah! a year ago. Is that decision final, ma'am?"

"As firm as the hills!" she replied.

"Then it would be no use for me to—to—"

"No, sir."

"I see, ma'am, and it only remains for me to—"

"To fold up your little book and move on, sir!" she finished, as she closed the door on him.

• • • •

He was waiting for a train at the C.P.R. depot, and for the fifth time in an hour he walked up to the baggage man and asked what time the train went.

"Haven't I told you that it went at 4.40?" replied the officer.

"Yes, you have."

"Not only once, but four times."

"Yes, four times."

"And now I tell you for the fifth time that the train goes at 4.40. Are you satisfied?"

"No, sir. Do you mean 4.40 in the afternoon?"

"I do."

"This afternoon?

"Yes, sir."

"If anything busts will the train go just the same?"

"Just the same. The Otonabee river over there may rise ten feet, half the town burn up, or a dozen brewers explode, but your train will go just the same. It will leave from this depot. It will stand on the nearest track. The conductor will call out at least five minutes before the train leaves. You get aboard, the bell rings, and you are off. Is all plain enough, or do you want me to hire a boy to see you through?"

"Well, that's purty plain, but being as I might get things mixed up, or go to sleep when the train left, I guess you may hire a boy to kinder keep an eye on me. Git a good boy, though, and if he happens to be hungry I'll give him a penny to go out and get a lunch!"

• • • •

"There are quite a large number of Americans at Stony Lake just now," remarked a tourist to a Times' reporter yesterday as he was on his way to his home in Rochester after a sojourn at Burleigh Falls. "Some come over here for pleasure and others are accompanied by their wives."

• • • •

"I don't believe in having the carters' stand on the streets," said Mr. Dan Burritt to the Times' man the other day. "Try and fix it so the poor fellows can sit down." Thirty days.

• • • •

The other night a number of citizens were telling stories in a rear parlor of a George street store.

"I remember," said a well known barrister, as he proceeded to light a cigar, "of a case of attempted murder in which I was employed for the defence."

"You say you heard the shot fired?" I asked of the witness.

"Yes, sir."

"How near were you to the scene of the affair?"

"At the time when the first shot was fired I was about ten feet from the shooter."

"Ten feet! Then tell the court how far you were when you heard the second shot fired." I asked.

"I didn't measure the distance."

"Speaking approximately, how far should you say?"

"Well, I should think it was about half a mile!"

PETERBOROUGH 30 YEARS AGO

Interesting Items Culled from the Times of April 1872

—Mr. Thos. Chambers is about erecting a new building on the corner of Hunter and Water streets, to be used as a postoffice. It will be two stories high, fronting on Water st., immediately to the south of Chambers & Son's grocery store. The postoffice will occupy a portion of the building, and will contain 33 feet frontage. Besides there will be a feed store, two single stores, and a large accommodation on the upper floor for offices, etc. The building will be of brick and will be a great improvement on the rather unsightly fence now existing.

Married.—At the residence of the bride's father, Peterborough, on April 2nd, by Rev. J. W. R. Beck, Rector of St. John's church, Walter J. Nesbitt, to Julia, third daughter of Walter W. Boswell, Esq., and granddaughter of Hon. Captain Boswell, R.N.

—An application was made to the Town Council for a grant of money to assist in making the preliminary survey of the Ontario and Quebec Railway. $200 was granted.

—At a meeting of the Town Council held on April 8th, the following resolution was passed: Moved by Mr. John English, seconded by Mr. Wm. Lundy—That Wm. Arnot, constable, be instructed to notify Messrs. Paddy Ryan, Paterson and Lundy, not to throw any tan bark into the creek, as it made it totally unfit for fire and domestic purposes, as the fire engine could not take water at either Simcoe or Charlotte street bridges.

—Rev. Mr. McClellan being out of town there will be no services at the Old Kirk next Sunday.

—Commodore Calcutt is getting his new steamer finished, and hopes to have her ready for the Queen's birthday.

—Where is Adam Dobbin with his water cart? The roads are now free from mud, and dust is moving in clouds.

—The first meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club was held at the Oriental House on 16th April. The following officers were elected: T. S. Clementi, President; Fred. C. Taylor, (now of Lindsay) Vice-President; T. M. Nesbitt, Sec.-Treas; F. Hall (deputy sheriff) captain; A. L. Colville, D. McDougall, W. H. Wrighton and Tom Rutherford, Committee. Rev. V. Clementi, Lakefield, and E. Knowlson, Omemee, were elected honorary members.

—New English Church in Ashburnham.—We congratulate our neighbors across the river on their being about to possess an English church. The Rev. Mark Burnham has presented the site for the church, besides subscribing handsomely to the fund. The subscription list has only been out a few days and over $1,000 has been subscribed.

Hanged for Himself

Special to The Times.

Birmingham, Ala., August 8. — Will Dorsey, colored, was hanged here today for highway robbery. His case was the first in the history of the State that the death penalty was imposed for this offence, though it has been a capital crime for many years.

A BOER FIGHTER AGED ONLY FOURTEEN

Who Goes Back from Bermuda a Loyal British Subject

A COUSIN OF GENERAL DE WET.

How Young Mathys Went Off to the War—The Training of the Boer Boys

Ninety-three former Boer prisoners of war have been in New York during the past week on their way home to South Africa from the prison camp in Bermuda. They have taken the oath of allegiance to the King, and are now free British subjects. Among the Boer party are Gen. A. P. Cronje, Gen. J. B. Wessels, a brother of former president Steyn, of the Orange Free State, and Joubert Reitz, a son of the former Secretary of State of the Transvaal Republic.

The member of the party who has excited the greatest interest, however, is Mathys Johan DeWet, a fighter of fourteen years old, and cousin of the celebrated Boer general of the same name. The boy is small for his age and wears knickerbockers. He left his mother and his home in Bosdorf, Free State, and with his elder brother Piet, rode, shot and slept in the open air and participated in seven months of continuous fighting.

FIRST LEFT AT HOME.

His father, who is a cousin of General DeWet, is dead. He has two sisters and four brothers, two younger than himself. He was a schoolboy and had advanced to the grade of the "Third Standard" when the war began. His two elder brothers galloped away on their ponies with the orange ribbon round their hats and their rifles and cartridge-belts as full field equipment. Young "Mat" begged to be taken with him, but he was too young and he was told to stay home and look after the mother and the children and to help in the management of the great farm, the "morgengenafeif," of nearly 8,000 acres.

But when the British troops invested Bosdorf, Piet, the twenty-two-year-old brother, came home one night to join his own commando and "Mat" went away with him the next morning to enlist under Commandant Jacobs.

A BOER BOY'S TRAINING.

Piet, who was taken prisoner with "Mat" gives the following particulars regarding the training of the Boer boys:

"In our country," said Piet DeWet "the boys do not play the games and have the amusements that you have here. There is work on the farm, in the garden, tending the sheep and around the barns even for the youngest. There is the horse for amusement and hunting. The greatest recreation that a boy can have is to shoot the wild duck.

"We all handled a gun from the time we were strong enough to lift one, and when, as small boys, we were taken along with our father on a hunt, it was happiness enough for for a while just to follow him —sometimes on hands and knees—until we came into shooting distance of the buck. Cartridges were never plentiful with us, and it was considered a sin to waste one. When I was old enough to go after a wild buck myself, my father would give me two cartridges. Then I would go out for a whole day, sometimes walking, trailing, crawling, until I came near enough to shoot and bring down the game.

"You see, when you have only two cartridges all day you are not going to shoot at your buck until you are close enough to hit him and bring him down. That is the way I learned to shoot true and straight, and that is the way little Mat here learned. When he went out with me to fight I knew he was as good as most of them in the commando. Of course he could ride. We all ride. Why, when the three boys were going to school which was an hour and a half away from our house, we would not trust them on horseback, but always sent the three in a cart. Once on a horse's back and there was no telling where hind boulders at long distance. When we could we would raid a waggon train, and we always did our long riding at night and made our attack just before dawn. Sometimes the escort would turn out to be much stronger than we were, and then they would chase us.

There were no cowards in our commando. Mat, here, was never in the front rank when we were running away. He used sometimes to laugh at some of the elder men and tell them not to be in such a hurry to get away. Everybody liked the boy because he stood his work like all the rest of us and he could shoot as straight and handle a horse as well as anyone in the command."

Young Piet, who spoke thus modestly of his juvenile brother, is only twenty-two himself. He and his brother were surrounded by an English regiment one night when they were sleeping in a farm house near their home. They were on their way to pay a surreptitious visit to their mother.

They were seven months in the prison camp at Bermuda where 'Mat" went to school and learned English. They received a letter from their mother just before they left, urging them to take the oath of allegiance and come home at once. Their oldest brother, who fought all through the war is at Cape Town now, and he will meet them, and go back to the quiet life of the farm again.

NEXT TROUBLE IN AFRICA WILL BE WITH BLACKS

Trooper Cranfield Says the Natives will Certainly Go on the War Path

HE WAS AT HARTS RIVER

After the War he Chummed with Delarey's Son—The Peterboro Trooper's Interesting Talk

Trooper B Cranfield, of Peterborough, was in town visiting Mr. W. M. Scott of the south ward last week. "I am in my regimentals," said the trooper, says the Lindsay Watchman-Warder, "because I have no other clothes that I can get on. My measurements are from 3 to 5 inches bigger than when I went away, and I am having some clothes made now." And as he was going about in the picturesque khaki suit, leather leggings and rough-rider hat, and spurs, that have come to render a man an object of admiring interest on the street. It is the costume of Canada's own sons, whose lives she has risked on the field of war for empire's sake, emblem of quenchless courage and pungent reminder of far-off graves.

It would evidently take an ample suit of clothes to go on Trooper Cranfield. He looks as if going to war was agreeable to his physical well-being. It might be more correct to say that it is coming home from the war that agrees with him, for he said:

We were under fire as soon as we got to Africa. We made 163 miles as a start and captured 167 Boers at Botha's Pass. Then we worked along up the country for the return trip we were a hard-looking lot. The voyage home did us a great deal of good and gave us time to recuperate. Even when we left Africa, we were in better form than when the war ended; for we spent three weeks knocking around and having a good time. We had a brigade tournament one day with a big list of sports. Regulars and colonials took part. Then Canadians won in every event but four. In the wrestling on horse back nobody could begin to equal them. They cleared the saddles in short order. When it came to Canadians from the east against those from the west, the eastern fellows were easy winners. In the tug of war the west beat us.

WITH DELAREY'S SON.

I spent a day with a son of Gen. Delarey and a son of Gen. De Villiers. They were good fellows. We talked about the war; they showed no bitterness, but said they would likely have come in a year before if they had known they could get such good treatment. It seemed strange to be chumming it with men against whom I had been fighting so recently.

ON HISTORIC GROUND.

We passed through Colenso and Ladysmith. We saw where the guns were taken from Buller. A pile of stones had been set up where each gun stood. We were at Majuba Hill, Laing's Nek and all the other chief places mentioned in the record of the fights between Boer and Britain."

Trooper Cranfield wears the wide hat that he wore all through his stay in Africa. It was soft once, but is now quite hard after being soaked in salt water.

Continued on page 2.

LABOR DAY IN PETERBORO

Arrangements Being Perfected for a Splendid Program of Sports

Early next week big posters will be issued, announcing in Peterborough and surrounding districts, a monster demonstration to be held in town on Labor Day, Sept. 1st, under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Council and Trades and Labor Unions. The Committee on which are representatives of each Union in Peterborough are sparing no pains to make this event a complete success, and are also meeting with liberal support from the merchants and manufacturing companies. The day's programme will include a mammoth trades parade, headed by the 57th Regt. Band, in the morning, and a list of sporting attractions in the driving park in the afternoon.

The program of sports, although not yet perfected will include horse races, bicycle races, athletic sports and a lacrosse match between two well matched teams, probably Orillia and Peterborough. In the evening the day's proceedings will wind up with a grand Promenade Concert given by the 57th Band, which will furnish music throughout the entire day.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener

Said a druggist to-day. "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In chlorosis, anaemia, tiredness, languor, brain fag, indigestion and dyspepsia its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large boxes cost 50c.

GERMANS DESIRE A BETTER FEELING

The Newspapers are Largely Responsible for Bitterness

THE GERMAN NAVY LEAGUE

One of the Popular Institutions of the Teutons has Over 600,000 Paying Members

Special to The Times.

Berlin, Germany, Aug.—A feverish desire for a navy has seized upon the German people like an epidemic. The German Navy League is a great national institution. Fifty paying members in a small German village is not uncommon. Over 600,000 adult members are borne on the books of the German Navy League. Excursion trains are run from Berlin to Kiel. Visits to the warships are advertised in the Berlin papers as inducements. Enterprising middlemen have even gone so far as to promise to intending excursionists the hospitality of German naval officers, and hundreds of tickets have been bought under this delusive inducement.

The German navy is looked on by the nation and its rulers as the one hope of the future, and the German Navy League is a means to an end—colonies. Existing German colonies are not successful. The officials and soldiers are more numerous than colonists, while the expenses are not balanced by income. The longing for a slice of territory in a temperate climate can only be compared to the longing of all over for his mistress or of an injured Spaniard for revenge. This is a fact of which the British Government and people would do well to take note. It does not arise from any inherent hatred on the part of the Germans to the British people, but it gives rise to feelings which find expression in foolish newspapers, which, unless checked on both sides of the North Sea, may lead to untoward results. Although we cannot dismember the British Empire, or slacken our resolve to increase our naval predominance, there is still much to be done that may improve our international relations with Germany.

THE GERMAN PRESS

The first thing to be done, however, for the restoration of a better state of feeling between Germany and England is to procure the cessation of the vile and indecent attacks on our King, army, country and habits, which appear in a ceaseless stream from the German press. If every English merchant or manufacturer having dealings with Germany would write to his correspondents in the Fatherland, and record a quiet and friendly, but dignified protest against the insults of the German press, there is little doubt that a great effect would be produced upon public opinion in Germany. This course of action would be welcomed by enlightened German merchants.

On the other hand, there is something to be done on our side. Go where you will in Germany, you are met with constant complaints of the overbearing and boorish behaviour of British tourists. The bad manners of a single English traveller damage the the character of a hundred innocents. There is no doubt that not only in Germany, but in other parts of the world the travelling Englishman is apt to be careless of the feelings of foreigners. He regards ways that are different as not only outlandish but silly and even wicked and he is not slow to express his opinion. The tourist agencies might surely do something to impress upon their customers the necessity for restraint and consideration when travelling on the continent. Such injunctions are superfluous in the vast majority of instances. But the bad-mannered travelling Englishmen who give a handle to our enemies to say that their conduct is a fair sample of the nation are too numerous to ignore.

THE RELATED NATIONS.

The fact that England and Germany have never crossed swords is significant. The interest of the Teutons and of Anglo-Saxons have often conflicted. England and France have been at war twenty-four times. The Teutons and the Anglo-Saxon dislike one another mainly because they are related. Relations may be defined as those people who, being of the same blood, enjoy the chartered right to say disagreeable things with impunity. Criticisms and comment that are endured silently in national infancy or adolescence become intolerable when the young nation has become a strong new empire. Germans complain that the English have never taken them seriously as they deserve. If Prussia has a fault—and Prussia has Prussianized the German Empire—it is a lack of humor, and the lack of humor has contributed more to strained relations to England than would generally be supposed.

It is an axiom in administration that when public affairs are transacted behind closed doors they tend to become the private affairs of the men who transact them. Do we wish to be friends with Germany? If so, surely it is good policy to avoid needless causes of offence. If, on the other hand, the German navy is a menace to the British Empire, does not common sense dictate the propriety of destroying it before the boy becomes a man, or a giant, as will be the case by 1915?

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 1.—Col. Arthur Lynch the Nationalist member of Parliament who is accused of high treason during the Boer war, was taken to Bow Street Police Court today.

Before the court committed him for trial he made a long statement, in which he said that he went to South Africa under contract with the Paris Journal, and that he did not expect then to stay more than two months. He also arranged to serve the Century Magazine, Collier's Weekly, and several other American publications. He denied that he saw Dr. Leyds, the Boer agent, before starting from Leyds to the Transvaal.

At the close of his statement he was committed for trial. Before going to court he was visited in his prison cell by ..., or that he went on any mission W. Redmond and other Nationalist leaders.

WHAT CAN A WOMAN DO FOR A MAN?

In Times of Suffering and Critical Illness She can Honestly Recommend

Paine's Celery Compound

As a Saver of Life and a Banisher of Disease

Woman's power for good in the home can never be truly estimated. In times of suffering and danger, her judgment and experience are invaluable; her smiles, words of cheer and comfort help to dispel gloom and sadness. The faithful, discerning wife has a full knowledge of the value of Paine's Celery Compound as a banisher of disease; she has had a personal experience with it; she has noted its wonderful effects and cures; she has faith in its virtues, and recommends it with full confidence. Mr. J. H. Brown, Port Perry, Ont., says:

"I was troubled with kidney complaint; the doctors called it an enlargement of the neck of the bladder. Be that as it may, I suffered the most intense pain. I applied to my physician for relief with but little encouragement; he thought the only way for me to obtain relief was to submit to an operation. I went home very much discouraged, and was prevailed on by my wife to try Paine's Celery

Local Yachting

Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell, Hon. Pres. Peterborough Cricket Club, has purchased a $600 yacht. She is a thirty-footer with dingy, and has ample cabin quarters, but was built for racing. Mr. Culverwell is looking for anyone on these lakes who is looking for trouble, as he thinks he has secured something that can blanket anything on these waters.

A HOT WEATHER LIFE SAVER

Lactated Food saves babies' lives in the hot summer weather. It is the most perfect substitute for healthy breast milk ever devised by medical science. It saves infants from cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and other hot weather dangers. If your baby is cross and fretful, try what Lactated Food will do for it. Ask your druggist for Lactated Food.

MINE POWDER MAGAZINE EXPLODES WITH DISASTER

Thirteen Lives Lost at a Mining Camp in Colorado by an Explosion in a Mine

Special to The Times.

Pueblo, Colo., Aug 8.—A special to the Chieftan from Trinidad says.—

"A disastrous explosion occurred at 6.30 o'clock last night at No. 3 mine at Bowen, a small camp about ten miles north of this place. Thirteen lives are known to have been lost. The exact number of men working on the night shift and in the mine at the time of the explosion is unknown. The mine is worked by the Union Coal Company of Denver. It is a slope mine situated on the mountain side and about 400 yards from the Tipple below. The explosion occurred about 800 feet from the mouth of the slope, and was caused by fire damp.

Immediately after the night shift had started in the slope a startling explosion occurred, entirely filling the mouth of the slope, and shaking buildings and breaking windows a mile distant.

As the mouth of the slope was filled, the rescuers were delayed for some time, but succeeded in reaching some of the men through an old slope, and eight dead bodies were quickly brought to the surface.

The mine is filled with gas and smoke, and the rescuers are afraid of after-damp, and are unable to stay in the mine more than a short time. Mothers, wives, and children of the dead and imprisoned miners are almost crazed with grief, and the scene presented at the mouth of the mine is a most pathetic one.

The known dead are — James Hunter, machine runner; Tilden Winfield, colored helper; Mike Cassidy, blown to pieces; Joe Gordon, colored, driller; Joe Bauchy, machine runner; Thomas Sierra, Frank Groat, and Weller Elliott.

The powder house in the mine usually containing 1,000 pounds of powder blew up, and it is this which caused so great a disaster. The general belief is that the entire mine has been ruined, and if not, it will take months to get it in working order again. The rescuing party is pushing forward with all possible haste, and it will be many hours before the exact number of lives lost and the total amount of damage can be determined.

A New Factory

Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell, Managing-Director of the Central Ontario Power Co., has returned to town along with a Toronto manufacturer, who intends removing their works here, if the town does what is usual in the way of concessions. They will employ fifty skilled hands.

It is understood that it was through Mr. Culverwell's instrumentality that a short time ago, Peterborough almost landed another Cereal Company in town; the officers having been brought here by him, after he had spent a great deal of time and his own money in the matter. He states that at the present time he is losing no opportunity in hunting up and corralling new factories for the "water power city.

This week he was also before the council of the town of Campbellford, at the request of a furniture manufacturing firm, who are desirous of locating there and using some of the idle water power in that district, of which Mr. Culverwell has been making large purchases lately.

CITIES IN IRELAND

To the Editor of The Times,

Sir,—I have a dispute with a friend about the cities in Ireland, I claim there are only two—Belfast and Dublin. He says Limerick and Cork are cities. How is it?

A READER.

Answer—The Encyclopedia Britannica and other cyclopedias say that these are cities:

Dublin, Belfast, Cork, Limerick, Waterford, Londonderry. The word city is not much used in Great Britain in the sense used in this country. Many large places are called towns or seaports. The word city does not mean a large town or a municipality with a Mayor and Council as here. Harper's Book of Facts says: "In England a town corporate is called a city when the seat of a bishop with a cathedral church,—Camden."

The Encyclopedia Britannica says, under "city":

"The word is used in England with considerable laxity as little more than a synonm for town, * * It was maintained by Coke and Blackstone that a city is a town in corporate which is or has been the seat of a bishop and this opinion has been very generally adopted since."

Some exceptions are noted but the rule is general. In the Britannica no list of cities is given but its very full account of Ireland the word town is used generally. In one place Limerick is spoken of as "the city of the violated treaty." This is said to be a familiar rhetorical description. The population of the principal towns or cities of Great Britain is as follows:

London, 4,536,063; Liverpool, 685,274; Edinburg, 316,479; Glasgow, 760,423; Manchester, 543,969; Birmingham, 522,182; Dublin, 373,179; Belfast, 348, 965; Limerick, 48,246; Cork, 80,124; Cardiff, 128,915.

The population of Waterford in 1901 was 20,181, and of Londonderry, the same year, 38,947.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T.A.S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck Misses M. Dickson and Cow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Crossley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. E. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. I. Bamford.

Non-Prohibition Lecturer

In his perroration he ended this way:

Water! What caused the death of every human being in this world except Noah and his family? Water!

What wiped out of existence Pharoh and all his hosts when they followed the Israelites? Water!

And where do you find in the Bible anyone calling for it, except the rich man in hell—where he ought to be!

Millionaire Piery. Morgan

Cannot Buy a Better Breakfast Cereal Than Our Brain and Muscle Toilers Are Now Using

Malt Breakfast Food

The Choice of Royalty and the Plain People

Nature's Health Food for the Young and Old

The millions of a Morgan or the wealth and influence of royalty cannot procure a more delicious, appetizing or healthful breakfast dish than Malt Breakfast Food, now so much enjoyed by our plain people. Malt Breakfast Food is different from other foods. The pure Malt gives it a flavor that all relish. It has extraordinary virtues for making nervous people well and correcting impaired digestions. One package makes a meal for twenty-five people. Your grocer sells it.

STORAGE BATTERY PERFECTED

In an article entitled "The Storage Battery and the Motor Car," written for the July number of the "North American Review," Mr. Thomas A. Edison, announces the final perfection of the storage battery. He has been working upon the problem for a number of years, and for the last three years his experiments have been continuous. The essential feature of a real storage battery, Mr. Edison explains, is that it must be a perfectly reversible instrument, receiving and giving out power like a dynamo motor, without any deterioration of the mechanism of conversion. This condition is not met by the lead storage battery, which gradually becomes less and less efficient, and in a few months wholly inoperative; but the nickel-iron storage cell, which has been evolved from Mr Edison's experiments, and of which he gives a most interesting description, remains uninjured under any condition one can imagine, even in the hands of an inexpert. The result of this invention will be to make it practicable for a large number of persons who cannot afford the luxury of a carriage to possess a serviceable pleasure vehicle which will be always at their beck and call.

With an initial outlay of $700, the storage battery automobile can be used at any time at the cost of a fifty-cent charge, the cost being met as it is incurred. Mr. Edison predicts that automobile accidents, which occur so frequently at present, will be things of the past.

"The French types of electric carriages come nearer to my ideas in strength and stability than any other models. This result has been attained, of course only by experience. At first I was inclined to the opinion that the French machines were abnormally heavy; but when I study out the concussions and strains to which they are subjected, my inclination is to make the touring carriages even heavier still. It is surprising to me that American builders have not more closely followed these French models, since experiments costing millions must have been made to reach the present stage.

"We hear of fewer automobile accidents in France and Europe generally than in our own country, and they are fewer in spite of heavy types of carriages. One reason for this is that in Europe there are wider roads and less traffic; another is that the public have been educated up to the situation. The electric carriage of the future, and of the near future, will in my opinion, not only supersede other types of automobiles, but it will be built and run on such practical lines that accidents will soon become things of the past. Horse owners and drivers will educate their animals, as in old times they had to be educated up to the steam engine and later to the trolley car. The electric carriage will be practically noiseless and easily stopped in an emergency. Above all, it will need no irresponsible chauffeur."

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

CORPORATIO NOFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayer.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rennel, Chief of Police.
T. A. S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Beck, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Mowbray, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill Garvin, E. A. Peck, Wards, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. A. Sandford.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at [illegible] per month, and to outside points at $3 per year Strictly in advance

Morning Times

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 9, 1902.

STORAGE BATTERY PERFECTED

In an article entitled "The Storage Battery and the Motor Car," written for the July number of the "North American Review," Mr. Thomas A. Edison, announces the final perfection of the storage battery. He has been working upon the problem for a number of years, and for the last three years his experiments have been continuous. The essential feature of a real storage battery, Mr. Edison explains, is that it must be a perfectly reversible instrument, receiving and giving out power like a dynamo motor, without any deterioration of the mechanism of conversion. This condition is not met by the lead storage battery, which gradually becomes less and less efficient, and in a few months wholly inoperative; but the nickel-iron storage cell, which has been evolved from Mr Edison's experiments, and of which he gives a most interesting description, remains uninjured under any condition one can imagine, even in the hands of an inexpert. The result of this invention will be to make it practicable for a large number of persons who cannot afford the luxury of a carriage to possess a serviceable pleasure vehicle which will be always at their beck and call.

With an initial outlay of $700, the storage battery automobile can be used at any time at the cost of a fifty-cent charge, the cost being met as it is incurred. Mr. Edison predicts that automobile accidents, which occur so frequently at present, will be things of the past.

"The French types of electric carriages come nearer to my ideas in strength and stability than any other models. This result has been attained, of course only by experience. At first I was inclined to the opinion that the French machines were abnormally heavy; but when I study out the concussions and strains to which they are subjected, my inclination is to make the touring carriages even heavier still. It is surprising to me that American builders have not more closely followed these French models, since experiments costing millions must have been made to reach the present stage.

"We hear of fewer automobile accidents in France and Europe generally than in our own country, and they are fewer in spite of heavy types of carriages. One reason for this is that in Europe there are wider roads and less traffic; another is that the public have been educated up to the situation. The electric carriage of the future, and of the near future, will in my opinion, not only supersede other types of automobiles, but it will be built and run on such practical lines that accidents will soon become things of the past. Horse owners and drivers will educate their animals, as in old times they had to be educated up to the steam engine and later to the trolley car. The electric carriage will be practically noiseless and easily stopped in an emergency. Above all, it will need no irresponsible chauffeur."

NEXT TROUBLE IN AFRICA WILL BE WITH BLACKS

Concluded from page 1.

ter and pressed into shape. On the under side of the broad rim are printed in indelible pencil and bold well-formed capitals the names of the chief places visited—names that will be written with an indelible pen in history and on honor's roll.

BOERS DISLIKE CANADIANS.

"The Boers dislike the Canadians" said Trooper Cranfield. They asked us if we couldnot earn enough money at home, or why we came out there to fight for 5 shillings a day. They did not understand that we were actually British, but supposed we were hired troops. They feared the Canadian in battle, though. Any that had been out in former contingents were especially disliked. In some cases the ribbon badge that had been given them by the government, was nailed to their breasts or elsewhere on their bodies with horse-shoe nails, by Boers who came across them dead. The British regulars did not like us much better. They were jealous because we got more wages than they did. But it was only fair we should, for they got it steadily, and we only during the war.

CROSSING THE LINE.

We had a great time crossing the equator on the way out. It was the old ceremony of Neptune's visit to the ship. Neptune and his crew were men who had crossed the line before, and they initiated all the new men. Each of us was caught put in a chair, whitewashed, painted and lathered with molasses, then shaved with a big 4-foot razor. All of a sudden that chair tilted back and its occupant went through a hatchway into a big vat of water on the next deck below, where he was soused until nearly drowned. Nobody escaped and those who tried to were searched out and put through the operation.

THE BIG FIGHT.

Oh yes, that fight with Delarey. We were ordered to march at two o'clock in the morning and came at length to a little pool of water. It was the only one in the district. We had just got our horses unsaddled and were getting the range of a farm house nearby when shells from two fifteen-pounders went over the camp. This was a surprise, and we were called to arms. The shelling continued from below a little ridge some distance away. Then the enemy two thousand strong opened fire with rifles at eighteen hundred yards. We encircled our camp and replied. There were fifteen hundred of us. The fire was very heavy and the Boers had the range to a nicety. They evidently knew that we must camp there because of the water and had got the range and laid their plans accordingly. Once their horsemen charged to within two hundred yards but were withered by our fire. The Boers told us afterward that the charge was the result of a mistake in orders, for Delarey had told his men to only shell the camp.

Although so many shells fell into our camp, only a few exploded or we should all have been cut to pieces. They were using Methuen's guns, but took no pains to adjust the fuse or take out the pins of the shell. They did not understand the ammunition. The rifle fire was very steady, and severe. Our men were terribly cut up.

Major Milligan was a crack shot and instead of lying down like the rest of us he rose on his elbows and took aim. A group of six of our men got separated from the rest; two were killed and the others taken prisoners. They were stripped by the Boers and afterward came into camp fifteen miles distant. They were all down sick after it.

It rained hard during the fight. At last the Boers drew off and we dug trenches till midnight. In the morning we were rescued by Gen. Walter Kitchener. By night we were some distance away, and had got our convoy stuck in a swamp. If the Boers had come on us we should have been all killed.

We never knew how Delarey came at us so quickly. Our scouts had chased his men five miles away from there and then came back. The Boers must have followed the straight back and pounced on us as soon as we got the saddles off our horses.

The Boers looked well and hardy. They had lived on mealies—a sort of corn that they eat, and when it is roasted, use for coffee. We had spent a good deal of time destroying the mealie crops, and I think fear of the winter and starvation, led the Boers to surrender.

THE BLACKS NEXT.

By our destroying the mealies the blacks were left in a bad way too; and speaking of them, I believe the British will have to fight them before long. Even the Cape boys who drove our horses said: 'Soldiers go away now; come back soon, fight us.' There is every sign of trouble, but the Boers hate them and I think would do most of the fighting against them. These are not the Zulu blacks who are very loyal.

THE OFFICERS AGAIN

When we landed at Halifax we had no socks or shirts on and only the old suits we had campaigned in. Col. Evans had been offered clothes for us at Durban but would not take it. He and the next in command, Major Church, could not be found at the battle of Harts River. The men all stood firm but looked in vain for the chief officers. When we got to Halifax, Col. Evans kept us on board ship from two in the morning till three in the afternoon and thus kept us from being given the reception the city had planned for us. A special train was brought to the dock and the men ordered to embark for a through passage to their homes, although many of the western men would like to have visited relatives. I believe Col. Evans would have been murdered if he had not taken a cab and gone up to the station and caught a regular train while we were getting on board our train at the wharf. Later, at Quebec where a reception had been planned for us, he deceived the people about the hour at which our train would arrive, and we passed through an hour before they expected us.

HAD ENTERIC FEVER.

I got enteric fever a short time after the Harts River fight and was in the hospital for several weeks. It is something like typhoid. My temperature went to 106. That is not so very high, for in that country men live with it at 112. Enteric affects some men in the legs and makes them lame as rheumatism does. One of our Peterborough men cannot walk yet."

Trooper Cranfield says there are good chances to get employment in Africa. Electricians get $15 a day. Living costs about $50 a month. Before he went out there he had a good job in the Canadian General Electric Works at Peterborough, and will go back to it again in a short time.

—The dog poisoner is now at work on Gilmour street.

Help Wanted.

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $16 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H. Calcutt Peterborough.

WANTED—Female Teacher for S. S. No. 2 Anstruther, for 2 terms. 1st term to begin 3rd Monday in August, 1902, 2nd term to begin January 1st, 1903. Apply to Wm. W Smith Sec.-Treas., Clanricarde, P. O.

Female Attendants and Help

WE HAVE GOOD PLACES for several female attendants and help at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville. Intelligent, willing workers are needed. Warm electric-lighted bedrooms, cosy sitting room and separate dining room. Wages $10, $11, $12, $13 and $14 a month, according to place. Apply to the Matron, either personally or by letter, at once. Address letters:—THE MATRON Institution for the Deaf, Belleville, Ont.

Personal.

RETIRED MERCHANT MIDDLE AGE worth $60,000. Seeks at once poor but faithful wife. Address Mr. HAMILTON, 603 Omaha Bldg., Chicago.

HANDSOME—INTELLIGENT AMERICAN lady worth $65,000 will marry immediately and assist kind husband financially. Address BELLE, 124 Van Buren St., Chicago.

Boarding

LADIES DESIRING A COMFORTABLE home at reasonable rates can be accommodated at the Y. W. C. A. Boarding Home on Brock St.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1895. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a. m., 4 to 6 p. m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

For Sale

PLEASURE YACTS FOR SALE. THE UNdersigned has for sale three first class pleasure yachts, from 18 to 30 feet in length, all in first class order. Apply at Times Office to R. J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

STEAMER FOR SALE. THE STEAMER Beaver is compact and serviceable steam launch, 75 feet long, 12 feet beam. Would make a splendid private pleasure launch. Fastest boat on inland lakes. Licensed to carry passengers. Will be sold at a dead bargain.

For full particulars apply to Capt. Harris Gores Landing, or at the Times Office to R. J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISters and Solicitors, 359 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. H. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

FARMERS, YOU WILL NEVER LIVE TO see your fence posts rot, if you send 25c for receipt "Everlasting Fence Posts." T. CALLARY 121 St. Geo. St. Montreal.

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed period; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $16 to $20 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Moore & Co., Room 711 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

FRY, 204 Park Place—Falling into Line—Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 48 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited. London, Ont.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

No. 381 George St., now occupied by Henry Best

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

Peterborough Radial Railway

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 333.
Peterborough, Ont

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal
Portland, Boston ... 5.10 a.m. 12.25 a.m.
West

[illegible]

Ottawa, Montreal... ... 5.10 p.m 11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood,
Norwood, Havelock, Ot-
[illegible]
Havelock .... 7.12 a.m. 7.20 p.m.

Canadian Pacific

Toronto, London, Detroit,
Chicago ... ... 11.25 a.m. 5 10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...7.20 p.m. 1 12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago ...... 12.25 a.m. 5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...11.25 a.m. 5 10 p.m

Grand Trunk

Arrive Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto ... ...11.40 a.m. 8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago 9.00 p.m. 6.25 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester
Cobourg, Belleville,
[illegible], Brockville and
[illegible], Bowmanville,
Oshawa, Toronto and west ... .8.25 p.m. 11.4. a.m
Port Hope, Cobourg
Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal ....7.20 a.m. 8.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford,
Madoc ....8.10 a.m. 8.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston Montreal ....8.25 p.m. 2.05 p.m
Lakefield local ....8.00 a.m. 8.20 a.m
[illegible] local ....6.20 p.m. 12.15 p.m.
Lakefield local ....4.20 p.m. 5.40 p.m.

Mining Stock for Sale.

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY

Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00........................$1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average....Profit $1,050

or $2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 20 per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having some to invest." WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1 00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, making possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa

We are offering a small allotment of

TREASURY :-: STOCK

—AT—

25 CENTS PER SHARE

On a monthly payment plan. Our stock has advanced

200 PER CENT IN 90 DAYS

And will GO TO PAR and PAY DIVIDENDS THIS YEAR. We ABSOLUTELY OWN OUR MINES; DO NOT OWE A DOLLAR; MINES ARE PRODUCING NOW; Smelting Plant IN COURSE OF ERECTION. Write for prospectus and ENGINEER'S REPORTS

The Arizona Prosperity Gold Mines Co.
208 Boylston Building, Chicago, Ill.

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful. No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips, cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc. prevents and removes Freckles. At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co
[illegible] YONGE ST., TORONTO

THEY ARE PRETTY.
20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at 40c
Suspenders 15c
Overalls, with bib, at 40c
Smocks, at 90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO SIR J. A. BOYD, K.C.M.G. PRESIDENT.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.

Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director

Affiliated with Toronto and Trinity Universities.

The Highest Educational Standard and Strongest Faculty in Canada.

Scholarships Diplomas, Certificates.

16th Season opens Sep. 2d, 1902

School of Literature and Expression
Mrs. Inez Nicholson-Cutter, Principal
Expression, Physical Culture, Pedagogy

CALENDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

BIG G CURES in 1 to 5 days. Guaranteed not to stricture. Prevents Contagion. THE EVANS CHEMICAL CO. CINCINNATI, O. U. S. A.

CURE YOURSELF! Use Big G for unnatural discharges, inflammations, irritations or ulcerations of mucous membranes. Painless, and not astringent or poisonous. Sold by Druggists, or sent in plain wrapper, by express, prepaid, for $1.00, or 3 bottles, $2.75. Circular sent on request.

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go. They cannot produce the goods.

CANADA CAMERA CO.
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

Mining Stock for Sale.

A High Class Mining Investment!

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.

Mines, Works and Franchises, ARIZONA.

INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA

OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000
Full-paid and non assessable.

25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10

12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President
A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President
Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON
Retired Merchant, Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT
Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL
Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. [illegible]
Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers, Trenton, N. J.
COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY own a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight (800) hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 5,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

THE

Toronto General Trusts Corporation

HEAD OFFICE AND SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS--59 YONGE ST., TORONTO
WINNIPEG BRANCH OFFICE—
BANK OF HAMILTON CHAMBERS, WINNIPEG, MAN.

CAPITAL - - - $1,000,000
RESERVE FUND - - 270 000

President—JOHN HOSKIN, K. C. LL. D., Director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Canada Life Assurance Company and Vice-President Canada Landed and National Company.

VICE-PRESIDENTS—{HON S. C. WOOD, Director of The Western Assurance Co; W. H. BEATTY, Vice-President of The Bank of Toronto

AUTHORIZED TO ACT AS

Executor, Administrator, Trustee, Receiver, Committee of Lunatics, Guardian, Liquidator, Assignee, etc.

WINNIPEG BRANCH.

The corporation has opened a branch of its busines in Winnipeg, and the attention of property owners executors, trustees, etc., and other residents in Ontario, who have interests in Manitoba, is called to the unusual facilities offered by the Winnipeg branch for effecting sales of property, prompt collection of rents, appraisement of property, and generally looking after the interests of non-residents, at most reasonable charges.

ADVISORY BOARD:

SIR D. H. McMILLAN, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.
D. W. BOLE, Wholesale Druggist; Chairman of The Winnipeg School Board.
A. M. NANTON, Messrs. Osler, Hammond & Nanton.
H. H. SMITH, formerly Dominion Land Commissioner for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

J. W. LANGMUIR, Managing Director.
A. D. LANGMUIR, Assistant Manager
JAMES DAVEY, Manager Winnipeg Branch.

ASK FOR THE

ALES AND PORTER

—OF—

THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED

They are Finest and Purest in the market.

The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.

To be had at all first-class dealers

FOR A SAFE AND SURE INVESTMENT

. . . BUY STOCK IN . . .

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.

Mine Opened Up.
Ore in Sight.
Ore Vein 10 Feet Wide.
Values per Ton Average $24.75.
Hoist Pump, etc., Installed.

Mine in active operation 18 months. Now ready for concentrating mill, and for that purpose only we offer a small amount of stock at 20 cents per share, for 30 days.

For prospectus and further particulars call or address—

La Sonora Gold & Silver Mining & Smelting Co.
348 LUMBER EXCHANGE, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street,
AGENT AT PETERBOROUGH.

STOCKS SOLD ON INSTALLMENT

35 Farms For Sale

NEAR PETERBOROUGH,

where we can give ploughing possession this month. Come and get First Choice. We furnish money to make buying easy. Write and tell us what sized Farm you want, and what Township you prefer—we can suit you. Our new Fall List will be out in a few days. Call or write for it.

T. HURLEY & CO.,
136 Hunter, near P.O., Ground Floor

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Pure Silk Flags
For Cushions
Size, 16x16

A limited number at 15c each
Regular price, 50c.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

VARICOCELE AND STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the [illegible]. So positive am I that my Latest Method Treatment will cure you that you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each time you call you see me Personally,

or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country.

The Latest Method Treatment Guaranteed to Cure

Varicocele and Stricture without cutting, stretching or loss of time; also Blood Poison, Chronic, Private, Nervous, Impotency, Kidney, Liver, Bladder, Stomach, Female and Rectal Troubles. CONSULTATION FREE. Call; if you cannot call write for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor. All duty and express charges prepaid.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 Woodward Ave., Cor. Wilcox St. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
C. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	[illegible]
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	[illegible]

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 2 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS

Office—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members (Consolidated Stock Exchange / N. Y. Produce Exchange / Chicago Board of Trade.) Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 500 Broad)
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 5c cash 5c, installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 315 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.

GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.

OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main 592 and 2075.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME
Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 5c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 315 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

---

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS
Municipal & Corporation Bonds
Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 6%,
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Big Buildings.

St. Peter's is the biggest building in the world. St. Paul's could be placed inside the great cathedral at Rome without blocking up the way through. St. Peter's stands on an area of two hundred and forty thousand square feet, with a front four hundred feet broad and a length inside of six hundred feet. The cost of building the cathedral was three and a half millions sterling—exactly the same sum as was spent on the British Houses of Parliament, and five times as much as the cost of St. Paul's. The Vatican, which can hardly be called a single building, has eleven thousand apartments, approached by two hundred staircases; and there is a mystery in Madrid which has twelve thousand windows and doors. But they can hardly be called single buildings, and, bearing this distinction in mind, the biggest building in the world is the Church of the Pope at Rome.

The builders of the Old World were more ambitious than our own. No such theater has ever been built in the modern world as the Coliseum, with its diameter of six hundred and fifteen feet, its height of one hundred and sixty-four feet, and its seats for a hundred thousand people. No wall has ever been built to equal the great wall of China, which runs thirty feet high and twenty-four feet thick for twelve hundred miles; and the Pyramids remain the wonder of the world in the twentieth century as in the first. Ancient Egypt had twelve palaces each with three thousand rooms; and the walls of Nineveh ran for a hundred miles a hundred feet high and wide enough for three chariots to drive abreast along the top.

"Young Never-Grow-Old."

The war has not as yet developed much pathetic poetry. It is not till the clatter and blare of the march is past that the cry of the mourner reaches the ear. Perhaps among the first-fruits of the harvest of poetic sorrow may be counted a short poem in "Longman's" by Mrs. Fleming. It is simply entitled "Spion Kop." Two stanzas may be cited out of five, all of which will go home to many a mother's desolate heart:

Young Never-Grow-Old, with your heart of gold,
And the dear boy's face upon you;
It's hard to tell, though we know it well,
That the grass is growing upon you.
Flowers and grass, and the graveyard mould,
Over the eyes of you, Never-Grow-Old,
Over the heart of you, over each part of you,
All your dear body, our Never-Grow-Old. . . .

Never-Grow-Old, your curly head
Will never streak with gray;
Young Always-Young, your springing tread
Will never pass away.
The morning glory of your eyes
Will light you now and ever;
You keep your boyhood in the skies,
The other side the River:
River that flows by the City of Gold,
River of Healing, dear Never-Grow-Old.

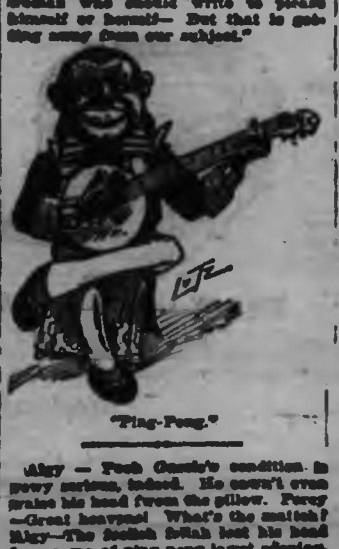
Spring.

Dame Nature, too, is cleaning house,
For in each cool retreat
She puts her verdant carpet down—
The one that can't be beat.—"Judge."

"You," sighed the rejected lover, "would find your name written in imperishable characters in my heart could you but look." "So?" murmured the fair young thing, who was aware of the fact that the swain had been playing Romeo at the seaside for something like twenty years. "So? Then you must have a heart like a hotel directory by this time."—Baltimore "American."

Literary Success.

"The main element of literary success is the popular mood," remarks "Life." "Litterateurs and litteratresses have nothing to do with making the popular mood. This is made by the high price of potatoes, or the bad times abroad, or the constructive statesmanship of the Republican party, et cetera. The public take to their bosoms today what they would have coldly neglected yesterday, and vice versa. Even the works of an Irving Bacheller might have fallen still-born from the press in another generation. In a word, literary success is quite like success in the real estate or saloon business; it is lucrative, and that is all. The man or woman who should write to please himself or herself— But that is getting away from our subject."



"Ping-Pong."

Algy — Poor Cousin's condition is very serious, indeed. He can't even raise his head from the pillow. Percy —Great heavens! What's the matter? Algy—The foolish fellah lost his head in a game of ping-pong last evening, and played steadily for nearly fifteen minutes.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers
Fortune's Spor, Miss Nobody,
Her Royal Highness Lady
Mary of the Dark
House, etc.

"It may not be pleasant to hear, but it is the truth. I gave you very good advice when I brought you to the door of this room an hour ago. I am sorry that you don't seem to have remembered it very well, but it is not too late yet. As I said then, you have everything to lose, or everything to gain. Money, two charming houses, the ability to help your relatives (who from accounts I have heard need all the help that can be given them), an enviable position in society, with past indiscretions forgotten. All this you have, on the one hand; on the other—but perhaps that picture is best left to your imagination."

For a moment I did not speak. Then I said, shortly: "Please call Sir Roger back again."

He was summoned, and presently appeared, the woman in black meanwhile asking no questions, though her gypsy face expressed curiosity as to my intentions.

"Has Miss Leigh's eloquence been more fortunate than mine, in persuading you that there's only one course open?" Roger asked.

"She has shown me that all others are difficult," I answered. "Still, if I were to decide at once, I should say: 'No, I cannot marry you.' That's my impulse now, but if you will give me your word of honor to go away from here—back to London or to Arrish Mell Court, whichever you choose—for two days, I will stop and think the matter carefully over. Miss Leigh can give me as much good advice as you wish, and I may change my mind."

Roger shrugged his shoulders. "The longer you stay here the less easy will it be for you to decide against me," he said; "so I suppose I shall be wise to give you your own way. But we will compromise matters. I'll go and come back to-morrow—with the special license of which I told you."

"Very well, then, to-morrow," I assented. "But you must go now."

"If you look out of this window—or one in your own room—in fifteen minutes from now, you will see me driving away from the house."

"With one of the new carriages, and the new livery you have bought with Lady Cope's money," it was on the tip of my tongue to say. But I kept the words back.

For once, Roger was true to his word. Whether he meant to leave the neighborhood or not, I had no means of knowing; but at least he drove away from the house, with a small portmanteau ostentatiously placed where I would be sure to see it.

I knew that he had only not attempted to put me upon parole as a prisoner because he was sure that I should not be able to evade the guard he had doubtless set upon my movements. But I was glad that he had not tried to exact a promise, because, as soon as I had made a desperate effort to discover the secret which I had begun to believe might be hidden in this house, I intended to make an equally desperate bid for freedom.

Perhaps if I had not been taken for my interview with Roger into the room with the three portraits, no inkling of the idea which now so keenly excited me might ever have come into my head. But there had been Sir Vincent Cope, with Sintra Leigh, and the man who so marvelously resembled her. All three pictures had apparently been painted at about the same time, for certain mannerisms suggested that they were the work of the same artist, and the frames with which they were set into the wall were identical in detail. This suggested that Sintra Leigh and her double (a twin brother, my fancy already said) were closely connected with the Cope family either by ties of blood or peculiarly intimate friendship.

Sintra Leigh had on her arm the heart-shaped scar, which seemed to me to be the secret incarnate. Here she was, in the house where her portrait as a young girl had been preserved for so many years. But where was the original of the third portrait? Could it be that he was also under this roof? Was it his voice that had cried the name of Ermyntrude in the night, before he had again been hurried away into obscurity?

If it were true that such a man was voluntarily or involuntarily a guest in the house which had once been Sir Vincent Cope's, apparently his presence was to be kept a secret from me. Sintra Leigh had, I was certain, lied when I questioned her concerning the strange sounds in the night. Therefore something was to be hidden from me, and it was natural to suppose that the something had to do with the secret. Roger knew the secret, and did not wish me to know it; and for this reason, as much as any other, it seemed worth while to make some sacrifices and run some risks, for the sake of even one chance out of a hundred that I might stumble upon it.

Sintra Leigh and I had a large, pleasant dining-room to ourselves, save for the old butler, who had admitted us to the house last night. Once I ventured to ask whether she had known this place for long, but she evaded the question, and I did not think it prudent to raise suspicion by pressing her. When we had finished and left the dining-room, I heard the door being softly locked after us on the inside. Instantly I guessed that the butler had been instructed to do this, for the windows opened on to the lawn, and it would be easy enough for anyone who wished to walk out of the house.

The stealthy sound reminded me of the test I had intended to apply, and I asked Sintra Leigh if she would take me through some of the principal rooms. "If I decide to marry Sir Roger Cope," I remarked, rather flippantly, "this will be my house, as you impressed upon me last night; and naturally I should like to know something of the bargain I may be making."

"You shall see the whole house if you wish," said the woman in black.

We were in the great hall with the ugly pillars when I made the request, and Sintra Leigh rang a bell which presently brought the butler. "The keys of the rooms on this floor," she said; whereupon a bunch of large, old-fashioned keys was produced from a pocket and respectfully handed to her.

"This is the way, then, of unobtrusively making me a prisoner," I thought; but I made no comment aloud, and only requested with due meekness that I might see the rooms on higher floors as well. Miss Leigh announced that the other keys which might be needed were in her own possession; and forthwith we began an inspection of the rooms on the ground floor. "The house is so large and there are so few persons in it at present," my companion deigned to explain, "that Sir Roger considers it more prudent to keep the unused rooms locked, except when they are wanted."

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, [illegible] Profits. LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES' & GENTS', ROLLER BLINDS, REAL SWISS, LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, LOOM HOSIERY, GUIPURE D'ART, HOUSEHOLD LINENS.

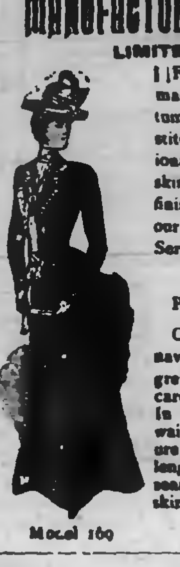
POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

Lot No. 567 contains:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Ecru if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $6.30, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability. First Prize Medals, Toronto 1892; Chicago, 1893.

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.

Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper



$3.10 $3 10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

Model 160

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketchbook of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory,
Bradford, England

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's
$2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00
Hand-Made Shoes,
they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

APIOL & STEEL PILLS for Ladies

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceuti

---

Electric Lamps

25c each

Peterboro Light & Power Co

BABBIT
IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.
The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

TYPEWRITERS

I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1882.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 5 Rue St., Binghamton, N. Y.

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five-Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

STEAMER
"MAJESTIC"
CAPT. W. SCOLLARD, Master.

Time table for week ending Aug. 2th'

On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday steamer will connect with morning and evening trains for the Lakes

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday steamer will leave Lakefield on arrival of noon train from Peterborough.

Further particulars fro W. Bunton G. T. R. City Agent.

P. P. YOUNG, Proprietor

SPECIAL PRICES THIS MONTH
Wilson's GOLD MEDAL Scales
FOR EVERYBODY
COAL, GRAIN AND CATTLE SCALES
GET OUR PRICES
DIAMOND STEEL BEARING
C. WILSON & SON
31 ESPLANADE STREET EAST TORONTO.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

20,000 Harvesters Wanted In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSIONS

Will be Run From Stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell.

—To— WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th For $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold, but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 31st, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific Station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or South-west of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificate which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 30th, 1902, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS, and are not good on "Imperial Limited," and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation in Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., 1 King Street East, Toronto

---

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Coronation Day Saturday, Aug 9th — Single Fare between all Stations in Canada. Good going Aug. 8th and 9th. Returning good until Aug. 11, 1902.

SPECIAL EXCURSIONS
$64.70
To Los Angeles or San Francisco Cal., and Return

Good going Aug. 1st to 10th, inclusive. Valid until Sept. 30th.

Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Glenwood Springs, Colo.; Ogden, Salt Lake, Utah.; Deadwood, Hot Springs and Custer, South Dakota. Return ticket at Single First Class Fare. Good going Aug. 1st to 14th. Good for return until Oct. 31st, 1902.

Tickets and information from
W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Ticket Agent

WRITE FOR
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts
Describing the Summer Lands of
QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND (The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S Wes
William St., Toronto, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION
Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902
NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS
$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions
BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE
[illegible]
THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY
[illegible] on every line of travel. Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and return.

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a. m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8 30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl Wyld 50c, good for return same day only. Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5 00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer
Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION
JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6.15 a.m.	and 3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	" 4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8.40 a.m.	" 5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	" 6 30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	" 7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	" 8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA
JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Port Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"
JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.
COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets) ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets) ...... [illegible] a.m.
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] a.m.
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario ...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which tickets reads. For further information apply to

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston
James Swan, Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.
STR. "ALEXANDRIA"
EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCUTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.
EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports
RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.
FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT
—: FARE :—
$18-Belleville to Quebec, Return-$18
Including meals and berth on route
For further particulars, folders, etc.,
A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

Navigation

COBOURG AND PORT HOPE TO TORONTO
STR. "ARGYLE"
(Commencing Thursday, May 22)
EVERY THURSDAY

Leaves Cobourg at	7.00 a m
" Port Hope at	8.00 a m
Arrive Toronto at	12 30 p m
Returning, leaves Toronto at	5 00 p m
Fare continuous round trip	$1.00

Extension return 30 days, 25c extra, from Purser on board

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry.
[illegible] .... July 30
Sardinian .... August 13
MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT.
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd—Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt.
T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes

THE WELL and favorably known S.S. Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity, and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 11th and 25th August; 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 16th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to:

W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to

THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY
(Owners of and operating the Northwest Transportation Co.)
GEORGIAN BAY & SAULT STE. MARIE

EXCURSIONS TO MACKINAC

One of the Company's steamers will leave COLLINGWOOD 1.30, MEAFORD 3.45, OWEN SOUND 11.00 p. m. on TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS, for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE and MACKINAC ISLAND and on SATURDAYS for intermediate ports to SAULT STE. MARIE ONLY.

NORTH SHORE DIVISION
SS. BRITANNIC will leave COLLINGWOOD on MONDAYS and THURSDAYS at 10.30 p. m. for Parry Sound, Pointe au Baril, Byng Inlet French River and Killarney.

PARRY SOUND DIVISION.
CITY OF TORONTO will leave Midland at 11.15 a. m. and PENETANG at 2.30 p. m., daily (Sundays excepted) for intermediate ports to PARRY SOUND, arriving there at 8.30 p. m., returning leave at 6.00 a. m. For tickets and full information apply to all railway agents or

Northern Navigation Co., Collingwood

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—
TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9 00 and 11.00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

RICE LAKE ROUTE.

The Popular Steamer
NORTH STAR

Will, on and after June 30th, run daily trips (except Saturday) as follows:

Leaving Peterborough Wharf at 9 a. m. Hales Bridge at 10.30; Jubilee Point at 11.55, arriving at Gore's Landing at 12.15. Returning will leave Gore's Landing at 4.15. On Tuesdays and Fridays she will call at Harwood at 2 30, leaving Gore's Landing at 2 o'clock. On Saturday she will leave Peterborough at 2 p. m., for Gore's Landing, and returning leave Gore's Landing at 6 o'clock. Single tickets 50c; return, good for one day, 60c, good for thirty days, 75c.

W. HARRIS,
Master

ARE YOU STOUT.

[illegible]

IF YOU ARE LOSING weight, or your appetite and digestion need stimulating, or are convalescing after an illness, ask your druggist for

BOTTS'

Celebrated Malt Extract

SOLE AGENT FOR PETERBORO'

J. H. EDMISON

Or write direct to the sole manufacturers for Canada

The Port Hope Brewing & Malting Co. LTD.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 9, 1902

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

Coronation Day Trip

The steamer North Star will leave Peterborough at 9 a.m. instead of 2 p.m. today, Coronation Day. Fare for round trip 50c.

No Paper on Monday

In order to give our employees a holiday on Coronation day, there will be no issue of The Times on Monday.

An Apprentice Wanted

We require a good strong boy to feed press at The Times office. A splendid opportunity to learn a good trade.

Coronation Services

A coronation service will be held this morning at 11 o'clock in St. John's Church. The sermon will be preached by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., assisted by Rev. J. H. McCollum, M.A. and Rev. W. L. Armitage.

New Church at Fenelon Falls

On Wednesday afternoon next the corner stone of the new Anglican church at Fenelon Falls, will be laid by the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, A. F. & A. M.. It is expected that a number of the members of the craft from Peterborough will go up to the Falls to witness the event.

Retail Clerks May Organize

An effort is being made to organize the Retail Clerks of Peterborough. A meeting has been called for Monday night in the Labor Hall, Water street at eight o'clock. Organizer J. Flett will be present and address the meeting.

Band Concert Last Night

The 57th Regiment Band gave a short, but very pleasing concert in Victoria Park last night. The programme included a group of selections from the new comic opera "Floradora." As many members of the band are going out of town today, the proposed sacred concert for this evening will not take place.

A Surprise for the Boys

The Y.M.C.A. boys had an amusing experience last Wednesday on arriving at their camp at Sandy Point. They found it occupied by over a dozen of the American fair sex, who came down from Young's Point on a pic-nic and who succeeded in holding the fort until evening. The delight of the boys can better be imagined than expressed and on boarding the Majestic three hearty cheers were given for their fair American cousins.

Charged with Non Support

At the Police Court yesterday morning the case of Mrs. Sweeney against her husband, John Sweeney, for non-support was heard by Police Magistrate Dumble. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared on behalf of Mrs. Sweeney, while Mr. R. F. McWilliams looked after the interests of the prisoner. The Magistrate enlarged the case for one week in order that the parties might still arrive at some settlement.

Services on Sunday

To-morrow—Sunday—morning a coronation service will be held at St. Luke's, Ashburnham, at 11 a.m. The sermon will be preached by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, rector. At 3.30 in the afternoon the Sons of England will also attend service at St. Luke's in commemoration of the coronation.

Rev. W. Jolliffe, pastor of Charlotte street Methodist church will deliver a patriotic address upon "Our King and Country" Sunday evening. The choir will be assisted both morning and evening by Mr. R. A. Shaw, of Hartford, Conn.

—Rev. J. E. Trotter, of St. Catharines, formerly pastor of Murray street Baptist church will conduct the services to-morrow at the above named church. On Aug. 17, he will also occupy the pulpit.

THE STREET RAILWAY

President Bone of the National Construction Co. is in Town

Mr. R. R. Bone, of the National Construction Company, of Detroit, was in town yesterday, accompanied by another American capitalist, and went over the Peterborough Street Railway System. They were accompanied by His Worship Mayor Dumne, and Mr. Shank, of the Dickson Company.

An important announcement with reference to the local railway, may be expected shortly.

WANTED

Wanted —A lad to go to Webwood to assist baker. Apply to Wm. Irwin Box 222, Peterborough.

"GOD SAVE THE KING."

His Majesty King Edward VII is to be crowned today at 12.15 p.m., God willing, or to speak more correctly and making allowance for the difference in time, he is being crowned while most of our readers are scanning these columns. While the Empire at large deplores the illness which necessitated a postponement of the coronation ceremonies to the keen disappointment of thousands of British subjects, it still rejoices that His Majesty's health has been sufficiently restored to allow of his undergoing the excitement and fatigue of to-day's ceremonial. Yesterday's cable to the Globe says that, the Canadian arch is the best decorative feature of the route of the Coronation procession, and with its new French trimmings and the use of a fresh supply of grains, it is handsome and highly effective. The Coronation decorations would be commonplace without this monument of colonial enterprise and good taste. It is pleasing to think that Canada, though thousands of miles from the scene of today's ceremonies and festivities, is still contributing to the splendid corontaion pageant by the magnificent representative arch above alluded to; and all true Canadians will wish His Majesty long to live and reign over us, and join with one accord with their fellow subjects of the greatest empire the world has ever seen in acclaiming "God Save the King."

Pleasant Cure for Weak Lungs

The best remedy for sore, weak lungs, is the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and passage of the breathing organs. It treats remote parts that cough mixtures and sprays can't approach and kills thousands of germs at every breath. Catarrhozone drives away pain, congestion and inflammation; it makes breathing easy and regular, and exerts a marvellous influence on coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, catarrh, deafness and lung trouble. Catarrhozone cures at once, is delightful to inhale, and simple to use. Price $1.00; small size 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure constipation.

What is the Delay Regarding the New Rink

It is understood that there has been sufficient capital already subscribed to insure the erection of Peterborough's new rink, but notwithstanding this fact there appears to be an unnecessary delay in proceeding with the actual formation of the company. There are only a few months now until the cold weather is upon us, and if Peterborough's new rink is to be ready at the opening of the season there will have to be some tall hustling. The obtaining of the charter, the organization of the company, the calling for tenders and the work of building the structure cannot be accomplished in a week or two, and it is up to the promoters to make an announcement as to the cause of the delay. Every person expected that actual work at the structure would have been commenced by August first, but there is as yet no sign of anything in this line.

The Dog Nuisance

Regarding the frequent poisoning of dogs which has been going on in Peterborough for some time, there is this to be said: In many localities there are numbers of worthless curs, who do nothing but raise disturbances at night, and keep people from sleep. Only the other day a complaint was received at the Times office explaining that several families are terribly annoyed at night by the barking of a neighbor's dog. During the heated season when the windows of sleeping apartments are wide open during the nights the least noise on the street is distressing to many. A man does not want to charge his neighbor with maintaining a nuisance and in desperation, resolves to administer poison. Too often the wrong dog gets the dose, and there is a storm of indignation at once. The proper course to pursue is to notify Chief Rossel, and let him take such steps as will abate the nuisance.

CANUCK WISDOM

Knew how to Select Food

A good healthy Canadian takes pleasure in telling about food, and how he got well by using the right kind of food and drink.

He says, "In Nov. '99 I began to feel bad every day and gradually got worse. I did not lose my appetite. On the contrary after having a good meal I felt better, but after being at work perhaps an hour or so I would have terrible pains all over my body. I lost considerable time from my work, sometimes a few hours and sometimes two or three days.

Finally I went to the Winnipeg Hospital for a thorough examination and was told it was 'simply indigestion.' Certainly it was 'simply indigestion,' but I never had anything make me feel worse. I can sympathise with anyone who has 'simply indigestion.'

Well I dragged through the winter in about the same condition and got a little better in the summer, but in Oct., 1900, the same old pains came back and I concluded I must change my diet if I expected to get any comfort, so I quit drinking tea and meat on Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food.

I ordered these articles from the grocer and expected to have them for supper. I had felt so bad that day. Of course the grocer was late in delivering them, so I laid on the couch until they came and ate supper about seven p.m. After supper I did what I had not done for weeks before. I walked into the sitting room, lighted my pipe and read the evening paper and forgot I ever felt bad.

I wondered if the old pain would come back, but it never did, and right from the first I have improved. I have since worked constantly and hard and have not laid off once on account of ill health, and have not once suffered from indigestion since that first meal of Grape-Nuts and Postum.

This letter is the straight truth. It may be long, but I don't see how I could tell my experience in less space."—Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A booklet of excellent recipes is each package of Grape-Nuts.

Going Out Of Furnishings.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT AND SAVE MONEY

In order to give our rapidly increasing Tailoring business our undivided attention, we have decided to clear out our Furnishings. To do so quickly means a big sacrifice, which we are prepared to make. SPECIAL LINES AT HALF PRICE ALL FURNISHINGS AT COST AND UNDER.

H. E. BRADLEY & CO. HIGH CLASS TAILORS AND HABERDASHERS, 353 GEORGE STREET

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NOTE—The Times requests its readers to furnish the paper with items of a personal and social nature, either by 'phone or in writing.—[Ed. Times]

—Mr. P. M. Clarke, Adrian, Mich., is in town on a visit.

—Mr. Oscar Dumble left yesterday to spend a few days at Stony Lake.

—Miss Emma Scott, town, is the guest of Miss Jean Moore, Lindsay.

—Mr. Harry Beale intends attending the convention of the Sons of Scotland at Winnipeg.

—Miss Lulu Chambers, Manvers, is the guest of her sister, Miss Chambers, Water Street.

—Mrs. W. A. Blanchette and Miss Catherine Wallace are visiting friends in Ottawa.

—Mr. Wm. Coulter, of the Coulter House, Pontypool, spent yesterday in town.

—Miss Kate Hall accompanied by Miss Burns, went up to Stony Lake yesterday to spend a few weeks.

—Mrs. Robert Kerr, Rubidge street, has returned to town after spending a very pleasant visit with friends in Toronto and points west.

—Mrs. P. O. Stewart, Mrs. Geo. Rawling, Mrs. Jas. Palmer and Miss Annie Taylor, are sojourning at Lake Simcoe.

—Miss Daisy Comstock and Miss Maggie Davidson, are holidaying at "Dulce Domum," Stony Lake.

—Misses Alice and Phylus Dawson leave this morning to spend their vacation with friends in Port Hope and Cobourg.

—Miss Clara Bellingham is at present visiting her sister, Mrs. Walden, Picton.

—Last on Thursday last two young ladies from Auburn while cruising on Stony Lake. Some of their Peterboro friends, becoming alarmed, started out in search of them, which proved fruitless. The young ladies finally turned up safely at Young's Point, where they spent the night.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

—Merchants complain of a dull day's business yesterday.

—The steamers were all in port yesterday with passengers and freight.

—The guests at Viamede, Stony Lake, intend giving a large dance this evening.

—At Juniper Island, Stony Lake, Mr. Larry Bennett has booked thirty-eight 'lunge already this season.

—As the season is advancing we will sell the balance of our hammocks at greatly reduced prices. Times Bookstore.

—There will be no paper on Monday in order to give The Times' staff a holiday today.

—A number of young men intend wheeling to Sandy Point today to spend the holiday and Sunday with the Y. M. C. A. boys who are now camping their.

—Mr. Giles Stone, of Bethune street, who has been for many years foreman of the Dickson Co., has resigned his position to accept a responsible one with the Taylor Lumber Co.

—There was a very small attendance at the market yesterday, owing, no doubt, to the change of regular day and the farmers being busy harvesting.

—Rev. G. Yule, pastor of Springville and Bethany Presbyterian churches, will take both services tomorrow in St. Paul's. Rev. J. A. Wilson, B.A, of St. Paul's, will take Rev. Mr. Yule's work at Springville and Bethany.

—During the absence of the pastor, the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church will be occupied as follows:—On Sunday, Aug 10th and 17th Rev. J. E. Trotter, of St. Catharines, formerly pastor of the Murray street church, will occupy the pulpit; on Sundays August 24th and 31st Rev. T. Marshall, of Cobourg, will preach, and on September 7th, Rev. Tyndall Lorymer, of Parry Sound will conduct the Sunday services.

TO THE LUMBER CAMPS

About 1,000 Men Engaged for the Work—Scale of Wages This Year

Already men have been hired in Peterborough by the different lumber firms for work on the limits. Labor is scarce and considerable difficulty is encountered in securing the right class of men. Wages are about the same as last year with the exception of the schedule for square timber workers which is considerably higher. The present scale is as follows—General hands, $22 to $25 per month and board, teamsters, $26 to 27; log cutters, $27 to $28; timber scorers, $30 to $35; timber liners, $35 to $40; timber hewers, $45 to $50, and cooks, $45.

Square timber, of which there is some in this locality, is now in greater demand on the English market and is receiving more attention from the lumber lords of the Ottawa Valley and north shore. Competent men for this line of the work are scarce and the present season's increased requirements have had a tendency to advance wages.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, W. H. Robertson, at The Times Bookstore.

For Instance

How hard it is to get your flavor Tea! So with seed. But birds cannot voice a complaint when given food not suiting them. So be sure to get the best—COTTAMS. It's the only food packed by an experienced fancier.

BEWARE of [illegible] imitations. Be sure "BART COTTAM CO. LONDON" is on label. [illegible] COTTAM SEED [illegible] Three times the value of any other bird food. Sold everywhere. Read COTTAM'S BIRD BOOK, [illegible]

RUBBER STAMPS

B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS

SEALS, PRICE MARKERS

10 King St West, Toronto

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for The Mint, Ottawa," will be received at this office until Saturday, 23rd August, inclusively, for the construction of the Mint at Ottawa, Ont.

Plans and specification can be seen and form of tender obtained at this Department, at the office of Mr. Ph. Beland, Clerk of Works, Post Office, Quebec; at the office of Mr. C. Desjardins, Clerk of Works, Post Office, Montreal; and on application to Mr. H. A. Gray, Engineer in charge of Harbour and River Works for Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

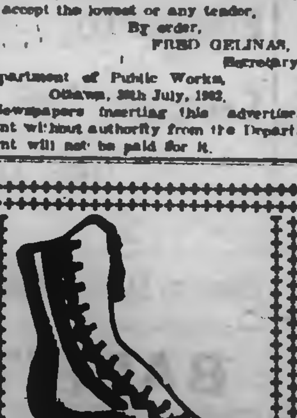
The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

FRED GELINAS, Secretary.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, 28th July, 1902.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.



BOOTS & SHOES -FOR- Summer Wear.

JOHN KYLIE

Has a splendid assortment of new and stylish-wear, suitable for the summer season.

A CALL SOLICITED

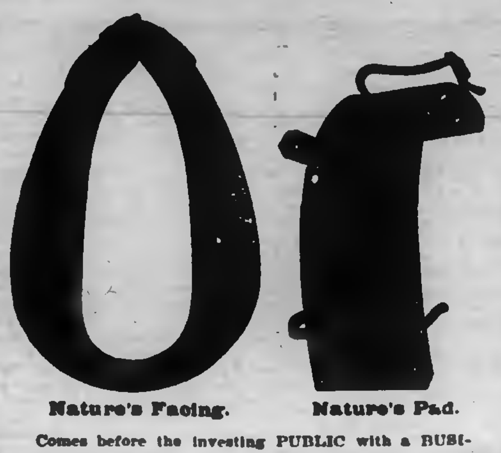
Remember the Place—Hunter Street, near the Bank of Toronto.

A FIRST-CLASS INVESTMENT.

30% Guaranteed for Five Years.

NATURE'S FACING FOR HORSE COLLARS.

THE AMERICAN INTERLACED HORSE COLLAR CO., OF PHILADELPHIA.



Nature's Facing. Nature's Pad.

Comes before the investing PUBLIC with a BUSINESS PROPOSITION OF UNUSUAL attractiveness. THE COMPANY'S special Claim lies in the ACKNOWLEDGED SUPERIORITY OF HORSE COLLARS, SADDLE PADS, and RIDING HOUSINGS, made with interlaced CURLED HORSE HAIR, which is fully protected by UNITED STATES LETTER PATENTS and other PATENTS now pending also in FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

One of the Company's specialties which has proven far superior to anything of the kind on the market is THE INTERLACED HORSE COLLAR, made of PURE CURLED HORSE HAIR. For years the great want felt by horsemen has been a collar that a horse could wear and be worked in that would keep his shoulders cool; also one that a horse with tender shoulders could wear in the heaviest kind of work without fear of galling. It is almost impossible for a horse to get galled or sore shoulders or sore neck, no matter how tender, when working with this collar, which can be washed with either hot or cold water without injury to it any way. The washing does not stiffen or harden it as it does a lined collar, being faced with the purest kind of curled horse hair. The hair comes in direct contact with the animal's skin, and the hair being porous, allows the healthy action of the skin and flesh. It at once absorbs the sweat, and in hot weather is invaluable, as it prevents the gathering of lather, as is the case with most cloth or leather-faced collars. These collars will outwear a cloth or leather-faced collar, as the hair is practically indestructible. These collars are no experiment. They have been in use for 1 1-2 years, and have proven their merits without the shadow of a doubt. Everyone who has used them can testify to their efficiency. They are admittedly the most common-sense horse collars in the world.

THIS COMPANY IS NOT TRYING TO CREATE, nor is it asking investors for THEIR MONEY to experiment with. We have gone through the experimental stage, and now have Our Articles as near perfection as they can be gotten. The material we are using in the Facings and Cushions of our Collars and Pads is not a New Article, but is the True and Tried Material, PURE CURLED HORSE HAIR, which has defied and has outlived all imitations.

It is the policy of THE AMERICAN INTERLACED HORSE COLLAR COMPANY to license or re-let the privilege of Facing Collars under their patents to the numerous harness and collar makers in the United States, of which there are over 25,000.

The profits from this source alone will undoubtedly be large, and in a very short time enable the Company to pay large dividends on its Stock. This will increase the value greatly, and will enable those who take advantage of this first-class offer to make well out of their investments.

The Company has already a complete factory in Bridgesburg, a section of the City of Philadelphia, equipped with the latest patterns of machinery for the manufacture of its products, free from all indebtedness.

As Our Articles of production are of the most stable kind, and to thoughtful people articles of necessity, therefore it is necessary that we bring the Articles before the People in general, and in order to do so, we offer to the PUBLIC A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THE TREASURY STOCK (ALL THE STOCK IS COMMON), THEREFORE ALL INVESTORS WILL SHARE EQUALLY AND FULLY OF THE COMPANY'S PROSPERITY.

In order that we may at once push the business forward, for we have an immense field before us, Free from Competition on articles of merit:—

We will sell 10,000 Shares of the Treasury Stock for One Dollar Per Share, after which the next 10,000 Shares will be sold at Two Dollars Per Share, and the third 10,000 Shares at Two Dollars and One-Half Per Share. After which the sale will be withdrawn and the price will be Five Dollars par.

So positive are the officers of this Company that this business will be a sure success, and yield large returns to the investors, that they will sell the above allotment of stock at the prices stated above, and will guarantee a dividend of Six Per Cent. per annum at the least on the par value of the stock for five years.

We will attach ten coupons to the certificates of stock, payable in January and July.

Thus paying 30 per cent., 15 per cent. and 12 1-2 per cent. on the investment, according to the allotment secured.

This is a reasonable offer, as large revenues will be derived from the re-letting system, which guarantees us to make the above offer.

Aside from this there will be large profits from the sale of the goods, and from the material furnished those who re-let the system.

The revenues from the business will be such as to make this a first-class investment.

Every dollar from the sale of this stock will go into the treasury of the Company, free from all expenses, and the Business will be conducted on a very conservative and economical basis.

This is not a Stock Speculation Scheme, but it is the intention of the Officers to Establish the Business on a Solid Basis.

After the Business has been extended in the U. S. it is the intention of the Company to extend its Articles at once to the Foreign Markets, from which will be Large Returns, and an immense Business Established.

All subscriptions for stock which shall be in the secretary's hands before the 15th day of August will receive a coupon due January 1st, thus paying six months' guaranteed interest.

Persons wanting to take advantage of this exceptional opportunity will have to do so at once, as all the allotments will be quickly taken up, and no stock can be bought on the market, as none can be had.

We call your attention to the fact that the 30 per cent. interest only applies to the first 10,000 shares, and as considerable of this has already been sold, the balance will shortly be taken, so in order to secure the same and be on the ground floor send your subscriptions at once.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS.

FROM A LEADING SADDLERY OF THE U.S.

Office of Buck and Mehlbach,
106 Chambers Street, New York,
Thursday, March 14, 1901.

American Interlaced Horse Collar Co., Philadelphia Pa.:

Gentlemen,—I have your letter of yesterday, wherein you ask me to send you whatever letters of recommendation or approval we may have received, treating on the interlaced hair saddle cloths, etc., since we have been handling them—now about one and one-half years.

Whatever letters there are of this kind I have not kept separately, and they are, therefore, mixed up with the rest of our filed letters. But, as I told you, my own testimony should be sufficient for intelligent people—for I appreciated the value of interlaced hair for the purpose of saddle cloths, etc., long before I knew you, and at first sight of the cloth—and I am about twenty-five years in the business—I have since, as you know, marketed a great many of them to riders all over this country—South America, Cuba, etc. As you know, we are dealing with the most intelligent people, and when a mining engineer, for instance, tells you: "I have now used so many of these hair cloths, and they keep my horse's back free from sores, while formerly I was constantly troubled with them," and then of his own volition orders another lot, that is good evidence in favor of the Interlaced Hair System—is it not? The Interlaced Hair does everything felt and other like materials do not do. It is elastic, it is cool, it does not pack, it can easily be cleansed, and keeps its shape. For harness pads it is surely as good as for saddle cloths, while applied in the manufacture of horse collars it is simply ideal; and I surely wish you plenty of success in your undertaking, for your article deserves it.

Very truly yours,
WM. C. C. MEHLBACH.

FROM HALPEN, GREEN & CO.

Wholesale Grocers, Nos. 18 S. Front St. and 17 Letitia St.
Philadelphia, December 28th, 1901.

The American Interlaced Horse Collar Co., Bridesburg, Pa.:

Gentlemen,—Referring to the collars which we bought of you something like six months ago, we desire to say that our stableman advises us that they are giving great satisfaction. Would recommend and advise horse owners to use them, especially for heavy hauling.

Yours, truly,
HALPEN, GREEN AND CO.

FROM A ROUGH RIDER.

Coatesville, Pa., December 18, 1900.

American Interlaced Horse Collar Co., Bridesburg, Pa.:

Dear Sirs,—In reply to your letter of the 15th instant, I have resigned my position with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, but I cannot speak too highly of the Interlaced Curled Hair Riding Housings. This is the first thing of the kind we ever used that would keep horses' backs from getting sore. The sample that was given us for the English Soldiers, they claim they never used anything in their cavalry to equal it, and the cowboys, the acknowledged horsemen of the world, claim it the best housings ever used under a saddle, as it absorbs all perspiration and moisture, so that the air can pass through to cool the backs.

I will refer your letter to the company at once, also will send you size wanted for cowboy saddle, as I wish one of your housings for my own use on the western ranges, which will enable me to introduce them, as I take a great interest in the welfare of horses.

Yours truly,
GEORGE BURCH,
Chief of Buffalo Bill's Congress of Rough Riders of the World.

FROM A CAVALRY LIEUTENANT

Camp Detachment, 2nd U. S. Cavalry,
Matanzas, Cuba, February 27th, 1900.

Gentlemen,—I have used your Interlaced Hair Saddle Cloth for sixteen months, and am now prepared to say something of its merits, but can find nothing to say to its detriment.

It is necessary in the cavalry service to save one's horse as much as possible, and particularly his back. Your saddle cloth keeps the horse's back cool, and keeps down the humps that will generally appear after a long, hot ride.

I have used it in Arizona, and during the recent war in Cuba, and am still using it; it has seen some hard service and stood it mighty well.

Yours,
S. M. KOCHERSPERGER,
Lieutenant 2nd Cavalry,

The Company is Incorporated under the Laws of the State of New Jersey. Authorized Capital, $500,000. Number of Shares to be issued, 100,000.

PAR VALUE, $5.00, FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE.

Make all checks payable to

A. J. GORDON, Treasurer, Frankford, Phila.

Write for prospectus.

Of the well-known firm of Gordon Bros., Philadelphia.

TENDERS

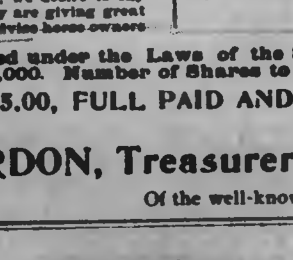
For Steam Heating Plant for Town Buildings, Peterborough

Tenders addressed "Jos. Batten Esq., Chairman of Property Committee" and endorsed "Tender for Steam Heating Plant" will be received at the office of the Town Clerk, up to 4 p.m. Saturday, August 16th, 1902, for the supply of Steam Boiler and Appurtenances thereto and labour in connection with installation of Heating Plant for Town Offices, Firemen's Rooms, Band Room, Hose Tower and Bath Room.

Specifications may be seen at the office of the Town Clerk.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

JOS. BATTEN.
Chairman Property Committee
Peterborough, August 9th, 1902.



The Underwood Typewriter

THE WORLD'S LEADING WRITING MACHINE

Every letter in full view of the operator. Most durable machine ever manufactured. Write for new Catalogue.

Creelman Bros.' Typewriter Co,
15 ADELAIDE EAST, TORONTO.

N.B.—We have on hand 15 absolutely new, latest model Hammond Typewriters, taken in part payment for Underwoods, and offer same for sale at $60.00.

RED ROSE TEA was used by our future King and Queen.

BEST ADVERTISING
MEDIUM
IN EASTERN ONTARIO

The Morning Times

ONLY
MORNING DAILY
BETWEEN
TORONTO & OTTAWA

VOL. 30 NO 182
PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO TUESDAY AUGUST 12 1902
PRICE TWO CENTS

GREAT BRITAIN GIVES NO CAUSE TO COMPLAIN

Italy Bound to Her by Ties which no Diplomatic Combination Can Disturb

Significance of Coronation Ceremony—Times Says It Was as Marked as in Olden Times—Heaven Guards Great Britain

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 12.—The Rome correspondent of the Times quotes an article in the Tribuna on the coronation of King Edward. The paper says that of all foreign states that have sway in Italy, Great Britain alone gives no cause for complaint. As the allies of the Bourbons, the British established in Sicily a tradition of friendship which is still unbroken, and throughout the Crimean war Great Britain was bound to Italy with bonds which no official combination could create. Diplomatic arrangements, says the Tribuna, will never divert the Italian sentiment of sincere cordiality, nor make Italy forget her duty towards Great Britain.

A despatch from Zurich says that King Edward's coronation was celebrated on Saturday night at the British Consulate, and the health of the King and Queen Alexandra was drunk out of a cup presented in the year 1560 by Queen Elizabeth to the head of the Zurich Protestant church.

The Greek press, says a despatch from Athens, recalls the long series of services rendered by Great Britain to Greece and extols the high qualities of the King, whose personal character, apart from his connection with the Greek dynasty endears him to the people of Greece. They sorrowed during his illness and rejoiced at his recovery, and now wish him a long and prosperous reign.

All Danish papers, says a Copenhagen correspondent, display the greatest enthusiasm regarding the coronation. They say that Saturday was a day of festivity for Denmark as well as Great Britain. Denmark is not only connected with England by royalties, but also by economic ties and ties of closest sympathy. King Christian on leavnig church where special service awas held said: "At this moment my son-in-law is being crowned. God bless him."

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 12.—In an editori to-day the Times says: "The significance of coronation ceremony on Saturday lay in its profound sincerity, as a solemn compact between the Sovereign and his subjects, ratified by oath, and blessed by the highest dig-nitaries of the national church. It was a covenant between a free people, accustomed for long centuries to be governed, according to statutes in Parliament agreed on, and their hereditary King, and a supplication from both to God that the King may be endowed with all princely virtues in the exercise of his great office. Though the details of the ceremony do not meant to us all they meant to our forefathers, the ceremony itself is a no less strong and enduring bond between the King and subjects. The most striking feature of the coronation was that it was the first to be attended by the statesmen of self-governing colonies, and by the feudatory princes of India. The Times says that liberty and loyalty are to-day as deeply rooted in the powerful communities of the Atlantic and Pacific as at home. The Mother Country and the colonies know now, as never before, that they are one people, with a common inheritance, a common mission, and a common duty. They are bound to defend the fabric of British policy and British civilization against all dangers, and that demands, no only old daring, but new foresight, new capacity, and prolonged and careful preparation. If these qualities are cultivated by the King, his counsellors and his people, the British nation may confidently trust that the promise of coronation will be amply fulfilled.

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 12.—"The Japanese journals" says the Times' correspondent at Tokio, "declare that Heaven evidently guards Great Britain, since the threatened calamity of King Edward's death has been speedily avoided.' These papers say that the development of England's greatness began with Queen Elizabeth; it reached its first climax in the reign of Queen Victoria, and it will assuredly reach a higher point under King Edward's sway. His reign has already been marked by three great events—first, the unification of the Epire, which covers a quarter of the habitably globe; second, the South African peace; and third, the British-Japanese alliance; which all Japanese pray may expand and endure.

FLEEING FROM PELEE

HOW THE MOUNTAIN LOOKED WHEN THE ERUPTION CAME

Mr. R. M. Johnston Describes the Horror to the Eye—The Magnificence of the Spectacle Beyond Description

Special to The Times,

The Times had the pleasure of a call yesterday from Mr. R. M. Johnston, who was on the island of Martinique in May last when the great eruption of Mount Pelee took place. He says that the scenes witnessed will never be forgotten by him.

He was engaged in packing his trunk when he was startled by three or four dull heavy explosions—boom! boom-boo-boom!—like the sound of cannonading at a distance of two or three miles. Another traveller shouted excitedly, "Le volcan! Le volcan!" and, springing from his seat, rushed out o doors, with all the rest of us at his heels. There were a lot of Mango trees just in front of the house, and we had to run twenty or thirty yards before we could see the volcano at all. When we got out into the open, it burst suddenly upon our startled eyes, and a more splendid, and at the same time terrifying object I had never seen nor imagined. The whole mountain, from base to summit, was ablaze with volcanic lightning and the air trembled with short, heavy, thunderous explosions, like the firing of thirteen inch guns from half a dozen battleships in action. Straight up from the crater clearly outlined against the starry sky rose a column of inky black vapor, a thousand feet in height, which looked like a shaft of solid ebony. Before I had time to breathe twice it had reached a height of two thousand feet; in thirty seconds it had grown three thousand feet more, without the slightest increase in width, and in less than two minutes it stood ten thousand feet above the crater and was still going up. In every part of this ascending column of black vapor there were bursting huge electric stars of volcanic lightning, which illuminated the whole mountain, while the accompanying roar of thunderous explosions sounded like a great naval battle at sea.

I was so absorbed in the magnificence of the spectacle that I had no consciousness of my situation, and I did not even notice what was going on about me until I heard Mr. Clere shout in English, "Gentlemen it is time to go! This is a dangerous place! We will go to the house of my good friend at Acier!"

It was some days before I got a chance to leave the place for St. Vincent, wher I embarked for New York."

Hay Fever Sufferers

You may escape this annoying disease by going to the Highlands of Ontario No Hay Fever can exist in the pure atmosphere of the Muskoka Lakes, Lake of Bays or Georgian Bay. The Grand Trunk have issued a pamphlet entitled "Hay Fever" which may be obtained at principal offices or by addressing J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

OATH OF ALLEGIANCE

JUDGE HERTZOG COUNSELS THE BOERS TO SHOW OBEDIENCE

A Warning Against Proposed Emigration to South America.

Special to The Times,

New York, Aug. 11—Judge Hertzog recently delivered an address to Boer prisoners on parole at Cape Town, in which, after referring to the peace terms, he said:-

"And now, what about the oath of allegiance? You will ask, Are we obliged to take it? It will hurt no one to take a formal oath. But it has been decided that the prisoners of war who are at present outside South Africa need only sign a declaration, and I thought that a similar declaration might also prove sufficient in this country. I therefore called on General Settle, base commander at Cape Town, who, however, told me that you will be required to take the oath. I know it cannot be pleasant to do so, for you cannot possibly do so from the bottom of your heart. However, I expect to see Lord Kitchener on Monday, when he comes to Cape Town, and I trust we shall settle that difficulty. I have just received a letter from his lordship. Some one has come here from South America with splendid offers for you to go and settle over there. Brethren, I wish to warn you against them. The war has not given us what we expected; that is, unfortunately, too true, but let us bear our misfortunes like men. The struggle in the field has come to an end, but another struggle awaits you. You and I, we have fought like men, and it would be cowardly now to run away. We have forced respect from our enemy, who was far stronger than we, as well as from the whole world. Continue to make yourselves worthy of that respect. Stand shoulder to shoulder. The boundaries of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State have been removed; there are other boundaries now. We now have a task before us far greater than we had in the field. Fighting in the field is easy; there you are led on by your passions. But it is much more difficult to fight an enemy who has become a friend, and to be careful not to exceed the bounds of friendship. Our nation must remain here and prosper. We, the leaders of the war, have decided to remain here and to do our utmost for the progress of the country. South Africa must belong to the Afrikanders. Our friends in Europe will not regret the sympathy they have shown us. You stand in the presence of an accomplished fact. Submit as subjects to the King; show him due obedience, and beyond that we remain as we are. Living by the side of our new friends, we will endeavor to strive forward by ourselves. But let me beg of you not, because you are disheartened now, to leave the country. A great deal of work is waiting to be accomplished. In times when hard pressed and when things looked very black I have often been comforted by the words of Shakespeare, 'To thine ownself be true.' Fight for your rights like brave men. I know full well that your hearts are sore because of that oath. I was free and I would not have taken that oath, but in your case, where it is indispensable, remember that your duty to your country is greater than your duty to yourself."

The correspondent adds. In Natal while there is much satisfaction felt at the annexation by the British government of those parts of the Transvaal east of the Drakensberg mountains to that colony the terms are severely criticised. A Natal letter states that one of the conditions is that Natal will assume a large share of the cost of the war which it is estimated will amount to about $150 an acre of the area annexed, and be a serious burden on the resources of the colony.

Another matter which is causing concern to the new government of South Africa is the rapid conversion of the natives to Mohammedanism. A correspondent writes that this in great part arises from the war, which was taken advantage of by numbers of native proselytisers from other parts of Africa, as well as from Asia and he further says that at the present rate another fifteen, or at most twenty, years will see native South Africa an integral part of Islam, banded in the brotherhood of common faith. This he regards as a great danger, and one that can only be met by the cordial co-operation of all the white races in South Africa.

MAGIC WORDS OF THE MAGIC WEST

Wonderful Boom in North West Farming Lands

THE ANERICAN INVASION

Canadian Lands is His Slogan, and He Comes with Money

Fully 40,000 Americans will Take Up Land This Year - What Winnipeg Hotels Show

Special to The Times,

Winnipeg, Man., Aug., Aug 11. — Less that six years ago the magic words that stirred to their depths thousands of Americans who came to Canada after the elusive dollar were "Klondike and Gold." Now to all appearances another set of words influence perhaps even a larger number of Uncle Sam's children than staked their all in the mad rush to the northern gold fields.

They are "The Canadian West and Lands."

An official estimate made by Dominion immigration agents in Canada and the United States is to the effect that fully 40,000 Americans will take up land in Manitoba and the Northwest this year. It requires only a brief tour of the Winnipeg hotels to convince a skeptic that this statement is by no means optimistic. This week every hotel in the city has had as guests at least one group of land seekers, and the talk in every rotunda and reading room had some reference to the agricultural possibilities of the "Wondrous West," the price of land, or the crop prospects.

WHAT THE HOTELS SHOW.

A reporter for The Times visited many of the city hotels to ascertain if possible the number of land seekers here from various points in the United States. The result of the inquiry was surprising. In the north end hotels in particular it was found that the majority of the guests were men who are here to look over the country with a view of purchasing land, either for the purpose of speculation or for settling on it.

At the Brunswick hotel alone for instance, there were half a dozen Iowans, who, it is understood, will not go south until they are owners of a large section of land in Canada. In the other north end hotels there were equally large parties, and at the south end hotels were to be found men whose investments in Northwest land will involve thousands of dollars.

One observant hotel clerk in the north end, who has closely watched what he terms the "land boom" said: "It beats everything I ever saw, and I have been in the hotel business for years. Since spring we have had as guests hundreds of land hunters from the other side. They usually remain with us a day or two and then make a trip of inspection over the country. The latest arrivals tell us the disastrous hail and rain storms which occur with alarming frequency in the south, will drive hundreds of Dakota and Minnesota farmers to Manitoba and the Territories next year. While we have had perfect weather for the crops the Americans say they have more than once been visited this summer by storms which have in many cases completely ruined their crops.

"What do the land seekers do when they arrive in Winnipeg? Well, it is surprising how quickly the strangers get on to the various sources of information regarding the country. They are not a bit backward about asking questions, and even take advantage of the information so willingly offered them by local real estate agents who are anxious to make a sale.

WAYS OF THE LAND SEEKER.

"After registering at the hotel, the land seekers visit the provincial and Dominion immigration offices, talk with the officials, and come back loaded down with literature, and with apparently more knowledge of this western country than I, who have been here for ten years, possess.

"Oh! they'll make good citizens all right. They have the money, usually, with which to buy good land, and the push and energy to make the most of it when they settle.

It will be some weeks, or, perhaps months, before a complete official estimate can be made of the number of Americans who are settling in the Canadian west this year, but that it will not fall much, if any, short of the estimate of two months ago, made by Benjamin Davis, the Dominion agent of St. Paul, who looked for 40,000, is generally believed in immigration circles here.

WOMEN MAY GOVERN KANSAS

Both Parties Giving Offices to Fair Sex in Kansas

Special to The Times,

Washington, Aug. 11.—There is a prospect that women may practically govern Kansas next year. County conventions of both parties are putting many of the fair sex on their tickets. Heretofore only the office of school superintendent has been given to women. This year women have been named for county clerk and register of deeds and recently Morris county Republicans nominated Miss Kate Deering for treasurer. Her three unsuccessful men rivals immediately offered to sign her bond for $200,000.

STRUCK DEAD ON HIS PORCH

Van Orden Laughed at Mother's Request to Come in Out of the Storm

Special to The Times,

Paterson, Aug. 11.—William Van Orden was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning as he stood on the piazza of Crystal Lake yesterday during the storm. His mother had urged him to come into the house but he had laughed at her fears. At first the lightning did not appear to be near, but the whole village was alarmed by one tremendous crash of thunder which seemed to explode in the heart of the place.

Mrs. Van Orden was thrown to the floor in her kitchen and lay for some time unconscious. When she recovered she ran to the piazza and there saw her son prostrate by the side of a chair. His clothing was in flames. She got water and extinguished the flames, but the young man was dead. The upper part of his body was charred.

His shoes had been torn from his feet and the seams in his trousers were ripped from top to bottom as neatly as if done by a tailor. A doctor was sent for, and he declared that

The Day of Miracles not Past

A Toronto "Star" reporter investigated the case of Mr. Geo. Warner and found that after thirteen years of almost total deafness, he had been cured by inhaling Catarrhozone.

This proves that where Catarrhozone treatment is employed, impaired hearing and deafness can be cured. Catarrhozone always brings quick relief and is warranted to give lasting satisfaction. All sufferers from impaired Hearing, Deafness, Head Noises and Ringing in the Ears are advised to inhale Catarrhozone and derive the great benefit it is capable of affording. Price $1.00, small size 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

Jumped Into a Smokestack

Springfield, O., Aug. 11. — Owen Greenlish, a Leavenworth man, tiring of the humdrum existence of Kansas life, decided on a novel method of suicide. Climbing on top of a water tank located between Lebanon and Springfield, Mo., he awaited the coming of the westbound St. Louis and San Francisco express. Just as the locomotive was nearly opposite the tank he gave a whoop and dived into the funnel of the engine. He was pulled out by the trainmen, terribly charred and burned. The body was sent to Leavenworth for burial.

CABA RUNNING IN DEBT

LOAN WHICH SEEMS TO VIOLATE PLATT AMENDMENT

Insular House Authorizes $35,000,000 Bond Issue—Probability That the New Republic's Expenses Already Exceeded Its Income

Special to The Times.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The following despatch from H. G. Squiers, United States Minister to Cuba, dated at Havanna, was received at the State Department to-day:

The House passed bill authorizing loan of $35,000,000; minimum issue 90 per cent.; maximum interest 5 per cent., redeemable in forty years.

The action of the Cuban House, the lower body of the Insular Congress, presents a serious question, which may call for the interference of the United States Government. Under the Platt amendment embodied in the Cuban Constitution, Cuba was pledged not to contract debts that she could not pay out of the ordinary revenues of the island, and it is believed here that the action of the House was in violation of this provision.

It is estimated that the annual revenue of Cuba will not exceed $14,000,000 and that the expenses of the Government will be greater than that amount, thus causing a deficit. The estimate is based on the revenues collected under the American military administration. Since the island was turned over to the Cubans, statements of receipts and expenditures have not been issued, a fact that is causing adverse comment in official circles in Washington. There is no other basis for estimating than the statements issued by the military Government. According to well-informed men here, there is no reason to believe that the receipts are less than they were when American officers were in charge of the island's fiscal affairs.

The feature of the Platt amendment applicable to the loan question seems to cover that matter specifically. It read: "That said Government shall not assume or contract any public debt, to pay the interest upon which, and to make reasonable sinking fund provision for the ultimate discharge of which the ordinary revenues of the island, after defraying the current expenses, shall be inadequate."

The annual interest on $35,000,000 at 5 per cent. will be $1,750,000. Even if the receipts should equal the expenditures, there is no possibility at present of a surplus amounting to the interest and enough "to make reasonable sinking fund provision."

The bill passed by the House is regarded, therefore, as clearly unconstitutional and as inviting a protest from the United States. It cannot become a law until it has passed the higher body and been approved by the President of the Republic, but the the fact that it has been put through one branch of the Legislature is regarded as sufficient cause for concern on the part of the Washington administration. Minister Squiers showed by telegraphing the news of the House's action that he considered it a matter of immediate consequence.

In his reports to the State Department Mr. Squiers has represented the financial affairs of the island as in a bad way.

STILL FIGHTING IN COLOMBIA

Insurgents Seige of Agua Dulce Has Lasted a Week

Special to The Times,

Colon, Aug. 11.—Reports reach here to the effect that the fighting at Agua Dulce between the insurgents and government troops, which began on Tuesday last continues. There have been heavy losses on both sides, but he insurgents' losses are the heavier the Government forces being entrenched.

The attacks are principally made at night. The insurgents have been repulsed three times. They asked for and received an armistice, during which they buried their dead. The troops engaged are from the Departments of Santander and Cauca and are under command of Gen. Morales Berti.

The peace commission from Panama arrived too late to be of any use, the fighting have already begun when hey reached Agua Dulce. The result f the struggle is anxiously awaited.

KITCHENER'S SUCCESS.

Characteristic of the Man of Iron Who Closed the War

HE LIVED UP TO A MOTTO

"Whatever You Do, Do Well," was His Constant Watchward

His Career in Egypt and in the Soudan—He Is Diplomatic and Courteous—The General's Pets.

London, Aug. 11.—Lord Kitchener is once more the hero of the moment. He has been over two and a half years in South Africa. Lord Roberts left London for the Cape on December 23, 1899, Lord Kitchener joining him as Chief of the staff at Gibraltar. The telegram from Lord Roberts reached him on Sunday and next morning he commenced what proved to be a record journey. Within a year he was in full command in South Africa, Lord Roberts having made over the duties to him on November 29, 1900. Since that date he has increased his reputation enormously, even in quarters where regard for him was not particularly strong.

Lord Kitchener's motto is "Thorough" and no one can say that he ever fails to live up to it. On his arms he quarters the Union Jack and a Turkish flag, these are encircled by a red mural crown inscribed "Khartum." Aspall Hall which Lord Kitchener incorporated in his title, is one of the finest old granges remaining in the eastern counties. It is a two-story building, moated in the old style and has a long family record attaching to it on the Sirdar's mother's side. Her family came into possession of it just [illegible] years ago. Before that it was the residence of the famous Cobham family from the time of that Lady Cobham, whose husband Sir John Oldcastle was burnt as a Lollard in Henry V.'s days.

Like the late Mr. Cecil Rhodes, rumor has it that Lord Kitchener is something of a woman-hater. Certainly no one has ever linked his name with any fair lady. And yet he comes of a marrying race. His father was twice married, and so was his grandfather. His brothers also have taken wives to themselves, but he remains single. Stories of a disappointment have been invented by the sentimental to account for his celibacy, none of which, perhaps, are very near the truth. Napoleon once said of himself that "not the fairest women of the world could combine to make him sacrifice one hour of the work he has at heart," and the same may be said of Lord Kitchener.

"My Friend Kitchener," was the subject of a pathetic reference in Gordon's journal under the date of November 5, 1884. The relief expidition was then being organized by Lord Wolseley, and the intelligence staff was trying to send messages to Khartum. "A curious thing has happened," wrote Gen. Gordon on the date mentioned. "My friend Kitchener sent up the post; he wrapped the letters in some old newspapers (he gave me no news in his letter); the old newspapers were thrown out in the garden, there a clerk, who knew some English, found them blowing about, and gave them to the apothecary of the hospital, who knows English. The doctor found him reading them, saw date September 15, and secured them for me." Fourteen years later my friend Kitchener carried, not news, but a victorious army, to the city where the heroic Gordon sacrificed his life so bravely.

AS A DIPLOMAT.

Lord Cromer once said that Kitchener would make an excellent Chancellor of the Exchequer. The cheapness of his victories in Egypt surprised the gentlemen who had to deal out the hard cash. "He is a splendid diplomatist," said Lord Salisbury. This latter characteristic was clearly enough shown in his treatment of the French at Fashoda. A less careful man might have done and said many things to Major Marchand which might have been the cause of serious trouble. "I congratulate you on all you have accomplished," was the greeting given to the explorer by Lord Kitchener, who quietly assumed British rights, the sensible thing, under the circumstances, to do.

When Lord Kitchener was returning to England in 1899, he was very anxious to arrive in time to hear the House of Commons debate on the Soudan. He was on the point of embarking at Alexandria, but at that time in quarantine, when driving to the quay he heard that three cases of disease had broken out in the town. His companions said "All right. It is not in quarantine." "It will be," rejoined Lord Kitchener; and forthwith he turned the cab about, travelled to Port Said, and took a steamer to Fiume. Even there some difficulties were made but, finding a menagerie on its way in the same boat, a gift from the Mikado to the Emperor of Austria, Lord Kitchener represented that the animals would die if kept back, prevailed, and went on; he attended the races at Vienna, and arrived in London in excellent time.

After a short time in England the Sirdar, as he then was, left England for the Soudan in August, 1899. A crowd gathered around him soon after he arrived on the platform at Victoria half an hour before the departure of the train. While he stood talking with Col. Kitchener, Col. Hamilton, and Sir William Garstin (Director of Public Works in England), an American lady said to those around her:—"I'm just longing to shake hands with your greatest general. You think a lot of our Dewey; we think a lot of your Sirdar." A few minutes later she walked up to Lord Kitchener and held out her hand; the Sirdar courteously shook hands, and they exchanged a "Good-bye." "I shall remember that handshake all my life," said the American lady, as she retired into the crowd, and no doubt she will.

THE GENERAL'S PETS.

One would not think it, but Lord Kitchener has a particularly soft spot for pets. A correspondent of the Navy and Army tells that a few months ago he possessed a tame starling, which he always had near him. One day an idea struck him. It seemed that the pet was in poor spirits. Lord Kitchener conceived the idea that the bird was lonely —that it required a mate. In a moment the whole of the headquarters was in a ferment. Imperial interests were of a secondary consideration. Staff officers who had not a moment to call their own were out hunting through Pretoria for a mate for the pet of the chief, who had steadfastly refused to allow any of his married officers to be joined by their mates while in Pretoria. Let us hope a bird was found.

Col. Morgan, the Director of Supplies, is credited by our contemporary with having scored off the Chief in connection with this same bird. Lord Kitchener felt that his starling was living in too confined a space. He therefore sent for a local carpenter and ordered a larger cage to be built. In due course a rough structure in pine and wire netting arrived, and with it a bill for £2. Lord Kitchener was greatly agitated by this bill, and as Col. Morgan, who had just completed a contract with the local undertakers for the supply of coffins to the hospital, walking into the office, he was asked to appraise the value of the cage. "Fifteen shillings at the outside," was the estimate. "I told you so," said the delighted Kitchener," and the man has the impertinence to demand £2." Then came the Colonel's chance. "Absolutely absurd, sir; why, they would be glad to make your coffin for £2."

KING EDWARD BORE THE CORONATION WELL

His Majesty Feels no Ill Effects of Severe Strain ---After the Ceremony

His Majesty Swears in the Newly Appointed Members of the Cabinet —Held a Privy Council To-Day

Special to The Times.

London, Aug. 12.—King Edward held a Privy Council today at Buckingham palace, at which the newly-appointed Ministers were sworn in. Later he officiated at an investure of the Victorian Order.

London, Aug. 12.—The festivities in London were continued on Sunday. There were considerable crowds almost all day viewing the decorations and watching the flow of notable personages to and from the various thanksgiving services. In the evening the Canadian arch, which, as an exceptional novelty for Sunday, was brilliantly illuminated was a great center of attraction, and served to bring an immense concourse of people into its neighborhood.

THE KING STOOD IT WELL.

The following bulletin was issued at 9.30 on Sunday morning:

His Majesty bore the strain of the Coronation ceremony perfectly well, and experienced but little fatigue. The King had a good night, and his condition is in every way satisfactory. No further bulletins will be issued.

(Signed) TREVES, LAKING.

THE SUNDAY SERVICE.

After the posting of the bulletin there was still some doubt as to whether His Majesty would drive out, but the small crowd which remained at Buckingham Palace, hopeful to see the Sovereign, was finally rewarded by the appearance of the King and Queen. Their Majesties were accompanied by Princess Victoria, Prince Charles of Denmark, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, and the Crown Prince of Denmark. The procession drove along the Mall to the Chapel Royal at St. James' Palace without receiving any notable demonstration from the people.

Tickets to the Chapel Royal had been sparingly granted. The choir boys who took part in the service were clad in quaint gowns of crimson and gold lace. The service was very simple, and there was no sermon, special prayers for the occasion, however, were read. The service lasted about one hour, and was brought to a close by the congregation, still upon its knees singing slowly and softly the first verse of the National Anthem.

SERVICE IN ST. PAUL'S

The most interesting of all the services was that held at St. Paul's Cathedral. This was essentially a people's service, and presented a strong contrast to the sad service of supplication held there in June on the day the coronation should have taken place. The public was freely admitted to the cathedral, and the great edifice was crowded with people in every corner. The Lord Mayor of London, Sir Joseph Dimsdale, and the corporation of the city attended in state, and in the choir were seated Princess Henry of Battenburg, the Duchess of Fife, and the Duchess of Albany, with the Royal children, a large number of diplomats, as well as the Earl of Dudley, Lord Rosebery, the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, and a large number of prominent colonial visitors and others. The scene was specially impressive, when at the close of the service the vast gathering joined in singing the National Anthem.

THE QUEEN'S RETINUE.

The most beautiful and artistic feature of the King's procession was the Queen's retinue. Her dress was of unexemplified magnificence and the perfection of taste. It was of cloth of gold, veiled with ivory white tulle and ornamented with gold embroideries, and over it was a robe and train of velvet, lined with ermine. The tulle overdress was embroidered with roses, thistles and shamrocks, and there was a high collar of old lace, edged with gold. The underdress was a most most beautiful example of Indian embroidery from Delhi. The train was borne by the Duchess of Buccleuch, and eight bearers and pages, and the Queen was supported by two bishops, and followed by eight ladies of the bed-chamber and maids of honor, in white dresses, with embroideries of gold and trains of cloth of gold. Two maids of honor were in silver, with trains of silver.

ASK ANY WOMAN WHO HAS USED

Malt Breakfast Food

She Will Tell You That its Deliciousness and Virtues are Appreciated by Every Member of Her Family

IT MAINTAINS THE HEALTH OF YOUNG AND OLD

Ask any woman who has used Malt Breakfast Food in her home how she and her family like it, and she will tell you that no other cereal breakfast food has ever given such genuine and satisfactory health results. It meets the needs and conditions of old and young. If there is a dyspeptic in the family, the use of Malt Breakfast Food will banish the enemy dyspepsia and restore perfect digestive vigor. Its deliciousness and energizing virtues are known to millions. Grocers everywhere.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL

AND SUMMER RESORT

RICE LAKE, ONT.

The Liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

How to Beautify the Complexion

To have a soft, smooth skin, free from eruptions and pimples, the blood must be healthy and pure. Ferrozone invigorates enfeebled blood and cleanses it of all impurities and poisons; it brings color to the lips and cheeks, brilliancy to the eyes, whitens the teeth and sweetens the breath. No tonic compares with Ferrozone in rapid action and permanent results. Try it. Price 50c. at Druggists.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure Headache.

A Good Quarter Dollar's Worth

Is contained in a bottle of Polson's Nerviline, which cures rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, toothache, headache, cramps, sick stomach and indigestion. Mothers find Nerviline a first class liniment for children's sore throat, hoarseness, cold in the chest, and taken in hot water before retiring is a splendid remedy for colds. Don't be without Nerviline; it is the most economical, potent and reliable household liniment made, and costs only 25c.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills cure constipation.

Apprentice Wanted

We have an opening in our press room for a steady lad to learn printing. This is a good chance for a reliable youth to acquire a first class trade. Apply, to W. H. Robertson, at the Times Bookstore.

—As the season is advancing we will sell the balance of our hammocks at greatly reduced prices. Times Bookstore.

WEATHER NOTES.

Fair and warmer.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.

T. H. G. Denne, Esq., Mayor.
S. R. Armstrong, Clerk.
Felix Brownscombe, Treasurer.
D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate.
Geo. I. Rossel, Chief of Police.
T. A. S. Hay, C.E., Town Engineer.
W. J. Green, Tax Collector.
Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.
W. F. Miller, Relief Officer.
Thos. Rutherford, Chief of the Fire Department.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
President—Mrs. J. J. McBain.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Jas. Kendrey.
2nd Vice President—Mr. A. C. Dunlop.
Secretary—Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Treasurer—Mr. Peter Campbell.
Agent and Assistant Secretary—Mr Geo Cochrane.
Solicitors—Mr. E. B. Edwards and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.
Advisory Board—The President, Secretary and Agent.
Representative on Charity Board—Mr. J. J. McBain.
Board of Management—Mesdames Bock, Misses M. Dickson and Gow; Mr. A. L. Davis, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. D. O. Bramley, Dr. G. Burnham, Mr. J. H. Dennistoun, O'Sullivan, McGill, Garvin, R. A. Peck, Wardo, Davis, and Birdsall Burnham, Mr. P. Campbell, and Mr. W. J. Bamford.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

Canadian Pacific

East	Arrive	Depart
Norwood, Havelock, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Portland, Boston ...	6.10 a.m.	12.25 a.m.
West
[Ot]tawa, Montreal... ...	5.10 p.m	11.25 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Norwood, Havelock, Ot. Havelock	7.12 a.m.	7.25 p.m.
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	11.25 a.m.	5 10 a.m.
Toronto & intermediate...	7.20 p.m.	9 12 a.m
Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago	12.25 a.m.	5.10 p.m
Toronto, North Bay, Port Arthur, North West...	11.25 a.m.	5 10 p.m

Grand Trunk

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Midland, North Bay, Toronto	11.40 a.m.	8.25 a.m.
London, Detroit, Chicago	5 00 p.m.	6.25 p.m
Port Hope, Rochester, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Montreal, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Toronto and west	5.25 p.m.	11.40 a.m
Port Hope, Cobourg, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal	8.20 a.m.	3.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc	8.10 a.m.	2.25 p.m.
Belleville, Napanee, Kingston, Montreal	2.25 p.m.	1.05 p.m
Lakefield local	9.40 a.m.	1.20 a.m
Lakefield local	3.20 p.m.	12.25 p.m.
Lakefield local	6.30 p.m.	5.40 p.m.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing material.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 10 per month, and to outside points at $2 per year strictly in advance.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 12, 1902.

THE REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS

It is announced from Rome that the Czar of Russia is again endeavoring to reach an international understanding to secure a reduction of armaments, and that the subject will be taken up during the coming visit of King Victor Emmanuel to Emperor William. It is asserted that the reason named here concluded the immense military establishments maintained for possible European collisions should be reduced, the saving to be devoted to the development of commerce and domestic industry. Russia proposed at the Hague Conference an international agreement providing for the maintenance of the military budgets at their then existing figures for a term of five years, and fixing the strength of the armies of all the Powers for time of peace, not including the colonial forces. Russia also proposed that the naval budgets should not be increased for three years. The great military and naval powers were unwilling to subject themselves to these limitations, and the Commission to whom the subject was referred reports that the elements of defence, as organized in each country, according to differing needs, could not be regulated by international action. The finding was accompanied, however, by the statement that the removal or restriction of the military burdens now resting on the world is greatly to be desired "for the material and moral welfare of humanity."

The German position at the Hague Conference was that the army has made the country powerful and prosperous; that its military service is not burdensome; that it is an excellent school for the development of the national character, aside from its offensive and defensive value.

All the militant European Powers spend very much more for the defence of the state than for any other purpose. Russia spends nearly 29 per cent. of her tota. expenditure for defence, 2 per cent. for transportation and commerce and less than 1 per cent. for industrial undertakings. Italy must make heavy military outlays to maintain her position in the Triple Alliance. She pays nearly 16 per cent. of her total expenditure for defence, about 6 per cent. for transportation and less than 1 per cent for industrial undertakings. Of the Prussian expenditure nearly 12 per cent is for defence, 5 per cent. for transportation and nearly 2 per cent. for industry. Were the armaments of Europe materially reduced and the gain devoted to the encouragement of commerce and industry, the social and industrial conditions in some of the countries would be transformed; but the Czar's project is probably far from realization.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hawkesbury, the thriving town on the Ottawa, sixty miles down, voted recently to expend $172,000 in public works,— $100,000 for waterworks, $52,000 for sewerage, and $20,000 for street paving. This is a vigorous reminder that Hawkesbury has a growing time. The population, now 4,200, has more than doubled since the census of 1891.

Twenty thousand men wanted in Manitoba and the Northwest to help gather the harvest. One hundred and sixty acres of fertile land free to any man who wants to stay up there and collect harvests for himself.

The shifting of the locomotive cab from the rear to the extreme front of the engine has long been thought of. The "camel-back" was a step in this direction, and now an oil-burning locomotive built after the designs of a Pacific coast engineer has the cab in front. It is called a rational plan, because the outlook along the track for both the engineer and firemen is the best that can be devised, the entire width of the track up to a few feet ahead of the engine being in constant view.

What is believed to be the longest word in the English language occurs in a publication just put out by the U. S. Census Bureau, containing a digest of the most important patents granted on chemical compounds. Hydrotriamidodimethylphenylacridine, under certain treatment produces a greenish-yellow color when applied to cotton. This is the way it comes about:— It is an amidobenzoflavine produced by transforming the nitrotetraamidoditolylphenylmethan of amidoditolylphenylmethan into pentaamidoditolylphenylmethan.

—At Juniper Island, Stony Lake, Mr. Larry Bennett has booked thirty-eight 'lunge already this season.

—As the season is advancing we will sell the balance of our hammocks at greatly reduced prices. Times Bookstore.

—Mr. Giles Stone, of Bethune street, who has been for many years foreman of the Dickson Co., has resigned his position to accept a responsible one with the Taylor Lumber Co.

—Lost on Thursday last two young ladies from Auburn, while cruising on Stony Lake. Some of their Peterboro friends, becoming alarmed, started out in search of them, which proved fruitless. The young ladies finally turned up safely at Young's Point, where they spent the night.

Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell, Hon. Pres. Peterborough Cricket Club, has purchased a $600 yacht. She is a thirty-footer with dingy, and has ample cabin quarters, but was built for racing. Mr. Culverwell is looking for anyone on these lakes who is looking for trouble, as he thinks he has secured something that can blanket anything on these waters.

WANTED

Wanted —A lad to go to Webwood to assist baker. Apply to Wm. Irwin Box 528, Peterborough.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for The Mint, Ottawa," will be received at this office until Saturday, 23rd August, inclusively, for the construction of the Mint at Ottawa, Ont.

Plans and specification can be seen and form of tender obtained at this Department, at the office of Mr. Ph. Boland, Clerk of Works, Post Office, Quebec; at the office of Mr. C. Desjardins, Clerk of Works, Post Office, Montreal; and on application to Mr. H. A. Gray, Engineer in charge of Harbour and River Works for Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED GELINAS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, 28th July, 1902.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

JUBILEE POINT HOTEL
AND SUMMER RESORT
RICE LAKE, ONT.

The liberal patronage bestowed on this popular resort in the past makes the future very promising.

JUBILEE POINT, 20 miles down the Otonabee river, is a beautiful and picturesque spot. The hotel is surrounded by a splendid park, on which is a splendid lawn, tennis court, golf links and ball grounds.

Finest bass and maskinonge fishing in Canada. In the fall the duck shooting on Rice Lake is great sport.

Terms, $1.00 to $1.50 per day, according to duration of engagement. Special rates for families. Meals to transit guests, 25 cents. Apply to DAN. FOLEY, Jubilee Point, Peterborough P.O.

Help Wanted.

WANTED—CARPENTERS, APPLY TO the Canadian General Electric Company Peterboro

APPRENTICE WANTED to learn the printing business. Apply at this office.

GOOD COOK and Dining Room Girl Wanted for Jubilee Point Hotel. Wages from $8 to $20. Apply to D. FOLEY, care H Calcutt Peterborough.

Boarding

LADIES DESIRING A COMFORTABLE home at reasonable rates can be accommodated at the Y. W. C. A. Boarding Home on Brock St.

Childrens' Aid Society

CHILDRENS' AID SOCIETY Peterborough for the care of neglected and ill treated children. Incorporated by Act of Legislature 1893. Information requested. Informants names kept strictly private. Office hours 10 to 12 a.m., 4 to 5 p.m. George Cochrane, agent and assistant secretary. Office Division Court buildings.

For Sale

PLEASURE YACHTS FOR SALE—THE UNdersigned has for sale three first class pleasure yachts, from 18 to 30 feet in length, all in first class order. Apply at Times Office to R. J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

STEAMER FOR SALE. THE STEAMER Beaver is compact and serviceable steam launch, 35 feet long, 12 feet beam. Would make a splendid private pleasure launch. Fastest boat on inland lakes. Licensed to carry passengers. Will be sold at a good bargain. For full particulars apply to Capt. Harris Gores Landing, or at the Times Office to R. J. Kidd, Commission Merchant, Peterborough

Legal

POUSSETTE & McWILLIAMS, BARRISters and Solicitors, 322 Water Street. Money to lend at lowest current rates. A. P. Poussette, K.C., R. F. McWilliams, LL.B.

DENNISTOUN PECK & STEVENSON Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office 417 Water Street. Money to lend. E. A. Peck R. M. Dennistoun, A. Stevenson.

HATTON & BRADBURN, BARRISTERS, Solicitors, Notaries Public. G. W. Hatton C. R. Bradburn, B.A.

Miscellaneous

LADIES Use our harmless remedy for delayed or suppressed periods; it cannot fail. Trial free. PARIS CHEMICAL Co. Milwaukee, Wis.

AGENTS—Do you want a good job, in which by working six or eight hours a day you can make big wages? By big wages we mean $20 to $30 a day; you can do it with our automatic copying book. Mayo & Co., Room 711 44 and 46 Broadway, New York.

FRY, 204 Park Place—Painting, Interior Painting, Papering and Graining of all kinds and descriptions at very moderate prices. Geo. A. FRY 204 Park place

ENGINEERS, FIREMEN, MACHINISTS & electricians, new 48 page pamphlet containing questions asked by Examining Board of Engineers. Sent free. GEO. A. ZELLER, Publisher, St. Louis.

EXTENSION LADDERS AND EXTENsion step ladders, the best on earth for fruit picking, stacking and all farm uses. Illustrated catalogue free. THE WAGGONER LADDER COMPANY, Limited, London, Ont.

STORES TO LET. The Commissioners of the Town Trust have the following stores to let:

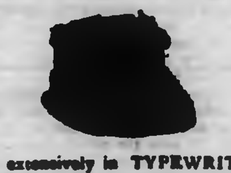
No. 384 George St., now occupied by Henry Best

No. 22 corner George and Charlotte Sts., formerly occupied by Canadian Pacific Railway Co's ticket office

Apply to the Secretary Commissioners Town Trust.

RUBBER STAMPS
B. CAIRNS RUBBER STAMPS
SEALS, PRICE MARKERS
10 King St West, Toronto

TYPEWRITERS



I deal extensively in TYPEWRITERS. Now have a large stock of excellent machines of the various makes. Write to me, stating what you would like, and I will mail you printed matter with very favorable quotations. Some SPECIAL Bargains. Business established 1888.

Address A. E. Wilbur's Typewriter Works, 8 Rue St., Binghamton, N.Y.

INCORPORATED 1886. TORONTO Hon. G. A. Cox, PRESIDENT.
CONSERVATORY
OF MUSIC
COLLEGE STREET.
Dr. Edward Fisher, Musical Director
Affiliated with Toronto and Trinity Universities.
The Highest Educational Standard and Strongest Faculty in Canada.
Scholarships, Diplomas, Certificates.
16th Season opens Sep. 2d, 1902
School of Literature and Expression
Mrs Inez Nicholson-Cutter, Principal
Expression, Physical Culture, Pedagogy
CALANDARS AND SYLLABUS FREE

35 Farms For Sale
NEAR PETERBOROUGH,

where we can give ploughing possession this month. Come and get First Choice. We furnish money to make buying easy. Write and tell us what sized Farm you want, and what Township you prefer—we can suit you. Our new Fall List will be out in a few days. Call or write for it.

T. HURLEY & CO.,
136 Hunter, near P.O., Ground Floor

Peterborough Radial Railway
Co.

Ties and Poles

Wanted Standard R. R. Ties and 30 ft Cedar Trolley Poles. Write, give description and prices, F. O. B. Cars Peterborough.

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Box 338,
Peterborough, Ont

Mining Stock for Sale.

$1,500,000
The American Cotton Co.
3 Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Being Part of an issue of $2,000,000, the balance Having been Disposed of at private sale.

DATED APRIL 1, 1902. DUE APRIL 1, 1905
Secured by a Collateral Trust Deed.
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.
INTEREST PAYABLE APRIL 1ST AND OCTOBER 1ST
IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
COUPON BONDS $1000 EACH.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold without Deduction for Taxes.
Redeemable at the Option of the Company on Any Interest Date at 105 and Interest.

No mortgage can be made which will not secure the bonds of this issue.

OFFICERS:
JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman of the Board.
ALBERT C CASE, President
WILLIAM C. LOVERING, Vice Pres
HAMPDEN E TENER, Jr., Vice Pres & Treas
THOS. E. WING, Secretary

DIRECTORS
Hon. CORNELIUS N. BLISS, Bliss, Fabyan & Co., N. Y.
JAMES G. CANNON, Vice-Pres, Fourth National Bank, N. Y.
Hon. WILLIAM C LOVERING, Boston
Hon. DAVID R FRANCIS, St. Louis
Senator JAMES K JONES Arkansas.
MAXWELL WOODHULL, Wash D. C.
ALBERT W. SMITH, Providence.
ALBERT C. CASE, New York
HAMPDEN E. TENER, Jr., New York.
CHARLES HATHAWAY, New York.
L. D FLEMING, New York.
J. P COOPER Boston.
WILLIAM H. PORTER, Vice-Pres. Chemical National Bank, New York.

Applications for these bonds, AT PAR AND INTEREST, will be received at the offices of the undersigned and will be filled in the order received.

The bonds are now ready for delivery.

The right is reserved to advance the price or withdraw the Bonds without notice.

Copies of prospectus and form of application may be obtained at our offices,

W. O. Gay & Co.,
24 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON
Charles Hathaway & Co.
45 WALL STREET, NEW YORK

ASK FOR THE
ALES AND PORTER
—OF—
THE DOMINION BREWERY COMPANY, LIMITED
They are Finest and Purest in the market.
The WHITE LABEL BRAND is a specialty.
To be had at all first-class dealers

A High-Class Mining Investment

Graham County Mining Co.

MINES, WORKS & FRANCHISES, ARIZONA

The Graham County Mining Company own a magnificent property consisting of gold mines, copper mines, water power and irrigation franchises that needs only development to make it one of the most valuable mining enterprises in the country.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the property. The mines are well opened and with small expense can be made to produce.

AS IT DOES NOT TAKE AS LONG A TIME OR AS MUCH CAPITAL TO MAKE A GOLD MINE AS IT DOES TO MAKE A COPPER MINE, the management are now directing all their energies to the development of the gold property first, and will have the mines in a condition to supply reduction machinery with ore as soon as a plant can be established.

Only a limited number of shares of treasury stock will be offered for sale at present prices, for with the assistance of a quartz mill the gold property will quickly make the stock valuable and provide for the development of the copper mines and water power and irrigation franchises, at prices something like its actual value.

After a thorough examination, Professor George A. Treadwell, the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only endorsed the property but became a stockholder and director of the company.

The Professor's advice in developing the property and mode of treating the ore will be of great assistance to the management.

The company is incorporated in the interest of the stock holders.

The capitalization is only $250,000, divided into 25,000 shares of $10 par value, with one half ($125,000) in the treasury for working capital — AN EXCEEDINGLY CONSERVATIVE CAPITALIZATION AS COMPARED WITH OTHER MINING ENTERPRISES!

The directors are hard headed business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the success of the company.

The company offer a limited number of shares of treasury stock for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to an increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the gold property, secure patents and furnish working capital.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

JOHN W. MANNING, President.
A. V. Manning's Sons,
Trenton, N. J.

WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice-President
Proprietor Grand Hotel,
Broadway and 31st St.,
New York City.

SCHUYLER S. MOORE,
Secretary and Treasurer,
20 Broad street,
New York City.

WILLIAM J. THOMPSON,
Retired Merchant,
Hartford, Conn.

E. B. EVERITT,
Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co.,
Meriden, Conn.

PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL,
Geologist and Metallurgist,
27 William st., New York City.

F. W. MUSCHERT,
Walter West Co., Wholesale
Grocers, Trenton, N.J.

Counsel: WALTER S. LOGAN.

Prospectuses, containing Professor Treadwell's recommendation of the property, furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of Schuyler S. Moore, Treasurer,

And forward to the

GRAHAM COUNTY MINING CO.
Room 1509,
20 Broad Street, New York City

THEY ARE PRETTY,
20 per cent

We need cash and will sacrifice goods for one month. We have latest patterns in Tweeds and Worsted to choose from.

Working Shirts at 40c
Suspenders 15c
Overalls, with bib, at 48c
Smocks, at.................. 90c

F. M. COBB
Ladies and Gent's Tailor
One door south of Montreal Bank.

HER LIPS
HER CHEEKS
HER FEATURES

Seem to be drawn by Love's own hand, sang the immortal Dryden of a woman whose clear complexion alone rendered her divinely beautiful. No toilet emollient of the age is so beneficial to lips, cheeks or hands as

CAMPANA'S
ITALIAN BALM

It acts like a charm in removing Crowsfeet, Wrinkles, Pimples, Redness, Roughness, Chaps, etc., prevents and removes Freckles. At drug stores—25c bottle. The

Hutchings Medicine Co
300 YONGE ST., TORONTO

Mining Stock for Sale.

We are offering a small allotment of TREASURY :-: STOCK
—AT—
25 CENTS PER SHARE
On a monthly payment plan. Our stock has advanced
200 PER CENT IN 90 DAYS

And will GO TO PAR and PAY DIVIDENDS THIS YEAR. We ABSOLUTELY OWN OUR MINES; DO NOT OWE A DOLLAR; MINES ARE PRODUCING NOW; Smelting Plant IN COURSE OF ERECTION. Write for prospectus and ENGINEER'S REPORTS

The Arizona Prosperity Gold Mines Co.
208 Boylston Building, Chicago, Ill.

Read Our Offer TO SHOW OUR FAITH IN THE ENTERPRISE WE MAKE THE FOLLOWING OFFER:—We will take a party of fifteen direct to the mines and return to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, free of all expense to them, provided they will agree to purchase 10,000 or more shares each, upon examination of the properties and verifying our statements; also we will agree to purchase, one year from date, all or any part of stock sold by us in this Company if the returns are not as we state.

THE GREGORY BUELL
CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING
and MILLING COMPANY
Whose Entire Plant is Now Under Roof. | of CENTRAL CITY, COLORADO
PRODUCTION OF 200 TONS PER DAY

185 Tons Milling Ore, $12.00, Net $10.00 .... $1,850
15 Tons Smelting Ore, average $80.00 (less transportation and smelting charges $10.00, $70.00 being low average.... Profit $1,050

$2,900 PER DAY, 350 DAYS

This is over 2[illegible] per cent. on the capital $5,000,000 at par, and at present selling price of 75 cents per share amounts to over 27 per cent. The above is one-third of the capacity. Full capacity—600 tons in 24 hours—would make these figures three times as great. Total amount to be raised fully guaranteed. This investment upon these terms is worthy the careful consideration of all those having sums to invest. WRITE FOR PROSPECTUS.

Stock Par Value $1.00 Now Selling at 75 Cents

We trust that you will appreciate the fact that THE GREGORY BUELL CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINING and MILLING COMPANY is a going concern, the properties having produced $2,000,000 in the past under unfavorable circumstances. The present consolidation, by operating fourteen mines through one shaft, makes possible an enormous saving in operating expenses doing away with thirteen engineers, firemen, etc., a great reduction in fuel and many other points too numerous to mention.

With the vast additional ore bodies now being developed by tunnels and cross-cuts, when completed, assures the management that, on a calculation based on one-third of their capacity, they can earn 25 PER CENT. per annum upon the investment.

Bear in mind that the mill is built, a large part of the machinery is in place and that the Company is absolutely free from all debt. We consider this, after a most careful examination by us, a gilt-edge investment. We cannot recommend this too highly, and trust that you may appreciate the advantages as we do.

ETTING & PETERSON
500 Land Title Bldg. Fiscal Agents Philadelphia, Pa.

A High Class Mining Investment !
GRAHAM COUNTY MINING Co.
Mines, Works and Franchises,
ARIZONA.
INCORPORATED IN WEST VIRGINIA
OFFICE: 20 BROAD STREET, ROOM 1509, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y
CAPITAL STOCK—$250,000
Full-paid and non-assessable.
25,000 SHARES - - - PAR VALUE, $10.
12,500 Shares (50%) in the Treasury for Working Capital,

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS.

JOHN W. MANNING, President
A. V. Manning's Sons, Trenton, N. J.
WILLIAM G. LELAND, Vice President
Prop. Grand Hotel, 31st St. & Broadway N Y
SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Secretary and Treasurer, 20 Broad Street, N. Y. City.
WILLIAM J. THOMPSON
Retired Merchant, Hartford, Conn.
E. B. EVERITT
Sec'y C. F. Monroe Co., Meriden, Conn
PROF. GEORGE A. TREADWELL
Geologist and Metallurgist, 27 William St., N.Y.
F. W. MUSCHERT
Walter West Co., Wholesale Grocers Trenton, N. J.
COUNSEL:
WALTER S. LOGAN, 27 William Street, New York City.

The GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY own a large and valuable property, consisting of Gold and Copper Mines, covering about eight hundred acres of mineral land and through Reservoir and Irrigation Canal Franchises they control the water rights of from 10,000 to 60,000 acres of the richest and most fertile farming land in Arizona.

Titles are uncomplicated, clear and perfect.

The Company is absolutely free of indebtedness and there are no encumbrances or liens against the property.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in developing the mines, surveying the reservoirs, pipe line, etc., and the property is now in a condition to be quickly and economically made to produce.

There is no promoter's stock. The promoters are the stockholders who paid for the property and for developing the mines.

The directors are responsible, reliable business men who have invested their own money in the enterprise and are vitally interested in the intelligent and economical management of the company.

Professor George A. Treadwell the well known geologist and metallurgist, not only indorses the property, but is a director of the company, which insures intelligent operation of the mines.

The present tendency of mining enterprises is over capitalization. Many corporations are capitalizing the future. We have reversed the plan by capitalizing the present only.

THE GRAHAM COUNTY MINING COMPANY is capitalized for $250,000, with half the capital $125,000, in the treasury for working capital—about one-fortieth (1-40th) the future value of the property.

Active development work is now going on at the mines.

The Company offers 1,000 shares of TREASURY STOCK for subscription at $6.25 a share, subject to a probable increase in price very soon.

The proceeds will be used for further development, to purchase a quartz mill for the Clark gold district, secure patents and furnish working capital.

Prospectuses and full particulars furnished on application.

Make checks payable to the order of SCHUYLER S. MOORE, Treasurer, and forward to the

Graham County Mining Company
20 BROAD STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

La Sonoro Gold and Silver Mining Co
Best Investment in the U. S. To-day
50,000 Shares (no more) at Twenty Cents per Share, par value One Dollar, fully paid—non-assessable—no liability.

This company is not in this business as an experiment or as a speculation. It's a strong organization of business men engaged in the mining business to make money for each shareholder and ourselves.

This is not a case of waiting years and years. The development is done—vein cut—ore exposed—quantity sufficient to last years. An investment in this stock will mean an independent fortune to you.

As soon as concentrator is erected dividends will be paid, and with 10 feet of rich ore, no salaries to officers, can't help from being large. Write for prospectus and monthly terms.

348 LUMBER EXCHANGE, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
R. J. KIDD, 348 George Street, Agent at Peterborough.

STRICTURE

I guarantee my Latest Method Treatment to be a permanent and positive cure for Varicocele and Stricture, without cutting, stretching or loss of time. In Varicocele it absorbs the bagging, or wormy condition, equalizes circulation, stops pains in the groins, also all drains, thereby giving the organs their proper nutrition, vitalizes the parts and restores lost powers; in Stricture it absorbs the Stricture tissue, stops smarting sensation, nervousness, weakness, backache, etc., while in all prostatic troubles it is the treatment par excellence. So positive am I that my treatment will cure you, you can

PAY WHEN CURED

You need pay nothing until you are convinced that a thorough and complete cure has been established. This should convince you that I have confidence in my Latest Method Treatment, otherwise I could not make you this proposition. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, call or write me.

Each Time You Call You See Me Personally,

Or each time you write it receives my personal attention. The number of years I am established in Detroit, and the cures I accomplished after given up by other doctors, has placed me as the foremost specialist of the country. CONSULTATION FREE. Call or write for blank for blank for home treatment. Perfect system of home treatment for those who cannot call. BOOK FREE. All medicines for Canadian patients shipped from Windsor, Can. All duty and express charges prepaid. Nothing sent C. O. D.

DR. GOLDBERG, 208 WOODWARD AVE., COR. WILCOX ST. DETROIT, MICH.

Financial

Ontario Bank

HEAD OFFICE - - TORONTO
C. McGILL, GENERAL MANAGER.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

General Banking Business Transacted.

SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT

Highest Rate of Interest Allowed on Deposits of $1.00 and upwards.

Corner of Water and Simcoe Streets
JOHN CRANE, Manager.

Bank of Montreal

(Established 1817.)
HEAD OFFICE - MONTREAL

CAPITAL	$12,000,000
REST	8,000,000
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	365 856

General Manager, E. S. CLOUSTON.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH.

Savings Bank Dept.—Interest allowed at current rates. Domestic and Foreign Exchange bought and sold. A general banking business transacted.

W. H. HOGG, Manager.

THE TORONTO
SAVINGS & LOAN
COMPANY

3½ Per cent interest allowed on deposits from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, repayable at any time.

4 Per cent paid on Debentures, issued for 5 or 5 years.

Money to loan at lowest current rates.
Open every Saturday afternoon.
Office, 437 George street.

W. G. MORROW, Manager
Peterborough March 14, 1902.

MONEY TO LOAN
ON EASIEST TERMS OF PAYMENT

STRATTON & HALL
BARRISTERS
OFFICE—Bank of Commerce Building Peterborough.

ENNIS & STOPPANI

Members { Consolidated Stock Exchange, N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade. } Est. 1885

BANKERS AND BROKERS
New St. & 38 Broad St. N. Y. (Tel. 500 Broad
LIST OF DESIRABLE
STOCK AND BOND INVESTMENTS
SENT UPON APPLICATION.
STOCKS—WHEAT—COTTON
Bought or Sold, Cash or on Margin

Tacoma Steel Company.
TACOMA, WASH.

owns and controls the greatest iron, coal copper and gold proposition on the Pacific coast. Stock now 25c cash, 2½c. installment. Write for prospectus, JAMES J. RUTHERFORD & SON, 215 Ledger Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

JOHN STARK & CO.
26 TORONTO ST. TORONTO.

Stocks Bought and Sold
ON TORONTO, MONTREAL AND NEW YORK EXCHANGES
Correspondence invited.

MONEY TO LOAN ON STOCKS

Bonds and Debentures on convenient terms
Interest Allowed on Deposits

The Home Savings and Loan Co., Ltd.
78 Church Street, Toronto.

WM. A. LEE & SON

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS
STOCK AND GRAIN BROKERS.
PRIVATE WIRES TO NEW YORK AND CHICAGO
MONEY TO LOAN
At lowest rates on Real Estate security.
GENERAL AGENTS
WESTERN Fire and Marine Assurance Co
MANCHESTER Fire Assurance Co.
NATIONAL Fire Assurance Co.
CANADA Accident and Plate Glass Co.
LLOYD'S Plate Glass Insurance Co.
ONTARIO Accident Insurance Co.
LONDON Guarantee and Accident Co. Employers' Liability, Accident and Common Carriers' Policies issued.
OFFICES—14 Victoria Street, Toronto. Phones Main [illegible] and [illegible].

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME
Friday Gold Mine, BOISE CO. IDAHO

A thoroughly equipped mine. Will pay dividends in September. STOCK NOW 10c. Par $1.00. Prospectus Jas. J. Rutherford & Son 215 Ledger Bldg. Philadelphia, Pa.

HENRY S. MARA ALBERT W. TAYLOR
Mara & Taylor
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
STOCK BROKERS. 5 TORONTO ST
Orders promptly executed on the Toronto, Montreal and New York Exchanges

WRITE FOR LIST OF FIRST CLASS
Municipal & Corporation Bonds
Of American Cities, netting
3½ TO 5%.
HARRY E. WEIL & CO
BANKERS.
Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.
Information cheerfully given.

Mainly About People.

"There was a witty fellow out in a Michigan hospital," says Representative William Alden Smith, "who had to be fed on a daily diet of egg and sherry. His physician asked him how he liked it. 'It would be all right, doctor,' he said, 'if the egg was as new as the sherry and the sherry as old as the egg.'"

It is related that once, when the Earl of Lauderdale was at dinner with King Charles, he remarked to the King: "There is a good saying, that fools make feasts and wise men eat them." "There is another as good," replied the Earl of Shaftesbury; "wits make jests and fools repeat them;" and the King advised Lauderdale to make sure of his man in future.

During the recent street car strike in St. Louis, Professor Hyatt, the weather observer, was about to get on a car, when a member of the strike committee stepped up to him and asked if he intended riding on the car. The professor replied that such was his intention. The striker sought to persuade him not to ride, but he started to get on the car. "Well, if you ride on that car we will withdraw our patronage from you," said the striker. "I don't care whether you patronize me or not. I'm in the weather business," replied Professor Hyatt, and he entered the car.

In a Georgia justice court a colored witness was asked to name the time a difficulty occurred. "Hit wus in fodder pullin' time, suh," he replied. "You don't understand me," said the judge. "I mean, what time was it by the clock?" "Dey warn't no clock dar, suh," said the witness. "Well, by the sun, then?" "Now," exclaimed the witness, triumphantly, "sence you has come right down ter business I'll tell you plain: Ef de sun had been a-shinin' hit would er been 'bout two hours en a half by sun; but es de sun didn't show his face 'tall dat day I couldn't say fer sartin des what time hit wus!"

At the funeral of a lawyer of state reputation, who lived and practised in a town not far from Philadelphia, and who was known among his friends as an unbeliever, an eminent gentleman from Philadelphia reached the house after the minister had begun the sermon. Not knowing how far the service had progressed, he accosted a well-known Quaker of the town, who was a friend of the deceased, and who was noted for his great sense of humor, and, leaning over his shoulder, asked in a whisper: "What part of the services have they reached?" To which the Quaker, without a smile, replied: "Just opened for the defence."

A story of poor Aurelien Scholl, who lately joined the majority, gives a good idea of the caustic humor which made him an oddity among French writers. At a celebrated cafe—not, I think, the Maison Doree, though he was at one time a great supporter of M. Verdier's, alas! moribund establishment—he was offered a Burgundy, which was praised by the host as "true velvet," but had, in fact, become a little sharp with age. "Yes," said Scholl, after tasting it, "velvet, but with pins in it!" Soon after came a Bordeaux, said on the same authority to be "the most generous wine in his cellar." "It is," was this time the verdict, "for it has given away all its good qualities!"

Magistrate Devoy, in the Myrtle Avenue Court, Brooklyn, recently had four darkies who were caught in a gambling raid before him. The first of the lot to be brought to the bar was an undersized man, with a comical face, as black as night. The dialogue between the magistrate and the prisoner created some merriment in the court. "What is your name?" enquired the magistrate, sternly. "Mah name's Smif," replied the darky. "What is your profession?" "I'se a locksmiff by trade, sah." "What were you doing when the police broke into the room last night?" "Judge, I was pursuin' mah profession. I was makin' a bolt for the door." "Officer," said the magistrate, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "lock Smith up."

The late Sol Smith Russell had three young nieces living in the West, of whom he was very fond. On one occasion, so the story goes, he took the youngest of them for a walk and bought her some candy on the agreement that it was not to be eaten until they reached her home. They started, but before they had gone far the little girl proposed, "Let's wun!" Her uncle declined, and there was long pleading, all to no purpose. Finally, the little girl stopped, knelt down on the pavement, and offered up the petition: "Dod, please make Uncle Sol wun." It was simply a question of my losing my dignity, or her losing her faith in God," said Mr. Russell, in relating the incident, "so we ran as fast as we could for home."

Patronage.

The impressionist had finally sold one of his creations. A brother artist who had arrived, or, as we say, "got there," not only persuaded one of his own customers to buy a painting by the less successful man, at a good figure, but got him an invitation to visit the patron's house to see the picture as it hung on the wall.

It was a painting of a sky, a bridge and a stream, and as they stood before it the purchaser fairly exhausted his vocabulary of art in expatiating on the naturalness of the water and the poetic beauty of the sky. The man who had done the painting smiled and smiled, but at the same time mopped beads of perspiration from his brow. Finally he got his friend into the hallway and there exploded.

"Good gracious!" he groaned. "They've hung my picture upside down!"

—Commodore Calcutt is getting his new steamer finished, and hopes to have her ready for the Queen's birthday.

THE GIRL OF THE PEOPLE

By Mrs. C. N. Williamson

Author of The Barn Stormers, Fortuna's Sport, Miss Nobody, Her Royal Highness Lady Mary of the Dark House, etc.

Still I made no comment, but I thought that I understood.

We visited a number of handsome rooms, all furnished in the style of long ago, and I simulated more interest than I really felt. The place had, it is true, a certain charm of association for me because it had been Sir Vincent Cope's; and as my adopted mother had been a cousin of the man she married, I doubted not that she had been in this house, though Arrish Mell Court had remained her home.

At last we went upstairs, each door having been locked as we left the room to which it belonged; and here my interest quickened, as in a childish game of hide and seek, when the players cry "warm" or "cold" to each other.

If there were in the house a man whose presence was to be concealed, it was probable that his rooms were on one of the upper floors, and each closed door that we reached might be hiding a mystery.

On the first floor some doors were locked, others stood open, as I had noticed last night on my arrival. But I soon satisfied myself that the rooms which were not secured against intrusion offered no facilities for escape, even to a courageous and determined person. Their windows without exception looked out upon a courtyard, from which evidently there was no means of egress, save by returning through the house. As for my own room, anyone attempting to escape by the windows would have to descend into a moat, which was half full of water, carpeted with the flat green leaves and waxen buds of lilies.

My zeal for exploration apparently knew no bounds, for I did not pass a single door without begging to see what was on the other side; and, with a weary air of resignation, the woman in black each time granted my request. After I had seen everything on the first floor, I asked to visit the second. Sintra Leigh offered no objection, save a sigh; and again the exploration was exhaustive.

"Now there are only the third floor and the two towers left," I remarked at last.

"I hardly think that the third floor will interest you," said my companion. "The servants sleep there. And as for the towers, they have been used for a long time as places to store all sort of rubbish which will accumulate in old houses as generation after generation passes."

"Nevertheless, if there's a chance of my being mistress here, everything should be of interest to me," I returned; and with another sigh Miss Leigh preceded me upstairs.

She threw open door after door, and, as she had prophesied, the tour of inspection became more than ever dull. I glanced into the servants' rooms, not because I wished in the least to see them, but because I wanted to be sure that they really were what they purported to be. The part of the house occupied by the servants was in a separate wing, but the remaining portion of the third floor was not much superior in its attractions, at all events to my preoccupied mind. At last, however, the woman in black attempted rather hastily to pass a door without opening it.

"What room is that?" I promptly demanded.

"I believe that Sir Roger Cope gave the late tenants the privilege of leaving a few things in the house for a time, until it should be more convenient to remove them," she explained, with an air of complete indifference. "They are kept in that room, and Sir Roger has the key. Now, if you like, we will go on to the towers. There is rather a good view from the windows, but I warn you that there is nothing else you will care for."

As she spoke she walked away from the door of which Sir Roger was supposed to have the key, and I did not attempt to detain her. I thought that at last I had found out what I wanted to know; for I did not believe that the room behind the locked door was sacred to the belongings of departed tenants. I said to myself that there, if anywhere, lurked the Secret.

We visited the towers, which gave a wide view of the County of Dorsetshire towards Bournemouth, with a far-distant glimpse of the sea; and then Sintra Leigh reminded me that, unless I wished to visit the kitchen and servants' hall, I had done all that there was to do. I did not wish to see the domain she mentioned, and consented to go down with her to the drawing-room for tea.

I was glad that the hours were passing, for I knew that I must wait for night before attempting that which it was in my mind to do.

I asked if it would be convenient to have dinner at seven, as I was very tired, and would be glad to go to bed early, by way of making up for lack of sleep the night before. This was easy to arrange, Sintra Leigh responded; and in consequence of my request we dined at the hour I had named. Afterwards we had coffee in the room where Roger and I had talked in the morning, as (the woman in black explained) it was more cheerful in the evening than the huge drawing-room.

During the scene with Roger my nerves had been keyed high with excitement; my eyes had fallen on the three portraits by the curtained door through which he had entered, and after that I had observed few details. But now that Sintra Leigh and I sat together at leisure, I saw something which I had not seen before—something that roused my interest and curiosity to the highest pitch.

CHAPTER XXIII.

The Room With the Locked Door.

In a corner of the room was a screen, quaintly painted in imitation of Watteau; and from behind the screen was visible an old-fashioned escritoire. From where I sat I could only see it in part, but the design was familiar to me, and I was sure, now I came to see it, that it was either the escritoire which had stood in the octagon room at Arrish Mell Court, or else one exactly like it. I wondered very much whether Roger (who owned the escritoire in common with everything else that had been Lady Cope's) had really attached enough value to the old piece of furniture to transplant it here, and, if so, what had been the underlying motive.

I said nothing of all that was in my thoughts to Sintra Leigh, however; and as a French clock on the mantel softly chimed the half-hour after nine, I rose, announcing that I would like to go to bed.

My companion received the proposal with unconcealed relief; and indeed, for the past hour, since we had left the dinner-table, our conversation had been the reverse of lively.

PEACH'S LACE CURTAINS

SEND YOUR ADDRESS for our New Illustrated Catalogue; Foreign Edition Post Free. The most complete List of Lace Goods issued.

Import your own Goods DIRECT FROM the LOOMS, and save these Profits.
LACE CURTAINS, MADRAS MUSLINS, CAPES, LADIES' & GENTS',
ROLLER BLINDS, BLOUSES,
REAL SWISS, LACES ALL MAKES, COLLARETTES, LOOM HOSIERY,
GUIPURE D'ART, HOUSEHOLD LINENS

POPULAR PARCEL $5.10

Lot No. [illegible] contains:—1 pair Rich Artistic Drawing-Room Curtains, 4 yds. long, 2 yds. wide. 2 pairs alike, Handsome Dining-Room Curtains, choice old lace design, 3½ yds. long, 60 in. wide, 1 pair neat Floral Pattern Bed-Room Curtains, 3 yds. long, 50 in. wide, 1 pair new fashionable Sash Curtains, 1 table centre, renaissance design, 1 Set of Duchess Toilet Covers, one 45 in. long, and five smaller. Ecru if desired. On receipt of Post Office Order for $6.30, the lot sent per Parcel Post, direct to your address in Canada well packed in oilcloth.

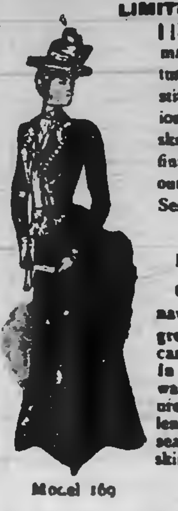
Customers throughout the Empire testify to the reliable work, Marvellous Value, and Durability. First Prize Medals, Toronto 1892; Chicago, 1893.

S. PEACH & SONS, Lister Gate, Nottingham, England. Established 1857.

Abbreviated Price Lists may be obtained at the office of this paper

$3.10 $3.10

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO.
LIMITED.



Model 169

Fashionable tailor-made open coat costumes. Coat tailor stitched and fashionable, well-cut skirt, well made and finished. Made of our noted Cheviot Serge. Price only $3.10

Postage 50c extra.

Colours — Black, navy, fawn, brown, grey purple, green, cardinal, purple, etc. In ordering give waist and bust measure under arms, length of inside seam and length of skirt in front

85c | A Special Bargain | 85c

Try one of our noted Cheviot Serge Costume Skirts in navy and black Only a good wearing quality. Unlined price only 85c, postage 35c, Lined price $1.10, postage 40c extra.

WONDERFUL VALUE.

Thousands of Testimonials from all parts of the world.

Patterns and our illustrated Sketch-book of Costumes sent post free on application to

THE RICHMOND MANUFACTURING CO., Limited.
Dept. 74, St. Andrew's Factory, Bradford, England

Leave Your Money in Peterborough

Try a pair of Carey's $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 or $4.00 Hand-Made Shoes, they always give satisfaction

CAREY THE SHOE ARCHITECT.
450 George Street

APIOL & STEEL PILLS
for Ladies.

A REMEDY FOR IRREGULARITIES superseding Bitter Apple, Pil Cochia, Pennyroyal, etc. Order of all chemists, or post free for $1.50, from EVANS & SONS, Limited Montreal and Toronto, Canada, and Victoria British Columbia, or Martin, Pharmaceutical

IF YOU BUY ANY OTHER FILM CAMERA THAN A DUPLEX YOU'LL

GO WAY BACK AND SIT DOWN

And wonder how you could be so foolish the first time you see one. Others claim to have plate and roll film cameras combined, but that is

AS FAR AS

they can go. They cannot produce the goods.

CANADA CAMERA CO.
46 Adelaide West, Toronto, Ont.

R·I·P·A·N·S

There is scarcely any condition of ill-health that is not benefited by the occasional use of R·I·P·A·N·S Tabules. For sale by Druggists. The Five Cent packet is enough for an ordinary occasion. The family bottle, 60 cents, contains a supply for a year.

BABBIT

IMPERIAL, METALLIC
HERCULES STAR.
FOR ALL WORK.
ALL GRADES.
THEY ARE THE BEST.
The Canada Metal Co,
William St., Toronto, Ont.

TORONTO EXHIBITION

Mon., Sept. 1st, to Sat. Sept. 13th, 1902

NEW BUILDINGS
NEW FEATURES
NEW EXHIBITS

$35,000 in Premiums
$30,000 for Attractions

BRILLIANT $20,000 SPECTACLE

ALL THE RESOURCES OF OUR GLORIOUS COUNTRY

THE PEOPLE'S PRIDE
THE PEOPLE'S HOLIDAY

REDUCED RATES ON EVERY LINE OF TRAVEL
Consult your station agent regarding fare to Toronto and back!

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Pure Silk Flags
For Cushions
Size, 16x16

A limited number at 15c each Regular price, 50c.

J. J. TURNER & SONS

CANADIAN PACIFIC

20,000 Harvesters
Wanted In Manitoba and Canadian North-west

FARM LABORERS' EXCURSIONS

Will be Run From Stations in Ontario East of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston and Midland Division North of Toronto and Cardwell.

—To— WINNIPEG AUGUST 20th For $10

One-way tickets to Winnipeg only will be sold but each person purchasing will be furnished with a coupon on which, after such person has been hired at Winnipeg to work as a farm laborer, but not later than August 30th, 1902, free transportation will be given to holder from Winnipeg to any Canadian Pacific Station in Manitoba or Assiniboia, West or South-west or North-west of Winnipeg, but not beyond Moose Jaw, Estevan or Yorkton.

On complying with conditions of certificates which will be given purchasers of one-way $10 tickets, passengers will be returned to starting point by same route on or before Nov. 30th, 1902, on payment of $18.

TICKETS ARE SECOND CLASS, and are not good on "Imperial Limited," and will not entitle holder to purchase accommodation in Tourist Cars.

Apply for pamphlet giving full particulars to your nearest agent, or to

A. H. NOTMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt.
1 King Street East, Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Coronation Day Saturday, Aug 9th

Single Fare between all Stations in Canada Good going Aug. 8th and 9th. Returning good until Aug. 11, 1901.

SPECIAL EXCURSIONS
$64.70
To Los Angeles or San Francisco Cal., and Return
Good going Aug. 1st to 10th, inclusive. Valid until Sept. 30th.

Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Glenwood Springs, Colo.; Ogden, Salt Lake, Utah; Deadwood, Hot Springs and Custer, South Dakota. Return ticket at Single First Class Fare. Good going Aug. 1st to 14th. Good for return until Oct. 31 t, 1902.

Tickets and information from
W. BUNTON,
G. T. R. City Ticket Agent

WRITE FOR
INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

Tours to Summer Haunts
Describing the Summer Lands of
QUEBEC
NEW BRUNSWICK
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
(The Garden of the Gulf)
NOVA SCOTIA

TORONTO AGENCY
WM. ROBINSON
10 King S Wes
William St., Toronto, Ont.

NIAGARA RIVER LINE

STEAMERS
"CHICORA," "CHIPPEWA," "CORONA."
—FROM—TORONTO
—TO—

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE LEWISTON and QUEENSTON, connecting at the above points with New York Central & Hudson River R. R., Great Gorge R. R., Niagara Falls Park & River R. R. and Michigan Central R. R. FOR Falls Buffalo, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland and all points north, East and West.

Steamers now leave Toronto at 7.00 9 00 and 11 00 a. m., 2.00 and 4.45 p. m.

Trips Daily (Except Sunday

JOHN FOY,
General Manager, Toronto, On

BIG G

USE YOURSELF!

[illegible]

Navigation

Calcutts' Line of Steamers

City of Peterborough - Water-Lily

TIME TABLE FOR JUNE, 1902
THE STEAMER
CITY OF PETERBOROUGH
WILL RUN AS FOLLOWS:

MONDAYS, WEDNESDAYS and FRIDAYS, to Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wild.

TUESDAYS, to Jubilee, and Harwood

On the above days the steamer will leave the Peterborough Wharf at 9.15 a m., returning will arrive at Peterborough at 8 30 p. m.

THURSDAYS, to Hastings, leaving the Peterborough Wharf at 8.15 a. m., calling at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl-Wyld, returning, will arrive at Peterborough at 9 p. m.

FARE FOR ROUND TRIP, $1.00
CHILDREN 50c.

SATURDAY AFTERNOONS, will leave Peterborough at 2.15 p. m. for Jubilee, returning will arrive in Peterborough at 9 p. m.

Fares to Jubilee, Harwood and Idy Wyld 50c, good for return same day only Children One-Half fare. Passengers wishing to remain over Sunday at Jubilee, Harwood or Idyl Wild, can on payment of 25c, return on Monday morning, arriving in Peterborough at 9.00 a.m.

Books of Family tickets, $5 00, for points between Peterborough and Idyl Wyld.

Special arrangements made for Sunday School and other excursion parties on application to

H. CALCUTT,
Peterboro, or phone 98

KAWARTHA LAKES

THE—
TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION CO'Y
LIMITED

Sailings of Steamer
Bobcaygeon, Sturgeon Point, Lindsay
ESTURION
JUNE 1st TO OCTOBER 1st

Bobcaygeon,	Lv 6 15 a.m.	and	3.10 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 7.15 a.m.	"	4.10 p.m.
Lindsay	Ar 8 40 a.m.	"	5 30 p.m.
"	Lv 11.00 a.m.	"	6 30 p.m.
Sturgeon Point	" 12.10 p.m.	"	7.40 p.m.
Bobcaygeon	Ar 1.15 p.m.	"	8.55 p.m.

Saturdays boat will await evening Toronto train. Meals served on board

Coboconk, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay.
MANITA
JULY 1st TO SEPT. 6th, or till notice.

Coboconk	Lv 6 00 a m	Ar 7 40 p m
Rosedale	Lv 7 00 a m	Lv 6 40 p m
Fenelon Falls	Ar 7 40 a m	Lv 6 00 p m
Fenelon Falls	Lv 8 30 a m	Ar 5 20 p m
Sturgeon Pt.	Lv 9 00 a m	Lv 4 50 p m
Lindsay	Ar 10 30 a m	Lv 3 30 p m

Connections at Fenelon with morning train for Toronto and at Lindsay for Por. Hope. Time at Fenelon for Breakfast and Tea.

Bobcaygeon, Chemong, Burleigh, Lakefield.
"OGEMAH"
JULY 2nd TO SEPT. 6th or till notice

Bobcaygeon	Lv 7 00 a m	Ar 7 45 p m
Chemong	Lv 9 40 a m	Lv 5 30 p m
Buckhorn	Lv 11 45 a m	Lv 3 00 p m
Burleigh	Ar 12 45 p m	Lv 1 30 p m

Connections made at Burleigh Falls with Steamers for Lakefield and intermediate points. Meals served on board

For further particulars apply to
W. BUNTON,
Up-town Agt., G.T.R., Peterboro

LAKE ONTARIO and BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO., Ltd.

COBOURG, PORT HOPE, ROCHESTER, N. Y.
STEAMERS
"NORTH KING" AND "CASPIAN"
Daily Route Commencing June 29

SOUTH BOUND.

Leaving Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Leaving Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester) ...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main Streets) ...... [illegible] p.m.

NORTH BOUND.

Leaving Rochester (Cor. N. St. Paul & Main streets) ...... 8.00 a.m
Leaving Summerville, N.Y. (Port of Rochester)... ...... [illegible] a.m
Arrive Cobourg, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.
Arrive Port Hope, Ontario...... [illegible] p.m.

Baggage can be checked to any place in Rochester, and from Rochester to any point to which ticket reads. For further information apply to,

H. H. Gildersleeve, General Manager, Kingston. [illegible] Agent Port Hope

MONTREAL, ROCHESTER & QUEBEC TRANSIT CO'Y.

STR. "ALEXANDRIA"
EVERY SATURDAY AT 11.00 A M
Leaves Belleville for CHARLOTTE ROCHESTER, OLCOTT BEACH BUFFALO, NIAGARA FALLS.
EVERY MONDAY AT 7.00 P M
Leaves Belleville for MONTREAL QUEBEC (without change) and all way ports
RUNNING ALL RAPIDS—1000 ISLANDS BY DAYLIGHT.
FINEST EXCURSION TRIP ON THE CONTINENT
—: FARE :—
$18- Belleville to Quebec, Return- $18
Including meals and berth en route
For further particulars, folders, etc., write

A. W. HEPBURN Manager, Picton, Ont

Navigation

COBOURG AND PORT HOPE TO TORONTO
STR. "ARGYLE"
(Commencing Thursday, May 22)
EVERY THURSDAY

Leaves Cobourg at	7 00 a m
" Port Hope at	8.00 a m
Arrive Toronto at	12 30 p m
Returning, leaves Toronto at	5 00 p m
Fare continuous round trip	$1.00

Extension return 30 days, 25c extra, from Purser on board

ALLAN LINE
LIVERPOOL VIA MOVILLE
ROYAL MAIL SERVICE

	From Montreal	From Quebec
Numidian..	Aug. 2 5 a m	Aug. 2 3 p m
Parisian....	Aug. 6 5 a m	Aug. 9 3 p m
Mongolian	Aug. 16 9 a m	Aug. 16 7 p m
Tunisian...	Aug 23 4 a m	Aug 23 3 p m

New York to Glasgow and Londonderry,
Carthaginian....................July 30
Sardinian........................August 13
MONTREAL TO GLASGOW DIRECT.
Sicilian, 6284 tons, July 30th—Sept. 3rd —Oct. 8th.

1st cabin $50—2nd cabin $35—3rd class $25.

W. BUNTON, G. T. R. Agt. T. E. BODDY, C. P. R. Agt

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO., Ltd
River and Gulf of St. Lawrence

Summer Cruises in Cool Latitudes

THE WELL and favorably known S.S Campana, 1,700 tons, lighted with electricity, and with all comforts leaves Montreal on Mondays at 2 p.m., 11th and 25th August; 8th and 22nd September, for Pictou, N.S., calling at Quebec, Father Point, Gaspe, Perce, Grand River, Summerside, P.E.I., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The finest trip of the season for health and comfort.

ARTHUR AHERN,
Secretary, Quebec.

For tickets and staterooms apply to W. BUNTON, Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO
NIAGARA TO THE SEA

THE UNRIVALLED SCENIC ROUTE OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT

Palatial iron steamers of the Hamilton Line, leave Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal tri-weekly from June 1st, passing through the beautiful scenery of the Bay of Quinte and running all the rapids.

The Royal Mail Line steamers leave Toronto and Montreal daily except Sunday from June 15th.

HOTELS.—Manoir Richelieu, at Murray Bay, Que., and Tadousac Hotel, at Tadousac, Que., are replete with all modern facilities.

For further particulars apply to:
W. BUNTON, Agent R. & O. Nav., Peterborough, Ontario, or to
THOS. HENRY, Traffic Manager, Montreal, Que.

NORTHERN NAVIGATION COMPANY
